Tradition plays an important role in the life of a university, not only in the academic community itself, with its ceremony and sense of continuity with the past, but also in the realm of student activity, where class days serenades and elections perpetuate themselves from year to year with the unchallenged "right to be accorded to traditions. Landmarks such as Denny Hall, pictured at left, have also become part of University tradition, recognized as familiar faces by the returning alum, and observed with casual affection by the student. And yet the University is not primarily a place "steeped in tradition," but a place of growth and movement. During this year prior to its centennial the University of Washington experienced the highest enrollment in its history. New and modernistic structures such as the General Engineering Building, pictured at right, took their place on the campus scene as part of a huge new building program. Significant achievements by academic departments and by individual faculty members were recorded. The year 1960, in fact, found Washington ranked as one of the nation's great state universities. Yes, our University is moving, moving in the direction of progress and building and growth—Direction '60

The traditional Columns, sculptured white against their shaded green background, remain as evidence of the University of the past.

Direction Sixty:

The Quad, crossroad of upper campus, suddenly swarms with students as the chimes ring, signaling the end of another class hour.

In late spring the rose gardens and stately Administration spire form a lovely scene for the student approaching from lower campus.

the campus...a setting both old and new

The immense, modern Health-Sciences Building is among the finest of its kind in the nation. Recently added to its facilities was a 320-bed teaching-research hospital, dedicated in the spring of 1959.

Fall Featured

Left: "Oh, I'll never get through this line," was the common complaint of many students who, while taking advantage of advance registration, had to stand on their aching feet for as long as two hours.

Lower left: "I'm sorry. You can't have all morning classes unless you have a written 'okay'." So ended another student's attempt to have free afternoons.

Lower right: Many college couples took advantage of the sunny fall afternoons to chat between classes.

Registration, Rush and New Freshmen

Fall of 1959 brought a record enrollment of 16,882 to the University of Washington. Registration lines grew longer and students became more confused. Freshmen neophytes followed signs directing them to campus classes—but who pointed the “Guthrie Hall” sign towards Frosh Pond?

Construction of the new General Engineering building provided lower campus students with the daily game of dodging mud puddles, “cats” and steam shovels. Meanwhile on upper campus, the new Business Administration building sprung up in place of the WW II barracks.

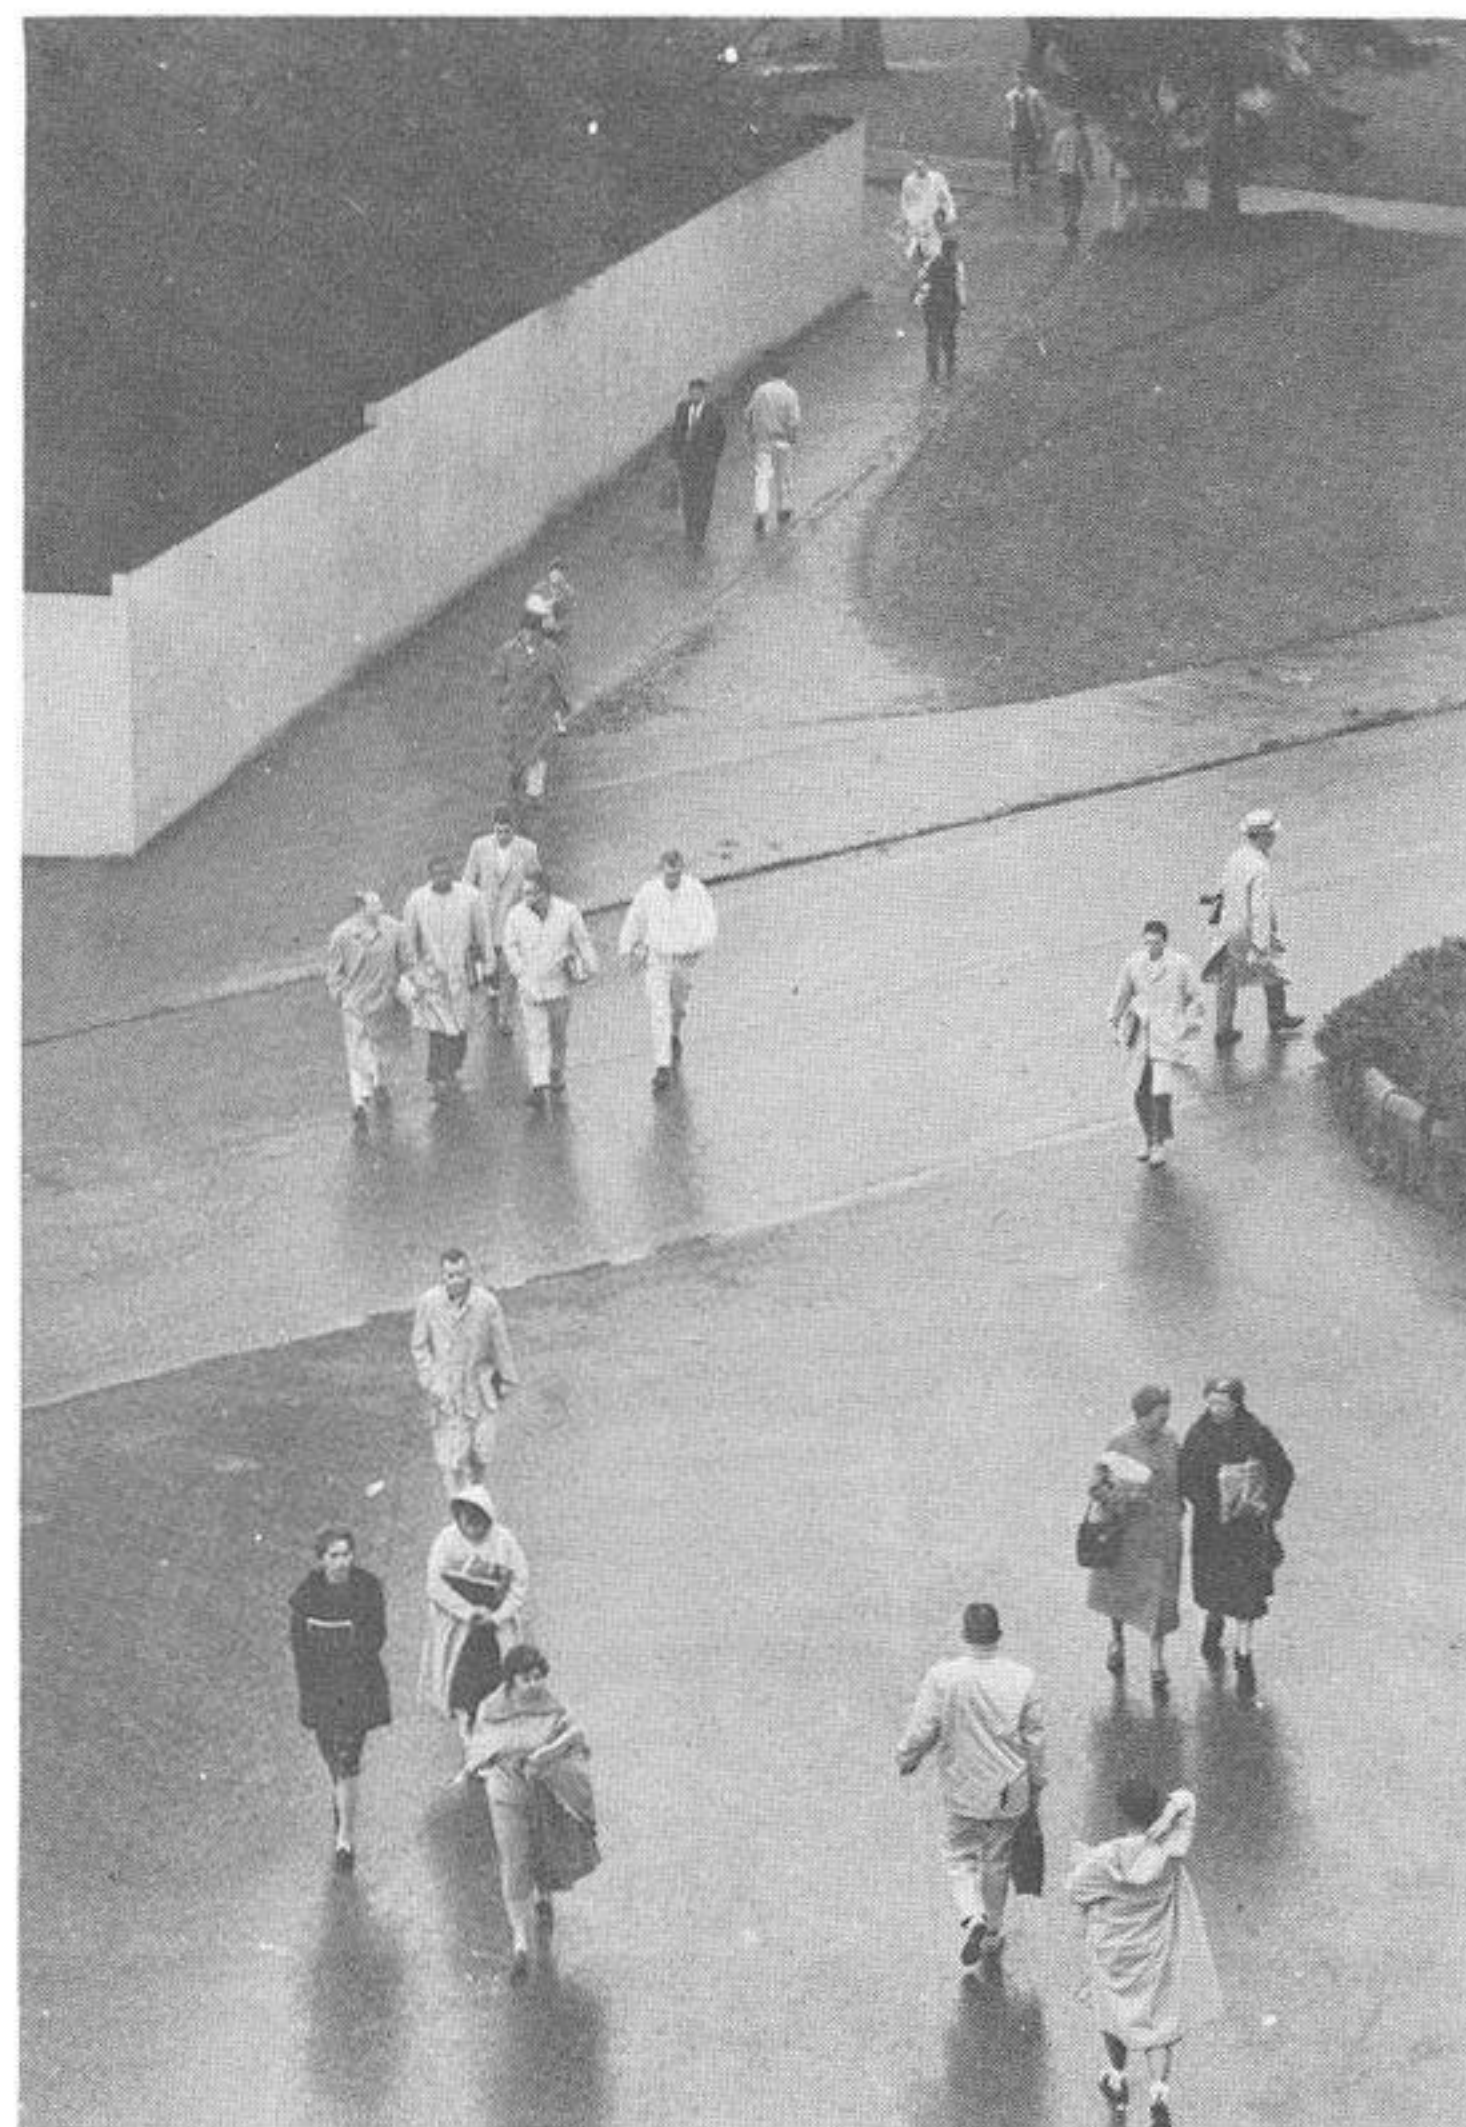

Soon after Bermuda Day, with its casual-clad sophomores, came Homecoming and its “Trojan” theme. Washington received its only football defeat at the hands of Southern California. Confusion reigned once again during advanced winter registration, and many a distraught student was faced with the problem, “How can I sign up for English 102 if I flunk English 101 this quarter?”

Forest Club’s Garb Day drew crowds with its annual log-rolling and tree-climbing contests. Nickel Hop was sponsored by the University YM-YWCA as part of its annual Money-for-Europe drive.

Not to be forgotten was the publicized ousting of Washington’s faithful but displaced mascot, Denali. Prince Kazan, with his purple and gold banner, became a colorful replacement amid the Husky rooters for the remainder of the season.

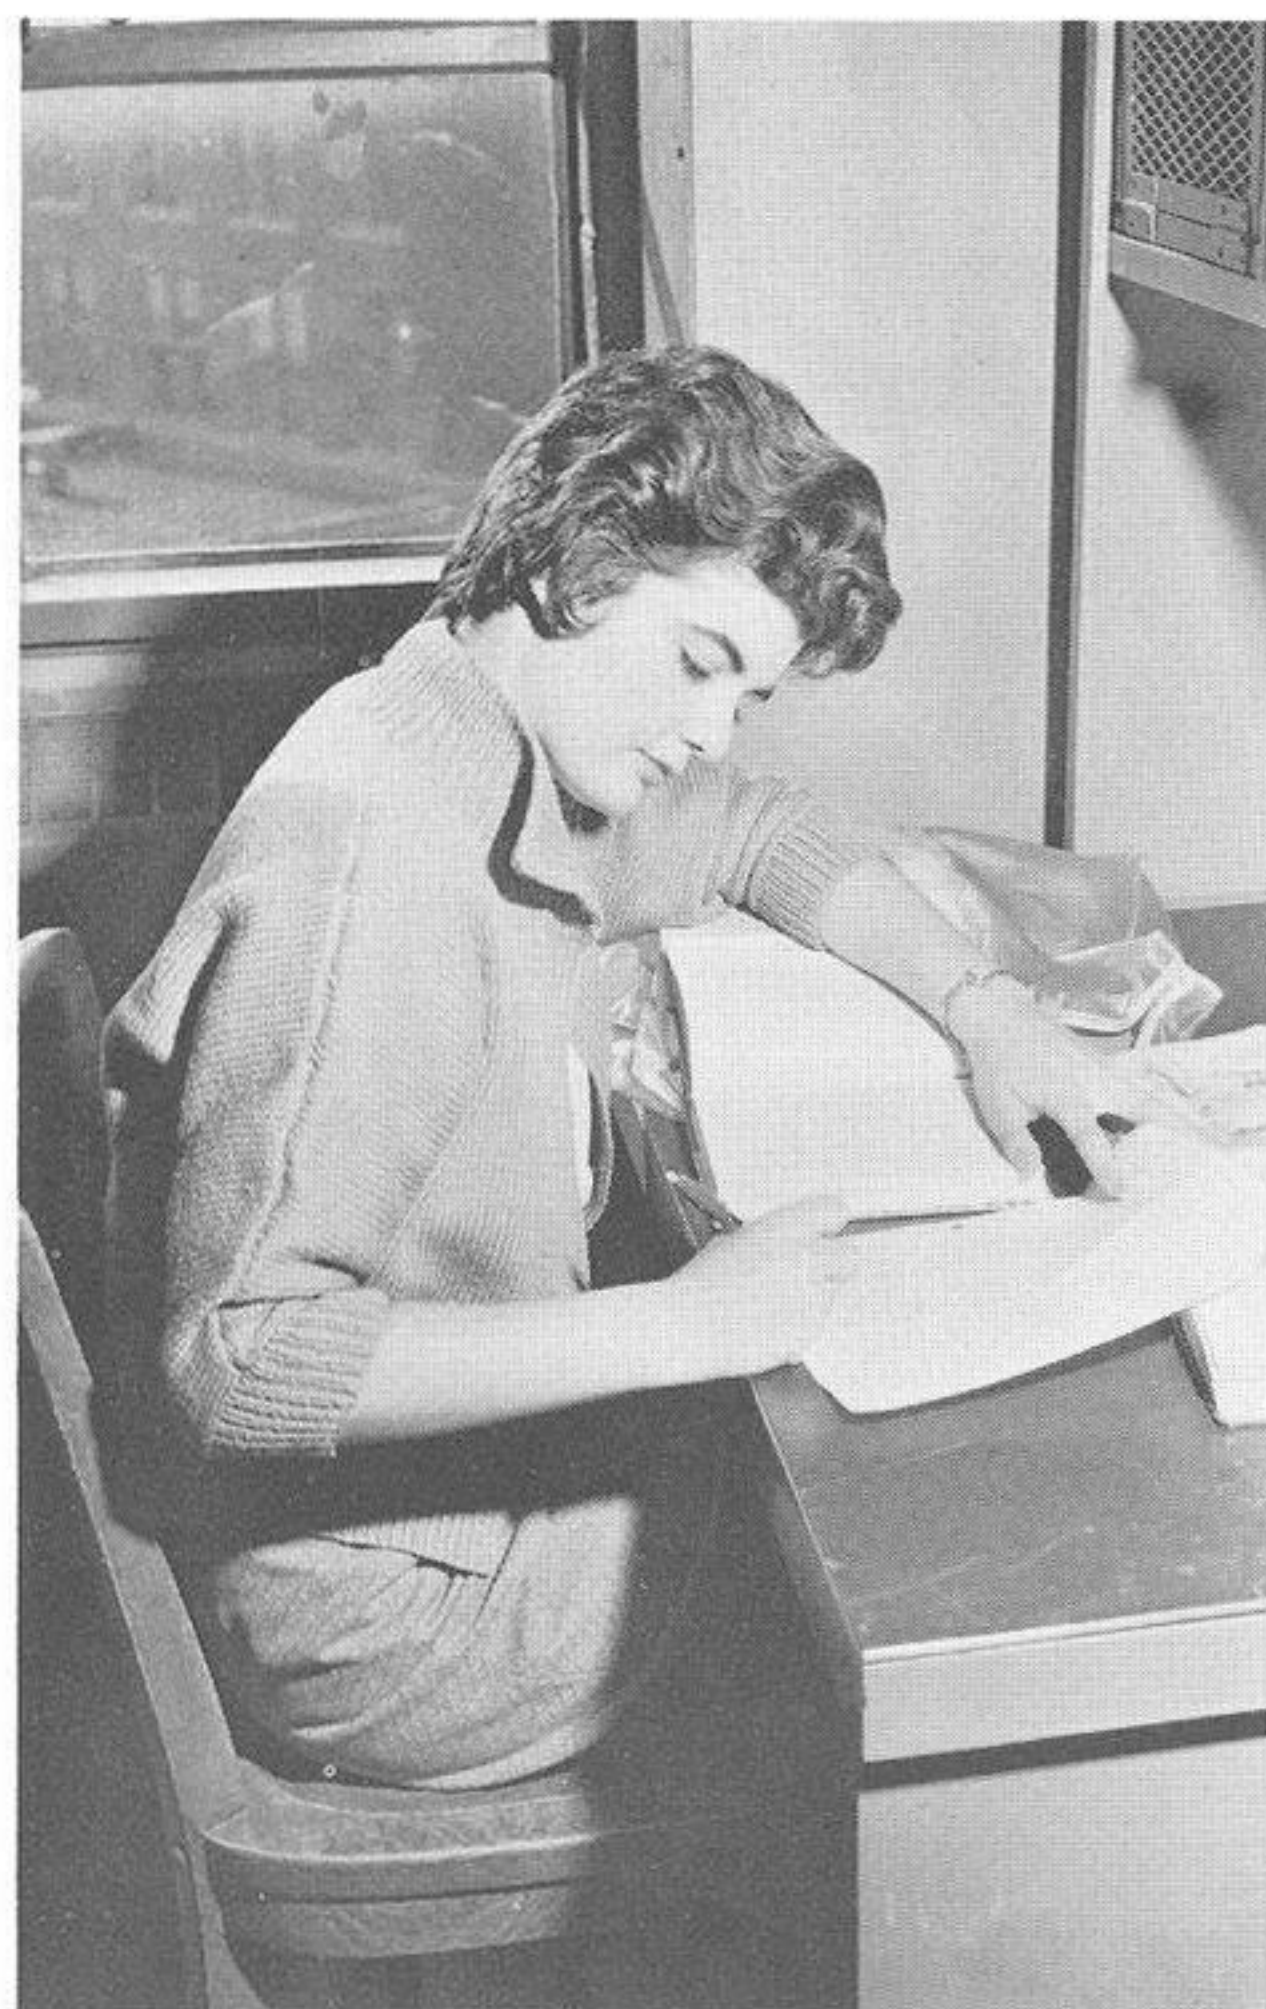

Climaxing fall quarter came the Rose Bowl, and “Washingtonians” became ecstatic over their “dream come true.” We marched in droves to sunny California, and there, amid the forecasts of a Wisconsin victory, gave the “pride of the ‘Big Ten’” their biggest beating.

Commons still reigns as one of the University’s most popular coffee shops and bridge “parlors.” Here many students meet for coffee dates and gossip sessions.

The HUB’s Husky Den and Commuters’ Lunchroom draw many students during the noon hour as well as at other times.

Concentrated study in the Main Library stacks takes up many a student’s “free” time. While reserved for “graduate students only,” this section draws many a serious-minded undergraduate.

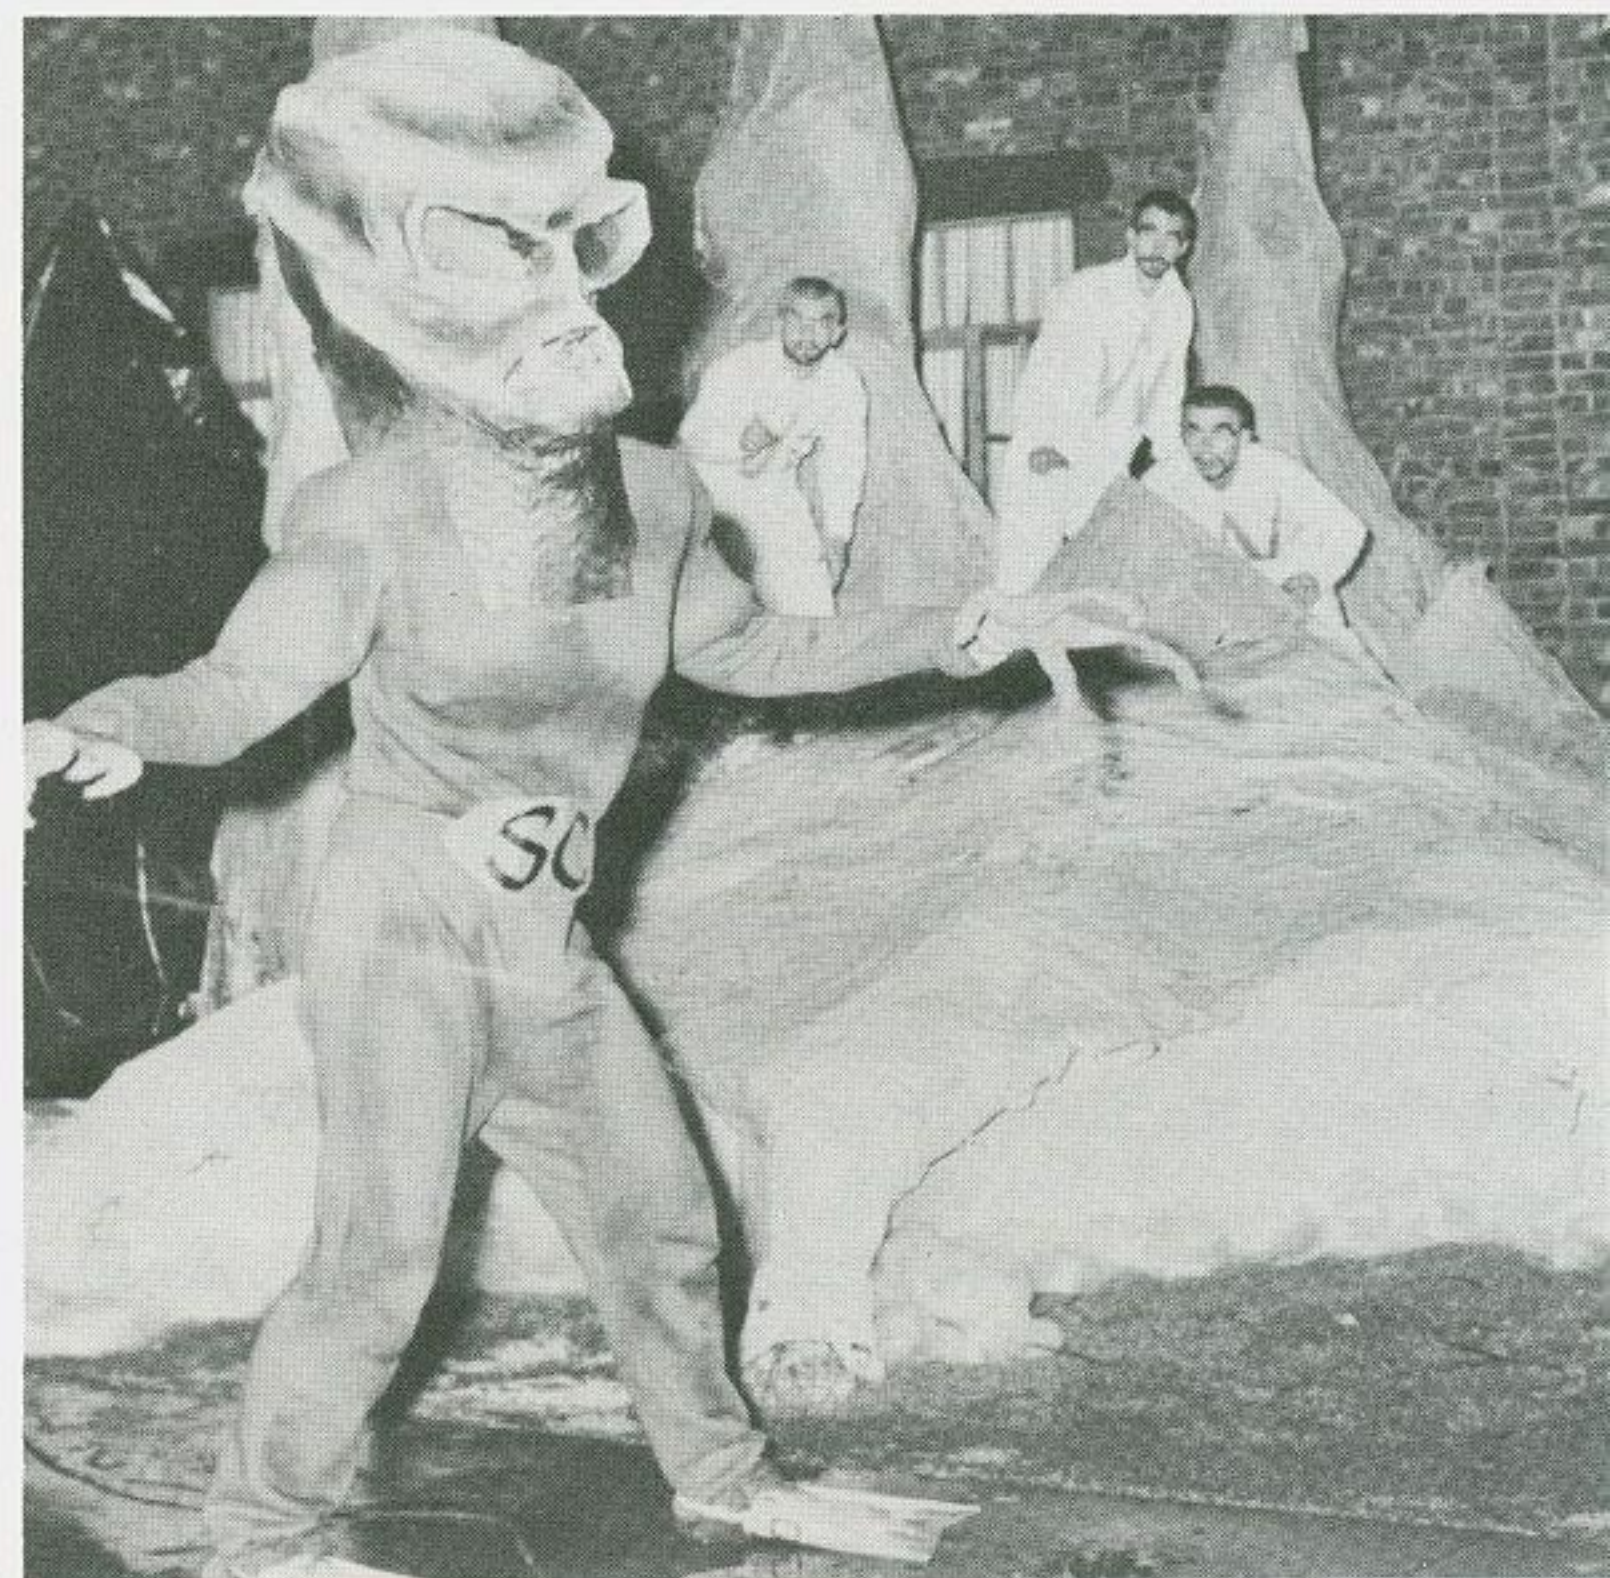

Homecoming Pageantry Brought Scores

Homecoming sign themes were more unusual than ever, as Alpha Gamma Delta's colorful "Gunfight at the OK Corral" and Theta Chi's eerie "Trojans from Outer Space" would indicate. Awards this year went to the Thetas and Chi Omegas in the women's animate division, the DUs in the men's animate division and to Sigma Nu and Kappa Delta in the two inanimate divisions.

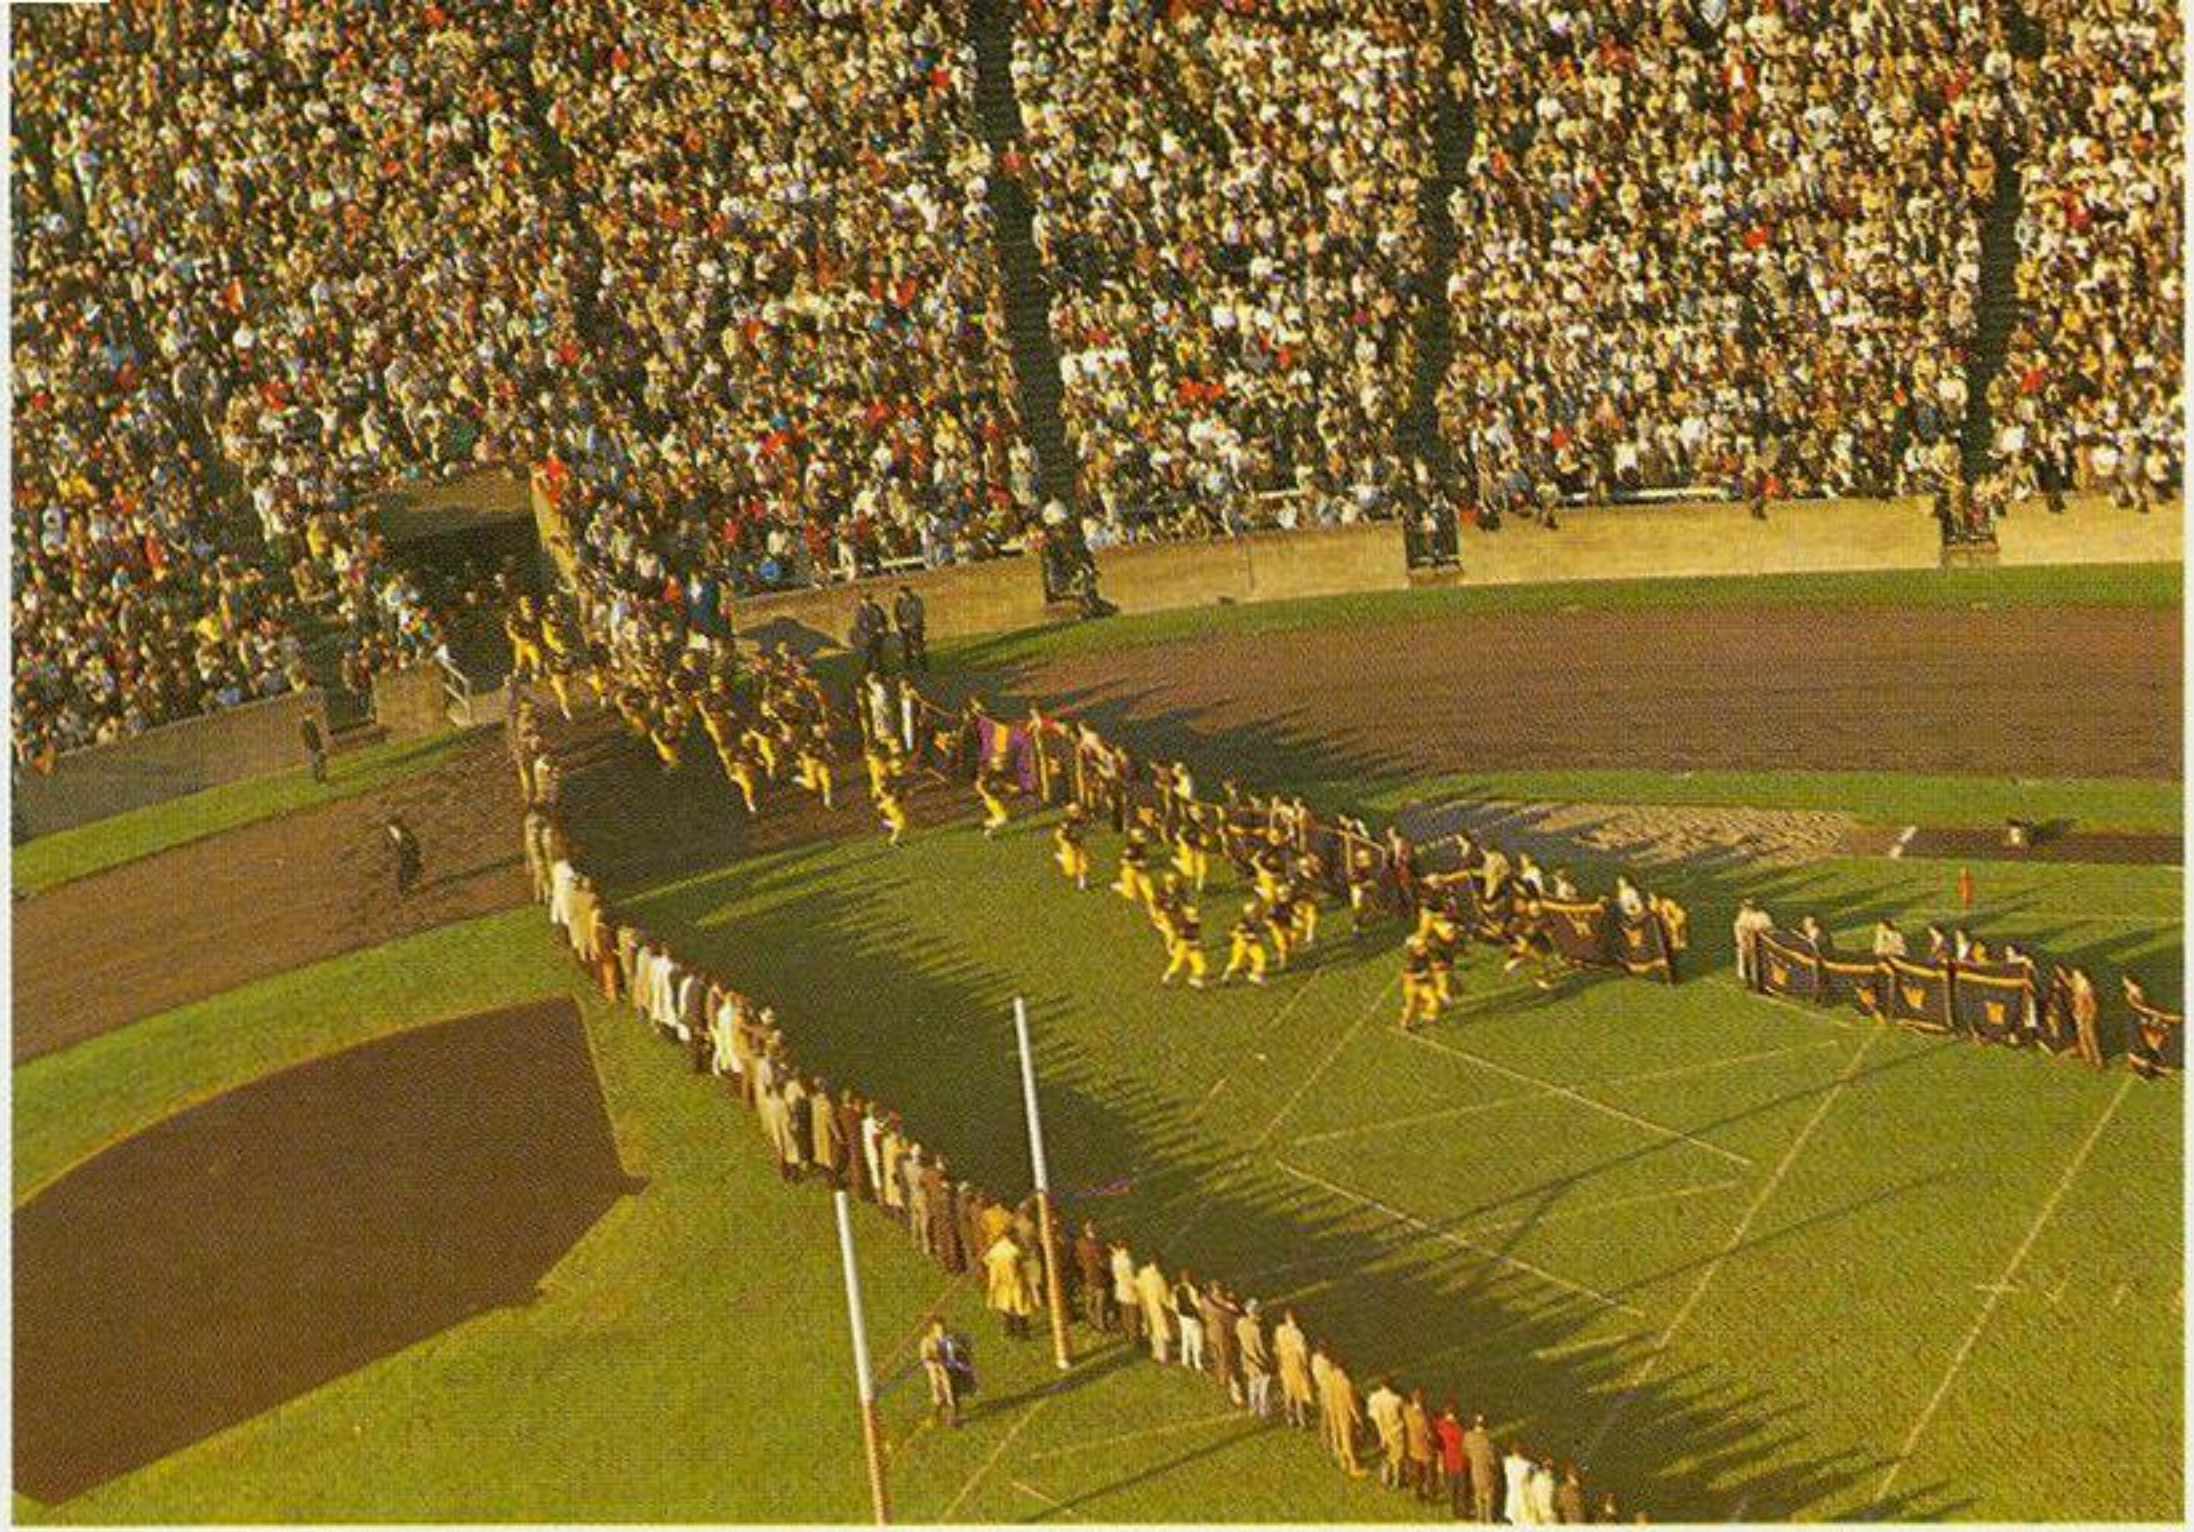

Lovely Sharon Givan, Homecoming Queen, is escorted from the stage by Homecoming Chairman Mike Kight after awarding the sign trophies at the crowd-packed dance. Decorations this year featured, appropriately, a huge Trojan horse.

Village Band Contest, held during the week prior to Homecoming, drew the usual zany entertainment. First place honors were captured by the Thetas and DUs, while the Chi Omegas and Chi Psis took second.

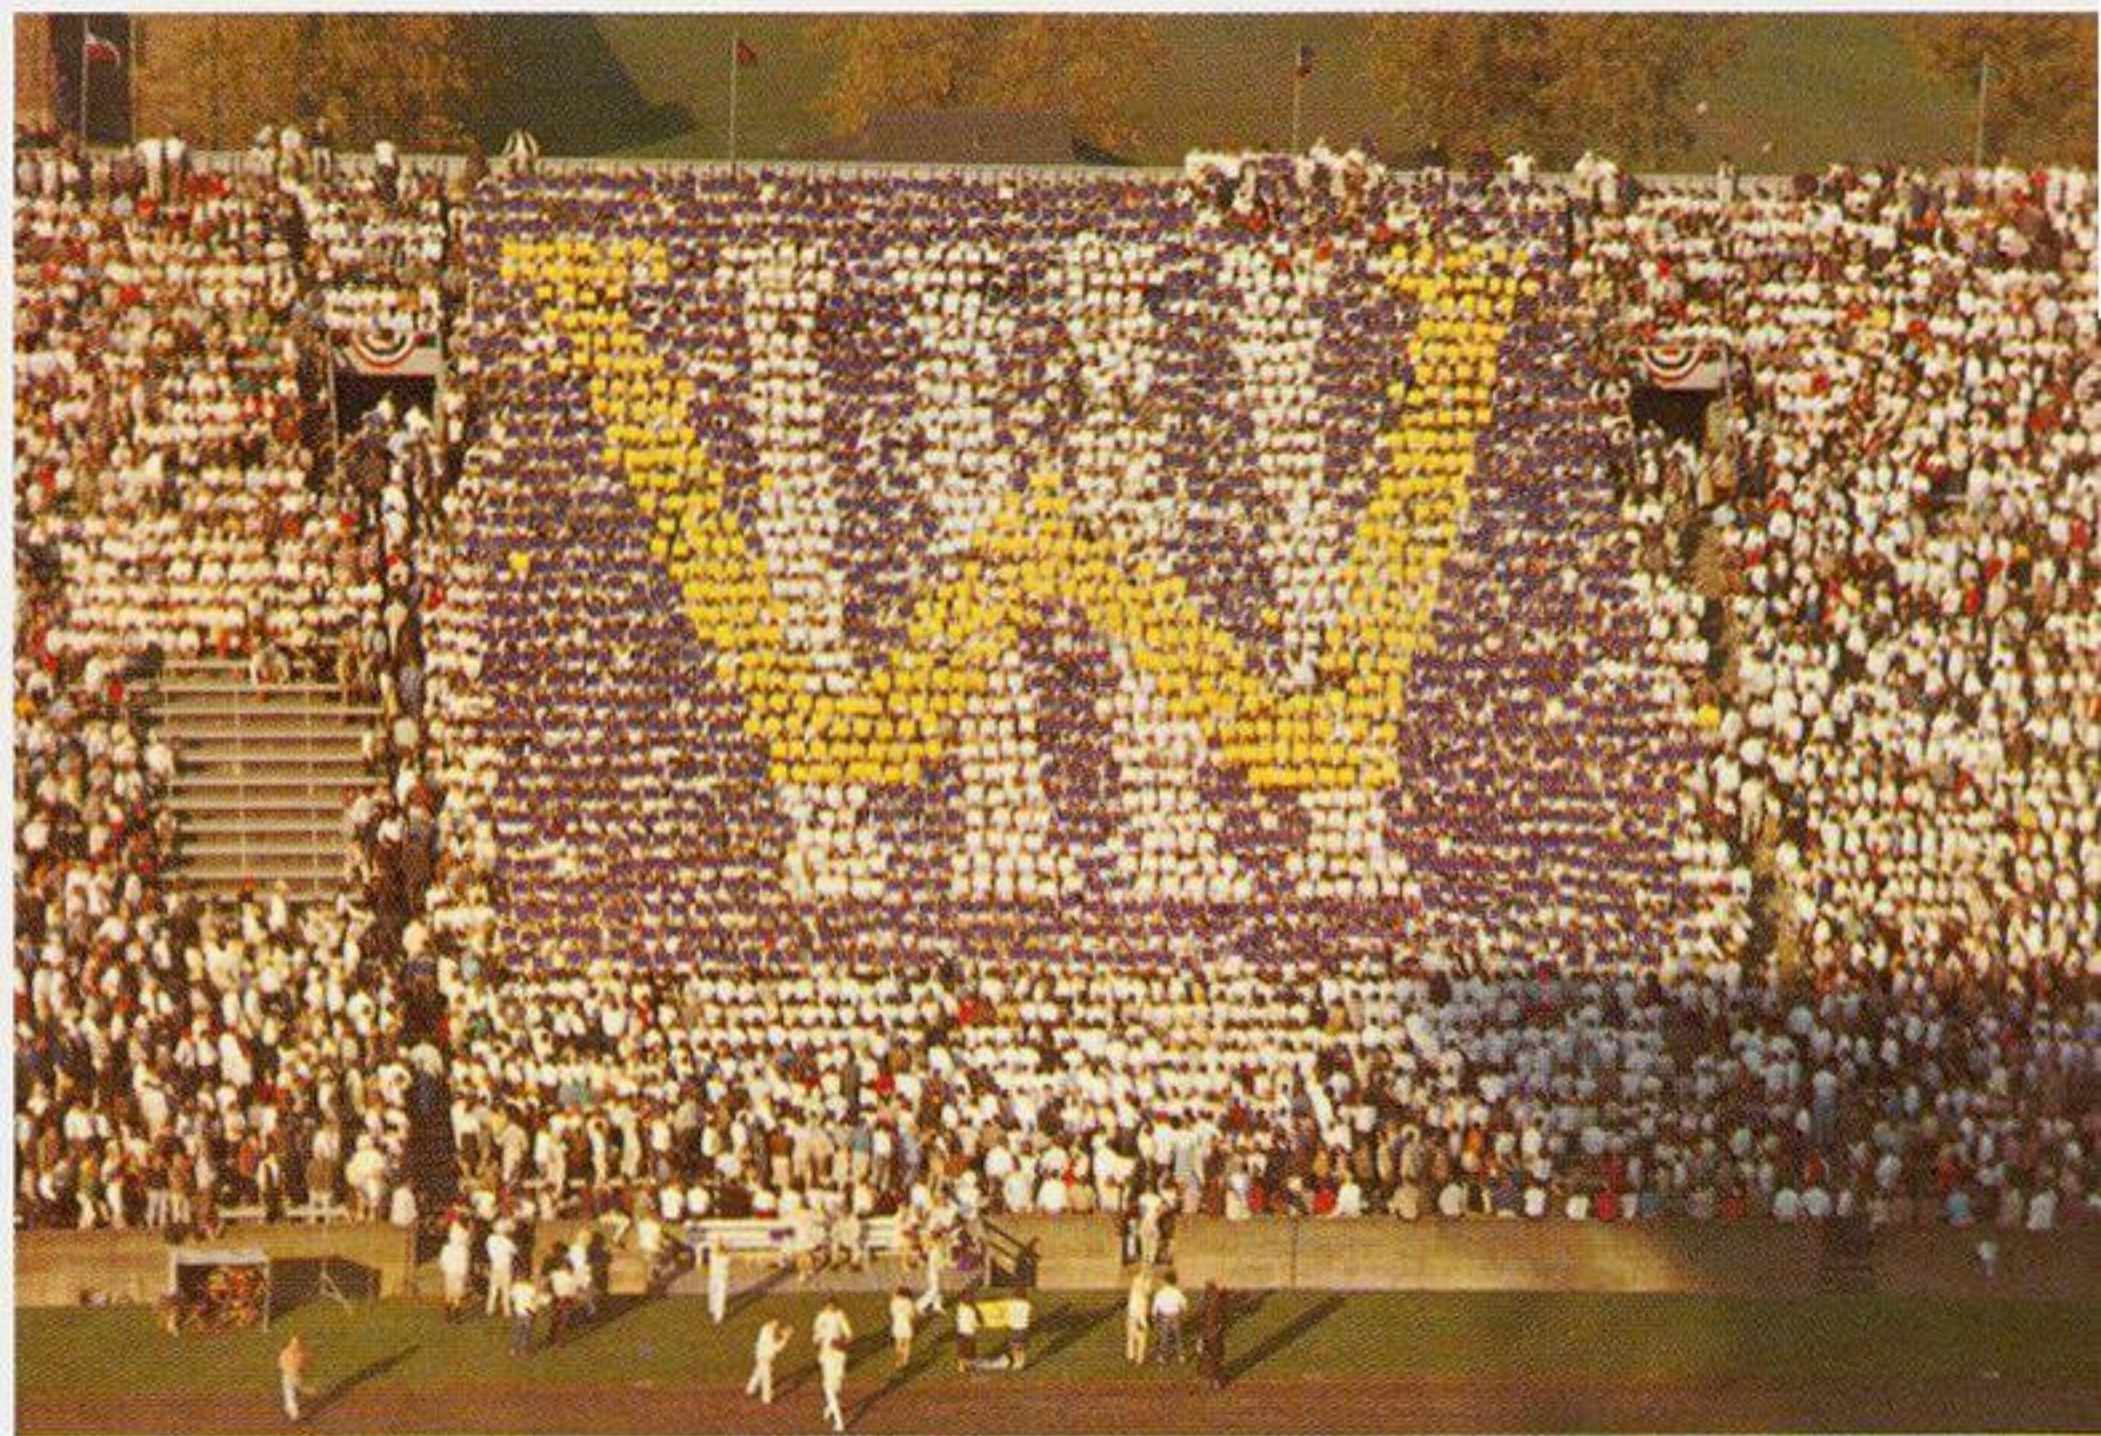

of Visitors

A colorful moment of tradition arrives, as sports alums line the field to form the Blanket Parade for the Huskies as they come onto the field for the second half of play.

Homecoming Weekend brought swarms of alums, parents and students to the campus for the most fun-filled weekend of the year. Homecoming signs, the rally, Village Band Contest, the dance and the game itself provided a continuous round of activity.

The game, highlight of the weekend, retained its color and excitement even though the Huskies lost, their only defeat of the season. The card stunts section combined with the marching band to provide a gay and colorful halftime. Then came the moment of tradition as varsity letter winners from past years formed the Blanket Parade.

The card stunts section starts off by forming the Columns, traditional symbol of the University of Washington.

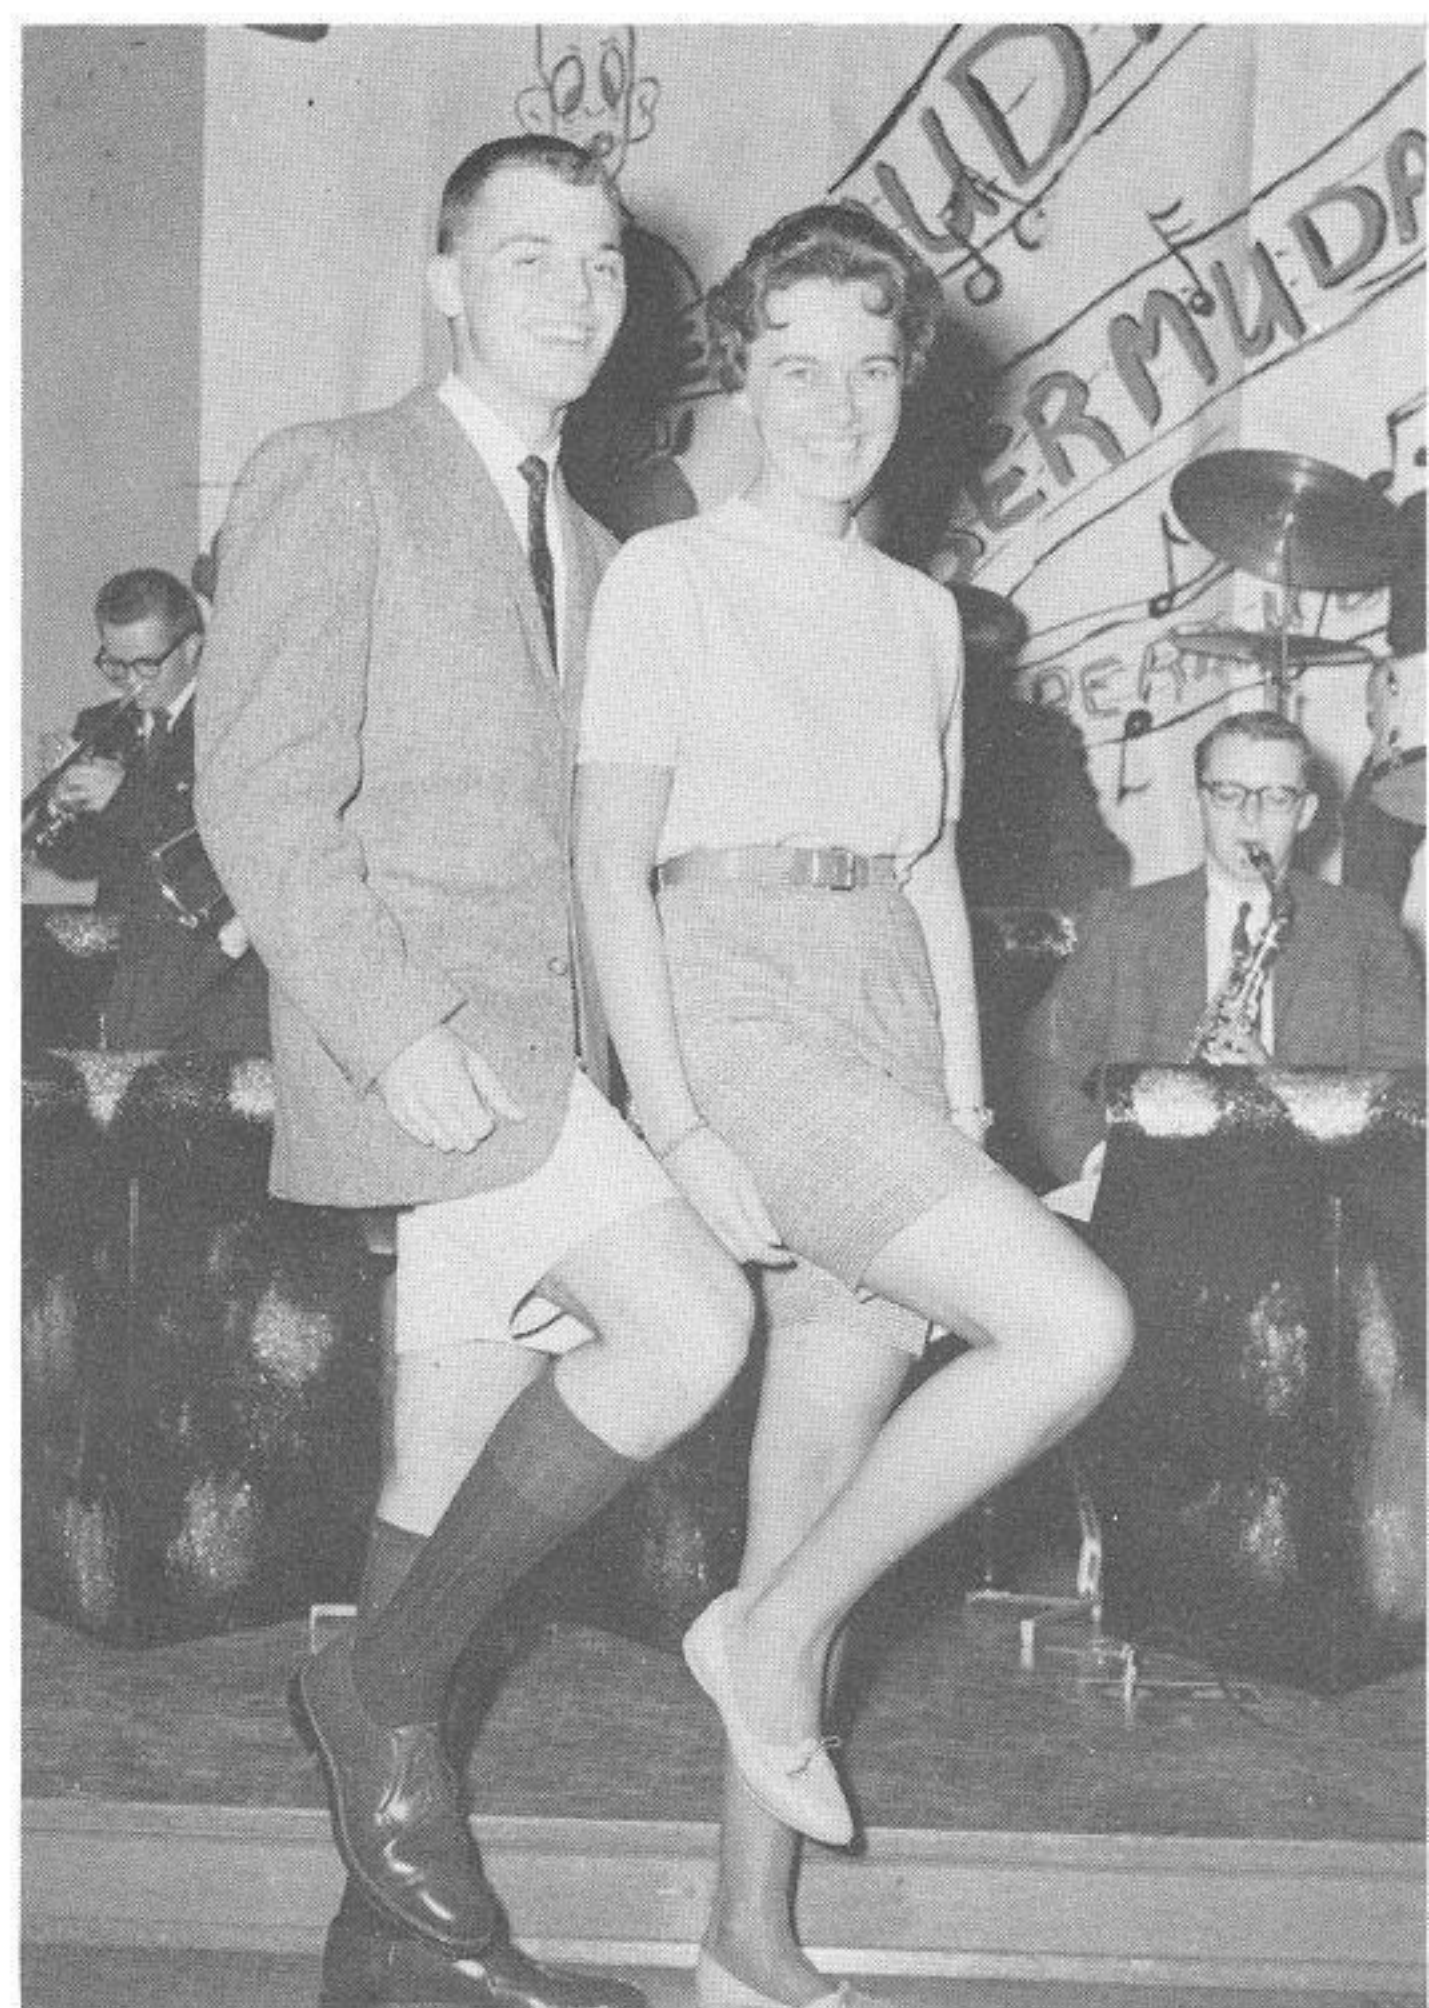

The exuberance of Homecoming reveals itself as songleaders, band, football players and throngs of cheering students, as well as a considerable number of awed youngsters, gather for the rally.

Bermuda Day

Jon Bleha and Linda Akers, pictured at right, reigned as king and queen of the annual Sophomore Bermuda Day. Their selection climaxed the day-long activities, including an assembly at Meany Hall and an evening dance-mixer in the HUB ballroom.

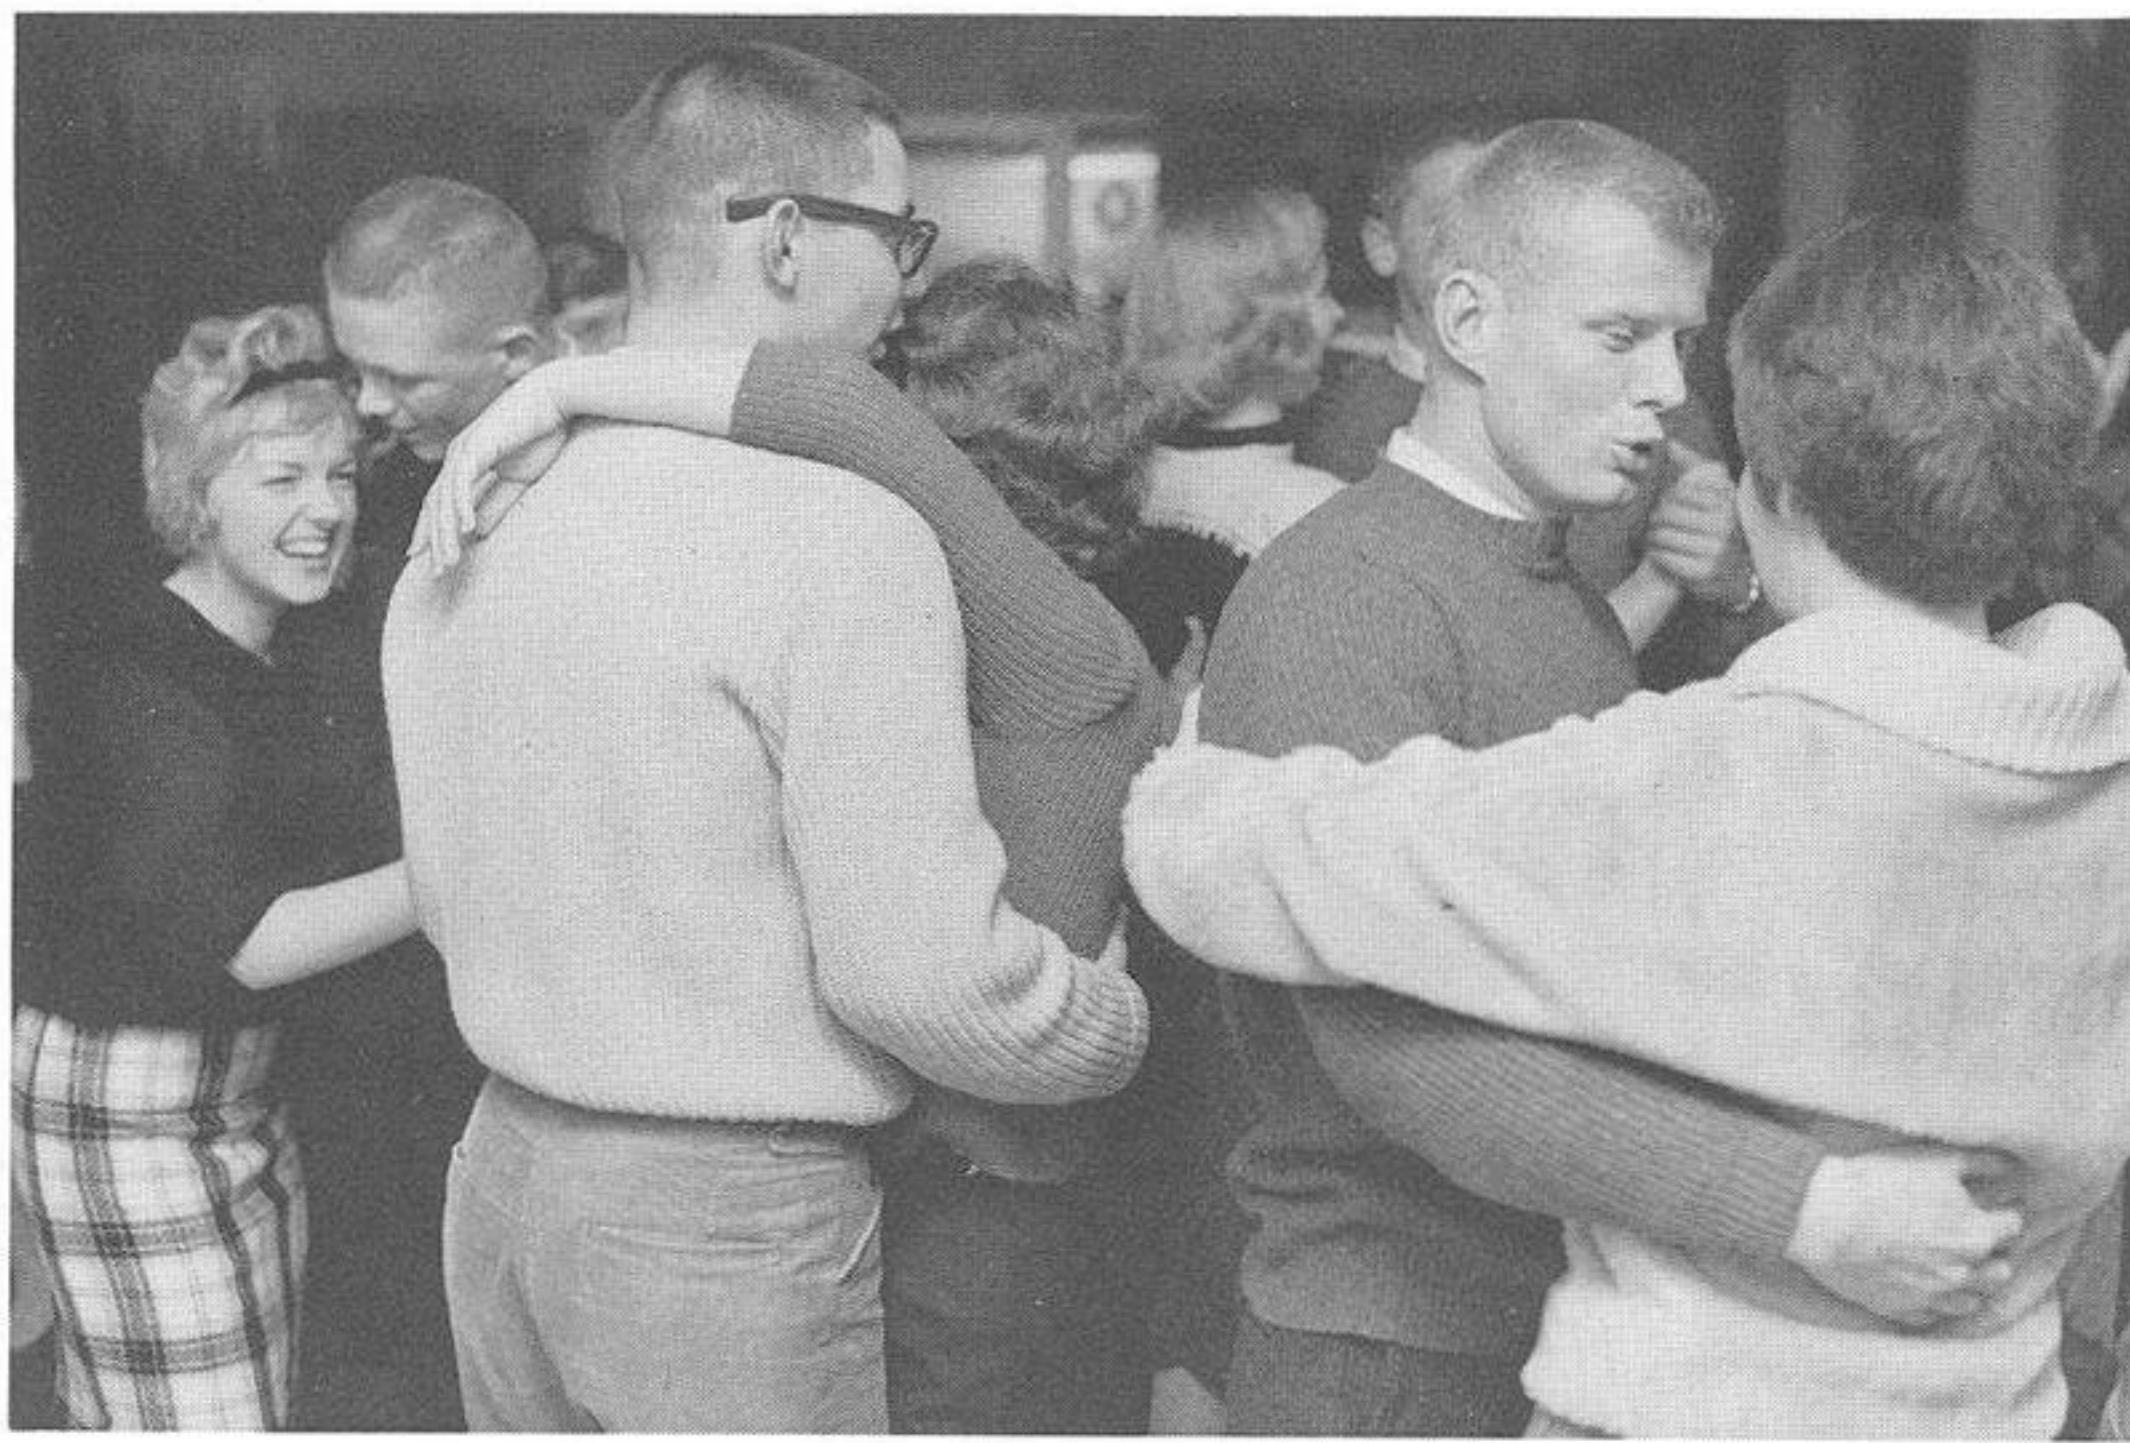

Casual Clothes Set the Theme...

Log-rolling and log-cutting contests were just two of the many events which took place during the Forest Club's annual Garb Day. Crowning of their queen, Judy Vedder, at the Loggers' Brawl was the highlight of the celebration.

Garb Day

Nickel Hop

Mona Lyche, Mystery Girl, and Bob Ridgeway won an evening "on the town," thanks to the annual YM-YWCA Nickel Hop. Bob won both his date and dinner by dancing with Mona at the time when she was announced as Mystery Girl. Netting $395.00, the dance was held in all registered women's living groups.

Money for Europe and Holiday Fun...

The annual ASUW-sponsored Christmas Party provided one "last fling" before finals. Carole Johnson, a Theta, was selected as "Miss Mistletoe" at the party, which was held at the HUB. Crowned by Santa Claus, Carole was brightly decorated as a Christmas package, complete with ribbon and wrapping paper. The ASUW Glee Club, directed by Miss Iris Jones, carried out the Christmas theme with their vocal selections of "Christmas Around the World."

ASUW Christmas Party

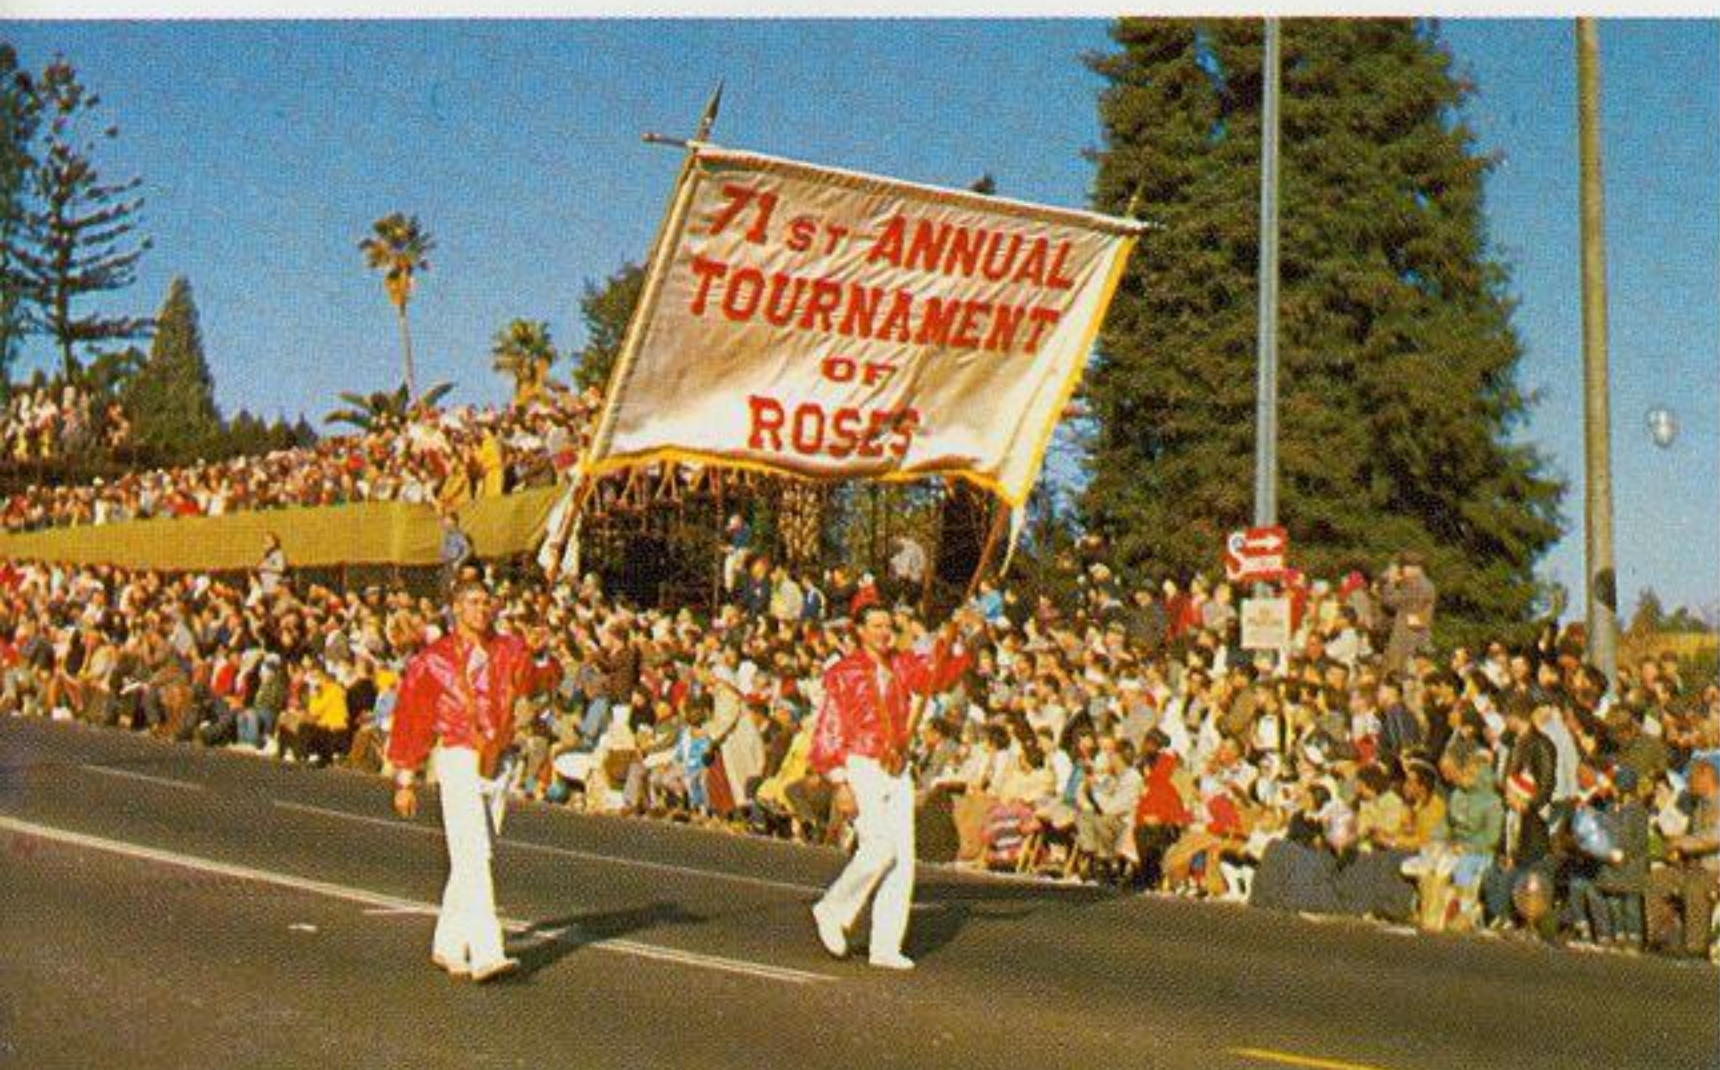

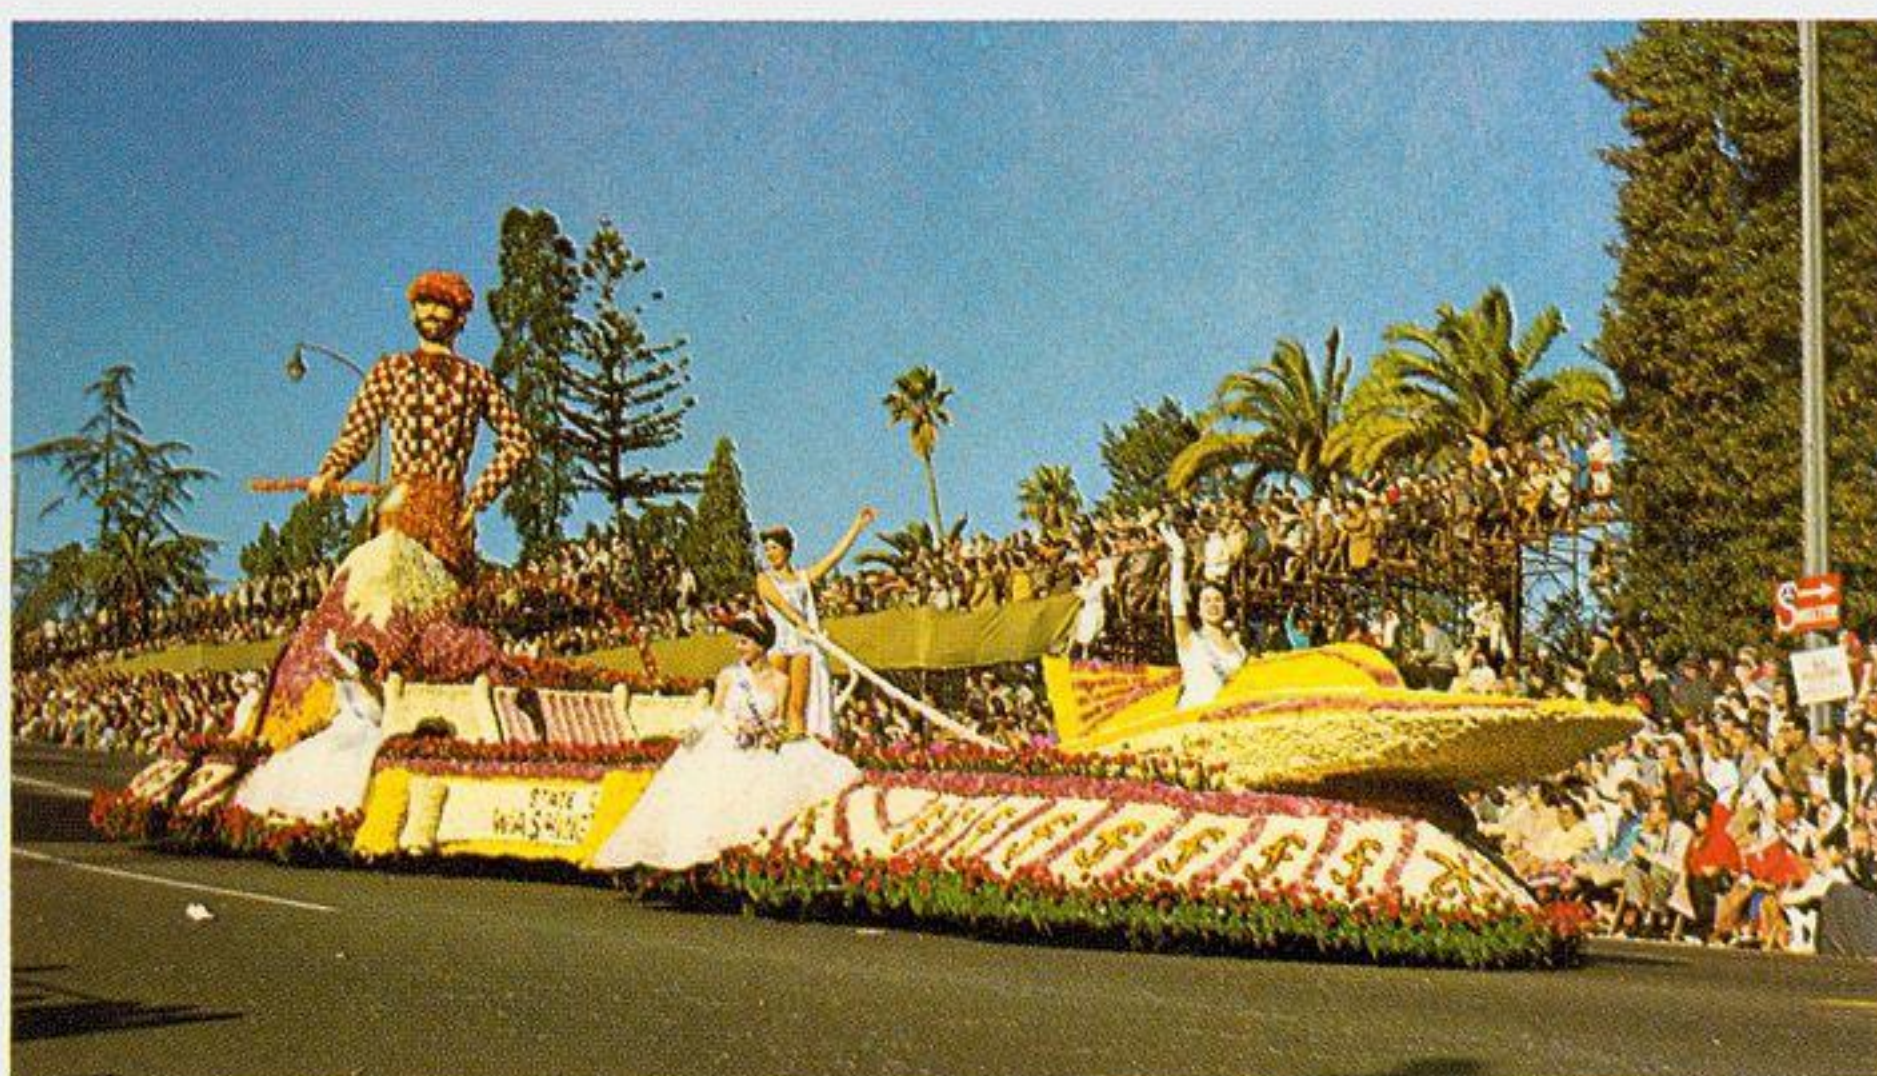

Throngs of excited fans crowded Seattle-Tacoma Airport to give the Huskies a triumphant send-off to Pasadena.

California Was Sunny,

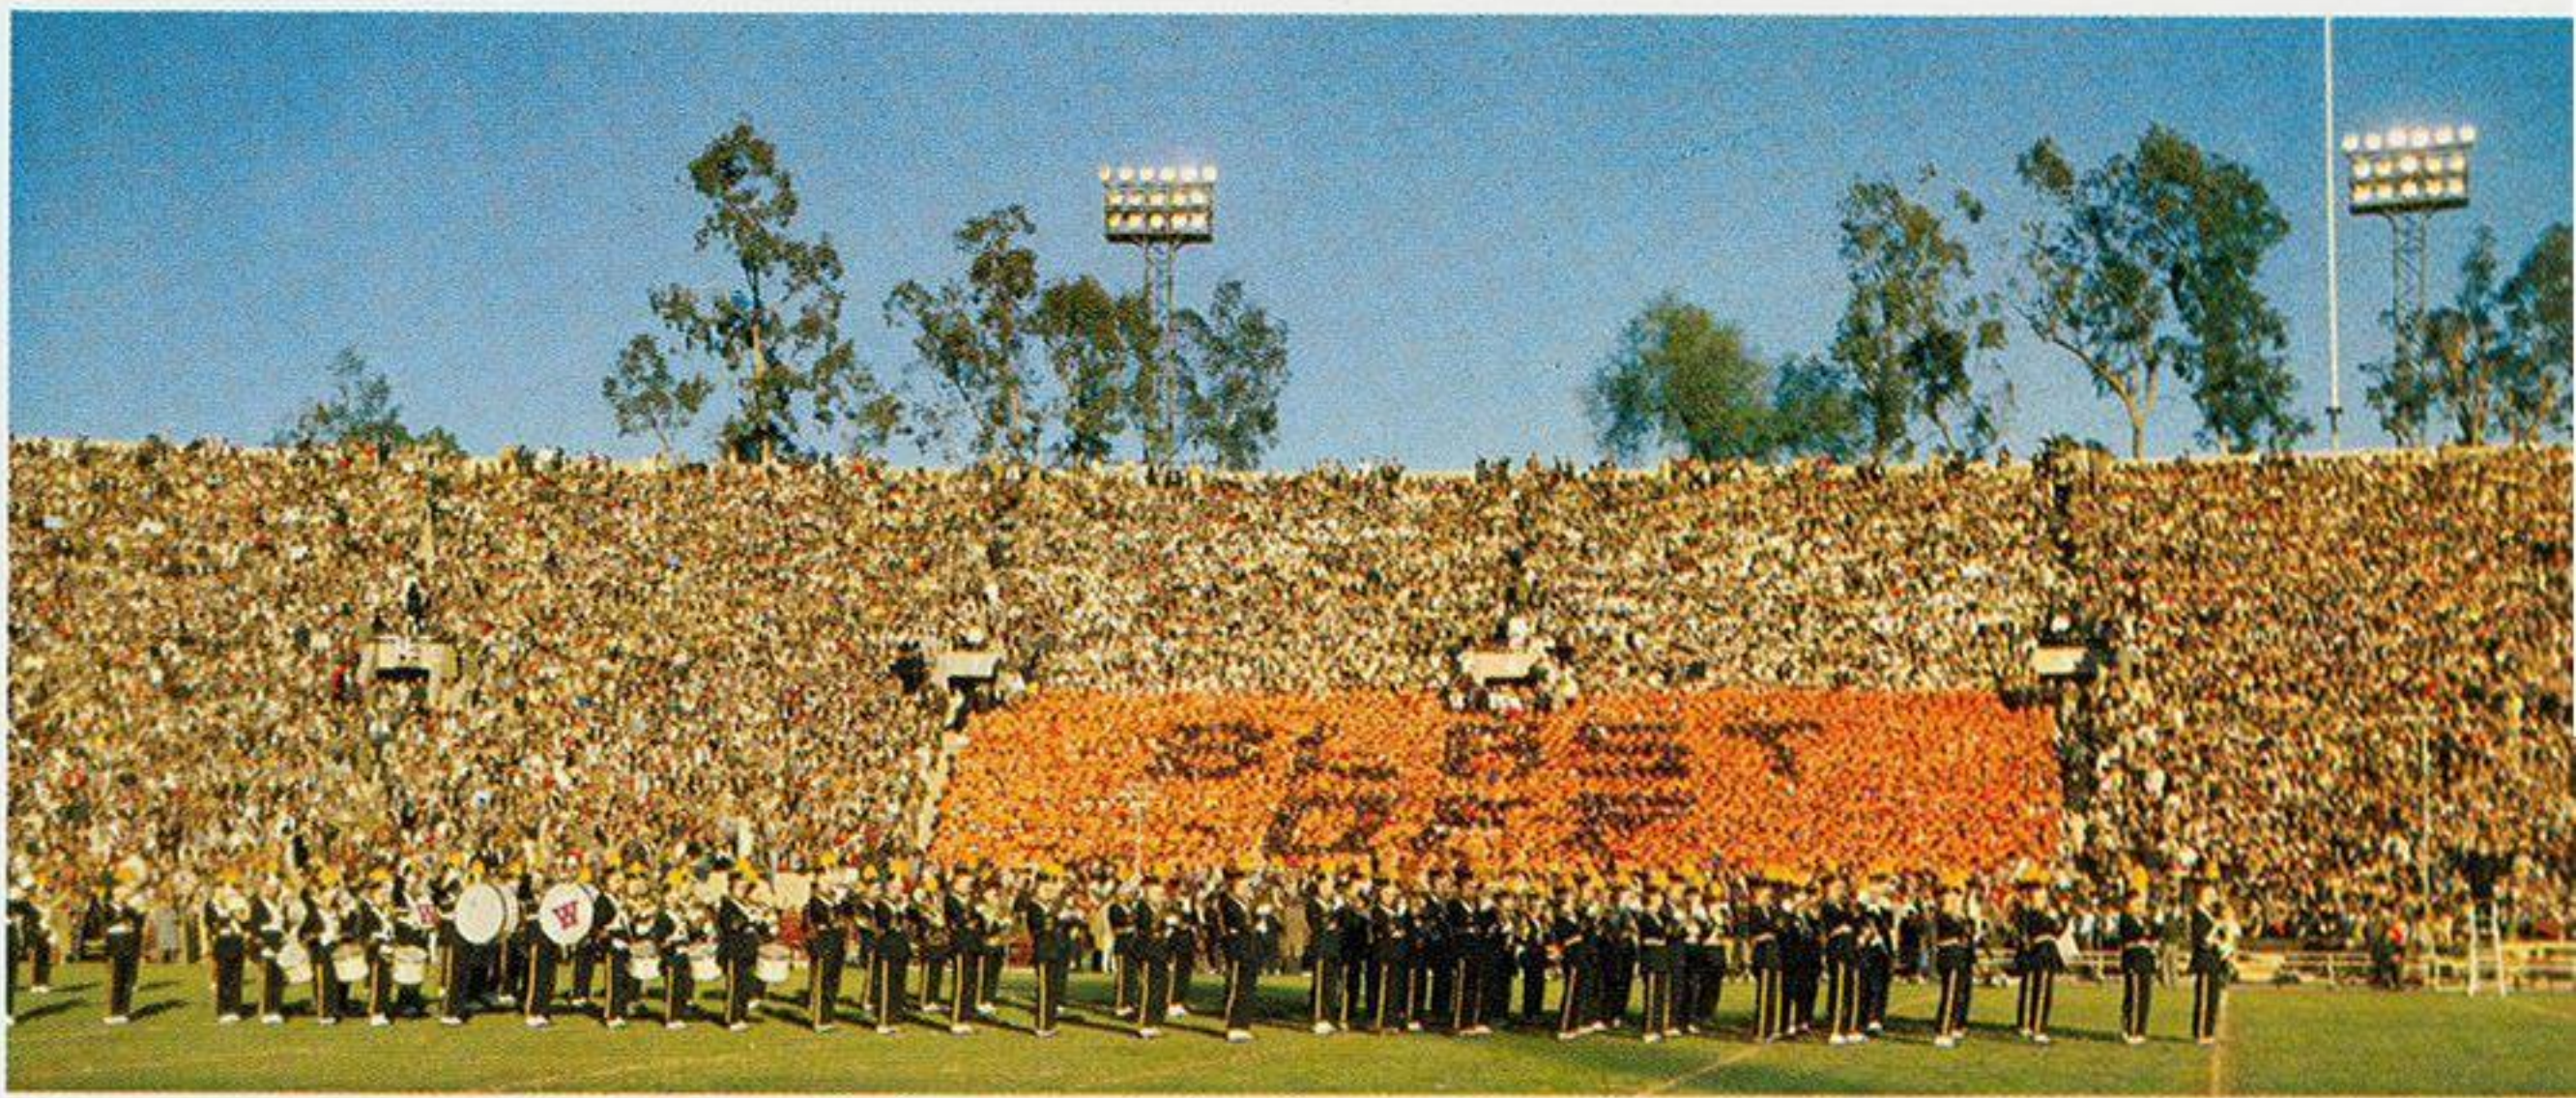

The morning sunlight promises a bright day, as Washington's songleaders begin their march through Disneyland during the famous Rose Parade.

Paul Bunyan, boats and pretty girls decorated the colorful State of Washington float, which was entered through the voluntary donations of thousands of citizens of Washington.

The Washington marching band and student card stunt section put on a "rocket-launching" exhibition during the halftime entertainment, and again the slogan proved appropriate.

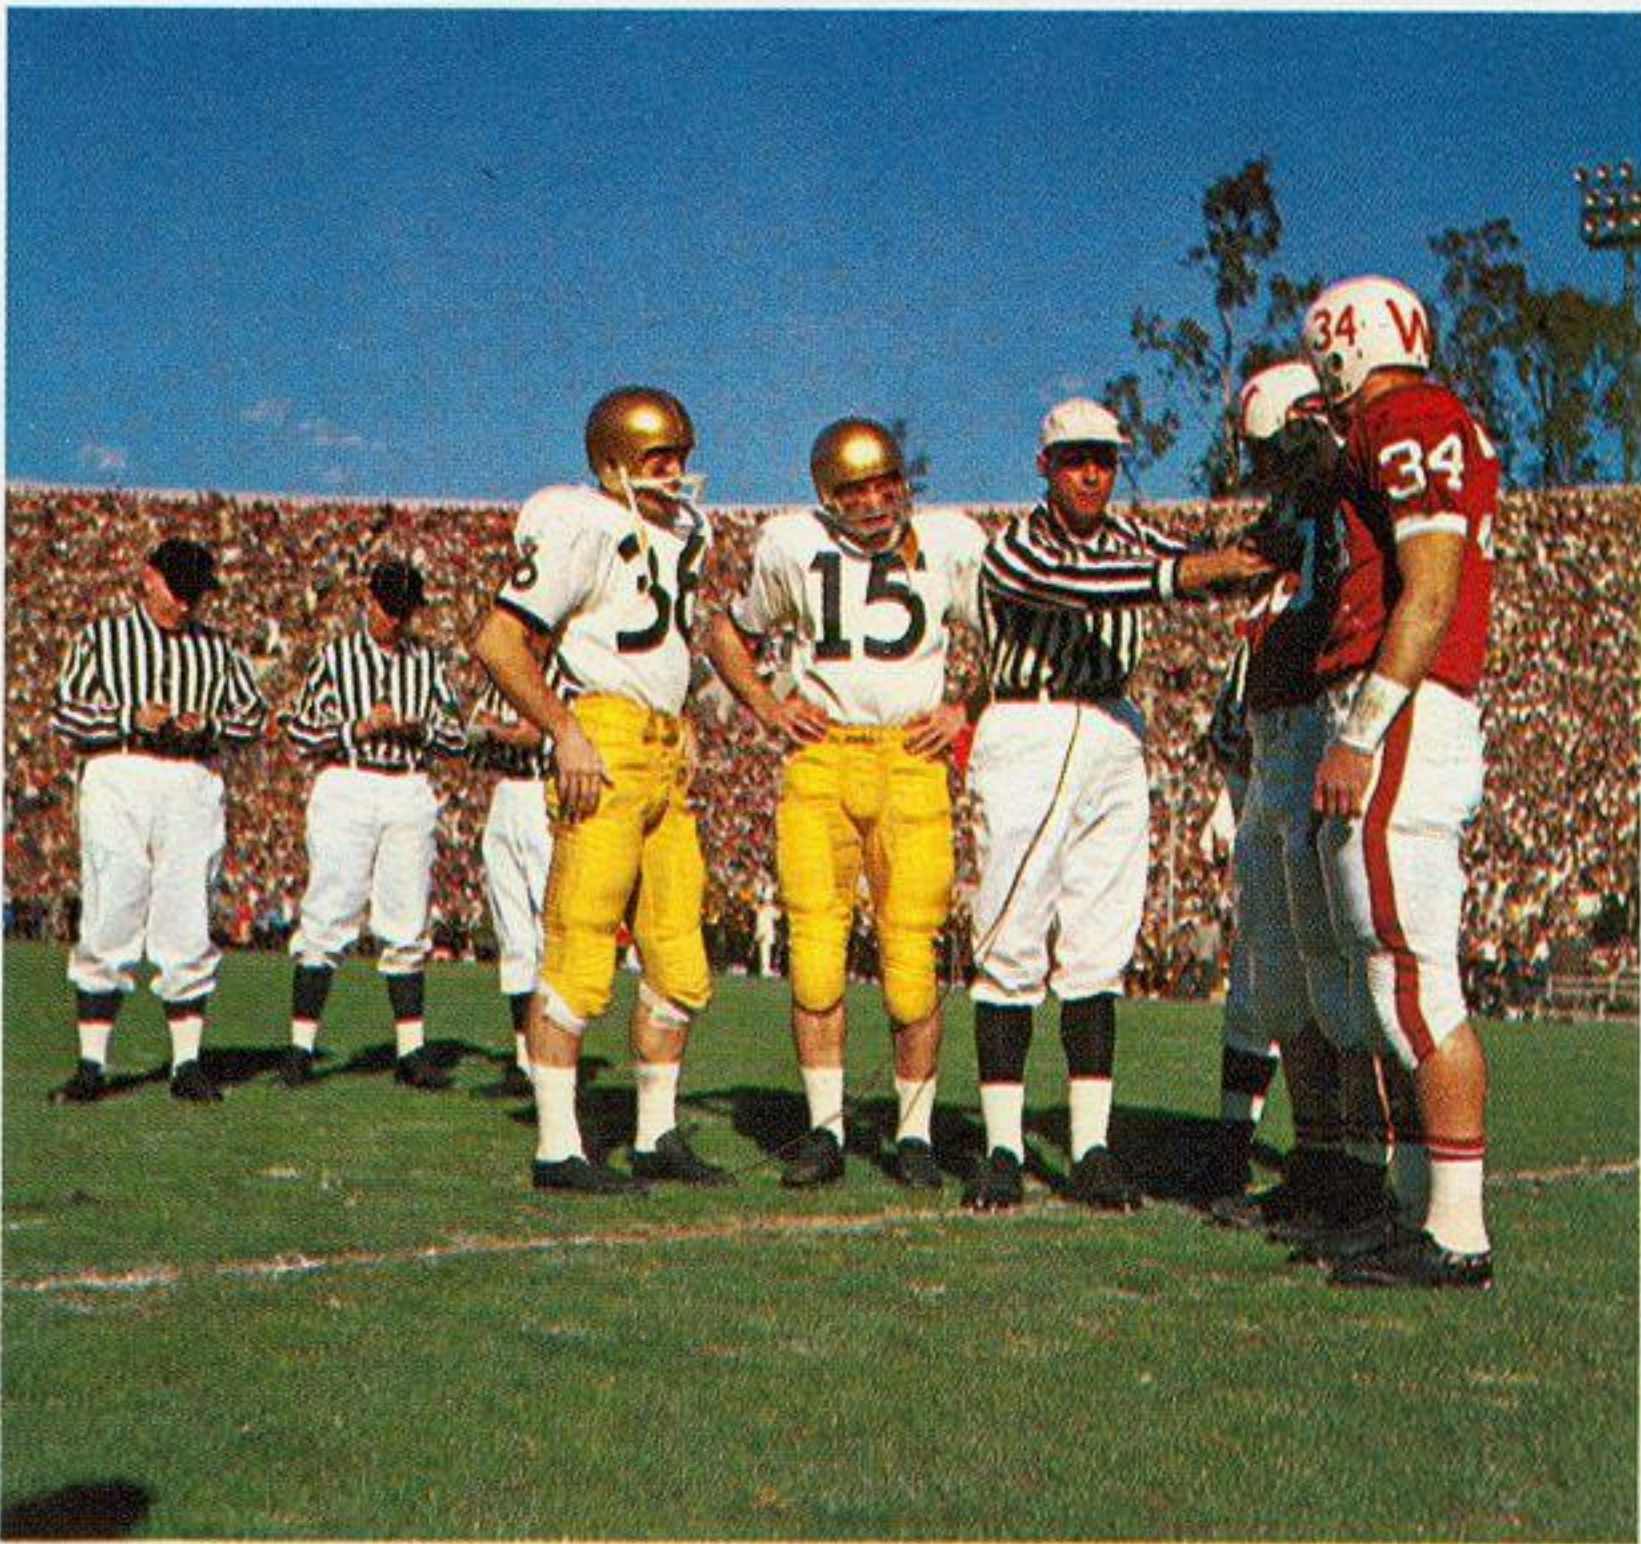

but Rose Bowl Glory Was Even Brighter

The biggest Christmas package arrived seven days late for the Huskies and it came in the form of a Rose Bowl scoreboard that read "Washington 44, Wisconsin 8."

The most optimistic fans had bought their travel tickets back in October. Following Christmas the roads and airways became crowded with U of W students and countless other Washington citizens, all with a common destination: Rose Bowl.

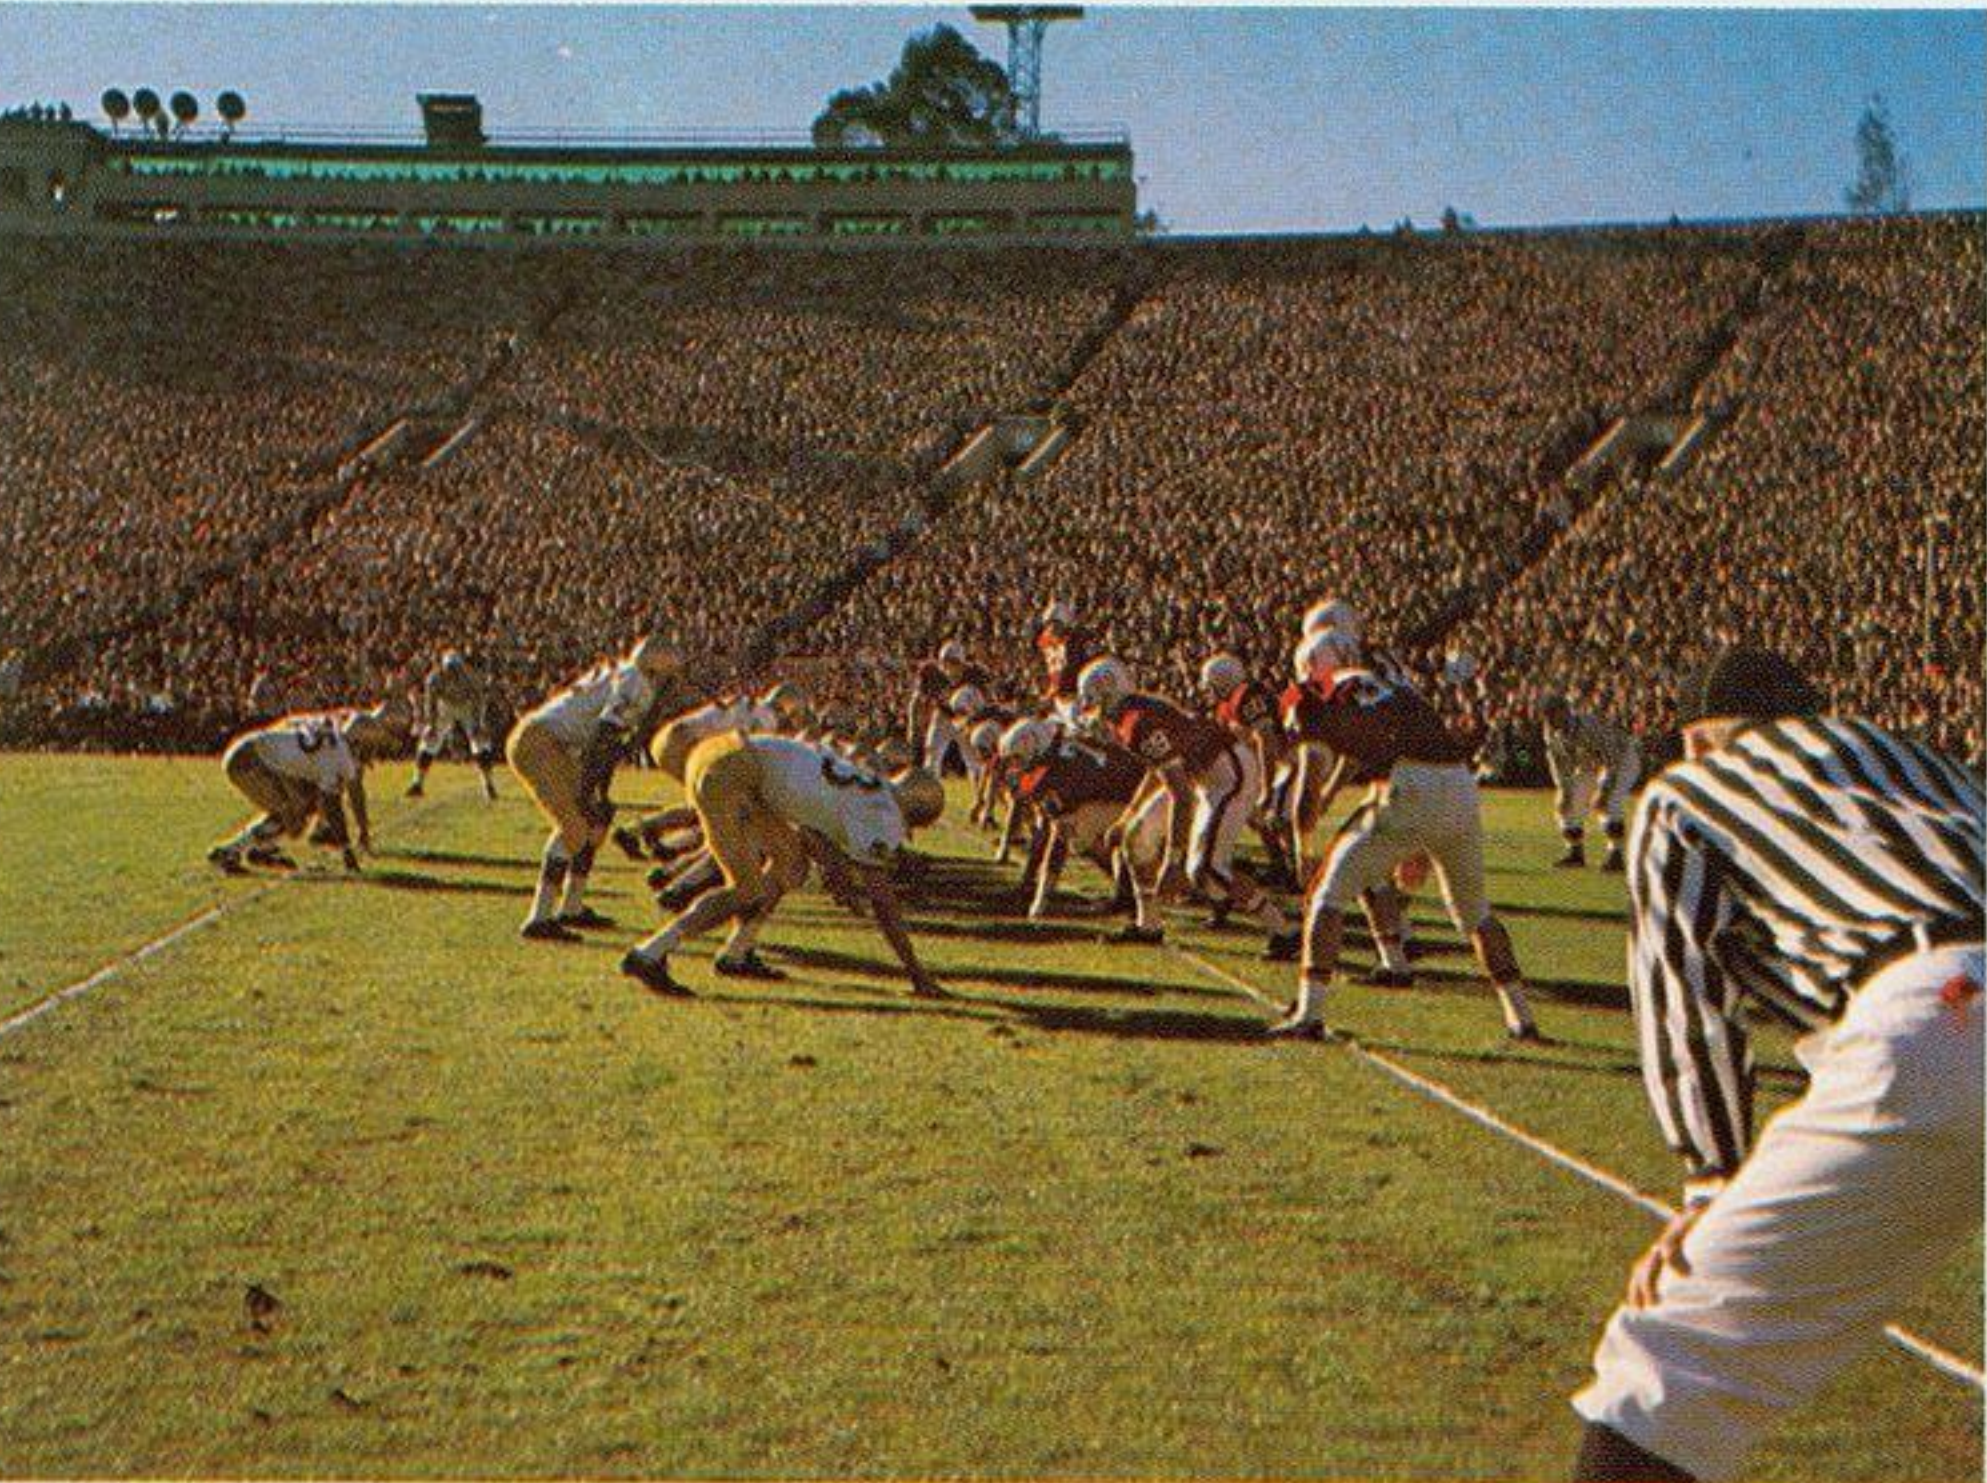

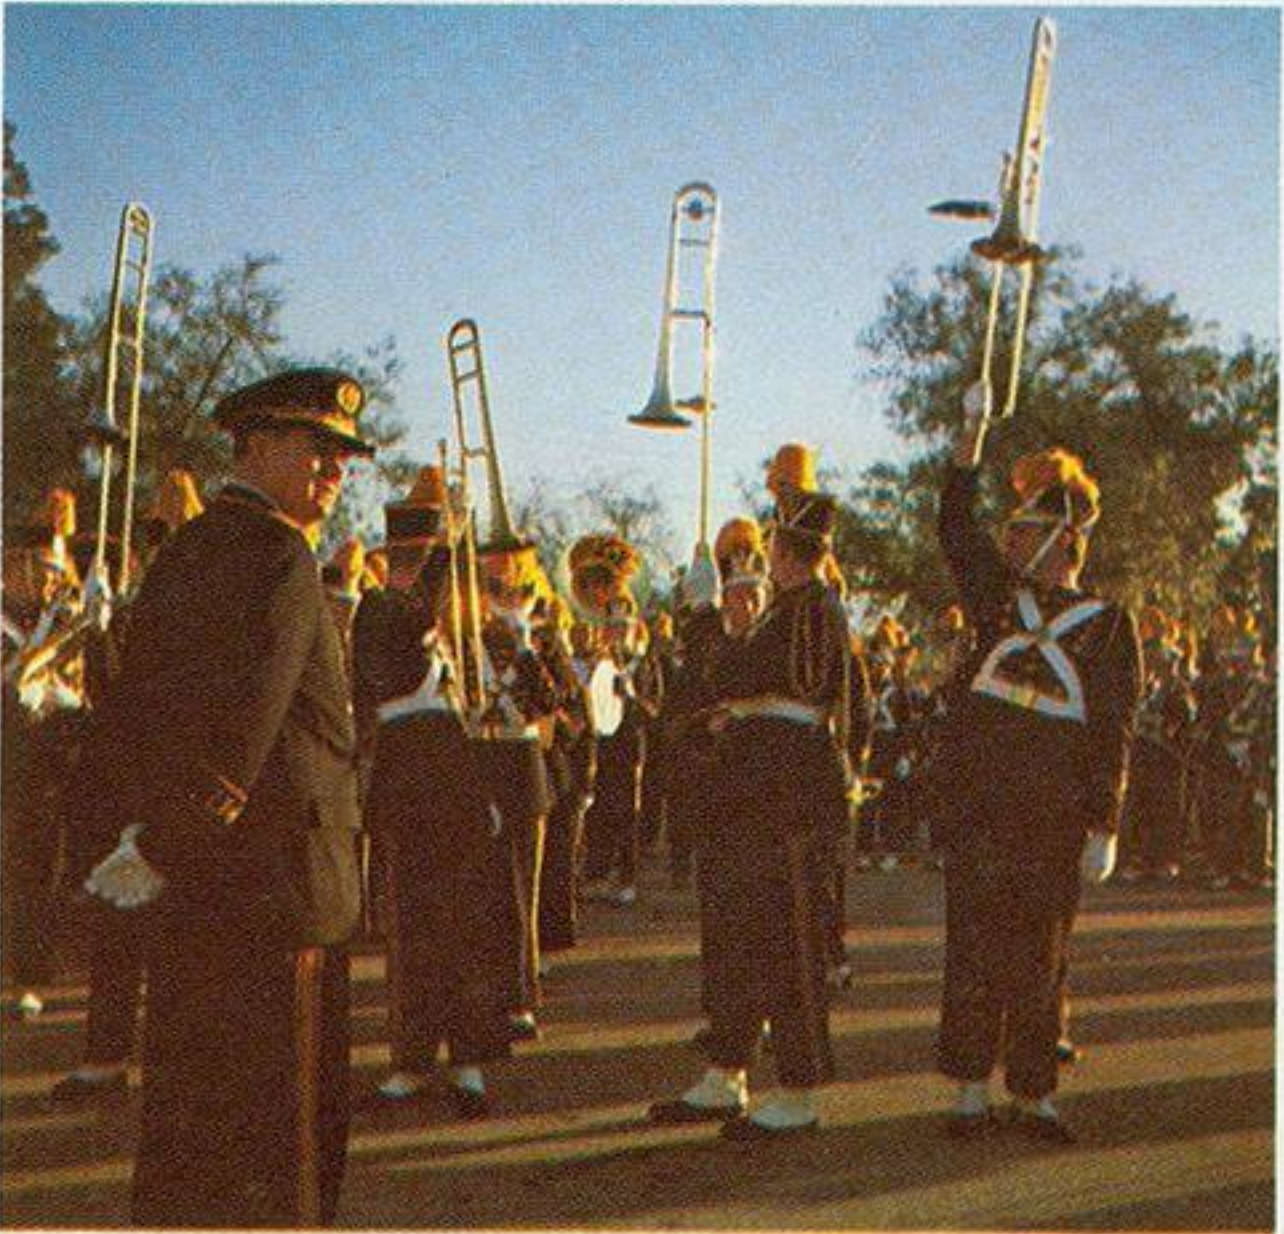

The days before the game were spent in sight-seeing and partying. The undaunted ones braved the bitter morning cold to watch the Tournament of Roses Parade. Then, with mounting excitement, the crowds thronged toward the Bowl.

The rest of New Year's Day is past history. Innumerable accounts of that surprise upset by the Huskies have been written into the pages of newspapers and magazines throughout the nation. For Washington fans, it was the thrill of the decade.

Victory! A glorious trip to California ended as triumphantly as it began.

For Washington fans, the 1960 Rose Bowl was the thrill of the decade. The Huskies seemingly could do no wrong as they galloped over a stunned Wisconsin team to a surprising 44-8 victory. It was only the second time in 14 years that a Coast team won the contest.

Elections Keynote Winter Activities

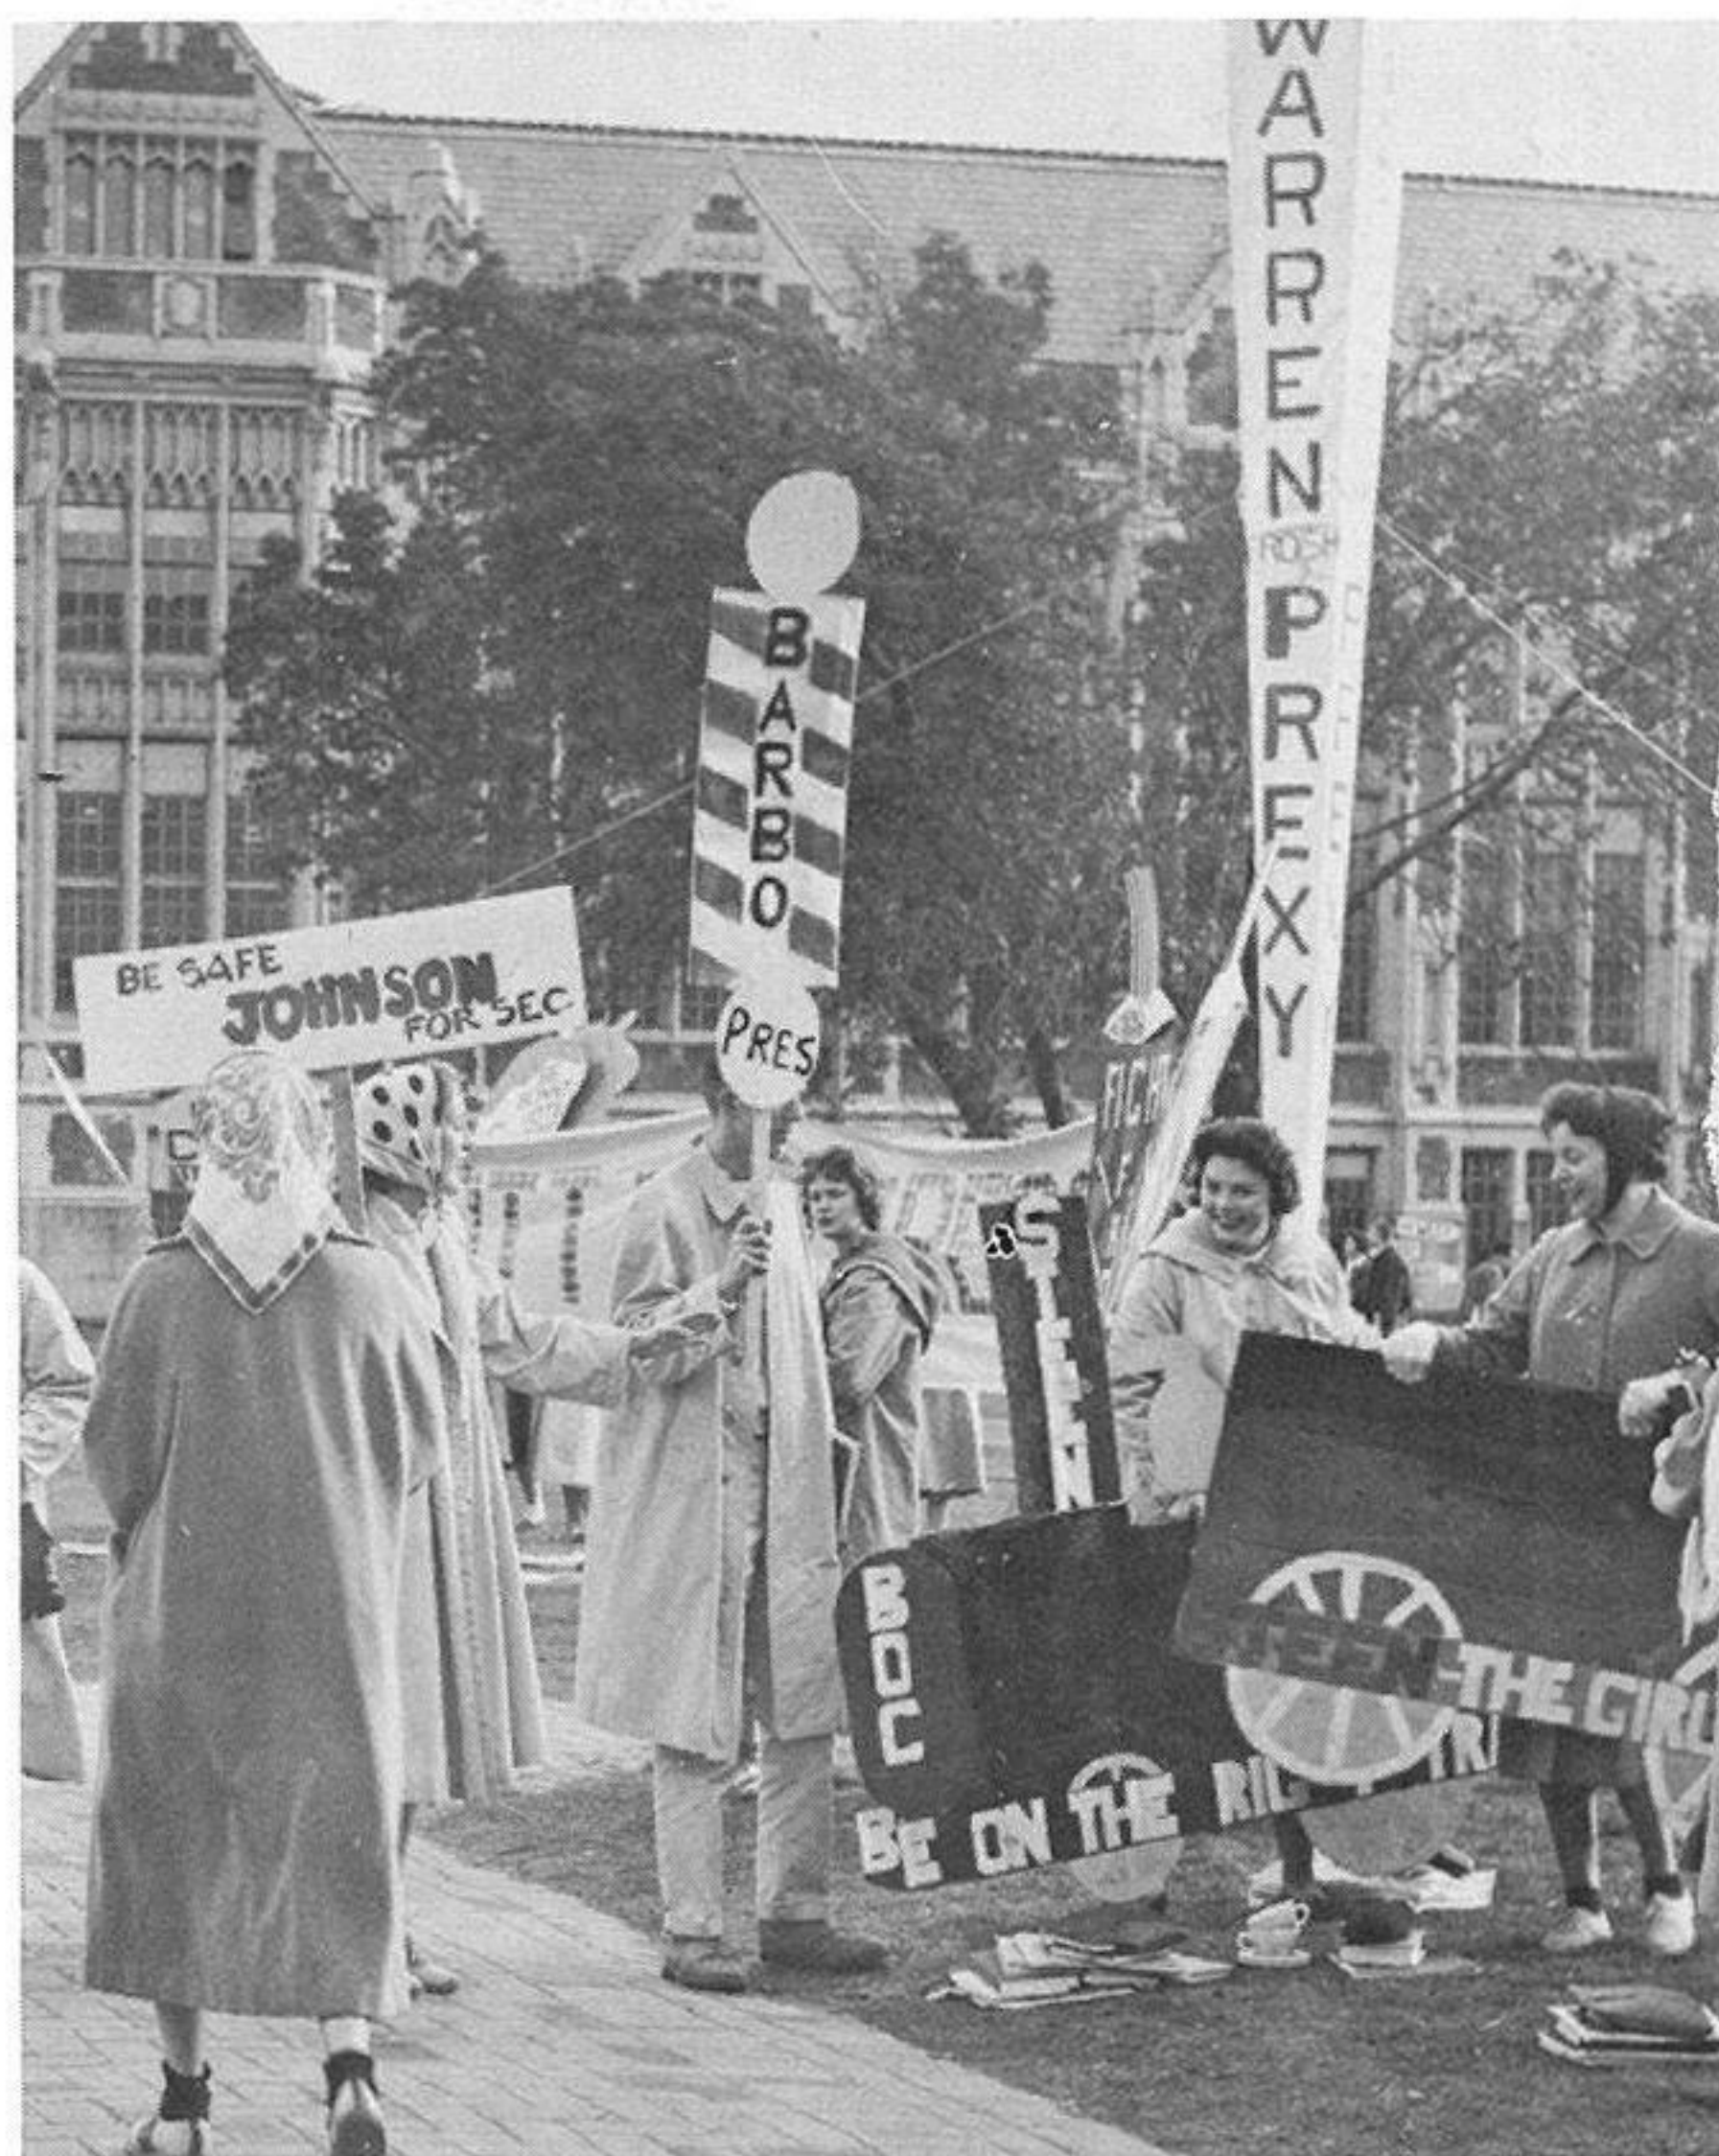

Freshman and AWS-AMS Elections headlined winter activities this past school year.

The Frosh election, though hindered by campus-wide controversy, brought into office an independent, Bruce Osterman, as president and Greek coeds, Nancy Peterson, Sue Stephan and Lynn Paulson, as his officers.

The better-than-average turnout at AWS-AMS Elections put Harriet Buckman and Hugh Carr as AWS and AMS prexies, respectively.

Taking the place of Sophomore Carnival, the Junior Variety Show proved highly successful in its first attempt with twenty top acts from all classes. The freshmen, also initiating a new idea, incorporated an "Hawaiian" theme into their annual day. The highlighting events included the Tug-of-War at Frosh Pond, a luau-type dinner at the HUB and the crowning of Frosh king and queen at the "Hawaiian Paradise" dance.

County Fair with its carnival atmosphere, sponsored by the independent women, and Varsity Ball, with the crowning by Big "W" Club of Gail Crosthwaite as queen, climaxed winter's major activities on campus.

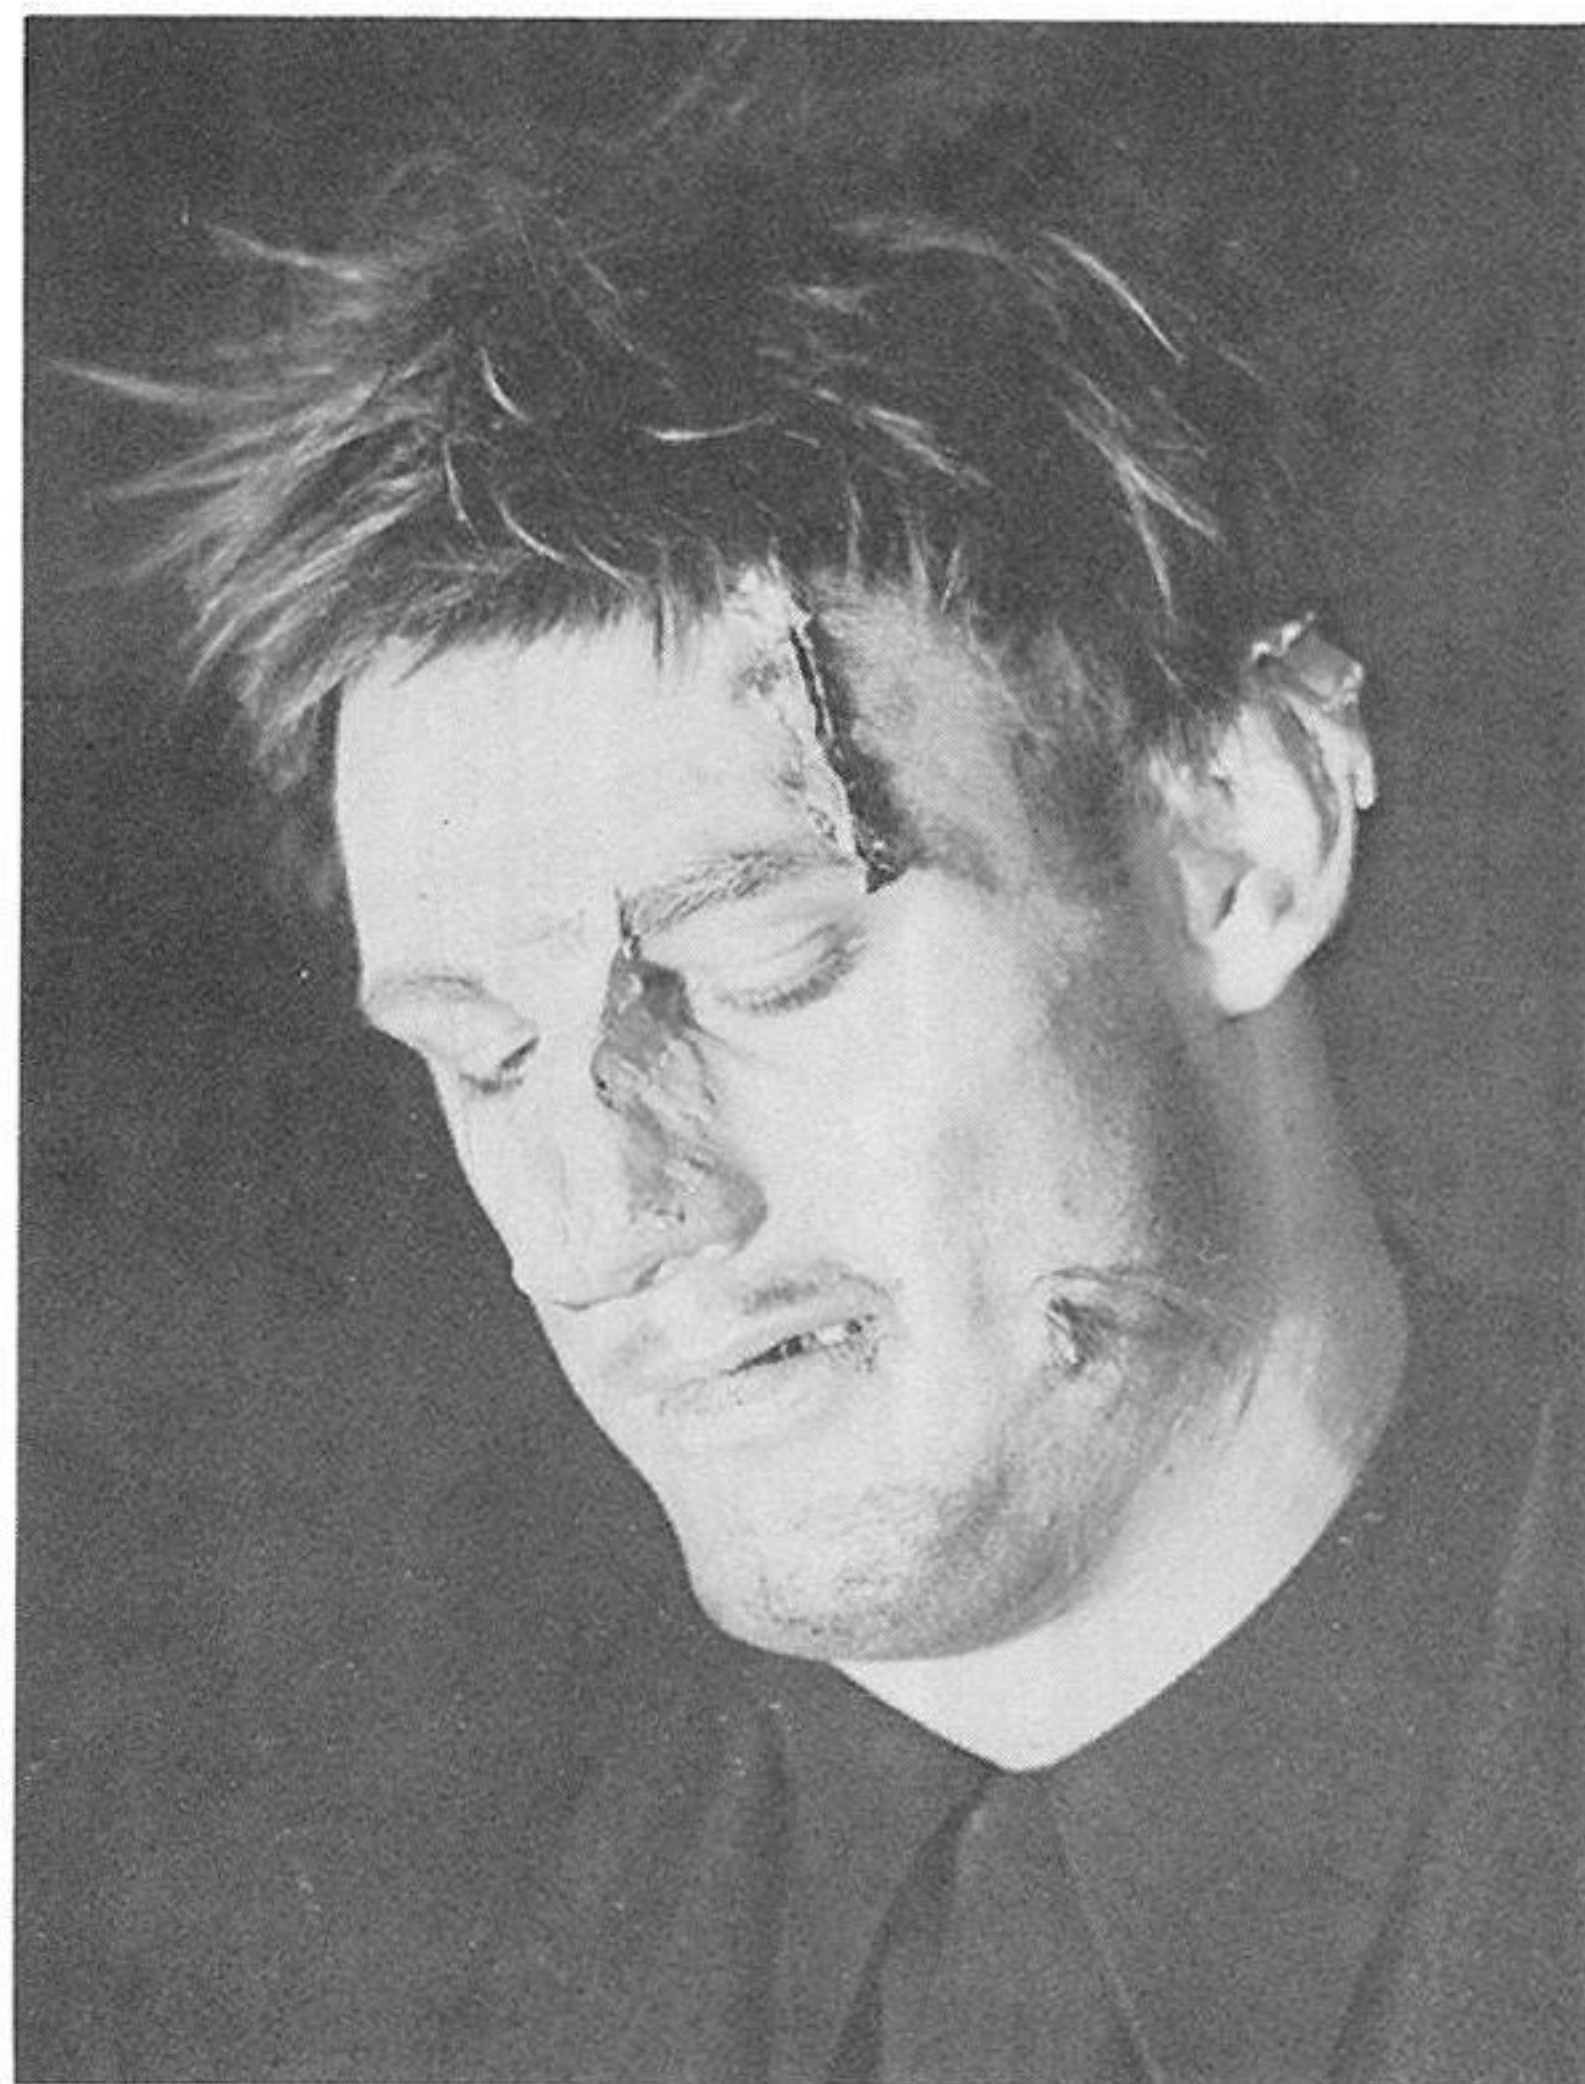

Gracias Party Draws Coeds

Meeting AWS candidates-for-office and honoring girls who have done outstanding work in AWS activities attracted approximately 50 girls to the annual Gracias Party held in the HUB. This occasion offered everyone an opportunity to interview the candidates on their platforms and future plans while in office. Following the discussion hour, the AWS Fashion Board models modeled "clothes for the college girls."

"Ugly Men" Vie For Honor

"Ugly Man" Ben Davidson, pictured at right, drew more votes than his fourteen opponents in Alpha Phi Omega's "Ugly Man" contest, and thus won an "evening on the town" with Sharon Vaughn, Miss Washington. The week's voting raised more than $1600 which will be used for scholarships.

Gaiety Rules at County Fair

Fortune tellers, dancing girls, rifle shoots and folk dancing were just a few of the events which attracted a large crowd to the Women's Dorms' "County Fair."

Each of the four dormitories contributed acts which were located throughout the lobbies. Refreshment booths provided extra stamina for some attending while game booths persuaded others to try their luck.

Varsity Queen Leads March

Queen Gail and Dr. Charles Odegaard lead the procession of Big "W" members and candidates.

Ballad singers Dan Robinson and Dave Ross add a "soft style harmony" to their selection of "Road To Happiness."

"The Original Willow Street Washboard Stompers," led by Dean Henry, "keep the beat" with their own renditions of "Mamma Don't Allow," "When The Saints Go Marching In" and "Dark Town Strutter's Ball." Made up of commuters, Independents and Greeks, these fellows enjoy the informal, "get-together" mood whenever they play.

Kenlynn Williams, holder of national flag-twirling honors, displays her precision style and showmanship "in time" to a lively Dixieland medley.

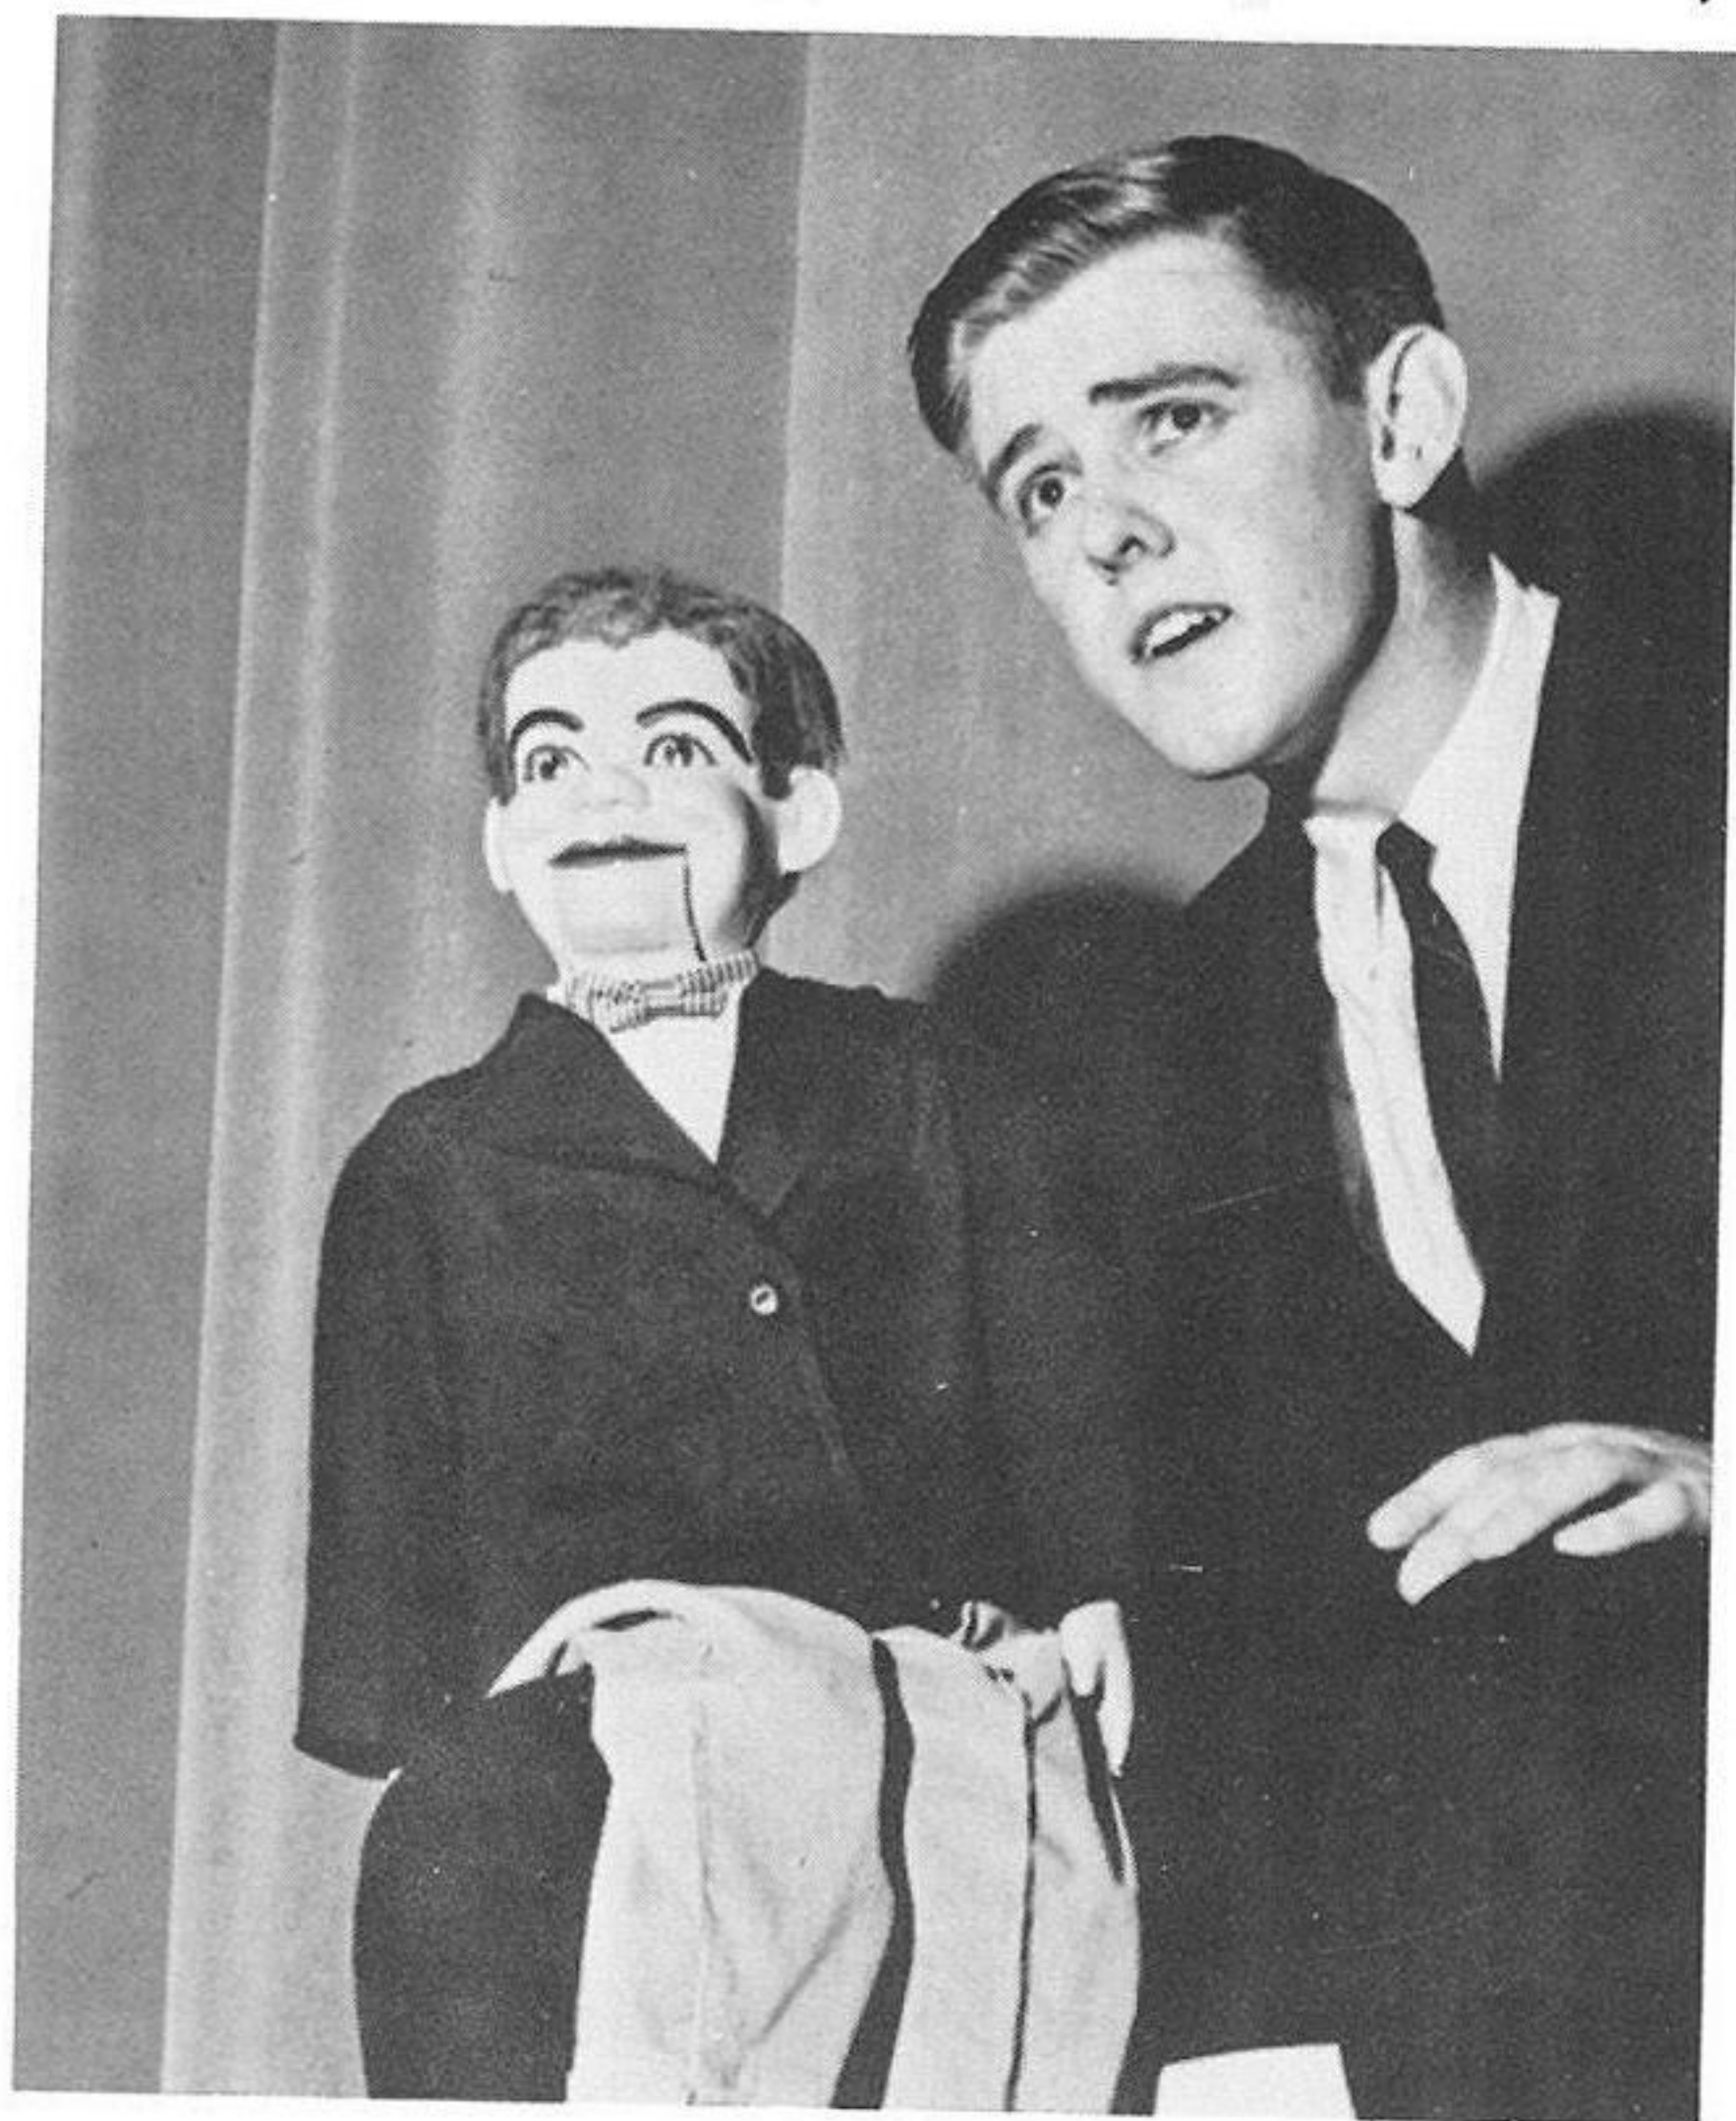

"Two Lost Souls" are Lollie Leavitt and Joe Awai who staged their own choreography in a dance-interpretive version of the song by the same name.

Junior Variety Show Scores Success

Frosh Go Hawaiian-Style

The "frivolous freshmen" went Hawaiian-style on Frosh Day complete with orchids, leis and tropical fruits.

An authentic Hawaiian luau and dance climaxed the day's activities with the crowning of Frosh King and Queen, Rod Sheyer and Sue Harris.

1959 spring seasonal

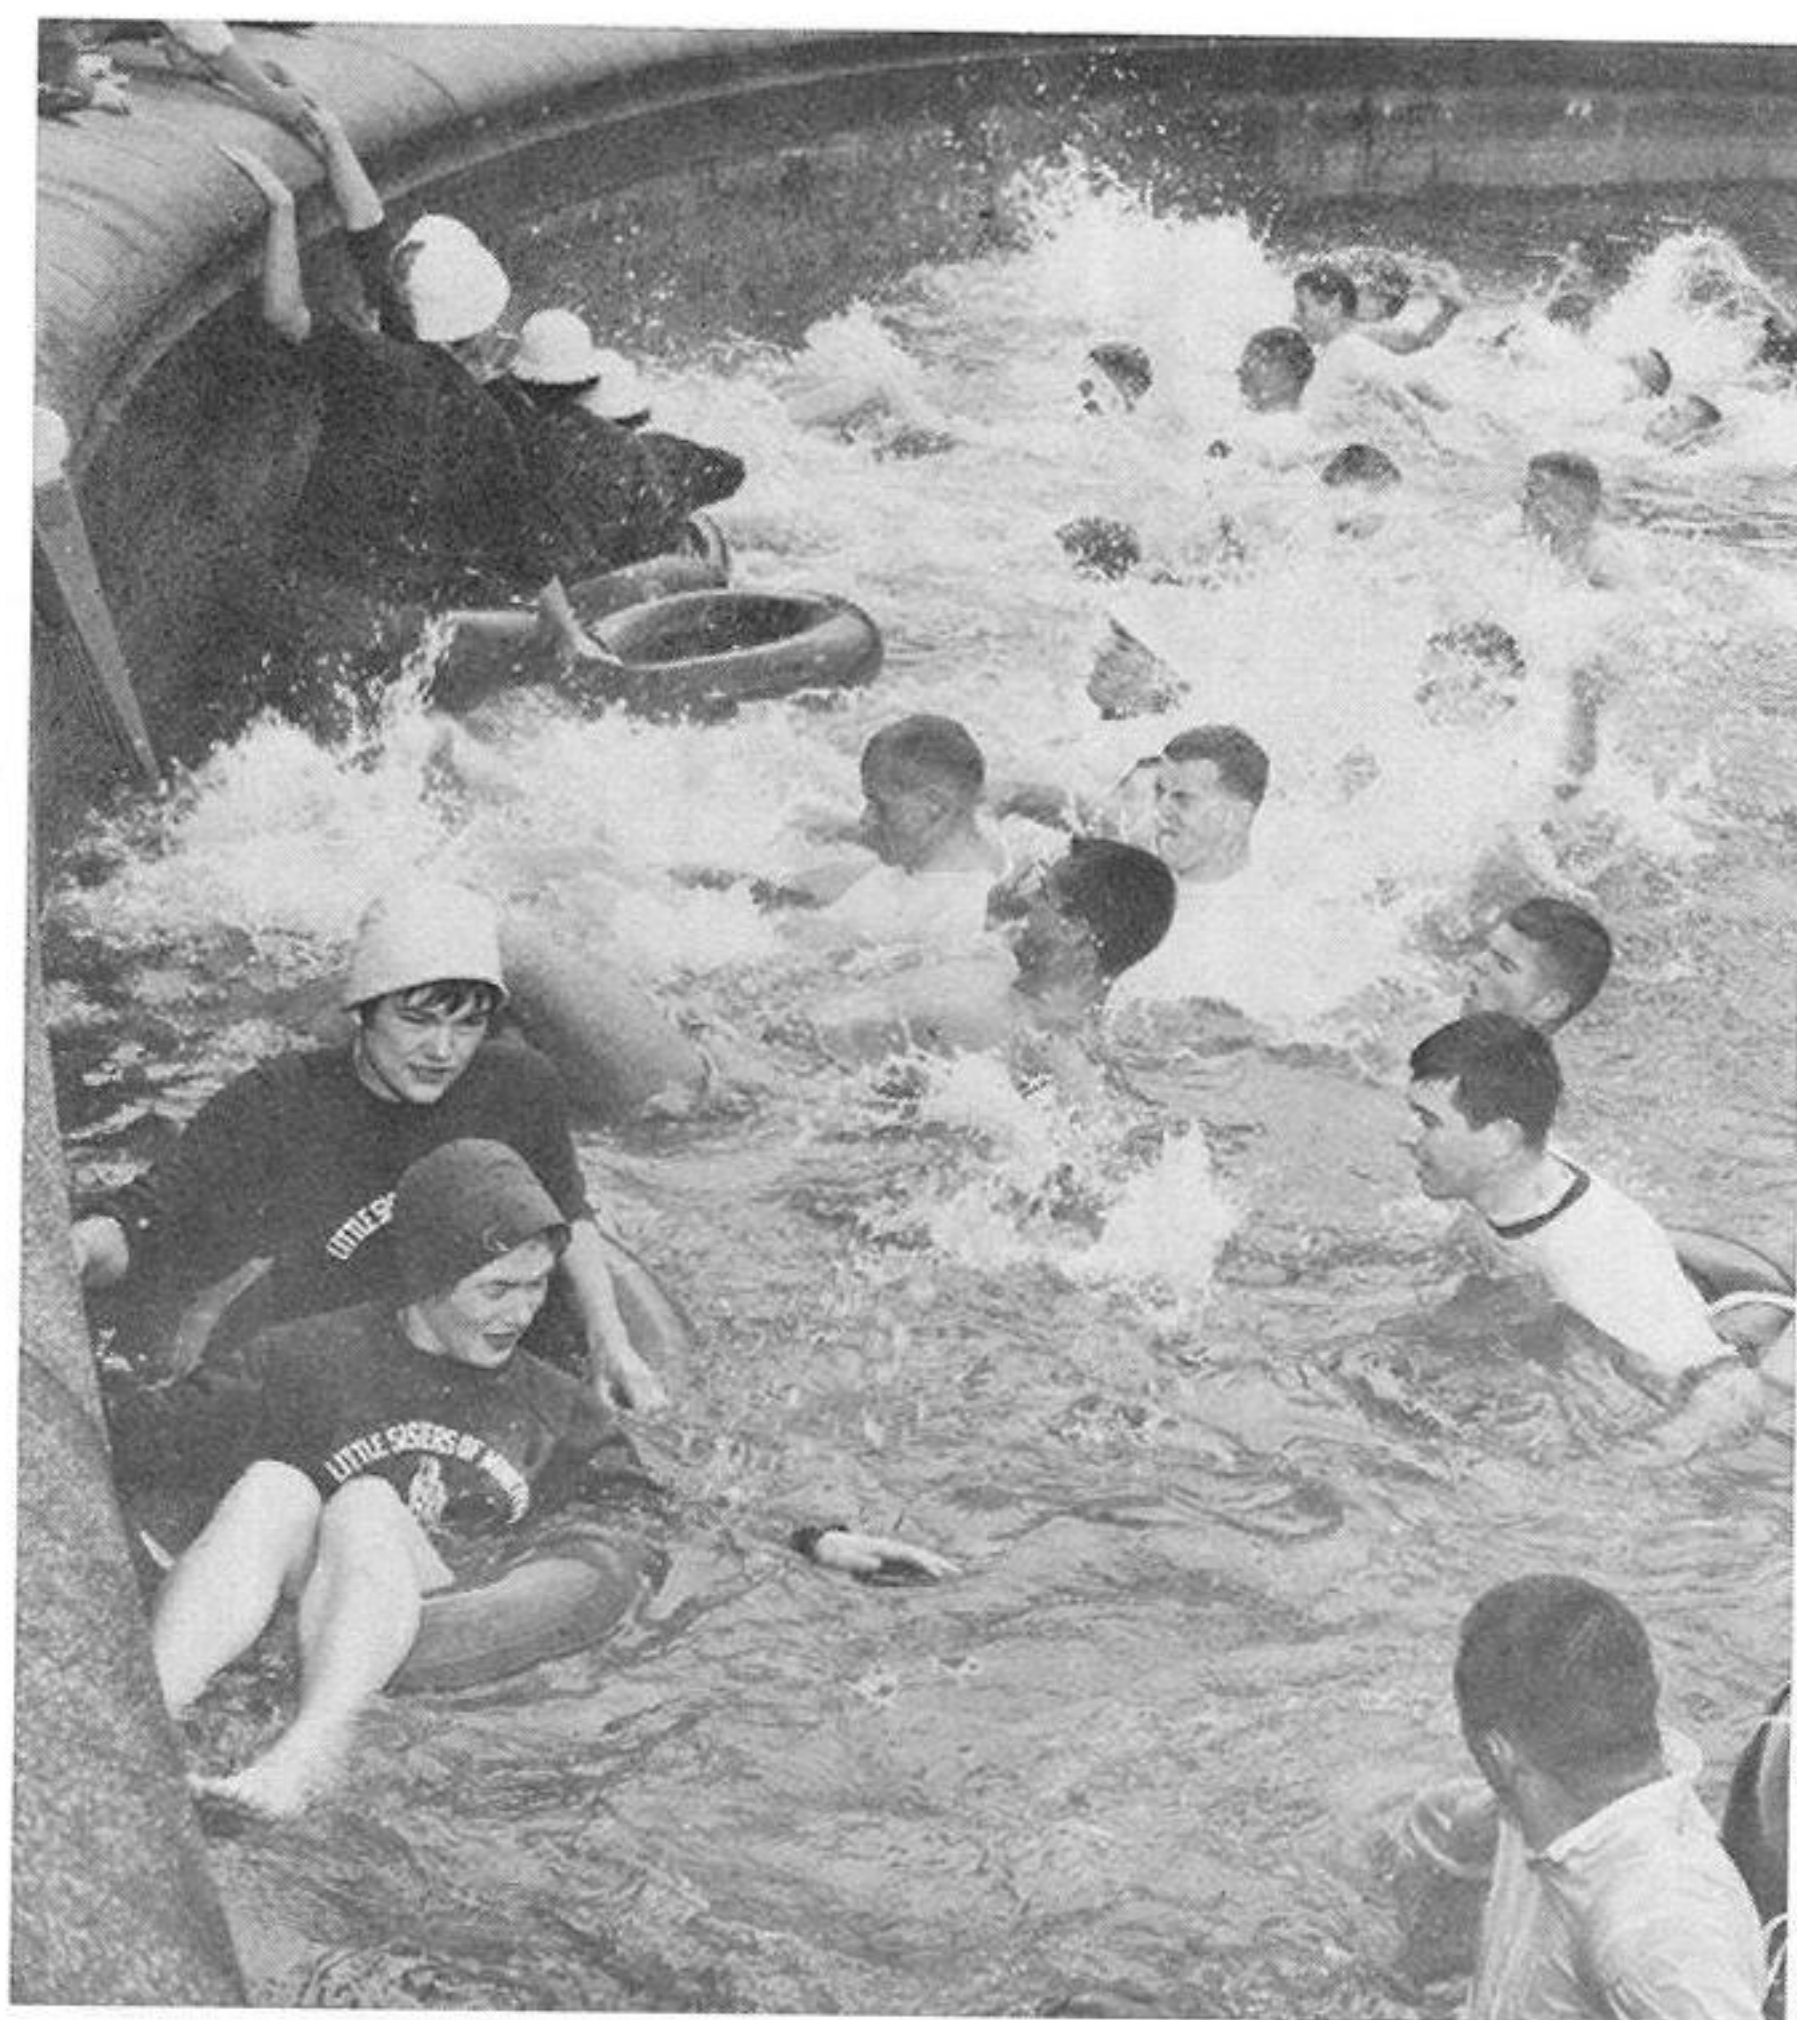

Crowned as king and queen of May Day were Bill Winter, Alpha Delta Phi, and Sally Bergren, Pi Beta Phi. Charles Winninger acted as master of ceremonies. The Phi Psi Quartet, composed of Curt Tenzler, Ralph Hawkins, Don Edgars, and Ron Ubags, provided the entertainment. Other activities, held at Rainier Vista, included the modeling of spring clothes by members of the ASUW Fashion Board.

May Day Fetes Crowning of Royalty

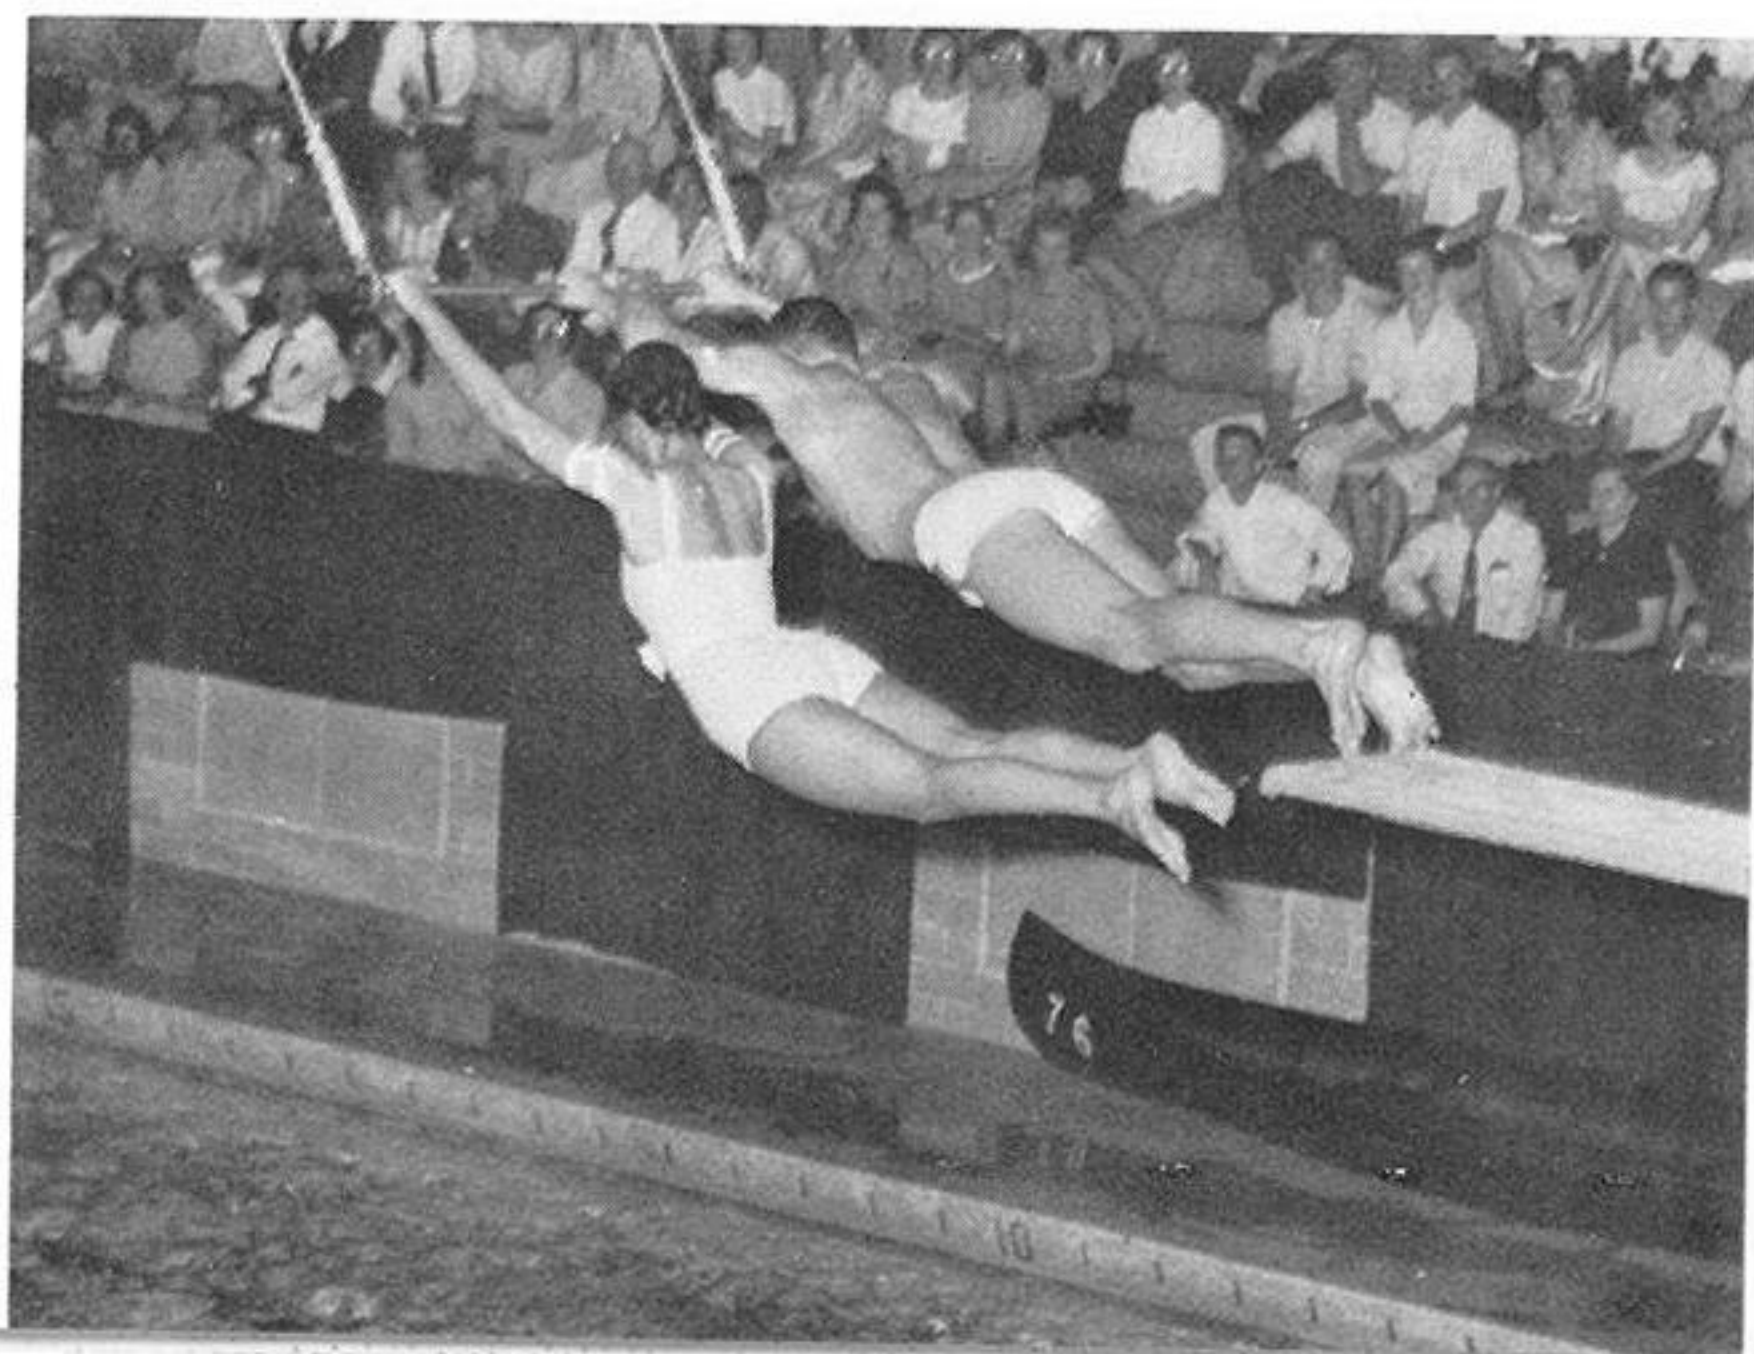

Brown Bag Day Makes "Big Splash"

Husky Swim Show

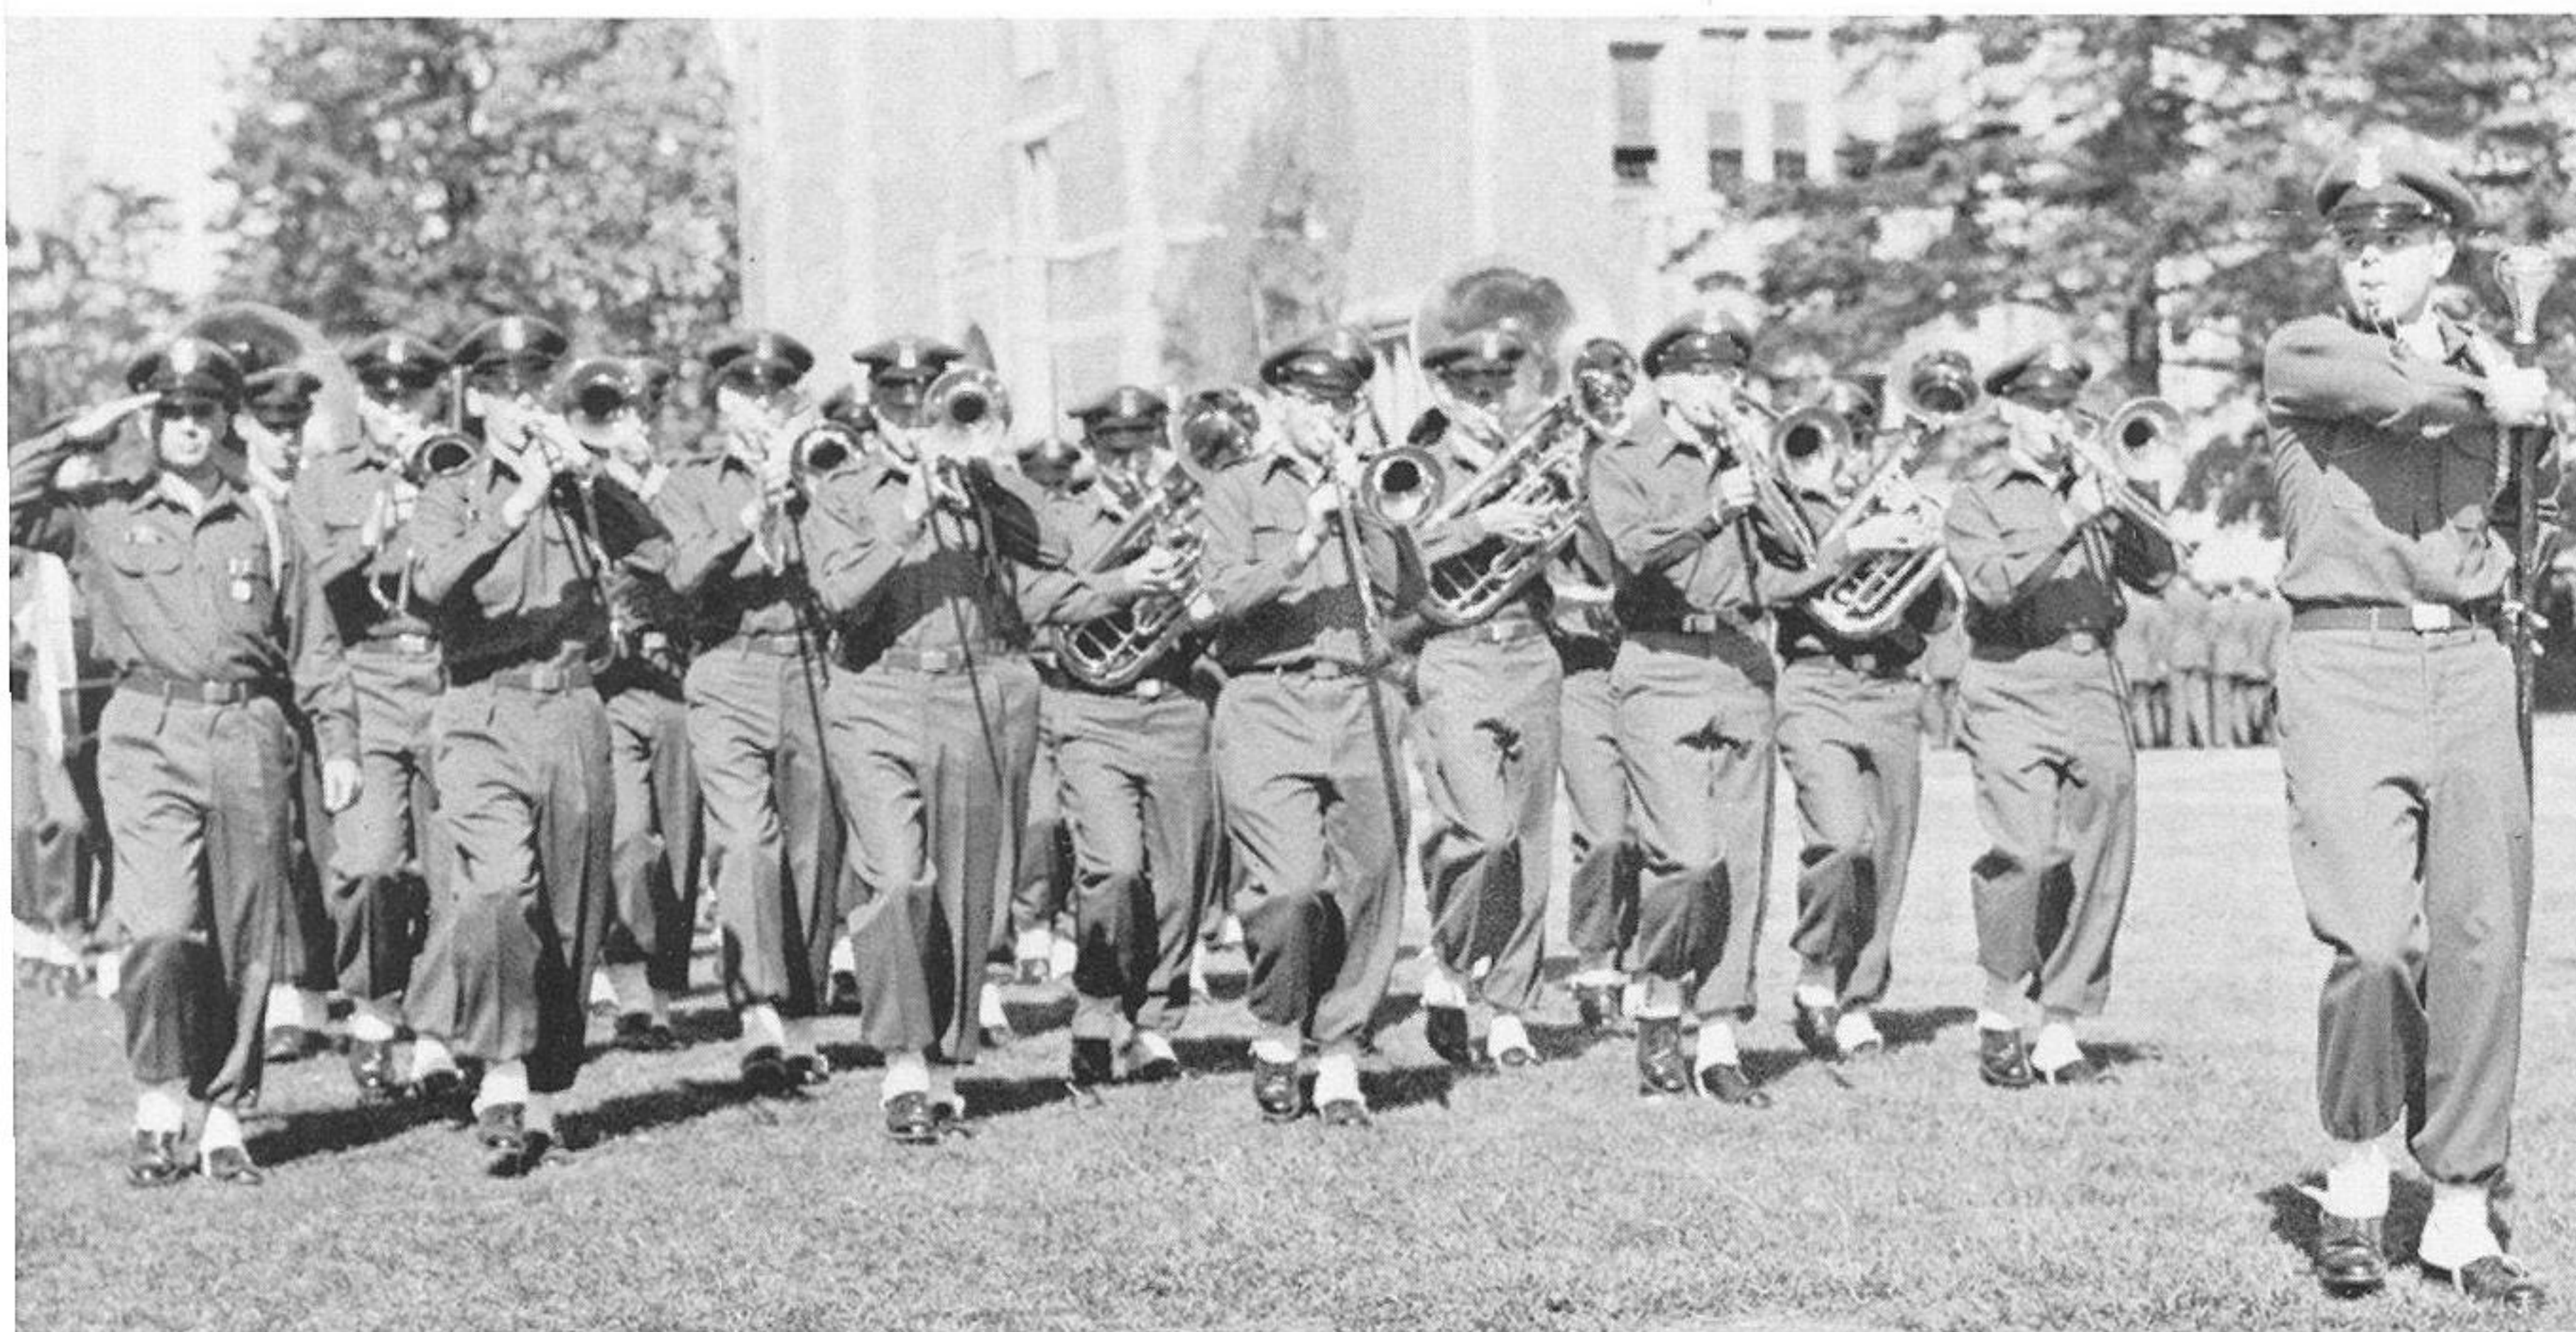

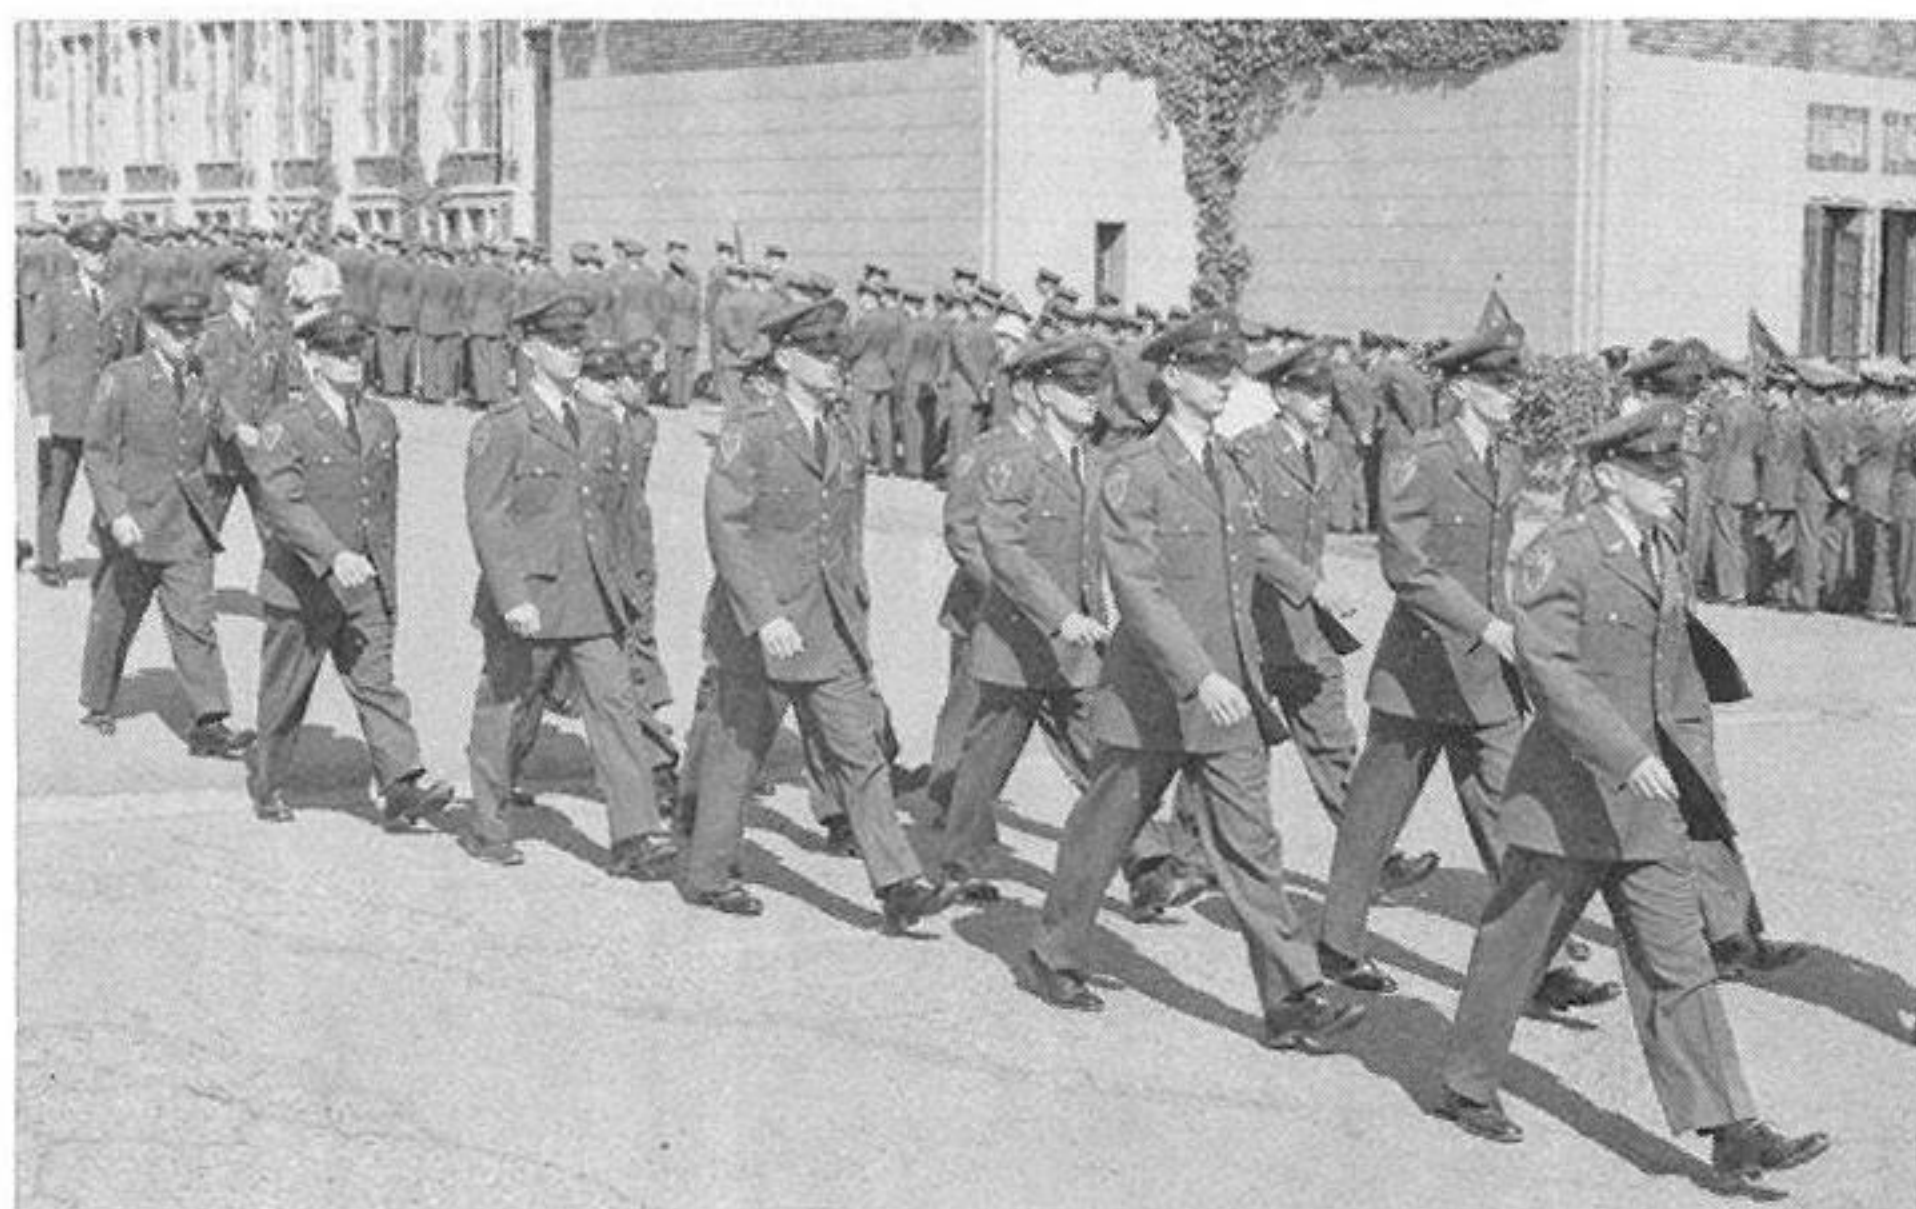

"Indian Legend" was the theme of the Husky Swim Show, sponsored by Silver Fish, women's swimming honorary, and the men's Husky Swim Club. As a result of many weeks' practice, the aqua maidens and men combined synchronized swimming and diving techniques to give visiting parents and relatives, here for Parents' Weekend, a beautifully-staged production.

Soldiers Salute Governor

Accepting applause for their selections are the Alpha Delta Phi men's chorus which placed second in the men's singles division. Beta Theta Pi took first place trophy and the Sigma Chis placed third.

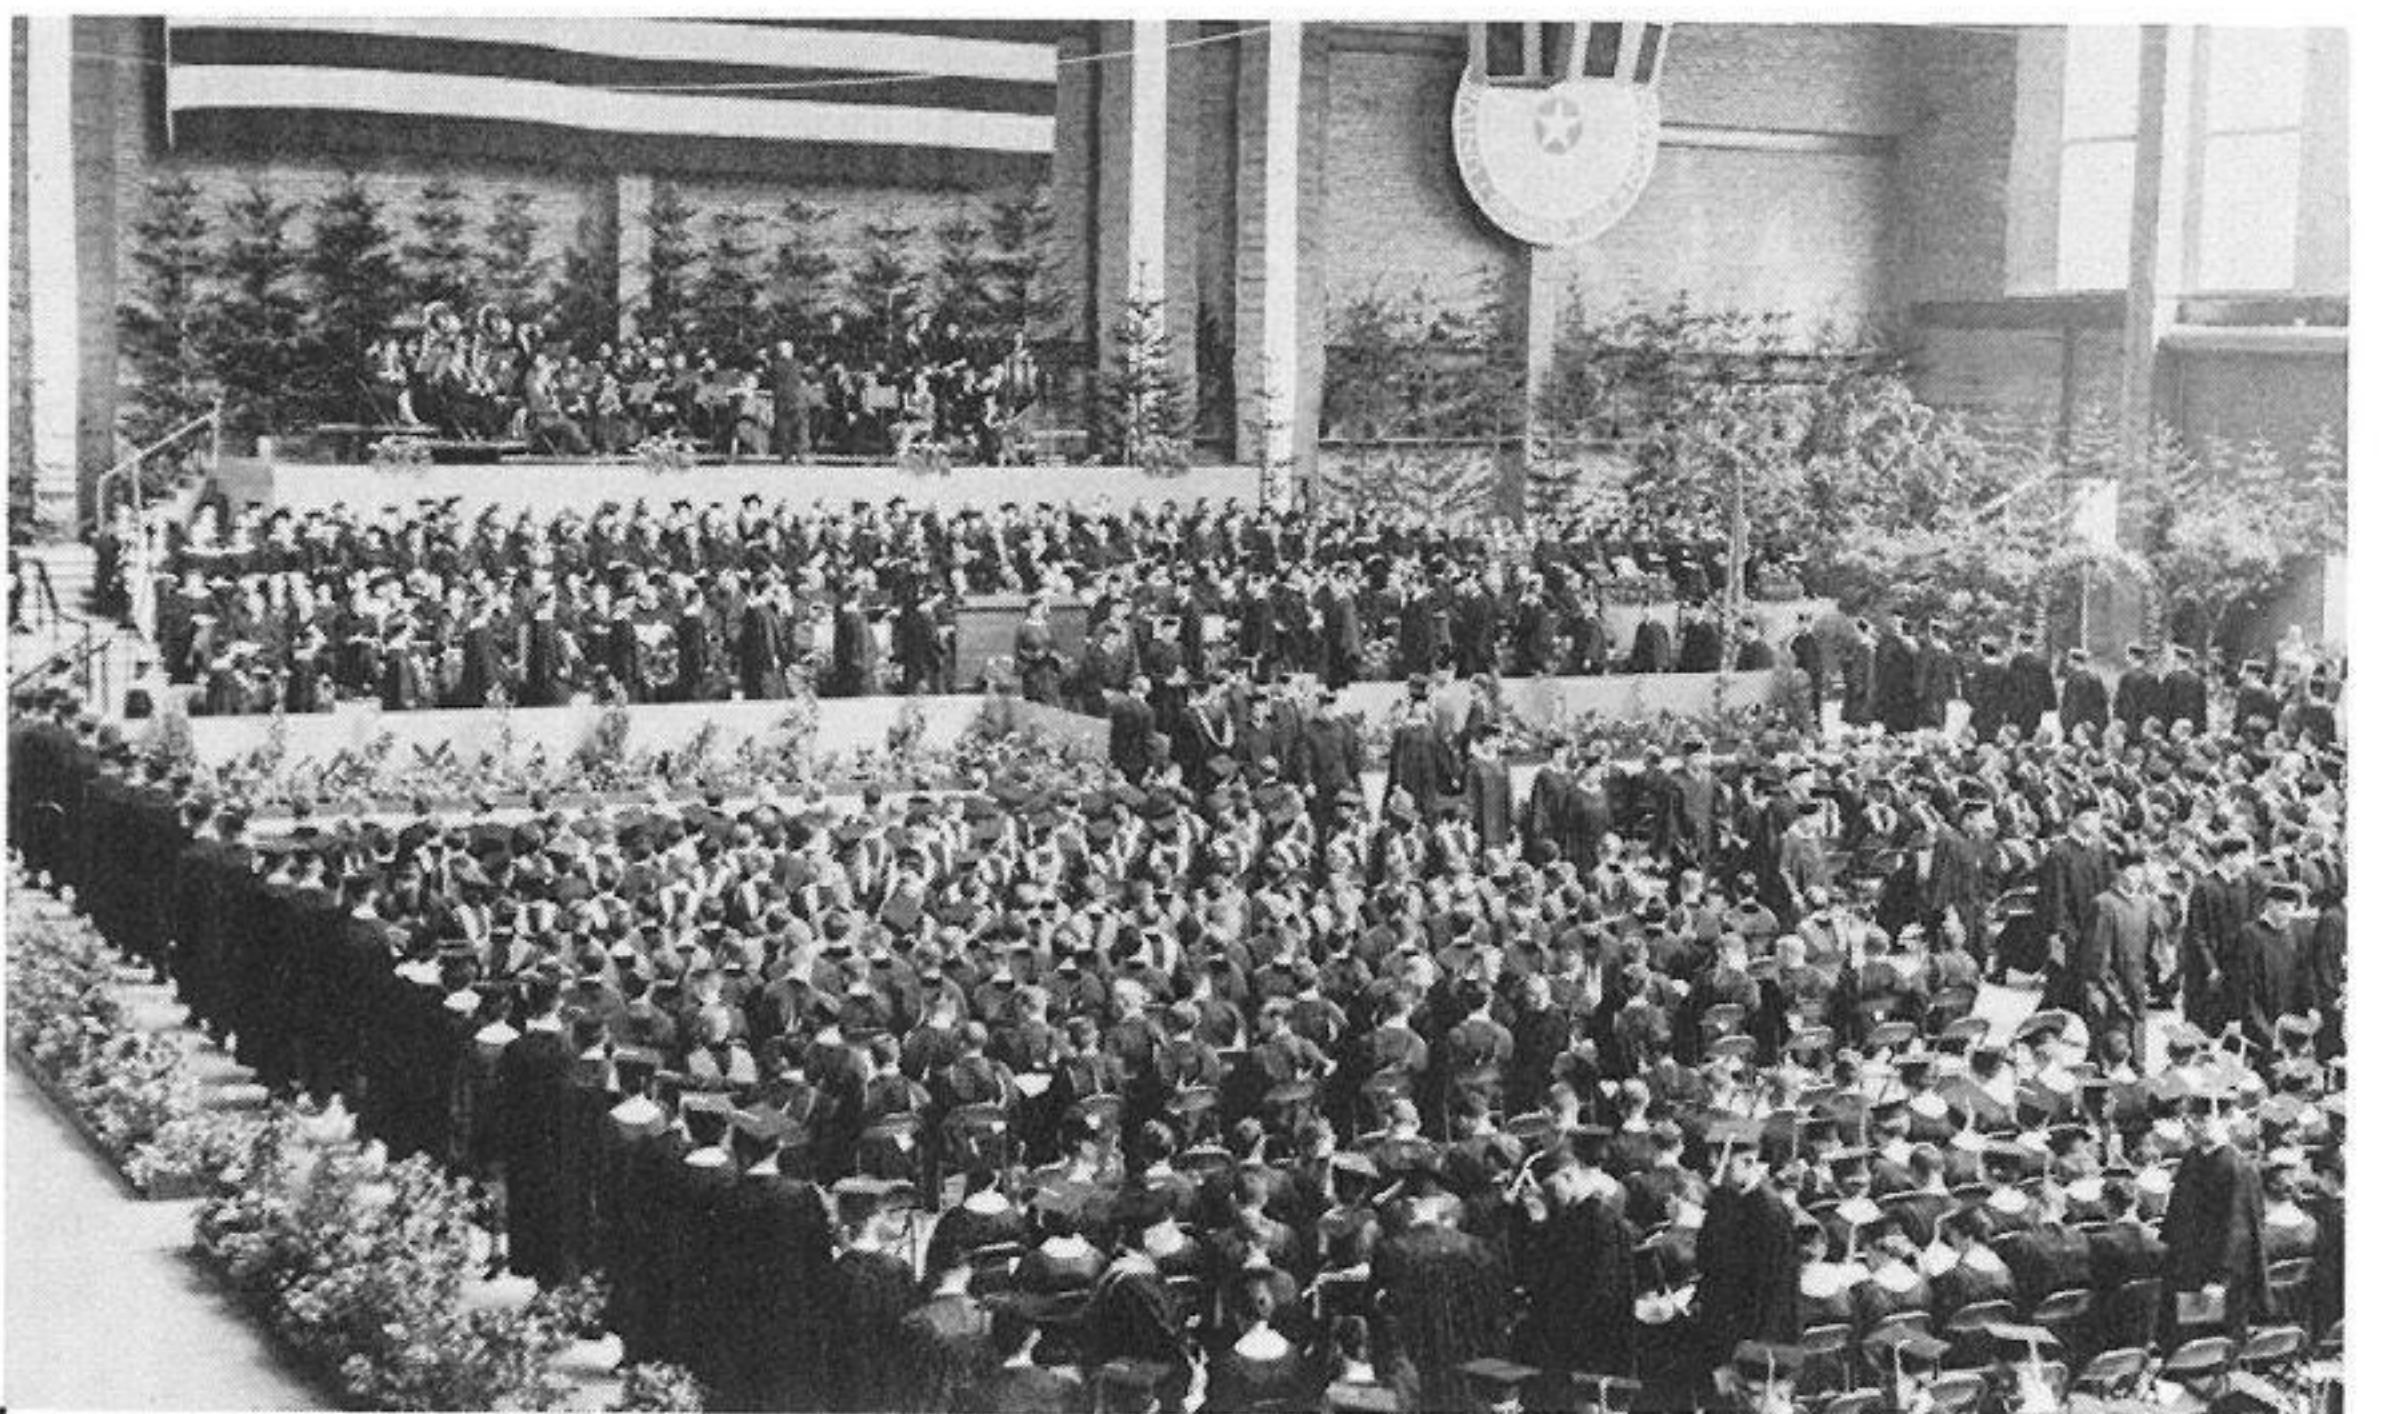

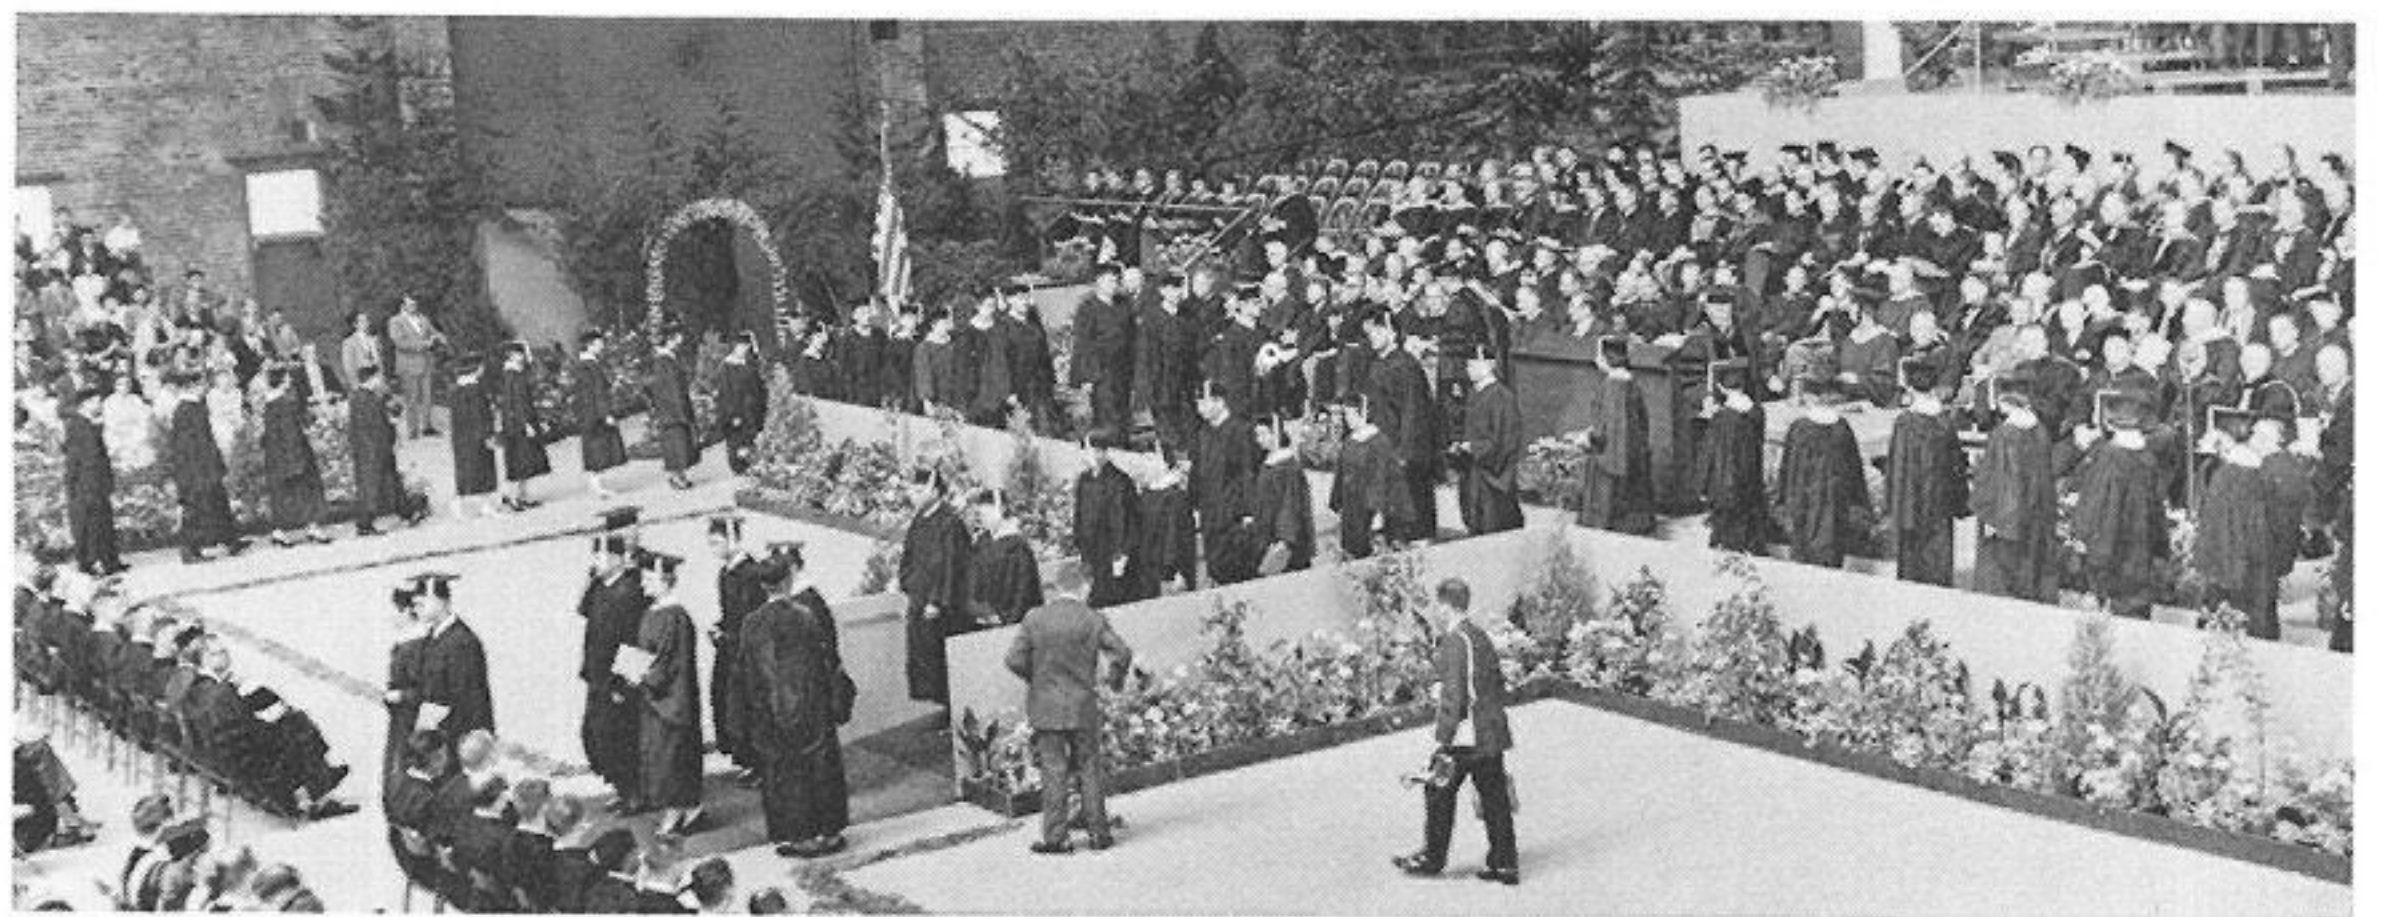

Good harmony and vocal blend brought a first place trophy in the women's singles division to the coeds of Austin Hall. Alpha Omicron Pi was second while Leary Hall placed third.

Songfest Climaxes Parents' Weekend

Kappa Alpha Theta and Delta Tau Delta, pictured below, took first place honors in the mixed-doubles division. Their selections were "Didn't My Lord Deliver Daniel?" and "Black Is the Color of My True Love's Hair." Kappa Kappa Gamma and Sigma Chi placed second while Gamma Phi Beta and Phi Delta Theta were third.

Today the University of Washington ranks as one of America's major educational institutions by measurement of staff, facilities, enrollment and provisions for graduate training.

It is among the twelve largest state universities in the nation, with an enrollment of nearly 17,000 students and a full-time faculty of more than 1,000. This is the largest enrollment in the University's history. About 2,600 seniors received a baccalaureate degree during the 1959-1960 academic year.

Major areas of instruction include the liberal arts and basic sciences, architecture, business administration, dentistry, education, engineering, fisheries, forestry, graduate school, law, medicine, nursing, pharmacy, social work and correspondence studies.

The University of Washington also maintains three unusual off-campus laboratories: a 480-acre biological installation at Friday Harbor in the San Juan Islands; a 300-acre experimental forest for teaching and research in forestry near La Grande, Washington; and a 44-acre West Seattle Research Laboratory.

The University is in the midst of the largest building program in its history. Nearly 15 buildings or building projects have recently been completed, are now under way or are in the active planning stages.

President Odegaard

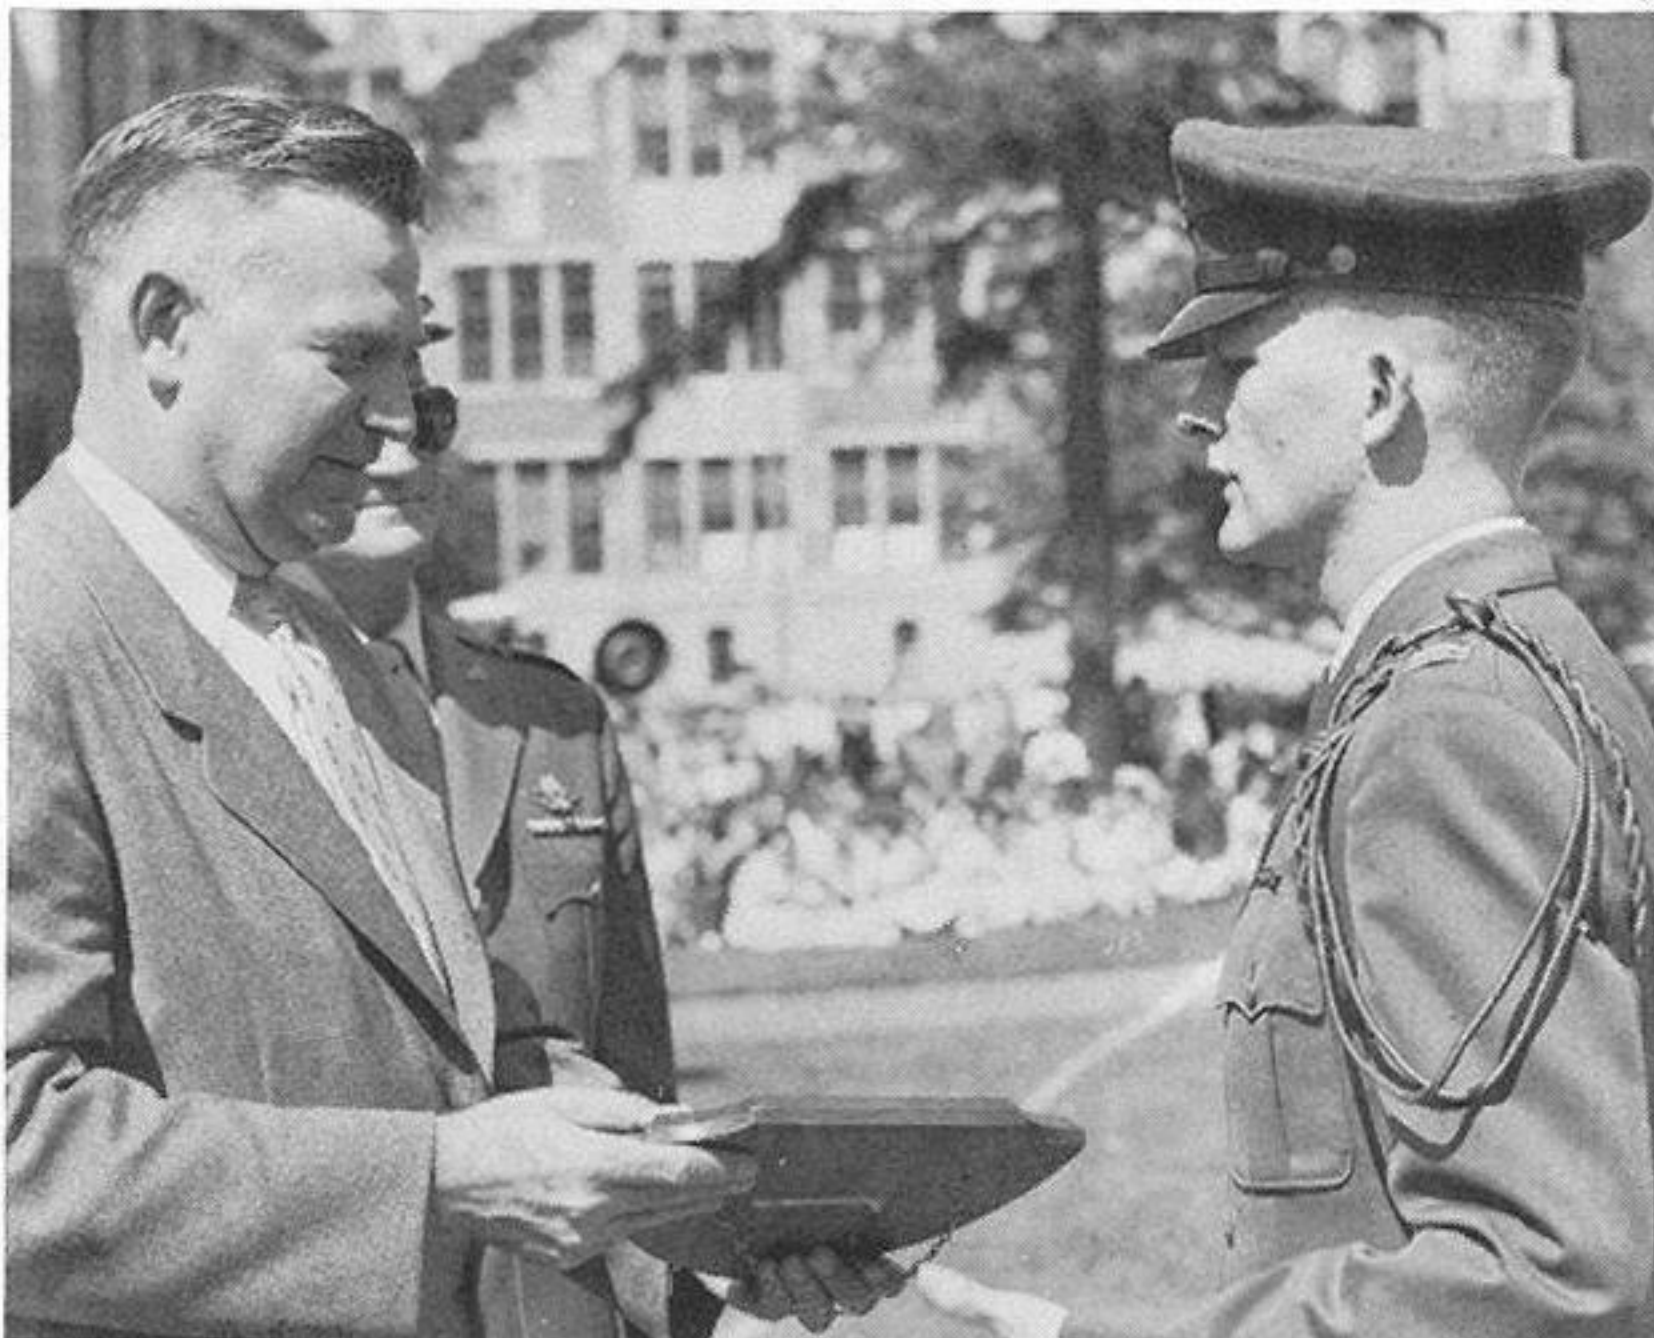

Charles E. Odegaard is considered one of the outstanding younger educational administrators in the nation. Dr. Odegaard received his bachelor of arts degree from Dartmouth in 1932. By 1937 he had received his master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from Harvard.

After joining the University of Illinois faculty as an instructor in 1937, he rapidly rose to a full professor by 1948. He joined the University of Michigan faculty in 1952 as the youngest dean ever to head their literary college. The peak of his career as an educator, thus far, came with his appointment in 1958 as president of the University of Washington.

Recently Dr. Odegaard was elected president of the International Council of Philosophy and Humanistic Studies. He holds honorary degrees from Lawrence College, Miami University, Ohio, the University of British Columbia and Dartmouth College.

Dr. Odegaard presents an award on Governor's Day to AFROTC Cadet Joseph Dickinson, Jr.

TYEE, as a record of events in the life of a big University, has an important mission to perform. A book such as this comprises a unique and personal history of university life and reflects, in ways impossible in other media, the spirit and meaning of the University we have known during the past year.

TYEE's theme, "Direction '60," seems to me prophetically appropriate. In this year the the University has devoted itself to studies of its role, and in these studies the attitudes and ideas of students have been of great importance. I hope that you who are leaving the University will continue the interest in education which you have evidenced here.

Charles E. Odegaard

Charles E. Odegaard
President

We are starting a new decade—the golden sixties.

The economists and statisticians in state agencies have attempted to look into the future and predict what's in store for the State of Washington. They foresee a period of steady growth in the next few years. They expect this growth to accelerate greatly about 1965 when the growing local market and the general development of the West will speed industrial expansion.

Sometimes in our anxieties about the future we tend to forget that Washington is already the most industrially developed state in the Pacific Northwest. The people of Washington State may look forward with confidence to a period of orderly growth, an expanding economy and to prosperity. To the students at the University of Washington this means a period of unparalleled opportunity. I urge you to begin now to lay plans to take advantage of this situation. It appears that as a group you have been favored by destiny.

May I also urge you to prepare yourself for active participation in government. There is a tremendous need in the nation today for intelligent direction at every level of government by responsible, conscientious citizens. Apathy at a time when the responsibilities of citizenship are becoming increasingly complex is perhaps the greatest enemy of democracy as we know it.

May I wish you success in the years ahead, not only in your personal affairs but also in making this country and state a better place in which to live.

Governor of Washington.

Rosellini

Primarily a service organization, the Washington Alumni Association carries on many projects which not only benefit the alumni, but the students as well.

Since its organization in 1891, the Association has initiated many significant projects. This year the group is sponsoring television firesides in the Seattle area.

Annual functions are many and varied. For alumni the highlight of the year comes each fall when grads of all ages come back to participate in homecoming week. The organization keeps grads in close contact with their classmates by conducting class reunions, and by publishing the WASHINGTON ALUMNUS. Each spring a fifty-year class anxiously awaits the celebration of its "Golden W" reunion.

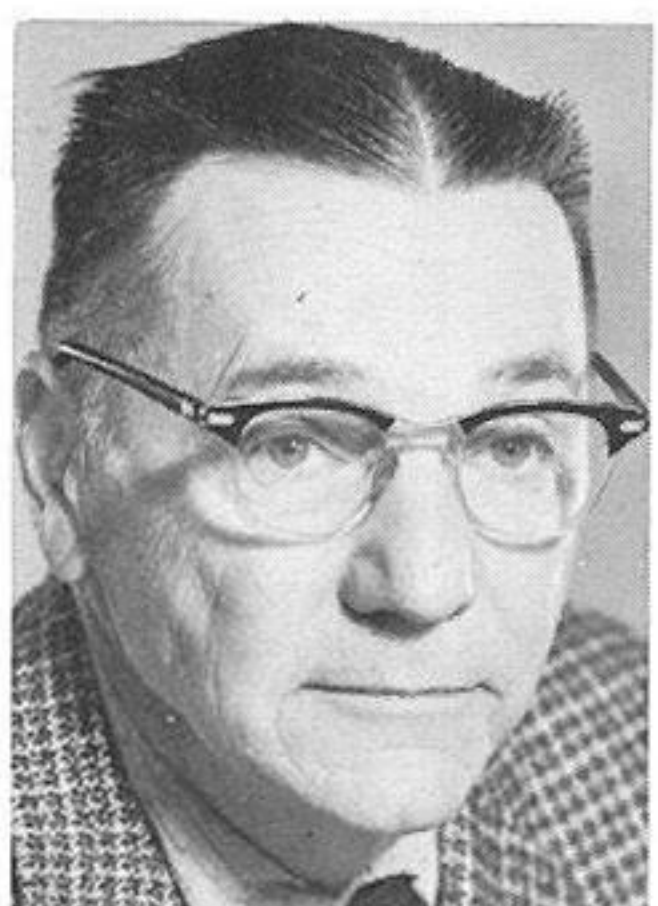

In addition, the Alumni Association maintains services to many Washington-affiliated organizations throughout the state.

College of Arts and Sciences

Effective autumn quarter 1961, the College of Arts and Sciences will require two additional units of academic subjects of high school students entering the College, and other modifications in the entrance requirements are being studied. These studies were conducted by various members of the faculty during the year as to means of improving instruction in the College. Special programs for superior students were also developed in the Departments of Sociology, Chemistry, Mathematics, Physics, English and Political Science.

The College of Arts and Sciences is the largest of the colleges in the University. In the fall of 1959, 7,528 students were registered in the College—an increase of about seven per cent above the preceding fall quarter. There are about twice as many men as women in the College. One out of every five students is a graduate student. Freshmen make up about one-third of the enrollment of the College, in part because many students take pre-medical, pre-dental or other pre-professional training within the College.

In June, 1959, the Department of Genetics was established within the College—a new department formed as the result of a growing awareness of the importance of genetics in biology and medicine. This raised the total of departments and schools within the College to 33, of which 31 offer undergraduate degree programs in fields ranging from anthropology to zoology. The School of Art with 374 undergraduate majors and the Departments of Physics, Mathematics and English are the largest divisions of the College in terms of the number of majors.

The faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences during 1959-60 continued to be distinguished in scholarship and research. Many members of the faculty were officers of national scholarly organizations. Numerous faculty members of the College received Fulbright, Guggenheim or other awards for special competence. The research programs of the faculty continued with a total of approximately 2½ million dollars of research funds made available for their work from agencies outside the University.

Professor Philip W. Cartwright of the Department of Economics was appointed Associate Dean of the College in March, 1959, and Professor William L. Phillips of the Department of English was appointed Assistant Dean in September, 1959. After the resignation of Dean Lloyd S. Woodburne in January, 1960, Professor Cartwright was appointed Acting Dean of the College.

College of Business Administration

The first Honors Program in the United States for superior students in a College of Business Administration was initiated at the University of Washington this fall. Initial reaction to the program suggests that it is an unqualified success. This year 30 top business administration juniors and seniors studied in Honors Colloquia using an interdisciplinary approach.

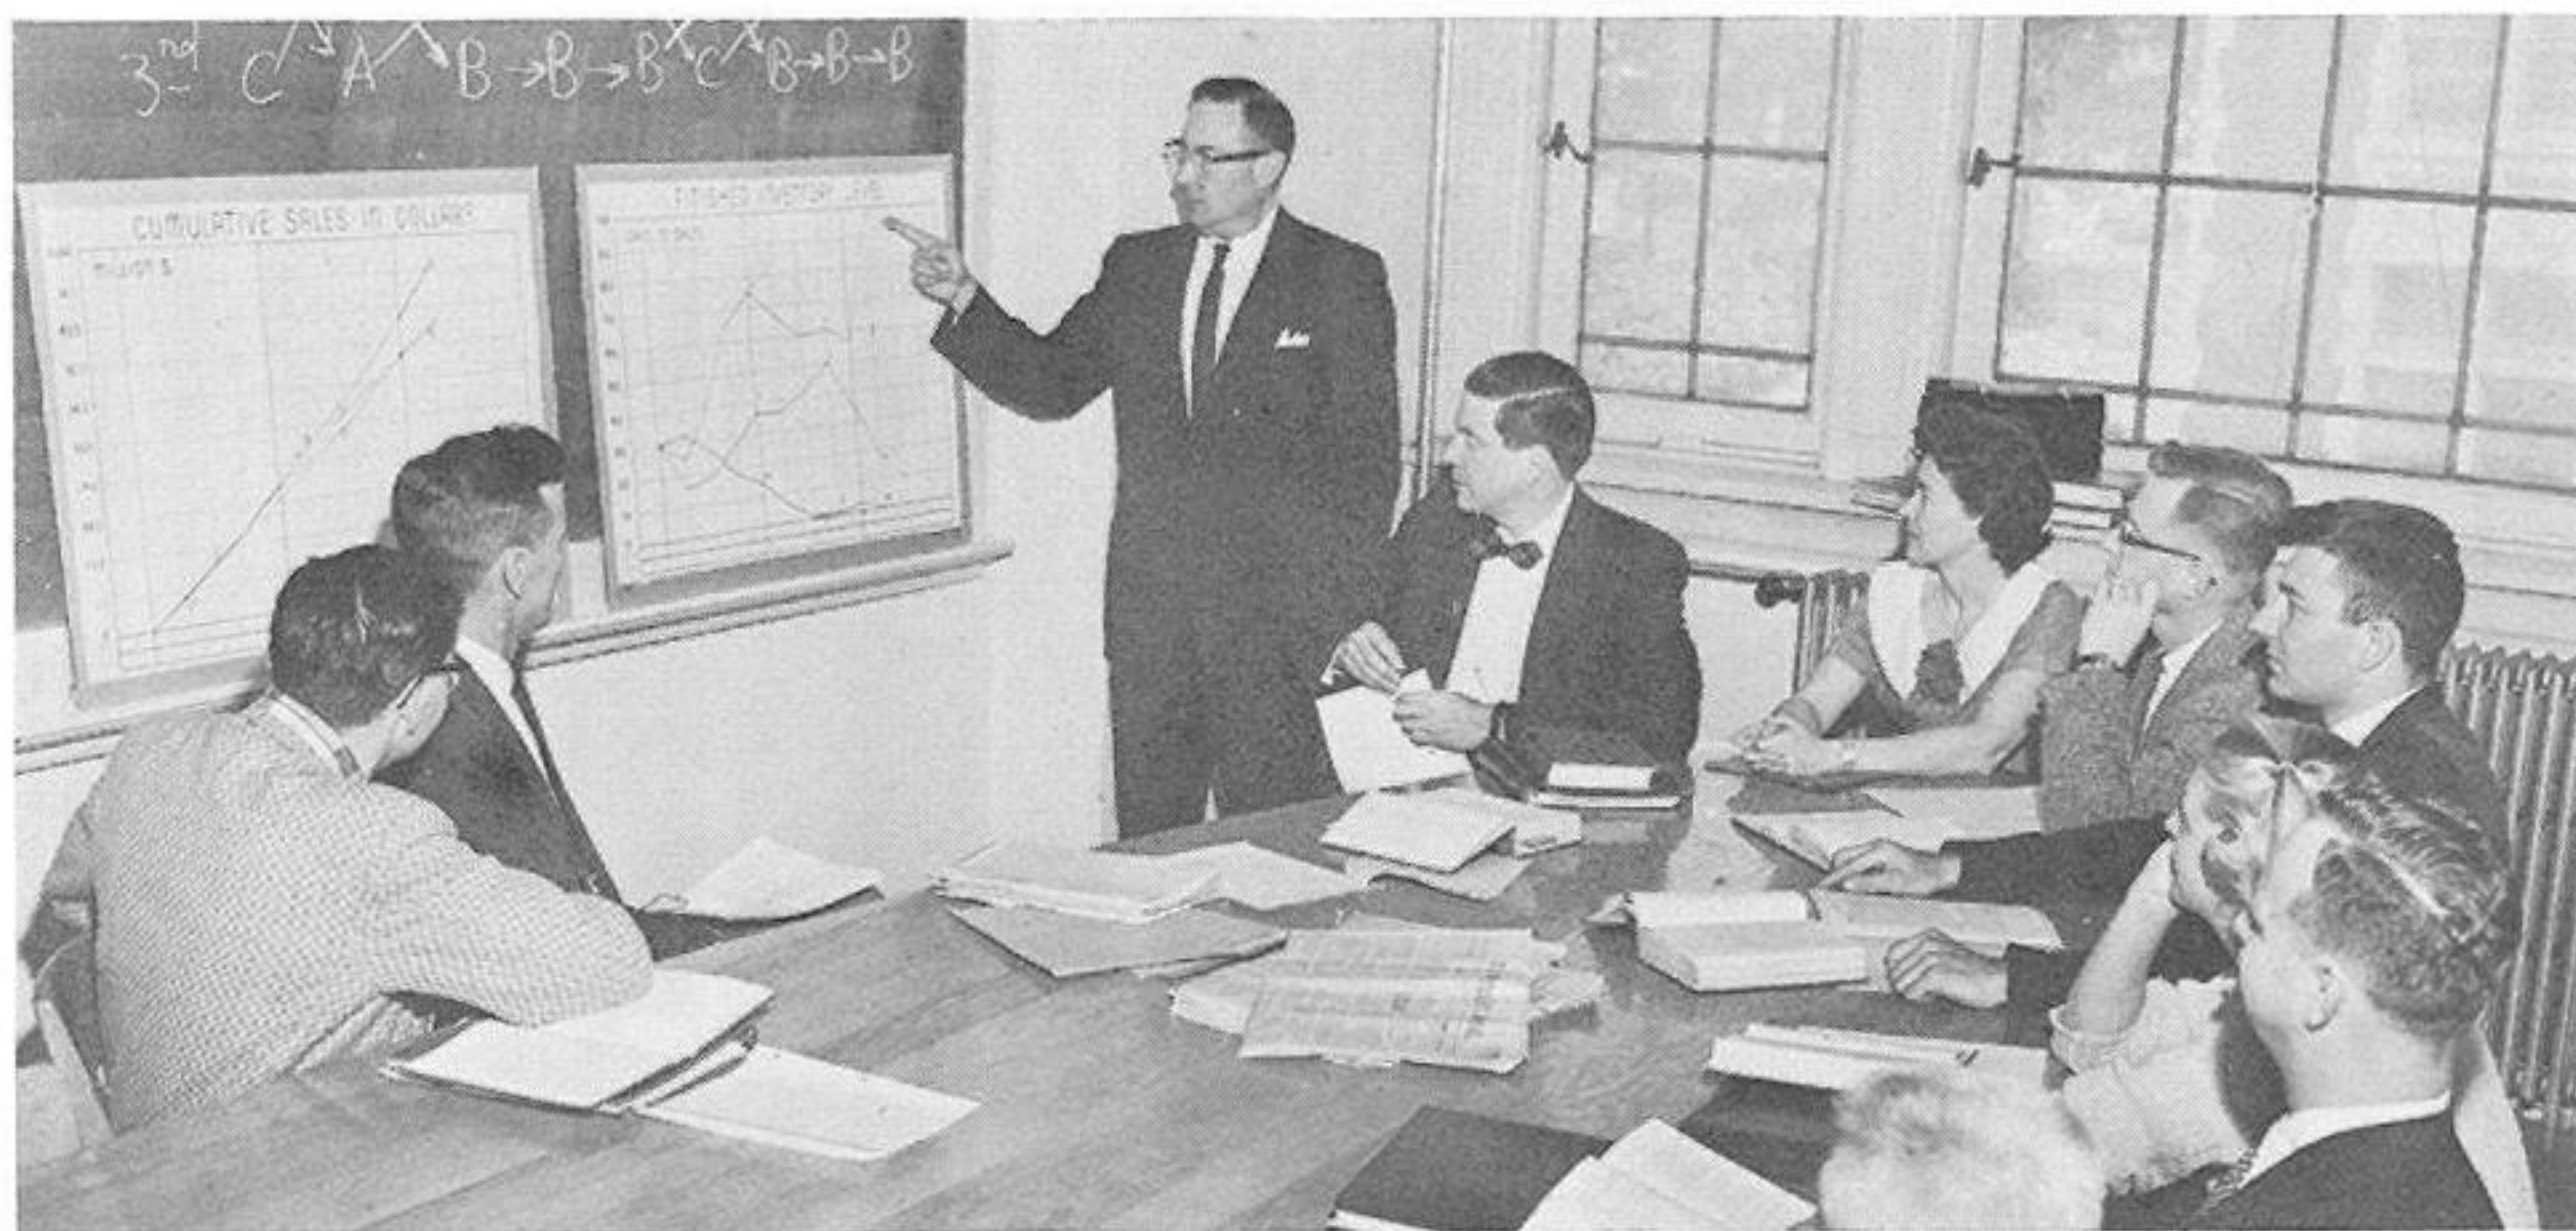

The faculty and staff moved into their new building during winter quarter. The construction of a classroom building for Business Administration began on completion of the faculty building.

Several new research projects were started during the year. The College received two important research grants—one from the Ford Foundation and one from the Small Business Administration.

Dean Harold E. Wessman has seen continued progress in the development of various areas within the College of Engineering this past year.

College of Engineering

New additions to the physical facilities of the College of Engineering were made during 1959-1960 with the completion of the new Mechanical Engineering Building and the new General Engineering Building. Construction was also started on an addition to the Charles W. Harris Hydraulics Laboratory.

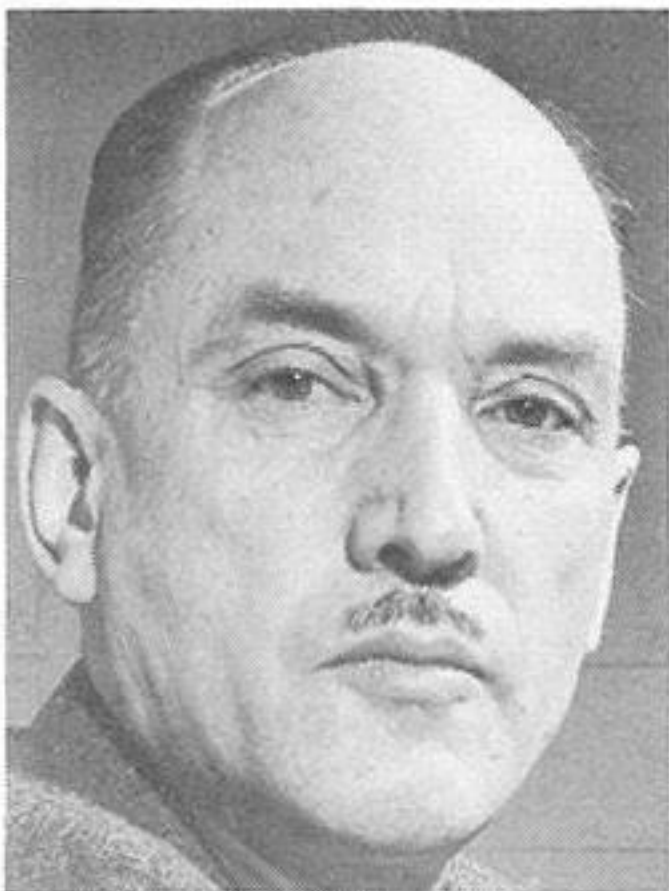

The University of Washington College of Engineering continues to be the largest college of engineering on the Pacific Coast. Enrollment reached an all-time high this past year as 2,856 students were enrolled autumn quarter. Of these, 601 were in graduate study leading to master's degrees and doctor's degrees. This is twice the number of graduate students enrolled three years ago.

In curriculum development, doctorate programs were introduced in two additional departments, Aeronautical and Mechanical Engineering. Every department in the college, with the exception of mineral engineering, now offers programs leading to a Ph.D.

Four years ago a special program in nuclear engineering was initiated. This program was given a great impetus with the award of contracts by the Regents for a teaching reactor and for the building to house it. This, combined with existing nuclear facilities, enables the College of Engineering to offer one of the finest graduate programs in the country.

The College of Education conducted one of the seven regional regular-session Guidance and Counseling Training Institutes February 8-May 29 on this campus. It received a contract for $112,000 under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act of 1958 to carry out the Institute.

Continued emphasis on research by individual faculty members was one of the main objectives of the College this year. They expanded teacher placement activities by assisting advanced degree candidates in the liberal arts field in securing college positions in their subject-matter fields. They cooperated with the school districts on an In-Service Teacher Training program. A series for the AWS, "How-to-Study," was conducted by faculty members of the College. They also participated in all major educational organizations and meetings.

Dr. George D. Strayer, Jr., professor of Education Administration, was awarded a grant of $6,000 to conduct a national survey of school finance for Phi Delta Kappa, men's national educational fraternity.

Many faculty members in the College have elective or appointive positions in the educational field. Dr. Sylvia Vopni was re-elected president of Pi Lambda Theta, and Dr. Rufus C. Salyer was elected secretary of the National Institutional Teachers Placement Association. The Ford Industrial Arts Award Program appointed Dr. Athol R. Bailey as a judge of its national finals, which were held in July, 1959. Dr. Alice Hayden was appointed to the Executive Board of the National Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development.

College of Fisheries

"Sealed Ecological Systems," an important research project carried out under a contract with the Boeing Airplane Company, is one of the many projects that is in progress in the College of Fisheries this year. The main emphasis in the College is placed on the training of research biologists and technologists.

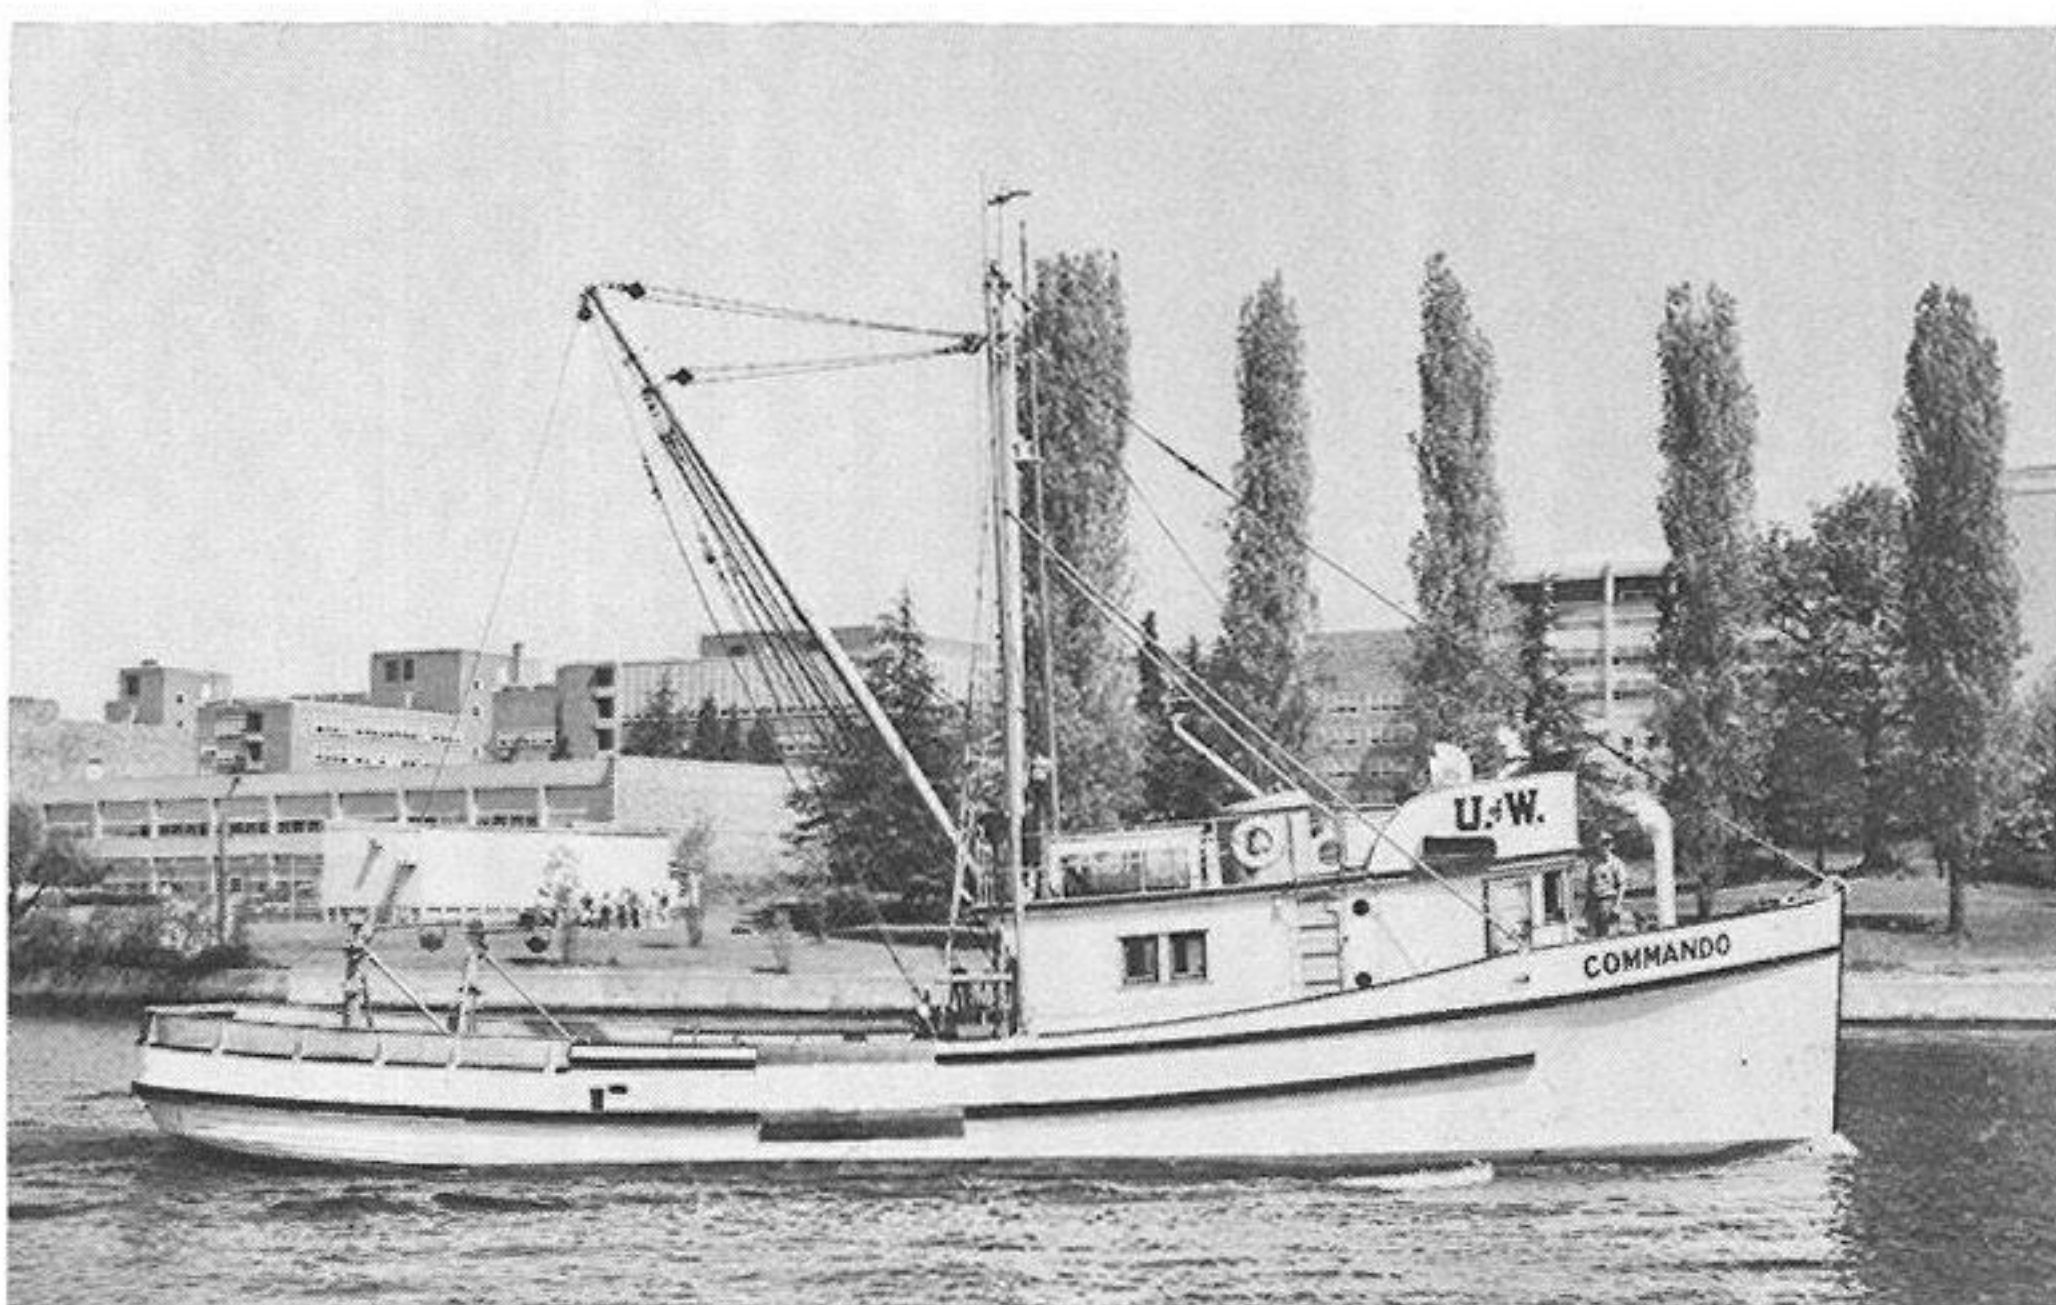

"Fish power" secrets are undergoing investigation in another research project. The purpose of this is to determine factors involved in the swimming efficiency of fish. The research is being carried out by Dr. Allan C. Delancy, Dr. Joseph Kent, Dr. Gerald Paulik and Dan Clancy. It is being supported by a contract with the U.S. Naval Ordnance Testing Station at China Lake, Calif.

Dr. John Liston, who is an assistant professor of Fisheries, received a grant from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare for work concerned with the Type Collection and Classification of Marine Bacteria.

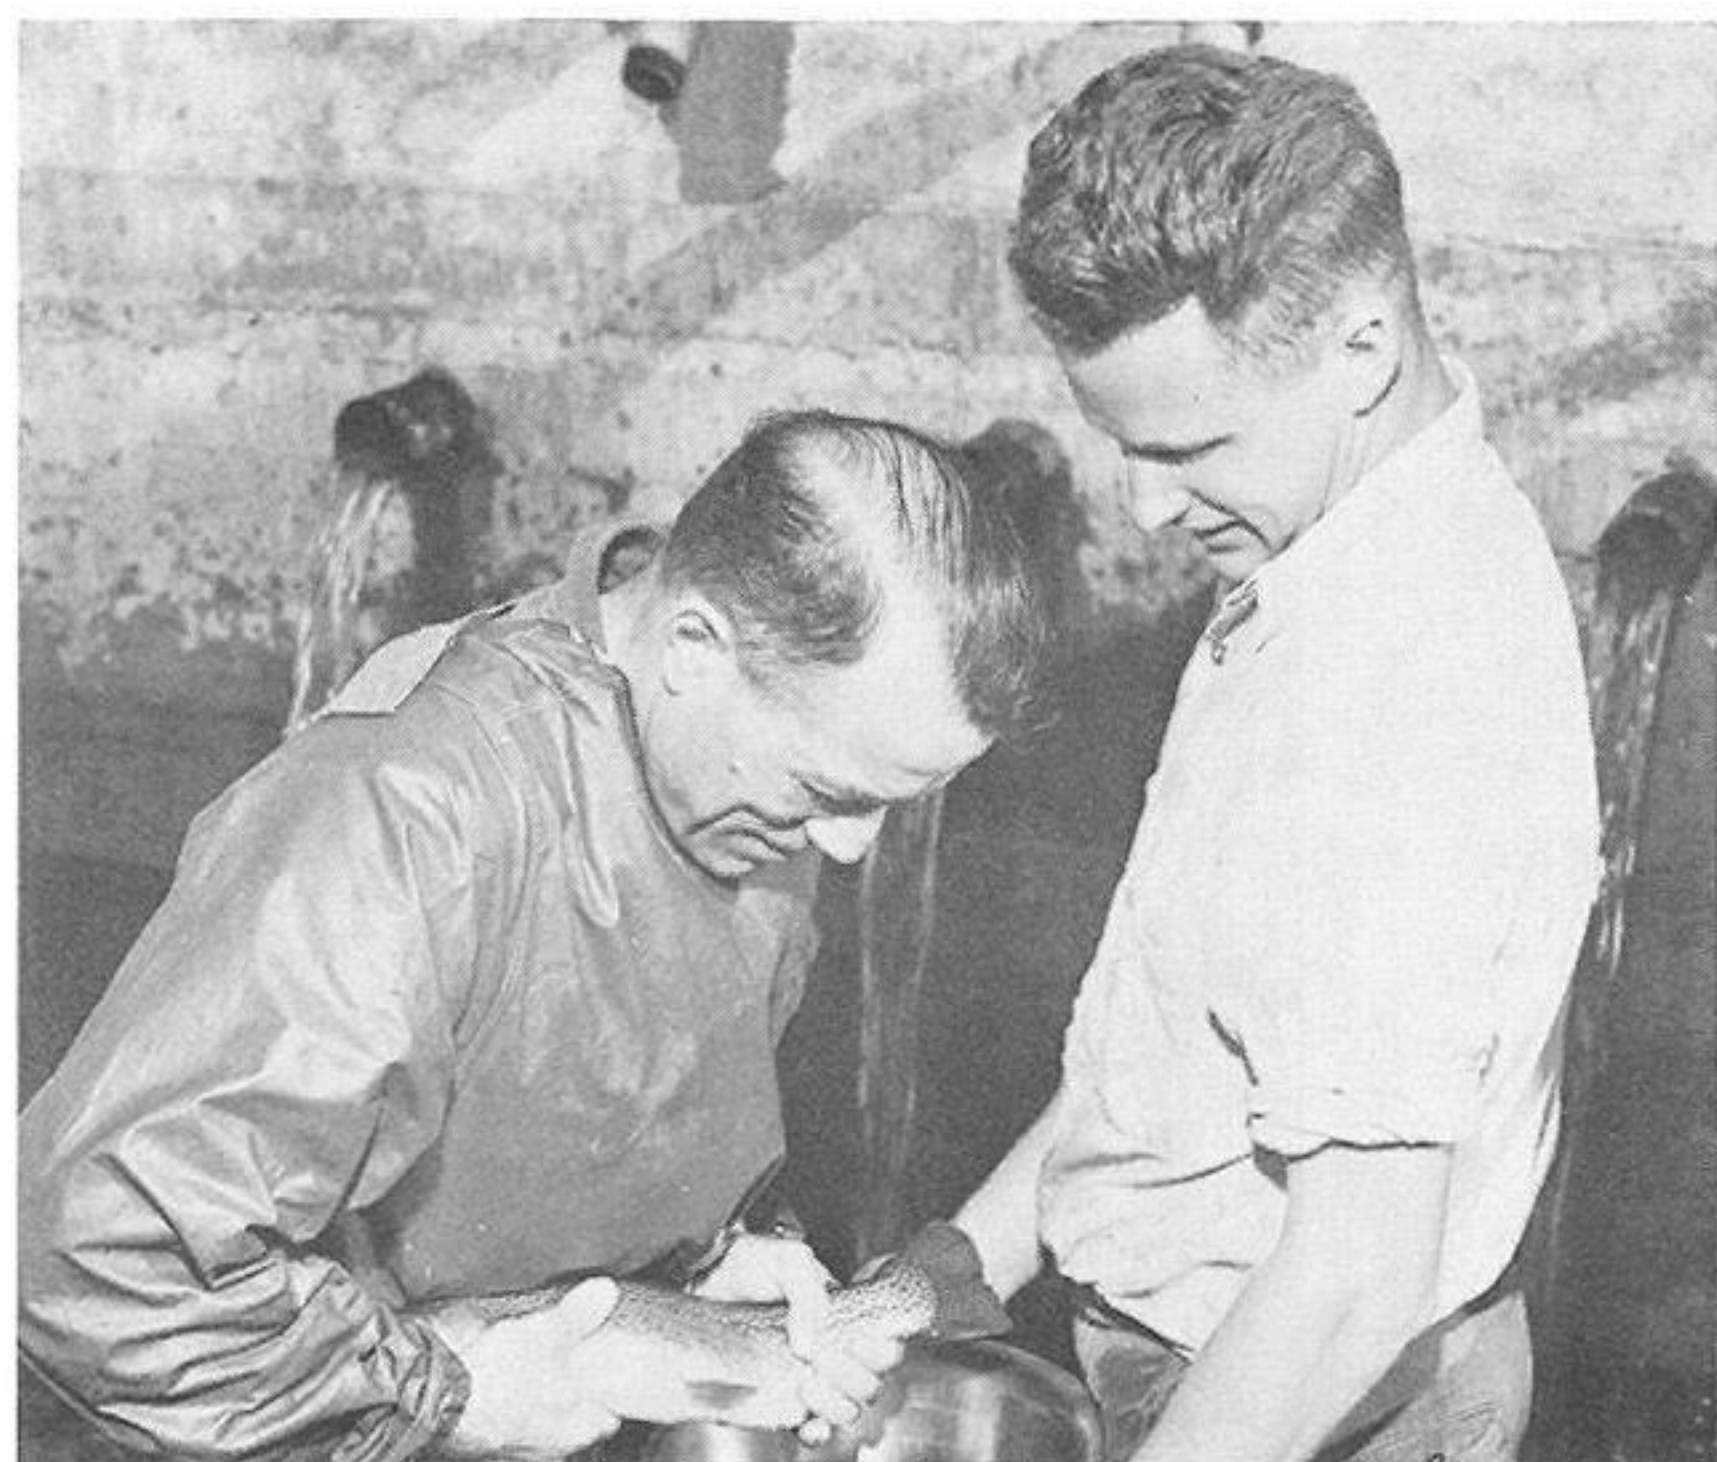

The Director of the Fisheries Research Institute, Dr. William F. Royce, was appointed adviser to the American Section of the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission.

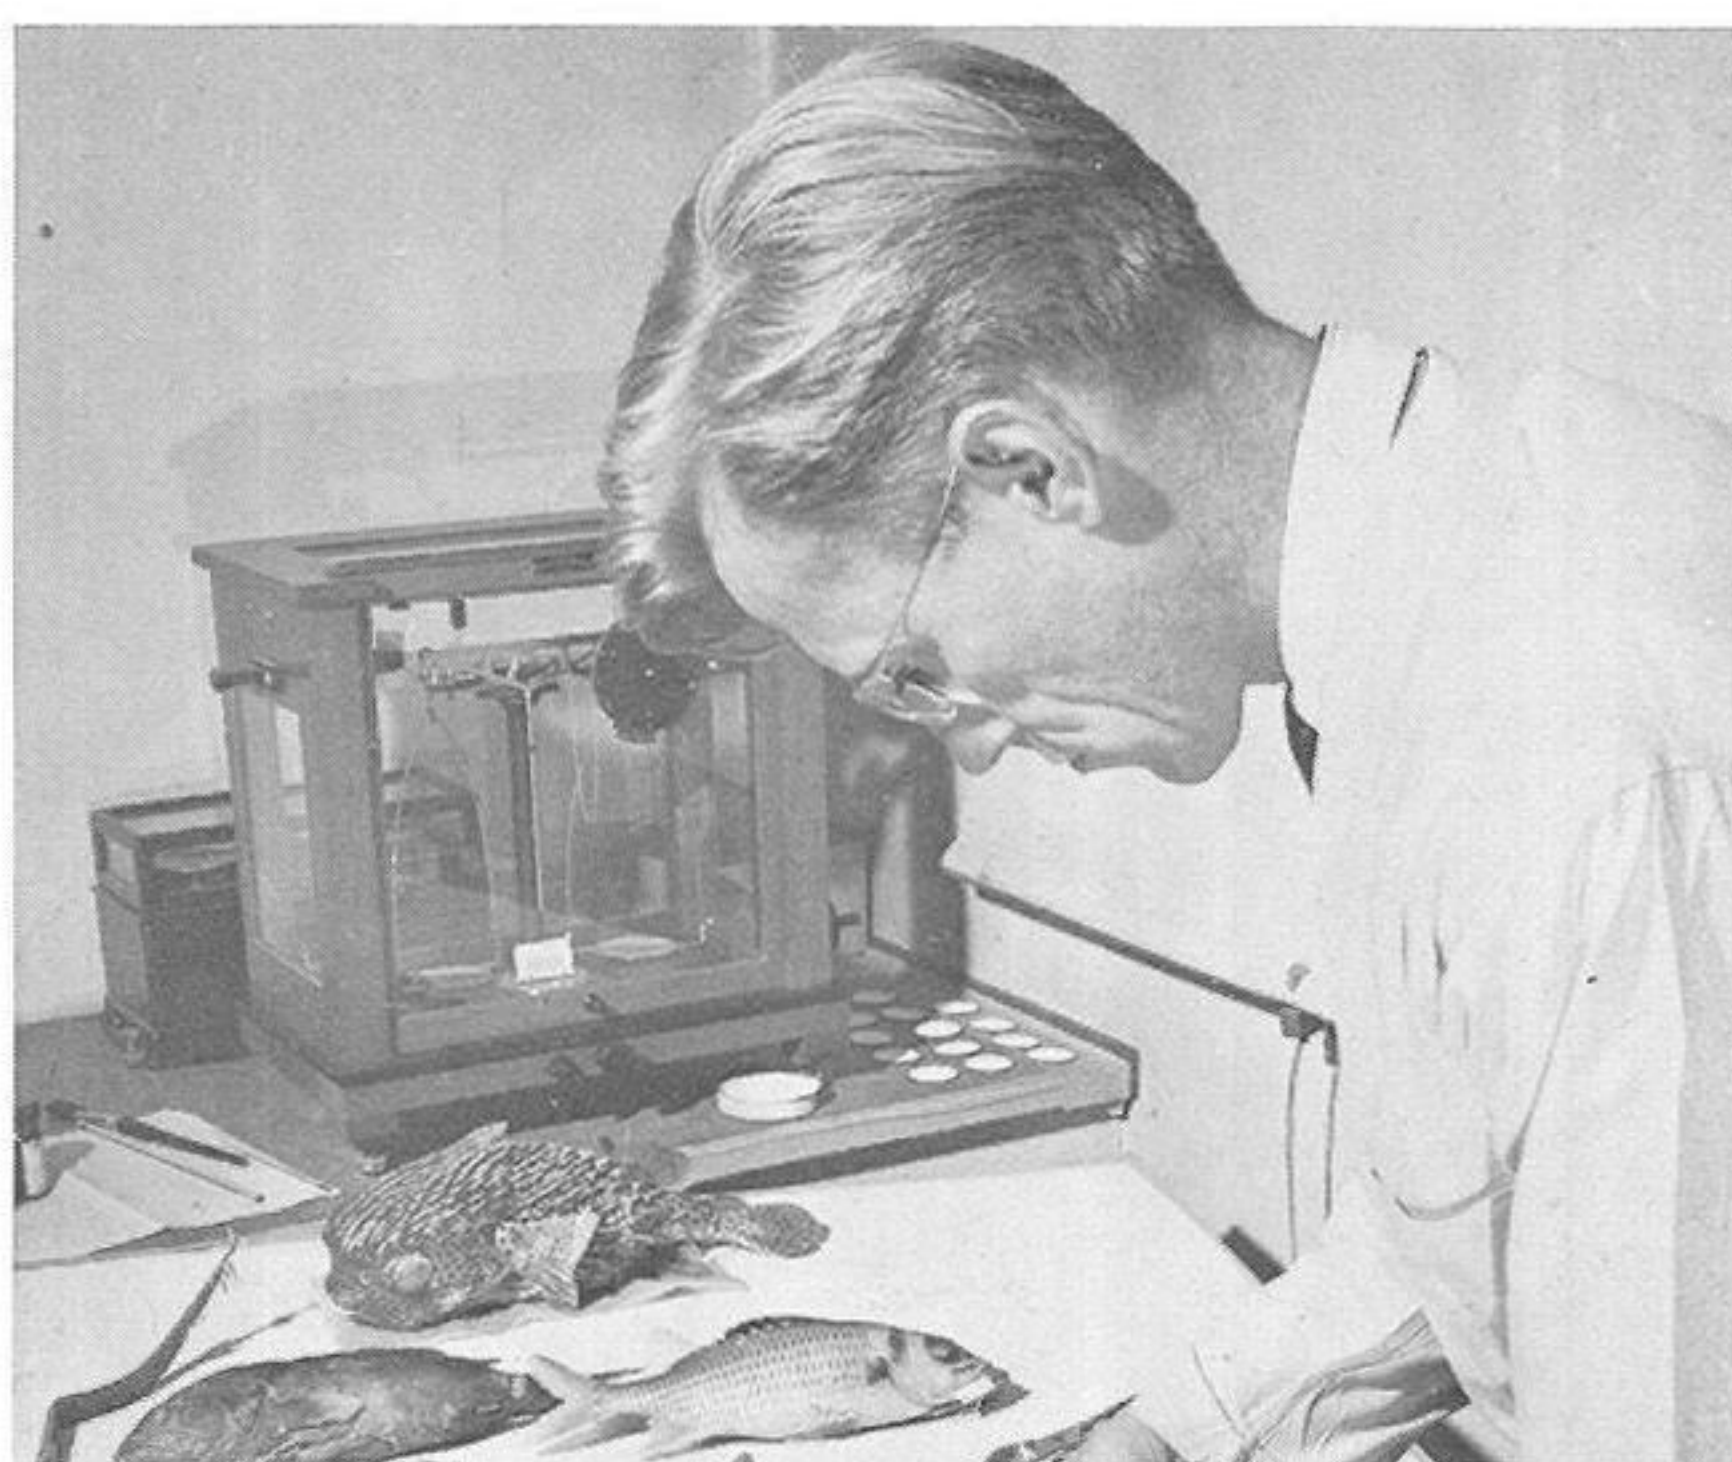

Dean Richard Van Cleve takes time out from his administrative duties to discuss a species of tropical fish with Ricki Colwell, a student in the College of Fisheries.

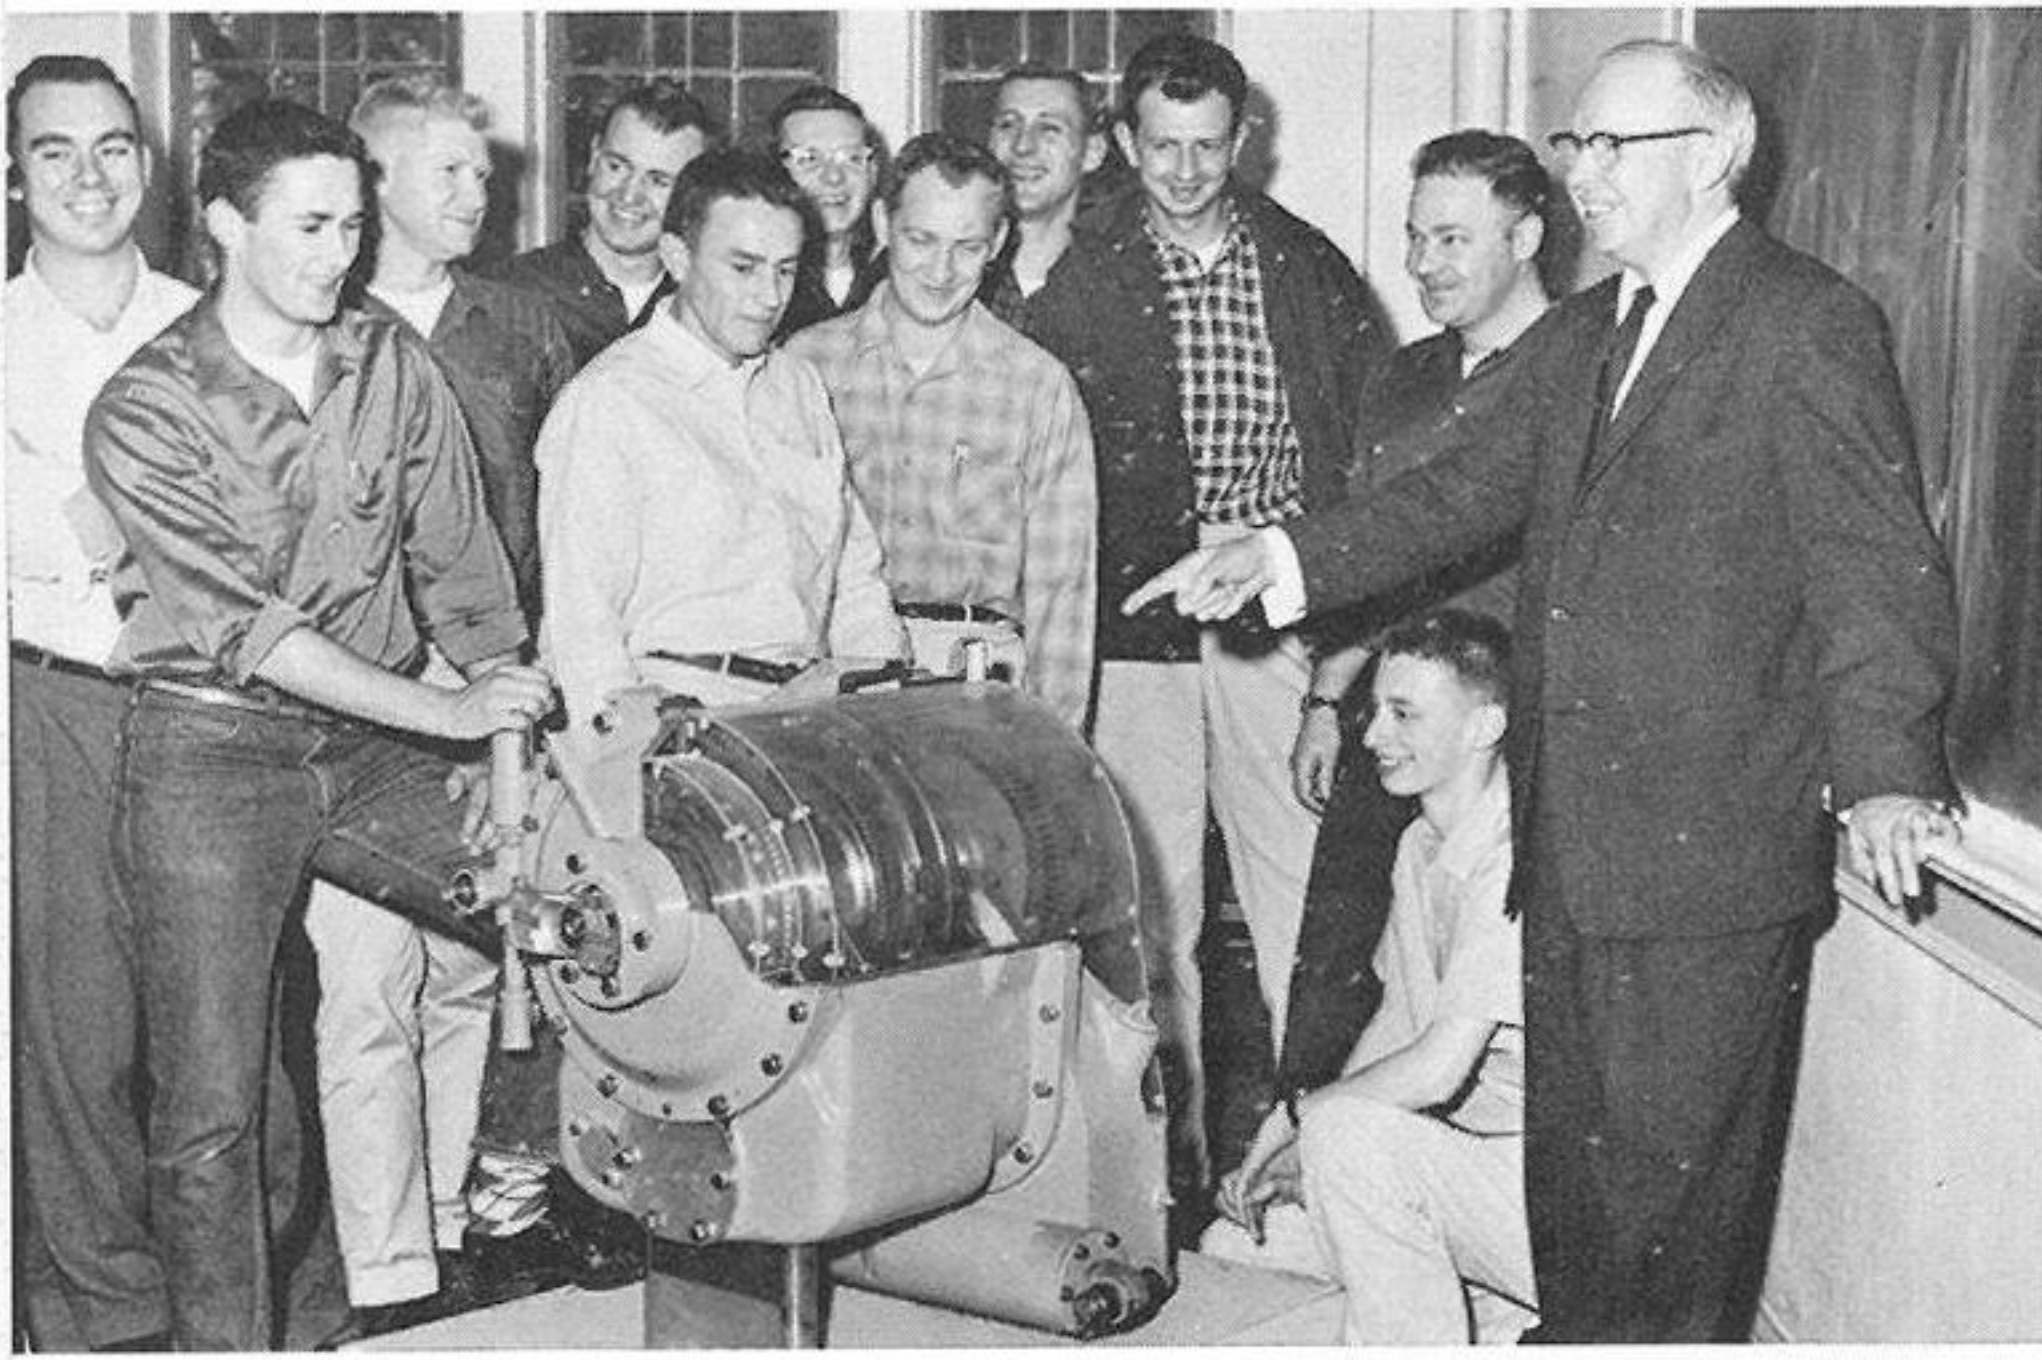

The M.S. "Commando," a diesel vessel belonging to the College, is used for field studies, for collecting laboratory specimens and for demonstrating the various techniques employed by fisheries research workers.

For the past 25 years, the College has been carrying out a program of selective breeding of trout. Here a trout is being milked by Professor Laureen Donaldson and a research assistant.

The College of Fisheries has a complete cataloging room and a large collection of fish, which contains many thousands of unusual specimens.

Professor J. Kenneth Pearce explains the automatic transmission of a tractor to a logging engineering class.

Dean Gordon D. Marckworth, a member of the Organizing Committee for the Fifth World Forestry Congress, examines a piece of Washington-grown Douglas Fir.

Using a hot press to glue plywood together is Eldon Estep, student in the forest products division of the College. Dr. Harvey Erickson is supervising the process.

Professor J. Robertson instructs Dwain Davis, a student in forest management, how to proportion a map by using the Kail Radial Line Planimetric Plotter.

College of Forestry

Hailed as one of the most outstanding arboretums in the world, the University of Washington Arboretum, which is under the jurisdiction of the College of Forestry, was awarded one of the twelve bronze medals commemorating the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Jardim Botânico of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. These medals were awarded to the twelve outstanding arboreta of the world.

The Institute of Forest Products, formerly a state department, was made a department in the College of Forestry by the last legislature. This went into effect June 11, 1959.

Dean Gordon D. Marckworth, a member of the State Board of Natural Resources, is the president of the Washington State Forestry Conference. He is also a member of the Organizing Committee for the Fifth World Congress and chairman of the Local Arrangements Committee. The congress will be held on the campus, August and September.

Professor C. F. Brockman is the author of a book entitled "Recreational Use of Wild Lands." It is the only text in this field.

Many professors in the College of Forestry are active in forestry organizations and committees. They are: Dr. Harvey Erickson, Dr. Stanley P. Gessel, Professor J. Kenneth Pearce, Associate Professor George Stenzel and Associate Professor David P. Thomas.

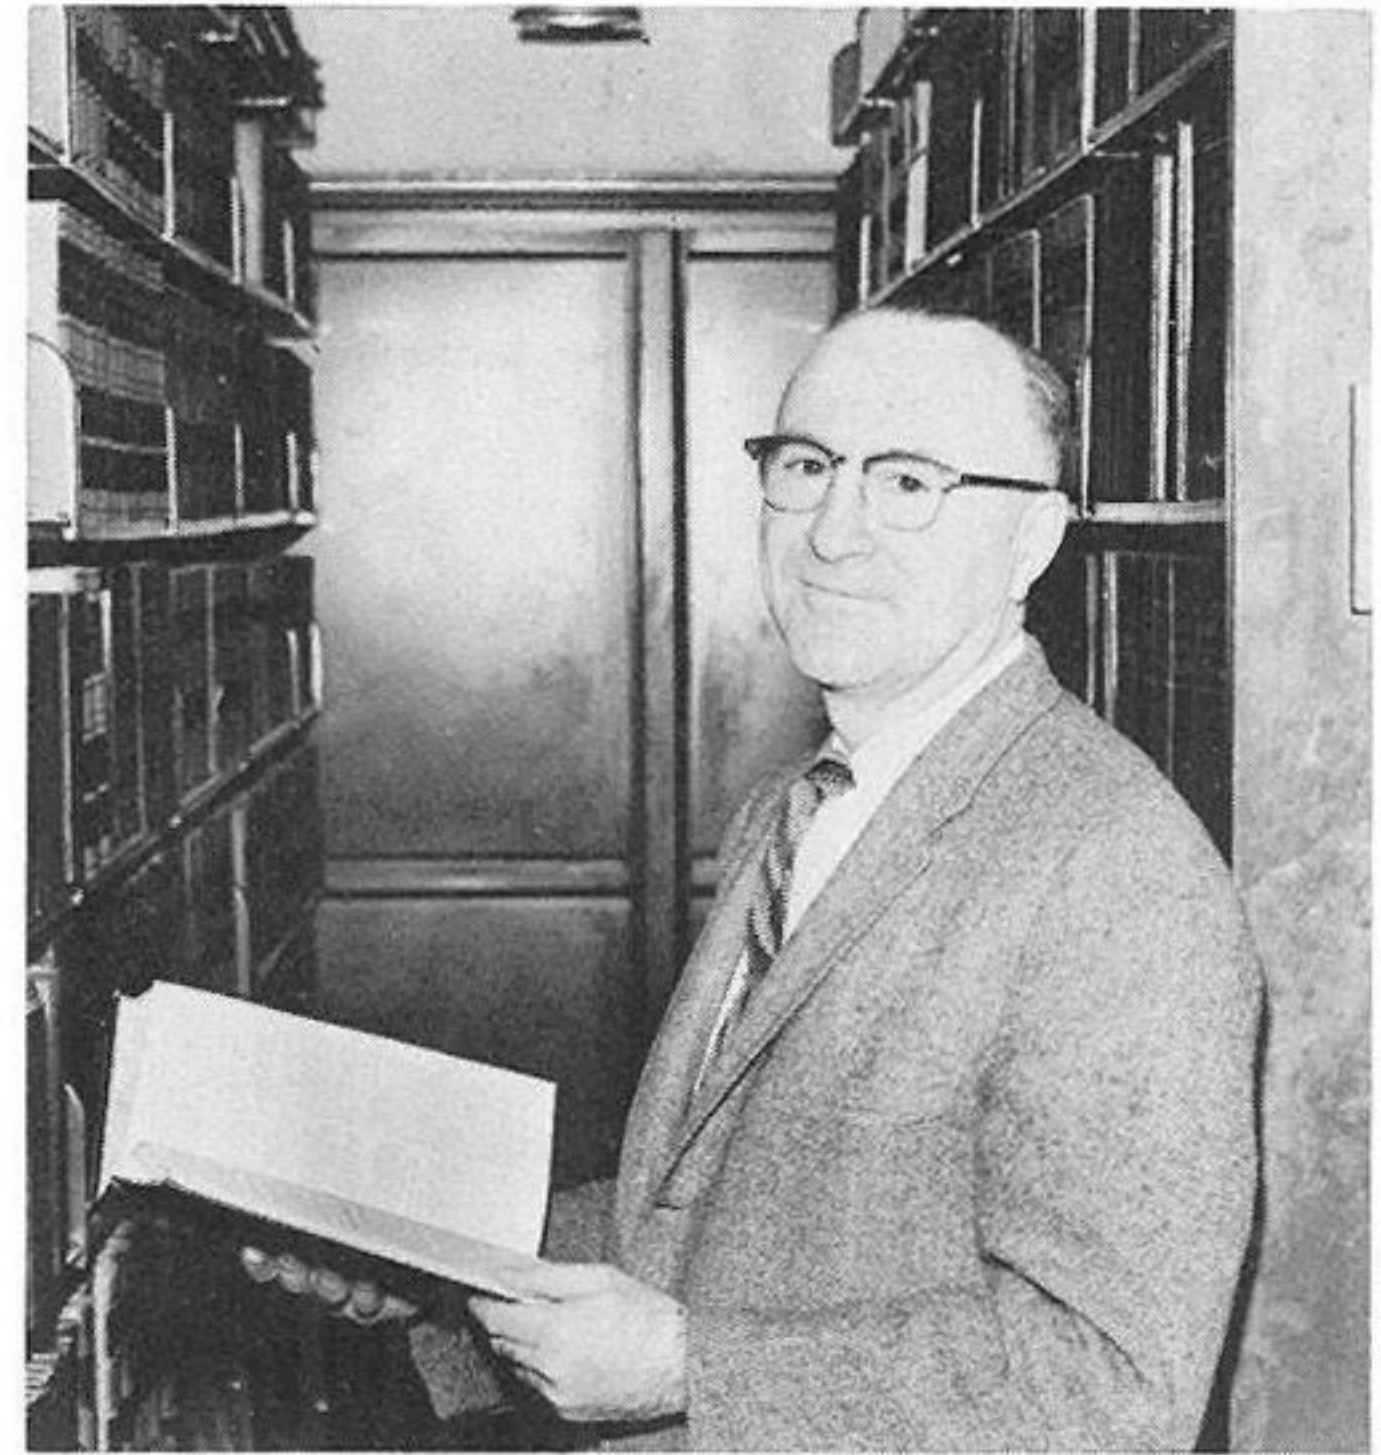

School of Law

An inspection of the School of Law at the University of Washington by the American Bar Association, as part of its nation-wide program of periodic re-inspection of all law schools, was the most significant event of the year.

During April, 1959, the School was host to the Western Regional Conference of Law Schools. The featured speaker for the meeting was President Ross L. Malone of the American Bar Association.

Students participated in Legal Aid work in conjunction with the Seattle-King County Bar Association. Just this year, they have been participating in the newly formed Indigent Prisoner program, assisting attorneys in the defense of accused persons who cannot pay for their defense.

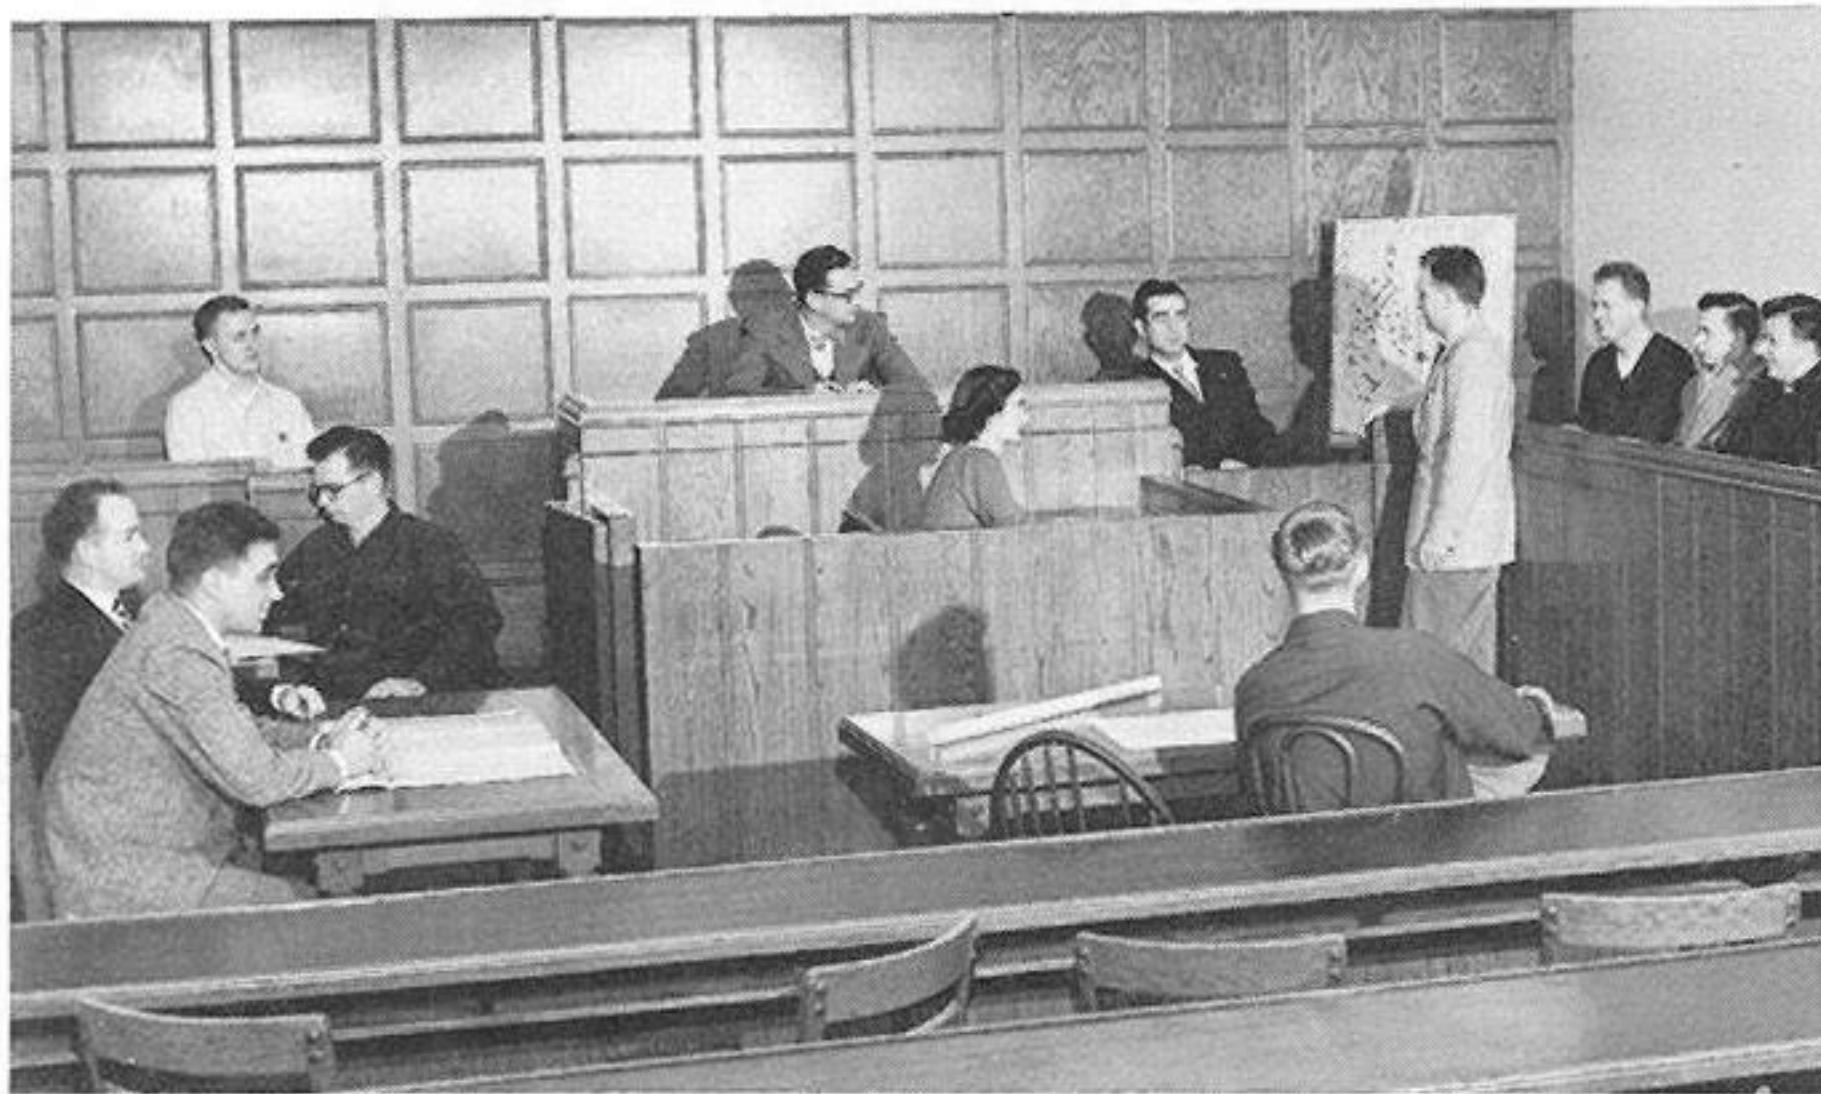

The Dean and several members of the faculty have been active in planning and participating in the state-wide Continuing Legal Education program, especially in those programs designed to acquaint lawyers with the new Rules of Civil Procedures, which went into effect January 1, 1960.

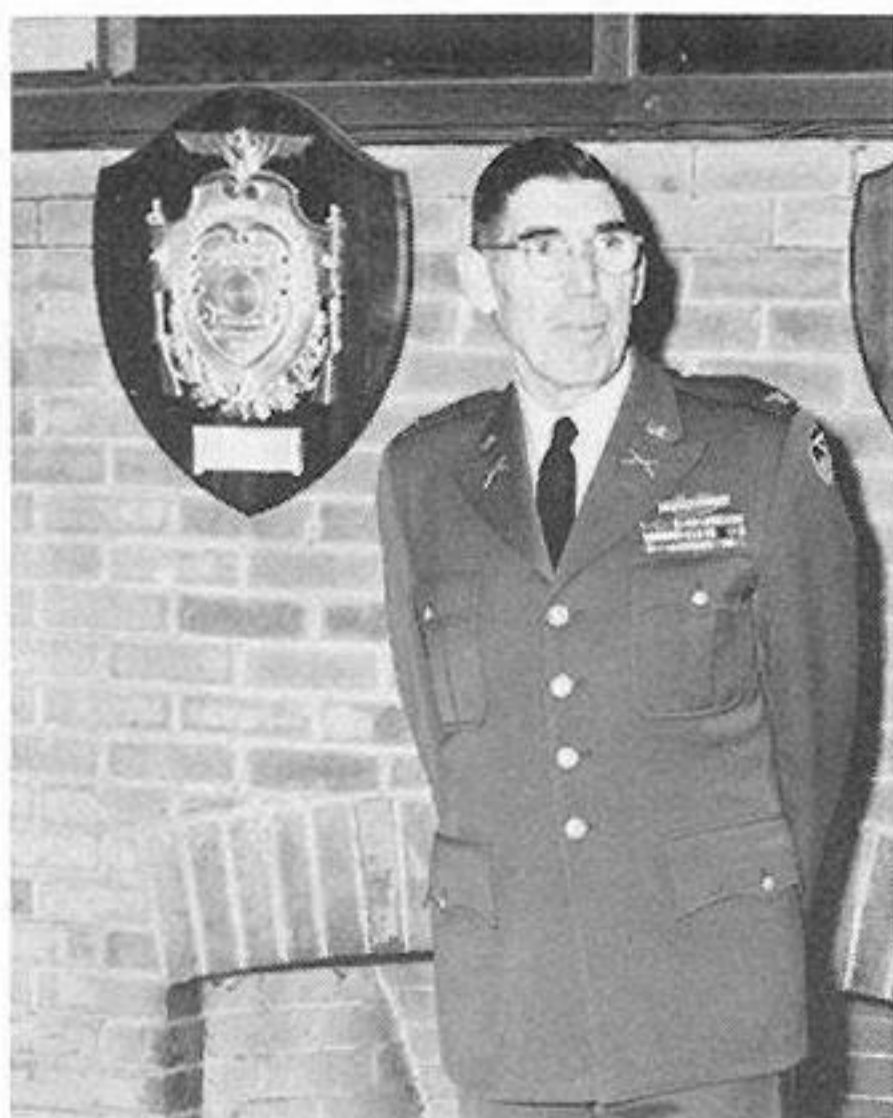

Dean George N. Stevens does some research in the faculty law library in Condon Hall.

"Moot Court," the laboratory and workshop for third-year law students, provided training and made use of the knowledge that they acquired in their classes.

Superior Court Judge Eugene A. Wright looks on while Richard Sheldon, acting lawyer, cross-examines another law student, Warren Reid, during "Moot Court."

Donald Gallenberger, pharmacist, and Professor Elmer M. Plein, co-ordinator of Pharmaceutical Services for the College of Pharmacy, watch two senior pharmacy students mix a toxic at the Hall Health Center Pharmacy.

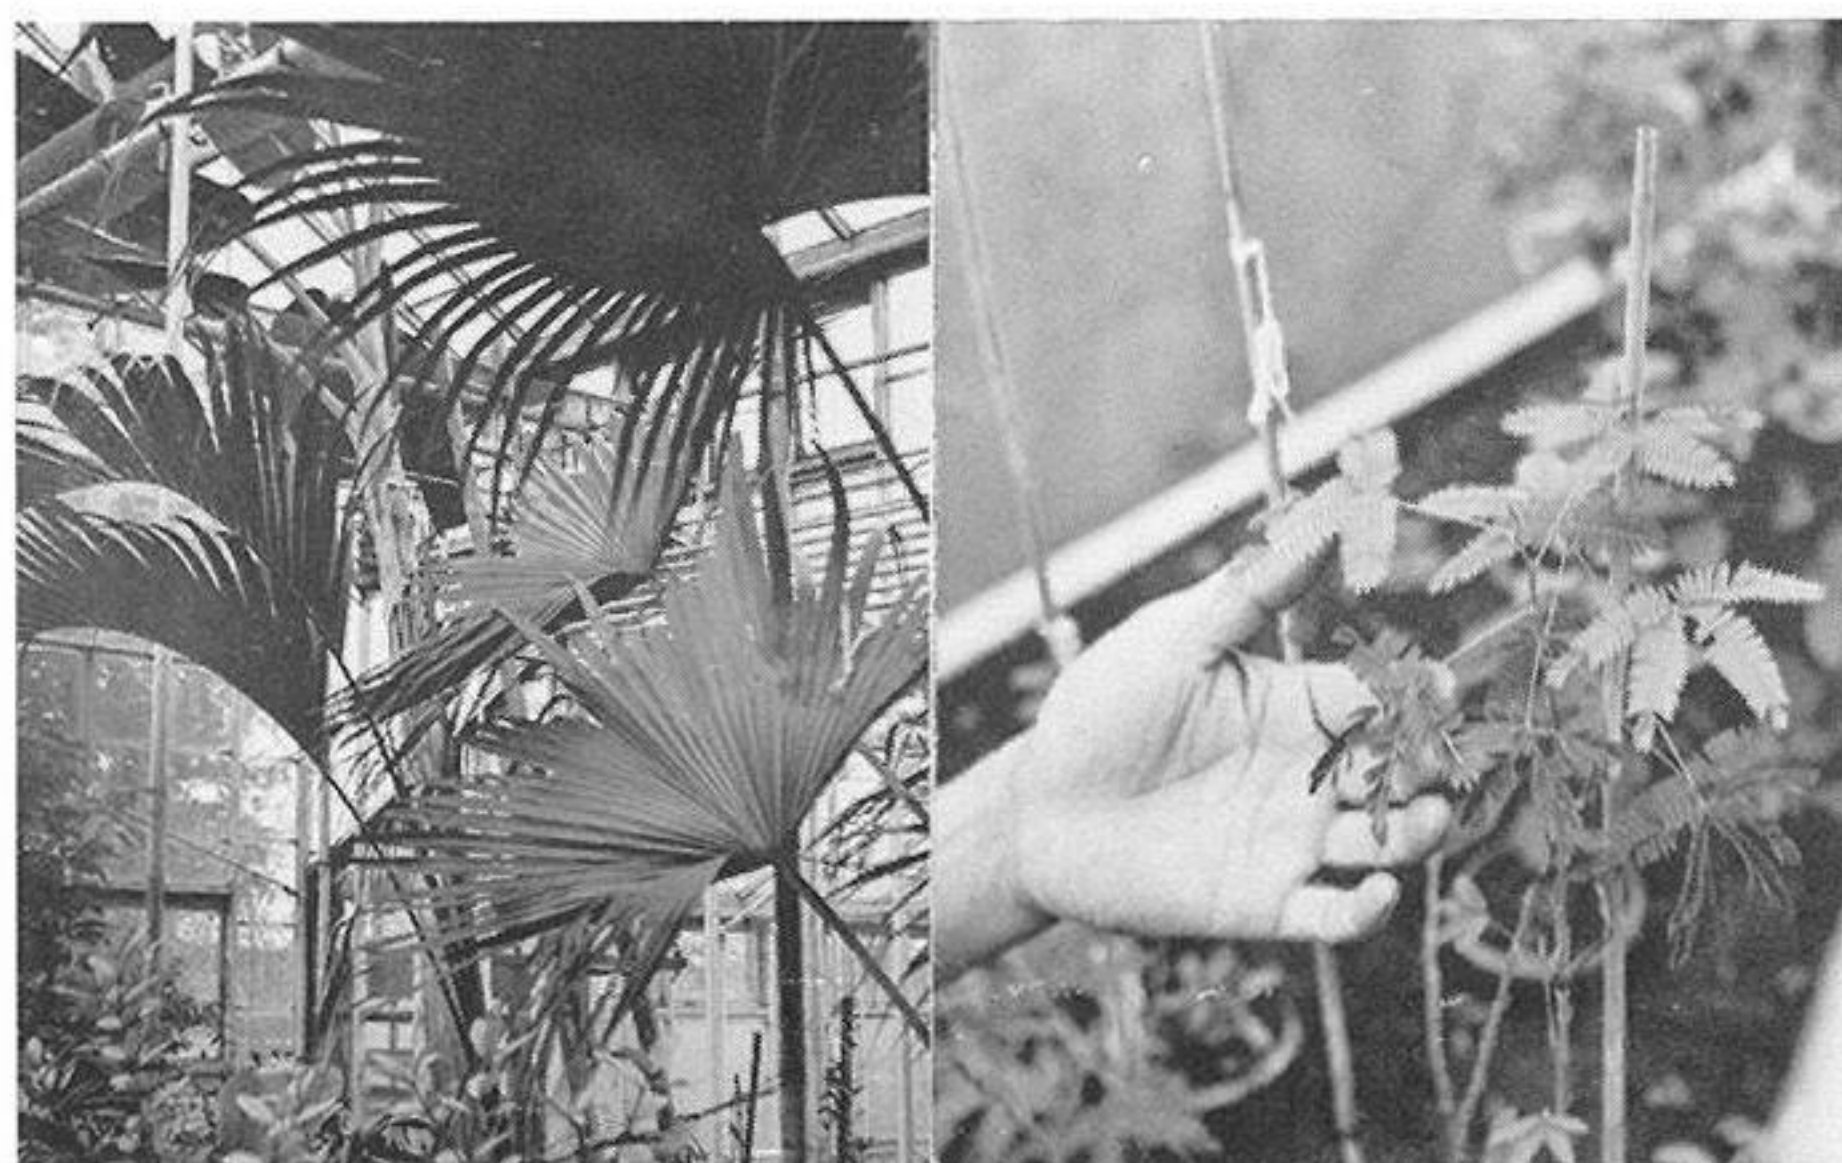

Donald S. Wyss, center, presents a trophy and $1,000 to Mrs. Venda E. Holt, who won the western regional first prize in the Lunsford-Richardson Awards Program. Dean Jack E. Orr holds a $1,000 certificate that the College of Pharmacy received in connection with Mrs. Holt's award.

College of Pharmacy

Laboratories offer pharmacy students much of their professional training. Dean Jack Orr offers assistance to JoAnne Henrikson, a senior.

Several hundred species of plants containing pharmaceutically important elements are grown in this greenhouse, which is part of the medicinal plant gardens.

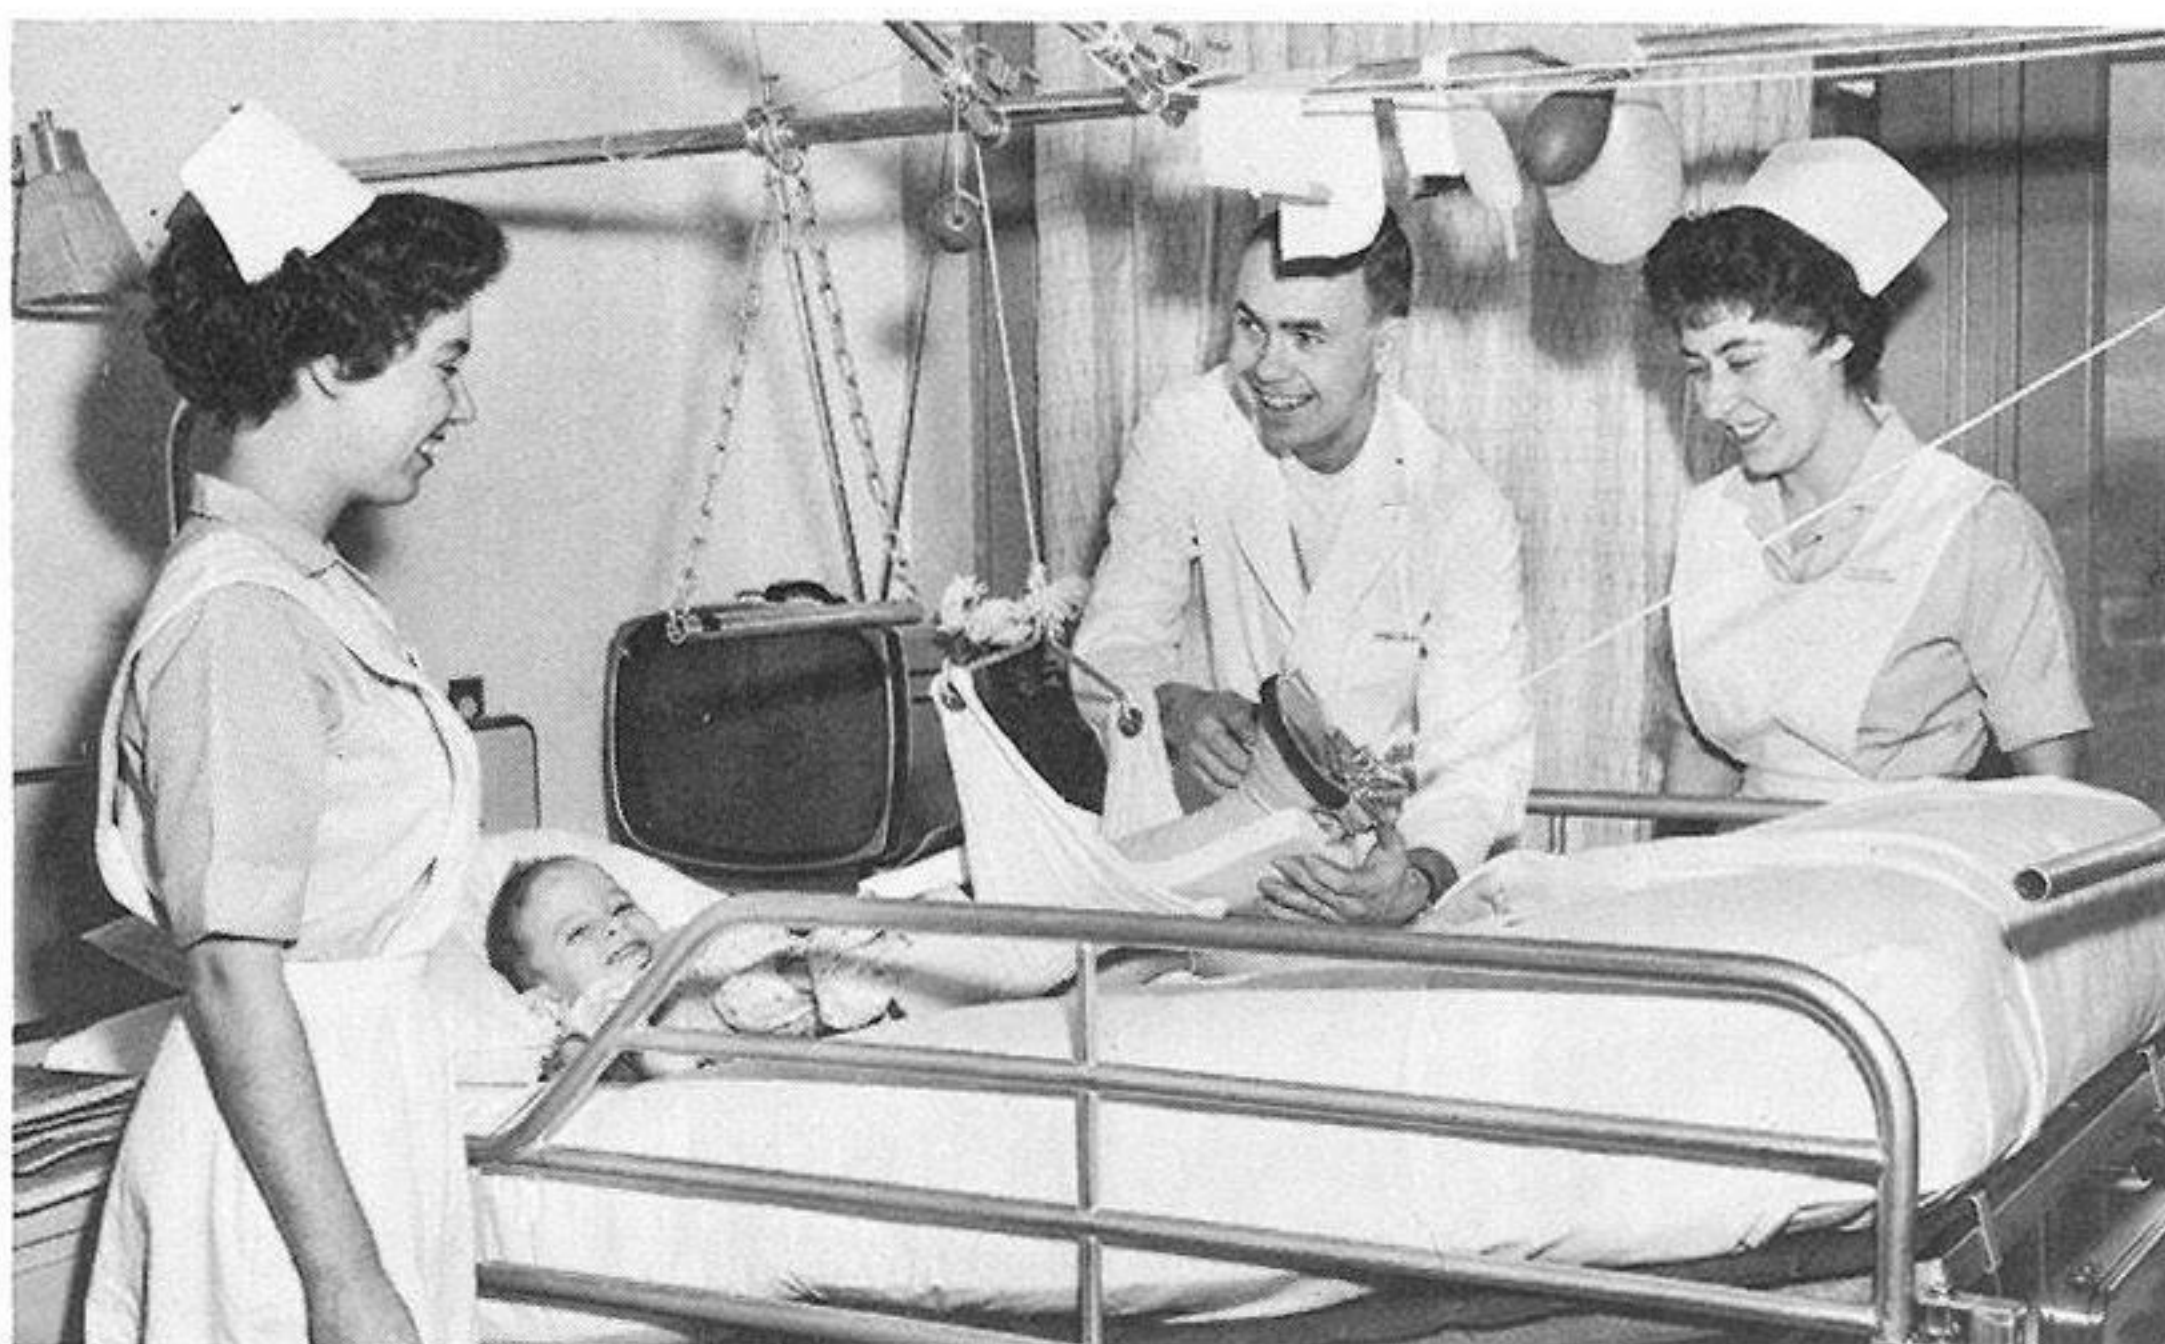

Two new pharmacies, the Hall Health Center Pharmacy and the University Hospital Pharmacy, were opened in 1959. They are under the direction of Professor Elmer M. Plein. Both pharmacies offer service to in-patients and out-patients, and provide clinical training centers for students in the College of Pharmacy.

In the spring of 1959, Mrs. Venda E. Holt, a 39-year old senior, won prizes in two national essay contests for the second successive year. The total value of prizes over the two-year span was $2,400. In addition, the College of Pharmacy received $1,000 in matching gifts from one of the contests.

Several faculty members received grants to support their research projects. Grants went to Professor Alain C. Huitric for a study of possible cardioplegic agents, Professor Walter C. McCarthy for the synthesis of possible anti-radiation drugs and Professor Varro E. Tyler, Jr. for a comparative chemical investigation of the genus amanita.

Dr. Mary S. Tschudin, Dean

Dr. Richard Lee instructs nursing students Kathleen Krull and Pamela Holsclaw on care of a young orthopedic patient.

School of Nursing

Now in the second year of the new basic curriculum, the School of Nursing has shortened its curriculum from 17 to 13 university quarters. Students in this new program have selected new uniforms and caps. The first "capping ceremony" under this program was held March 15.

The School has been actively engaged in a study of the integration of mental health into the basic program and in the further development of graduate programs in clinical nursing. A five year grant of $146,000 to aid in the development of nursing research has been received by the University from the National Institute of Health.

A number of leaders in nursing education have visited the School of Nursing during the past year to discuss and observe developments in nursing and nursing education. These persons have come from England, Canada, Scotland, Nigeria, India, Belgium, Brazil and Japan as well as from 10 different states.

Miss Harriet Smith directed an experimental continuation education program under the auspices of the Western Interstate Commission on Higher Education. Mrs. Roma Pederson conducted curriculum conferences for the National League of Nursing in Kansas City, Tucson and Boise.

Faculty members of the School of Nursing have been active in national, state, local and campus activities.

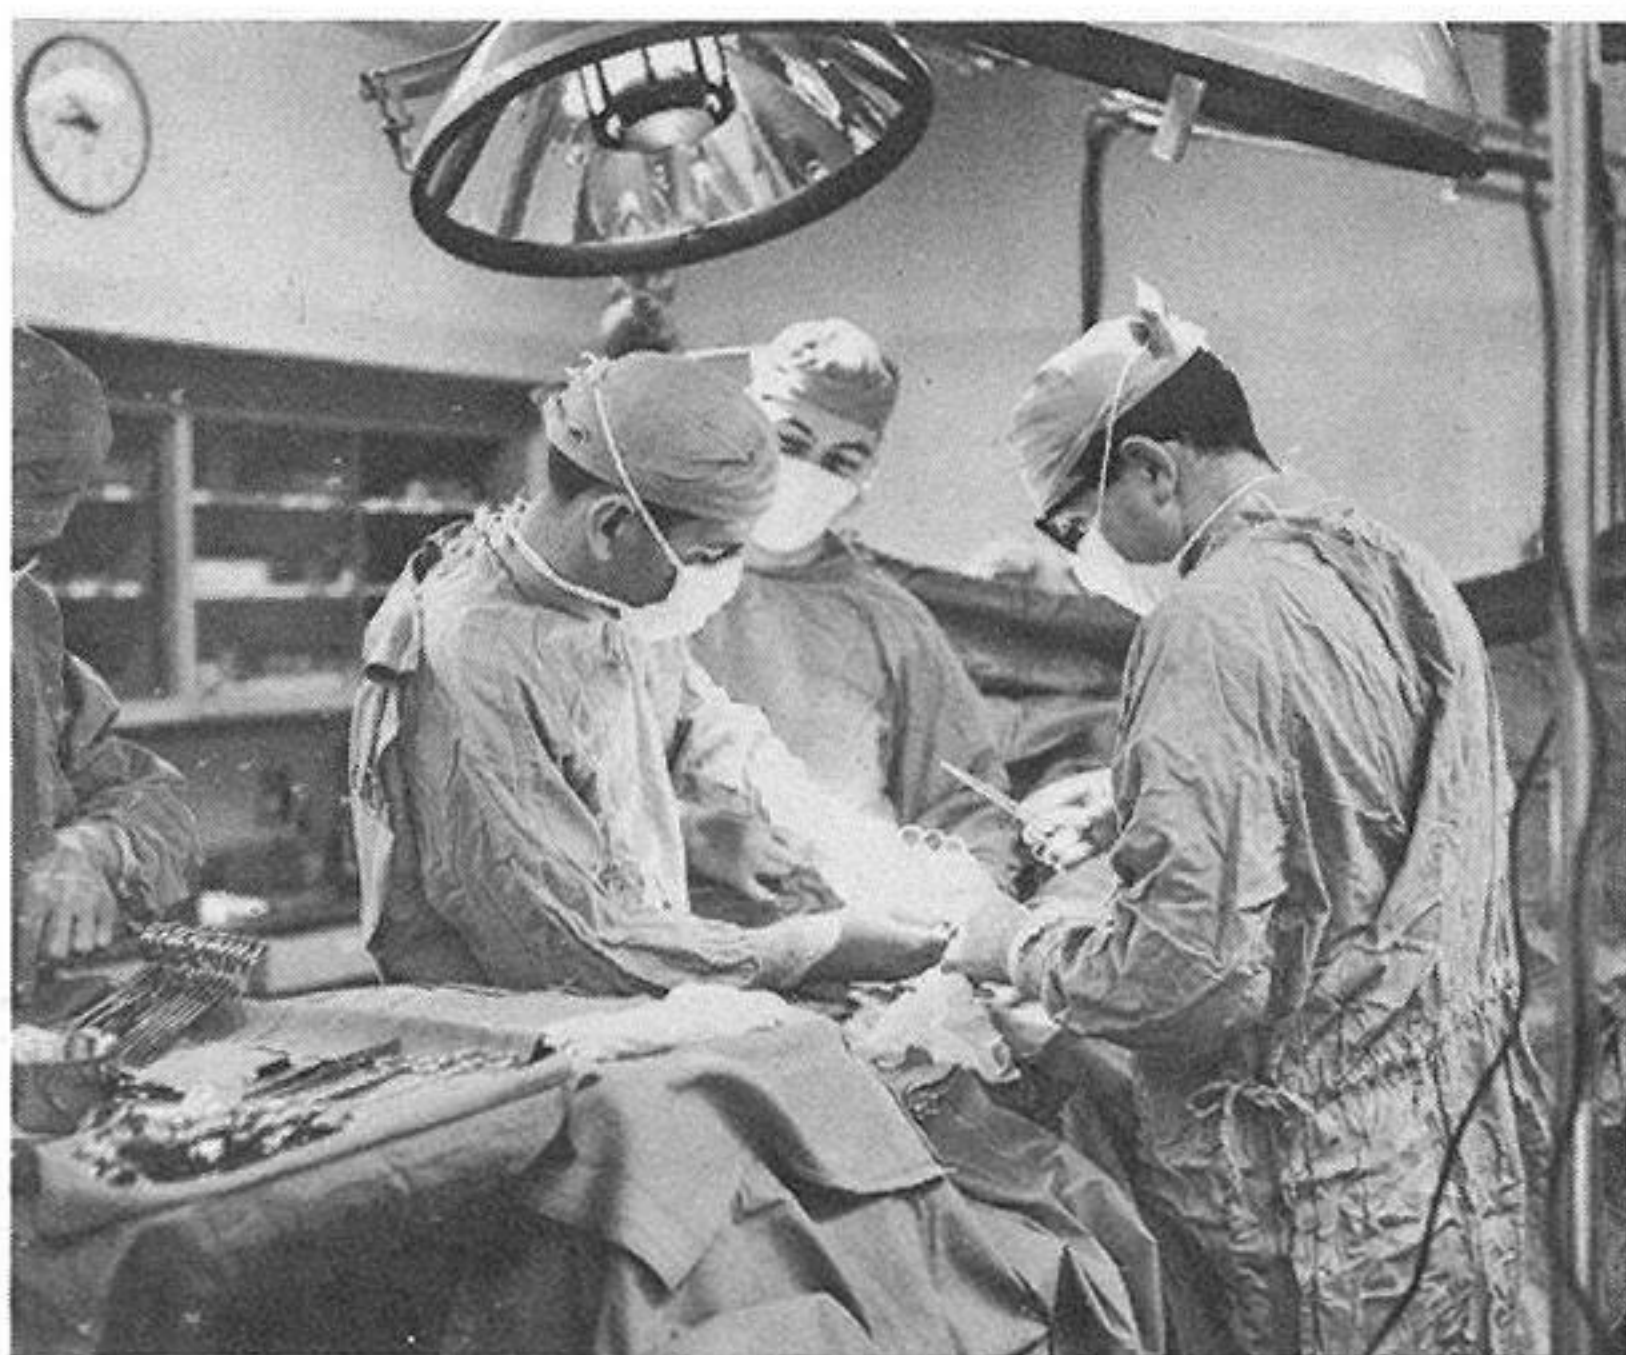

Nursing student Virginia Turner is learning to withdraw medication for a hypodermic injection.

Last-minute adjustments are being made before the first "capping ceremony."

L. S. Rambeck, Administrator of the University Hospital, and Dr. George N. Aagaard, Dean of the School of Medicine, discuss plans for the new Samuels Institute.

Future surgical specialists learn technique by observation, serving as assistants to faculty surgeons. Here three young residents in surgery prepare a patient for open heart surgery.

School of Medicine

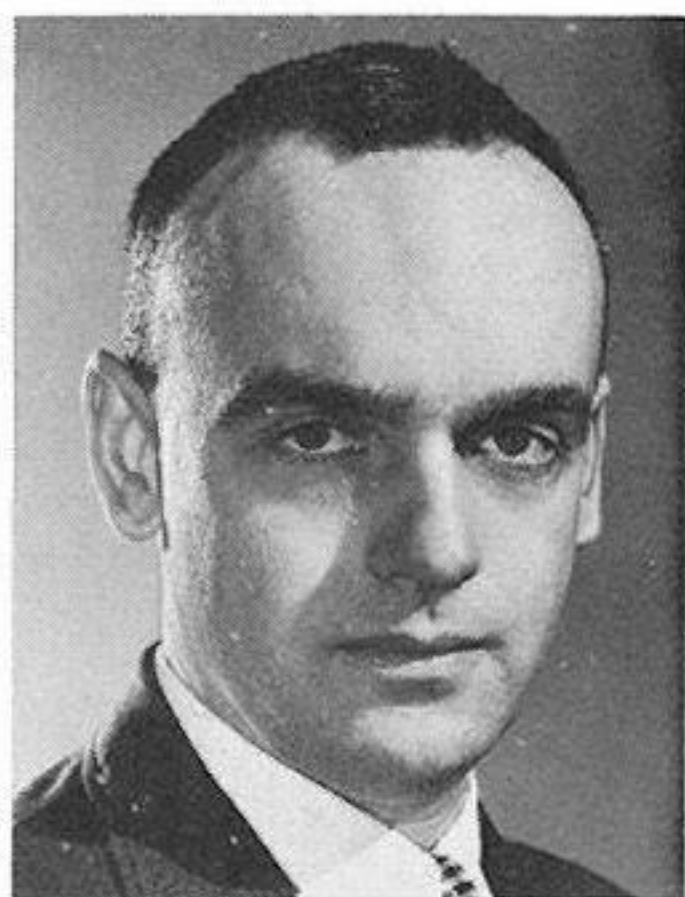

"The coming of age" for the University of Washington's School of Medicine was realized at the opening of the new University Hospital last May 1, 1959. This $14,400,000 structure receives patients from all parts of the state and the Northwest. It is a training center for physicians and students in related health professions. It is one of the most modern and efficient teaching hospitals in the nation.

The Samuels Institute, which opened in April, adjoins the teaching hospital and provides additional space for faculty research in heart disease and cancer. It was made possible by a gift of $250,000 from Dr. and Mrs. S. Maimon Samuels and matching contributions by the University and the National Institute of Health.

Honored by the International Film Fair in Padua, Italy, was Dr. Richard Blandau, for his outstanding scientific film, "Ovulation and Egg Transport in the Rat."

Dr. George N. Aagaard, Dean of the School of Medicine, was named president-elect of the Association of American Medical Colleges.

Two professors in the School were named outstanding in their specific field of work. Dr. Edward Allen Boyden, Research Professor of Anatomy, was selected by an international medical journal as one of the ten outstanding medical teachers and researchers to be honored for "exceptional contribution to world medical progress." Dr. Robert A. Aldrich was cited by Northwestern University as one of its 20 most distinguished medical graduates, for his contribution to pediatric education and research.

Patients learn to regain the use of muscles in the therapeutic gymnasium of the Rehabilitation Center, University Hospital. Exercises are carefully designed to strengthen muscles gradually so patients can develop maximum self-reliance.

The nurses' station, which is located at the entrance to each nursing unit, provides a central control for the unit's operation in the University Hospital. Each station has a pneumatic tube terminal, bedside intercommunication system and charting areas, as well as easy access to the rest of the central core of the unit, which contains drug supply, linen and other storage and work areas.

Many students in the School of Social Work who are primarily interested in working with children do their field work at the Seattle Atlantic Street Center. The School of Social Work has a clinical affiliation with the Center.

School of Social Work

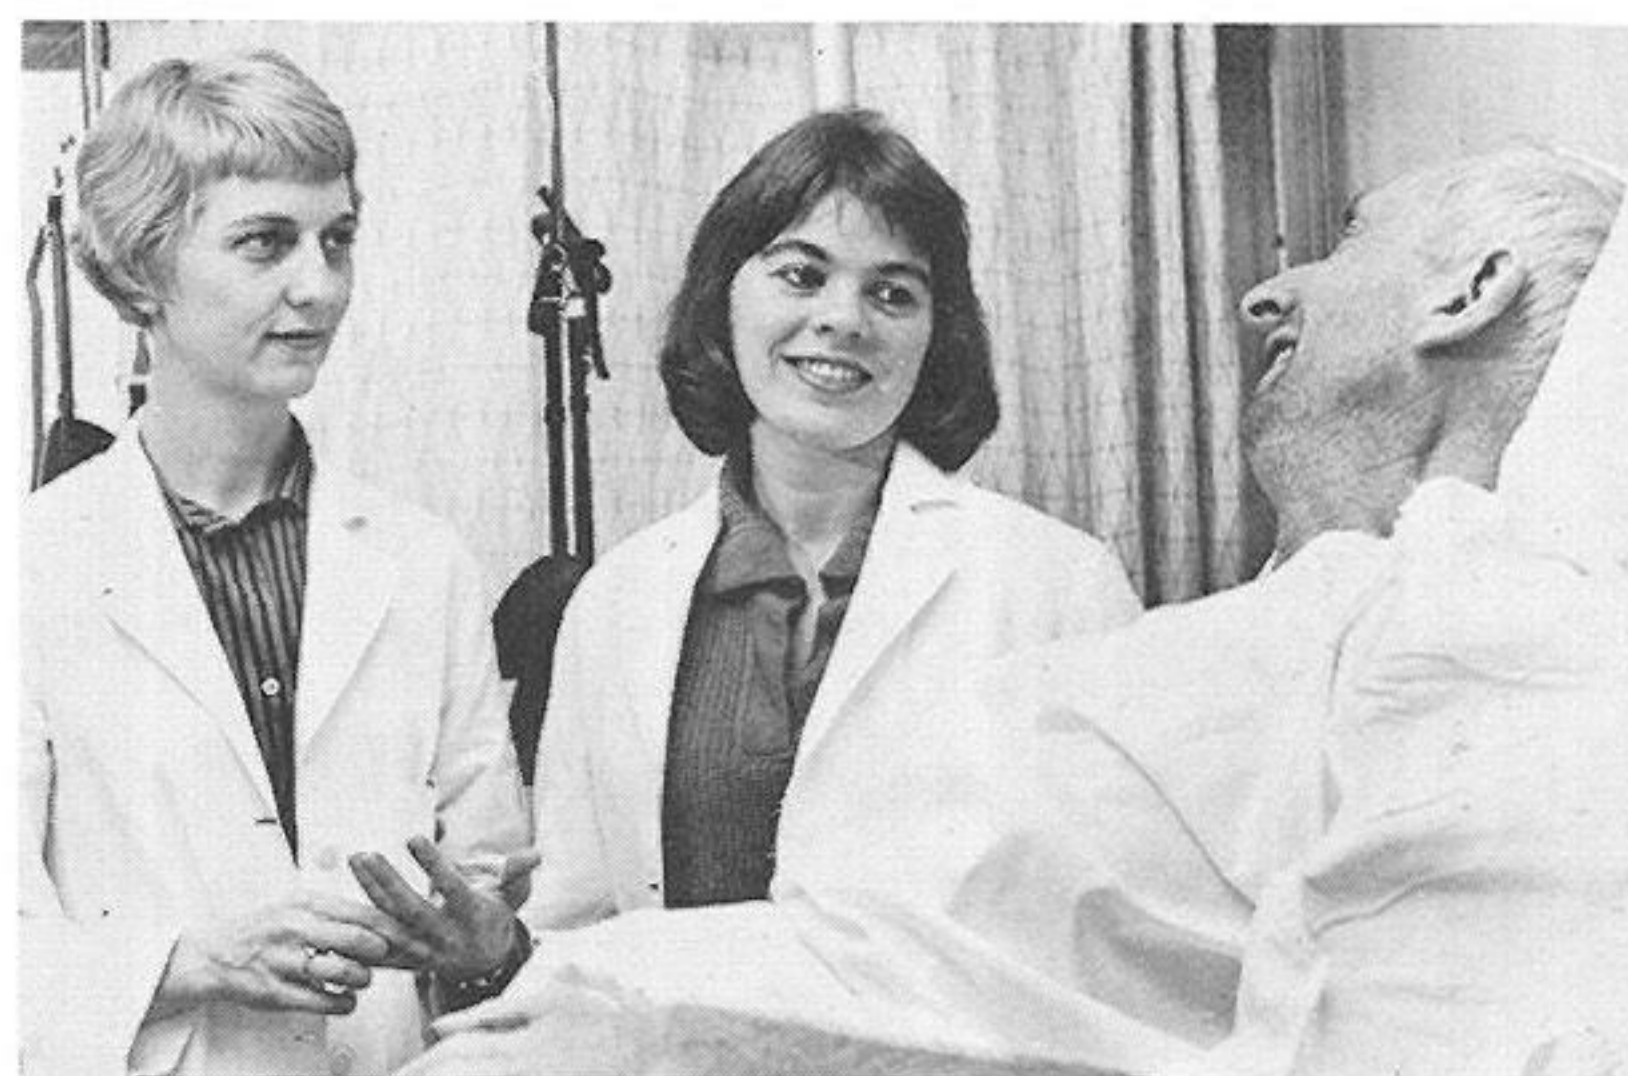

This year the School of Social Work realized a 21 per cent increase in the enrollment of full-time students in the post baccalaureate professional curriculum. This large enrollment increase will be of importance to the state and community health, welfare and recreational agencies.

The School of Social Work at the University is the only one of its kind in the Pacific Northwest.

During 1959, a program of expanded affiliation with institutions and hospitals under the administration of the State Department of Institutions was established. Full-time students in the professional curriculum now have clinical experience in two of the state's mental hospitals for the mentally retarded and in three institutions for juvenile delinquents.

Dean Victor I. Howery was selected as a member of the Social Work Advisory Panel for the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Associate Professor Henry W. Maier was named to a nationwide committee established by the Child Welfare League of America to work on standards for in-service training of personnel in children's institutions.

Professor Arthur C. Abrahamson was the author of a book entitled, Group Methods in Supervision, the first book written on this topic. It is based on six years of group research and supervision.

Students spend a great deal of time working with patients at the University Hospital, under a coordinated teaching program with other schools and departments.

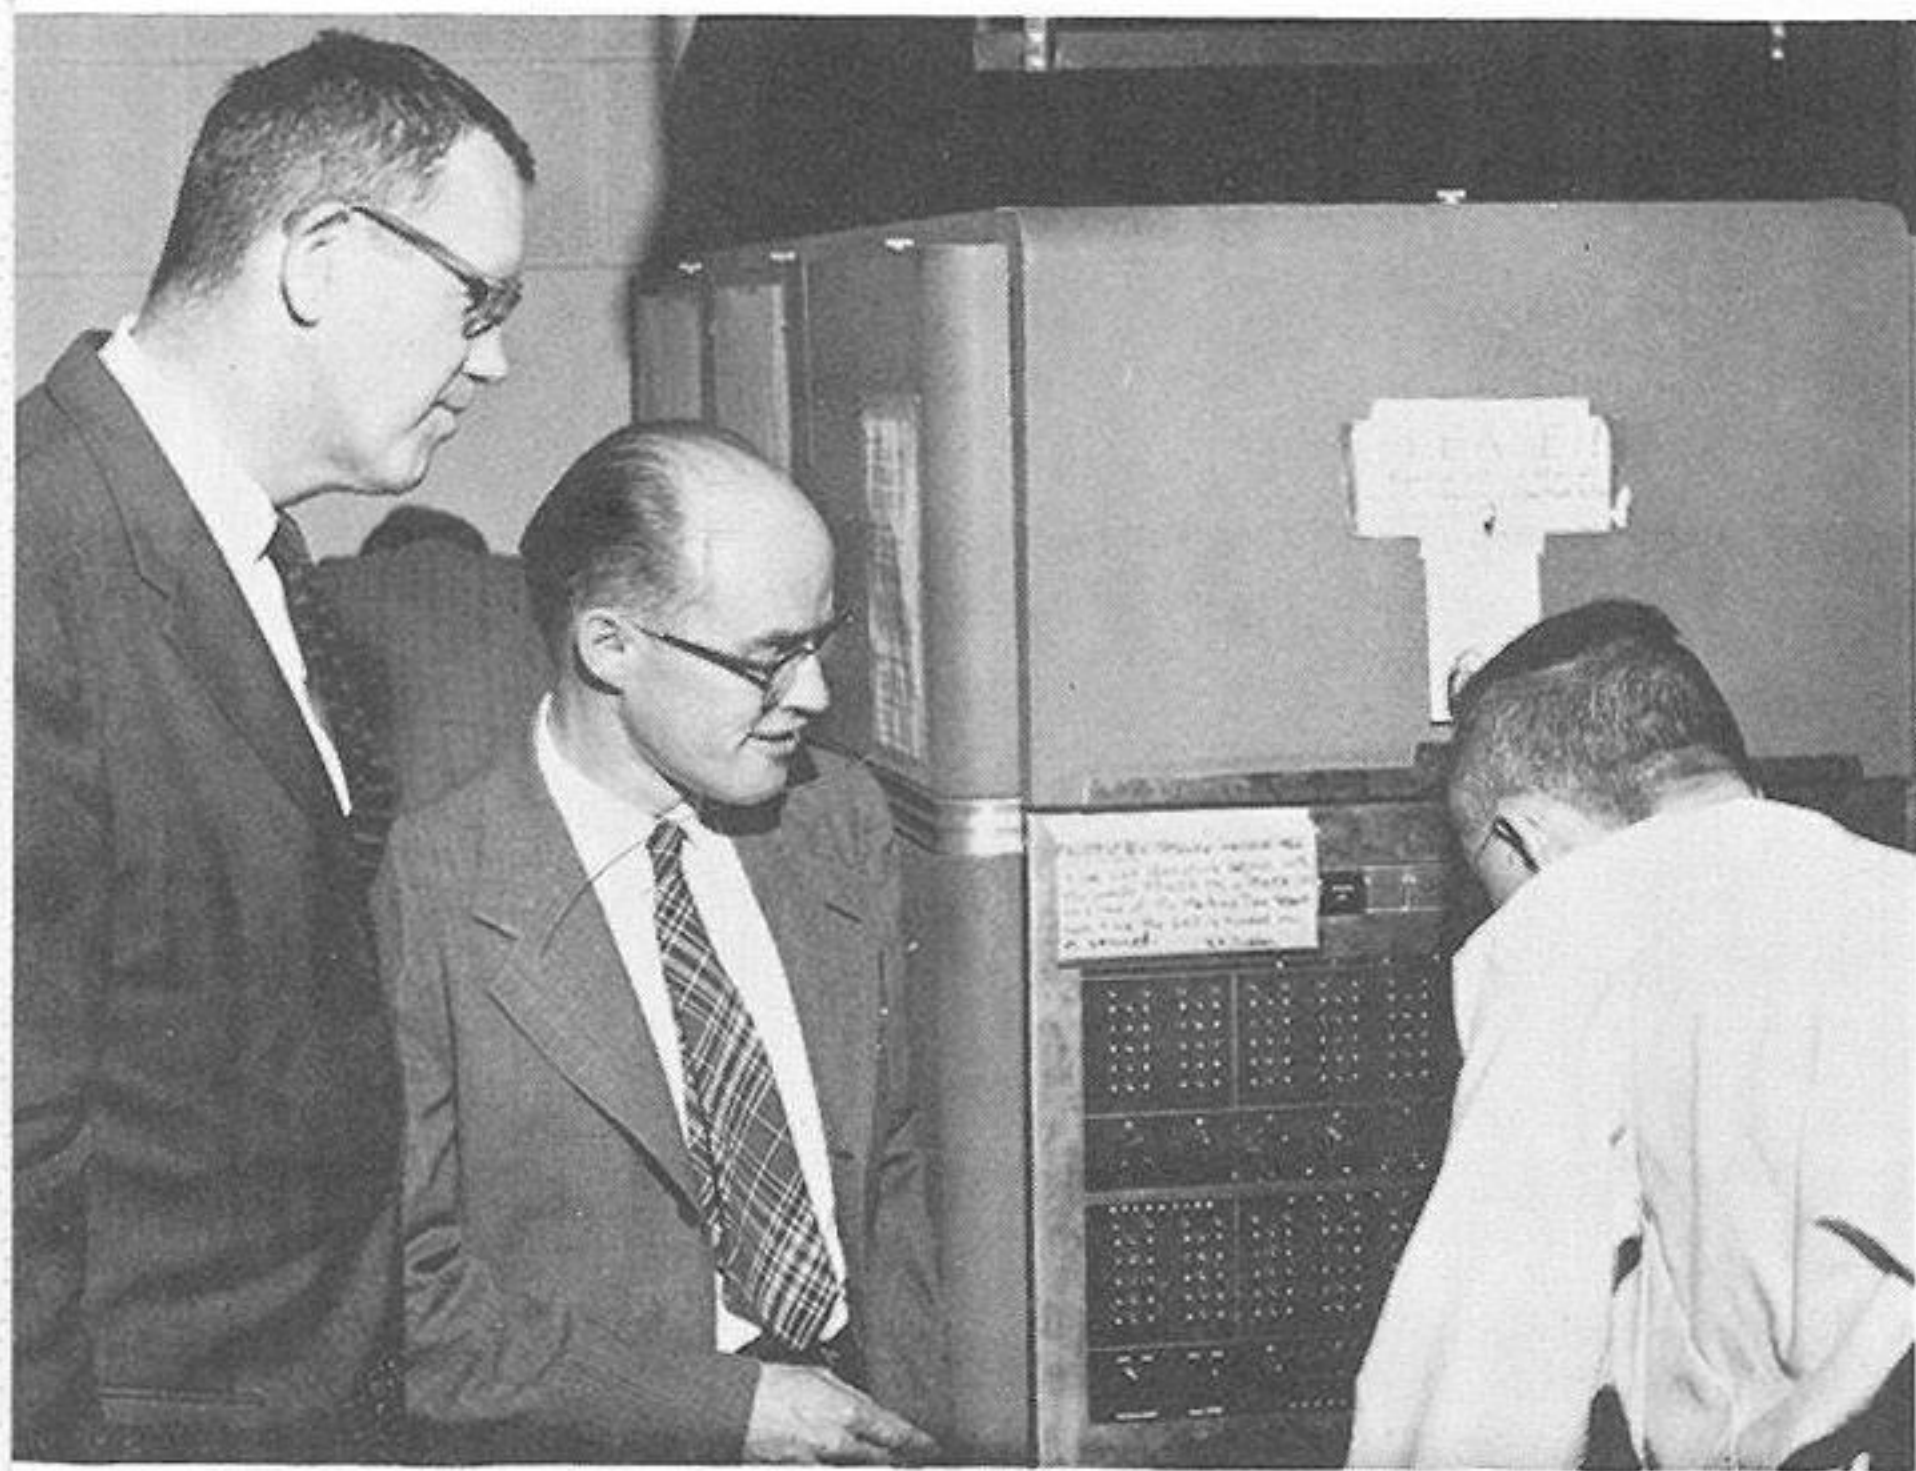

Clinical work with handicapped children and their parents is done by students at the Seattle Spastic Clinic and Pre-School Center.

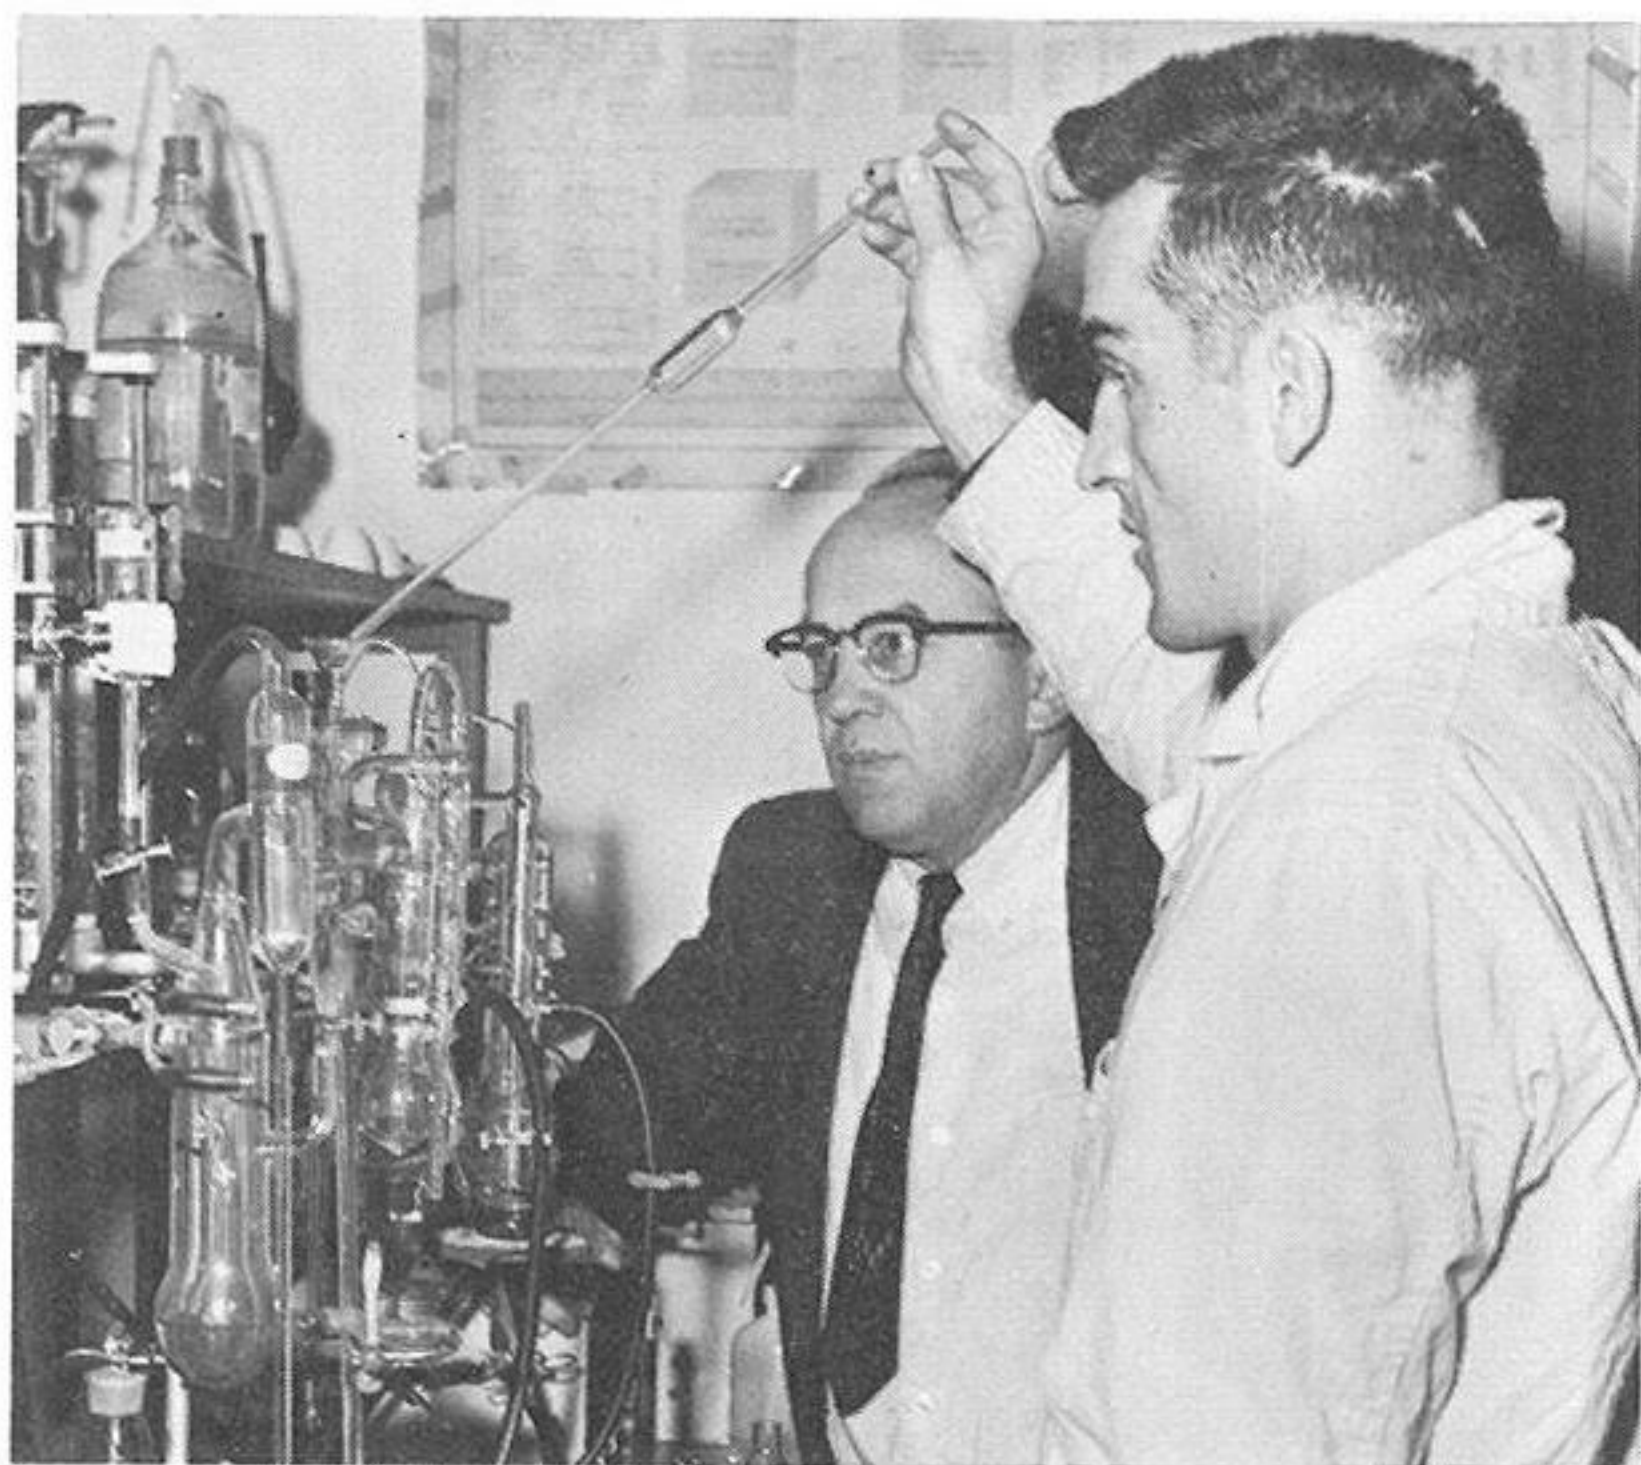

The University of Washington's Friday Harbor biological laboratory is devoted to graduate research for the departments of botany, meteorology, oceanography and zoology throughout the year. Formal classes are held during the summer.

Graduate-faculty research is being carried out by Prof. John B. McDiarmid of the Classics Department.

Research is of particular concern to the Graduate School. Almost every phase of the graduate student's career is dominated by the research idea.

Graduate School

Dr. Henry A. Burd retired as acting dean of the Graduate School, June 30, 1959. Appointed in his place was Dr. Joseph L. McCarthy, Professor of Chemical Engineering. Dr. George W. Farwell, Professor of Physics, was appointed associate dean.

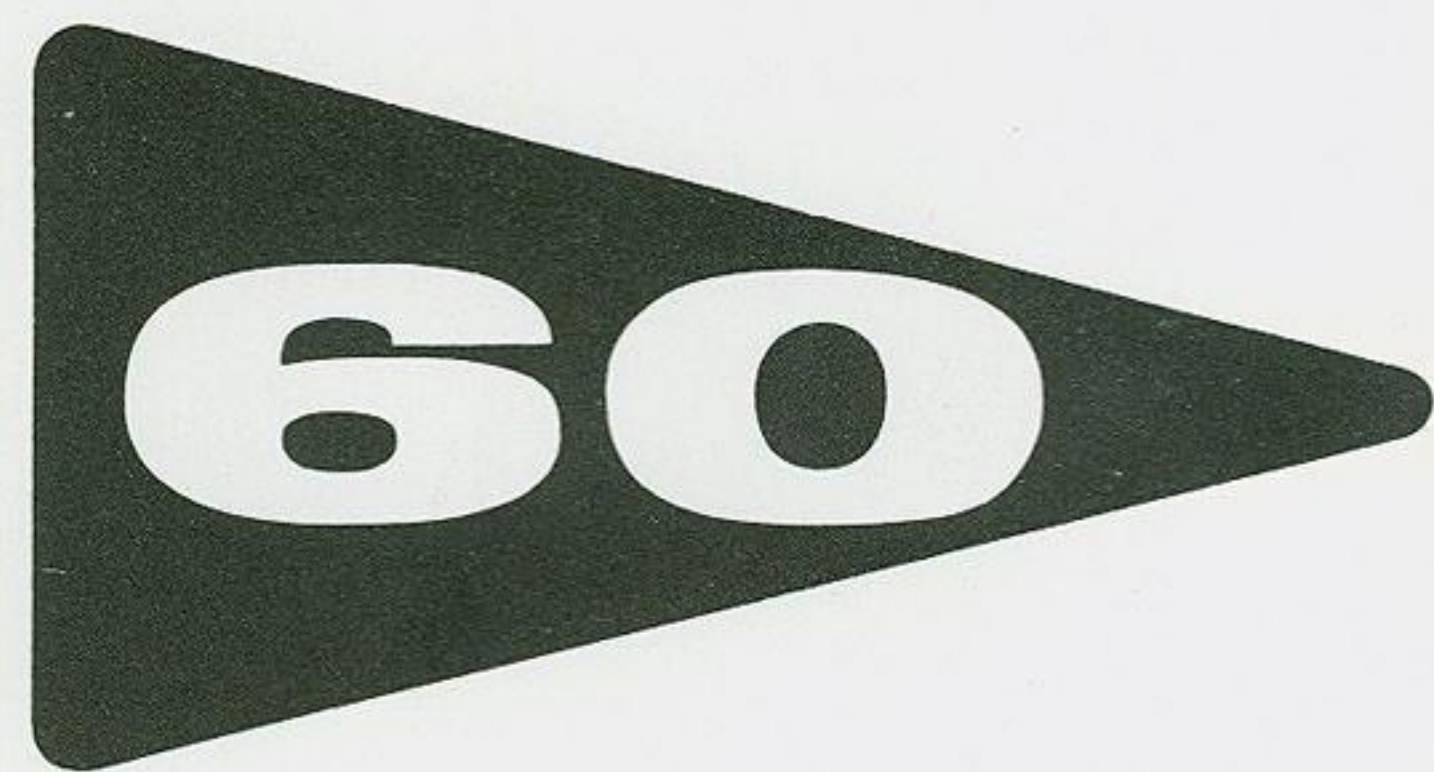

Eighty-six graduate fellowships were awarded to the University of Washington, or to students wishing to study here, this past year. They were granted by the National Defense Education Act of 1958-1959, Woodrow Wilson Fellowships and the National Science Foundation.

Joan Fagerlie, graduate student in history, was awarded the American Numismatic Society fellowship, Dr. George W. Farwell was awarded an NSF Senior Postdoctoral Fellowship and William Reid Johnson, graduate student in Far East, was awarded a U.S. Steel Fellowship. Wallace F. Caldwell, John E. Crow and John E. Miley, students in the Department of Political Science, were awarded the Maurice and Laura Falk Foundation Fellowships.

As the result of the University's participation in the Soviet Student Exchange Program, four University students are studying in Russia. They are: John B. Adams, Donald E. Bevan, Karl Kramer and Stanley K. Krebs. One Russian student is studying here. He is Oleg N. Samsonov.

The National Science Foundation grant of $500,000 to the University established the Pacific Northwest Computing Center which houses the new IBM 704. It began operation April 1, 1960.

Distinguished scholars visited the University of Washington as Walker-Ames lecturers and professors during the 1959-1960 period. They were: Professor A. Irving Hallowell, Professor Hugh Lancelot Beales, Professor Paul R. Halmos, Professor Lawrence Picken, Professor Viktor Poschl and Professor Philip Sandblom.

On the way to class, Sharon Vaughn meets another prominent senior, Ham Cravens. Sharon, a Pi Phi, was a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, Totem Club and Rally Girls. She was Scabbard and Blade Queen and as Miss Washington placed third in the 1960 Miss America Contest. Ham, an ATO, lists Purple Shield, Sundodgers, IFC, Pi Omicron Sigma and Oval Club among his many activities.

seniors

Peeking around the corner, these prominent seniors are Areta Hurley, Kay Kendall, Ginny Souder and Carol Roraback. Areta Hurley, a Gamma Phi, was ASUW second vice president and president of Sigma Epsilon Sigma. She was a member of the YWCA cabinet, Zeta Phi Eta, Phi Beta Kappa, Mortar Board and Totem Club. Kay, also a Gamma Phi, was a member of BOC, Mortar Board, W-Key and Silver Fish. She was also a MUN delegate, AWS president and corresponding secretary. Ginny Souder was AWS standards chairman and vice president, and Lambda Chi Alpha Crescent Girl. She was a member of Totem Club, Omicron Nu and Delta Gamma sorority. Carol was on Program Panel and belongs to Mortar Board, Totem Club, Theta Sigma Phi and Delta Gamma sorority. Carol was also Panhellenic scholarship chairman.

Jack Larson and Ed Barker enjoy a brief bit of sunshine. Jack, a track star, was captain of the varsity track team. He was also a member of Big "W" Club, Oval Club and Delta Upsilon fraternity. Ed, a Sigma Nu, was president of Oval Club, chairman of the Publications Committee and treasurer for Alpha Epsilon Delta. He also belonged to Sundodgers and Purple Shield.

Lucy Pullen, another outstanding senior, talks with the ASUW president, Don Nielsen. Lucy belonged to Sigma Epsilon Sigma, Totem Club, Mortar Board and Theta Sigma Phi. She was a MUN delegate, CCUN regional director, TYEE division editor, a faculty medalist, NSA Education Seminar chairman and president of her sorority, Sigma Kappa. In addition to being ASUW president, Don was junior class president, publicity chairman for Parents' Weekend and AMS Elections chairman. He was a member of Purple Shield, Oval Club, Sundodgers, BOC and Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Taking a coffee break from studies are two prominent seniors, Donna Thomas and Marcia Fortenbacher. Donna, an ADPi, was AWS recording secretary, chairman for Parents' Weekend and ASUW secretary. She was a member of W-Key, AWS Council and Activities Bureau. Marcia, another active senior, was vice president of the junior class, served on AWS Council and was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta.

Al Murphy and Bob Pennell give Connie Bauerlein a lift. Al was a member of Delta Upsilon and one of the stars on the varsity basketball team. Connie, an Alpha Phi, was historian for Totem Club, state chairman for CCUN and a MUN delegate. Bob, a Phi Delt, was AMS treasurer, AMS president, treasurer for Purple Shield and interrelations counselor for IFC. He was a member of the Frosh basketball team, BOC, Sundodgers, Oval Club, Scabbard and Blade, Semper Fidelis Society and JIFC.

Among the prominent seniors of the class of '60 are Carol Horsfall, Kay Germain and Bob Echols. Carol, a Kappa, began her active four years by being frosh vice president and president second quarter. She was chairman of High School Leadership Conference, co-ordinator of Homecoming and co-chairman of Parents' Week-End Banquet. Carol was also a member of AWS Council, BOC, W-Key, Totem Club, Mortar Board, Omicron Nu and Pi Lambda Theta. Kay belonged to Theta Sigma Phi, Totem Club, YWCA Council, AWS Council and Kappa Delta sorority. Among the chairmanships she has held are AWS Standards, AWS Community Service, Campus Chest Policy and International Banquet. Bob, a Beta, turned out for frosh football, was a three-year letterman in football and played at the Rose Bowl. He was AMS board member at large, worked on MUN and Varsity Ball and was author of UW Hall of Fame. Bob also belonged to Oval Club and Big "W" Club.

On their way out of the Communications Building are two of the prominent seniors, Sally Arthur and Bob White. Sally is a member of Mortar Board, Silver Fish, Totem Club and Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Bob, an athlete from the senior class, was on the varsity football team and a member of Big "W" Club. He is affiliated with Beta Theta Pi.

Prominents Bill King and Bill Winter take a minute between classes. Bill King has served on many committees, was chairman of University Prevue, NSA coordinator and worked on Educational Affairs. He is a member of BOC, Oval Club and Theta Delta Chi fraternity. During his freshman year Bill Winter, an Alpha Delt, was Frosh King and also named "Outstanding Freshman." Later, he was president of the sophomore class and a member of Oval Club, Purple Shield and the ASUW Constitution Committee.

Loretta Griffith and Dave Enslow get set for an unconventional car ride. Loretta was vice president of Mortar Board and chairman for the ASUW Music Area and leadership conference. She belonged to Totem Club, Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and worked on Program Panel and ACU. Dave, a Phi Delt, was on the wrestling team and the football team. He was president of Big "W" Club and a member of Purple Shield.

Carver Gayton and Joan Rottle take a minute to chat with Mike Kight. Carver began with frosh football and track, then lettered one year in track and three years in football and became a member of the Rose Bowl Team. Carver belongs to Oval Club and is secretary of Big "W" Club. Joan is a member of Program Panel, AWS Council, Mortar Board, Senior Honor Women, Totem Club, W-Key and Sigma Kappa sorority. She was chairman of Conference Housing, Pi Lambda Theta Program, U Prevue Welcome Assembly and Activities Bureau. Mike was frosh vice president, Sundodgers president, Purple Shield vice president and president of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He is in UW Glee Club, Beta Gamma Sigma and was chairman of the Publications Committee and Homecoming. Mike also received the AMS Outstanding Senior Award.

STUDENT LIFE
STUDENT FILE

▶ Student life at Washington consists of a multitude of activities, some of them so light-hearted as cheering a football team, while others are more serious in nature.

Student government had its usual light touch in 1959-1960, such as comic campaign posters and the traditionally collegiate feud with the campus newspaper. Yet, there was a newly serious side.

During the previous spring quarter, student government had subjected itself to a critical self-examination. Amendments for reform were on the spring ballot; candidates for BOC positions campaigned on issues of constitutional reform, of the value of student participation in selecting curriculum.

1960 was a year of searching for reform. The Board of Control felt a need to make student government more stimulating, more representative of student consensus on issues of broad concern.

The Board discussed plans for a lower house, a commission system, a student court. It turned its attention to broad issues: loyalty oaths, religious freedom, educational affairs, compulsory ROTC.

On the Board and on committees the emphasis was on constructive work and a broad conception of the student's role in society.

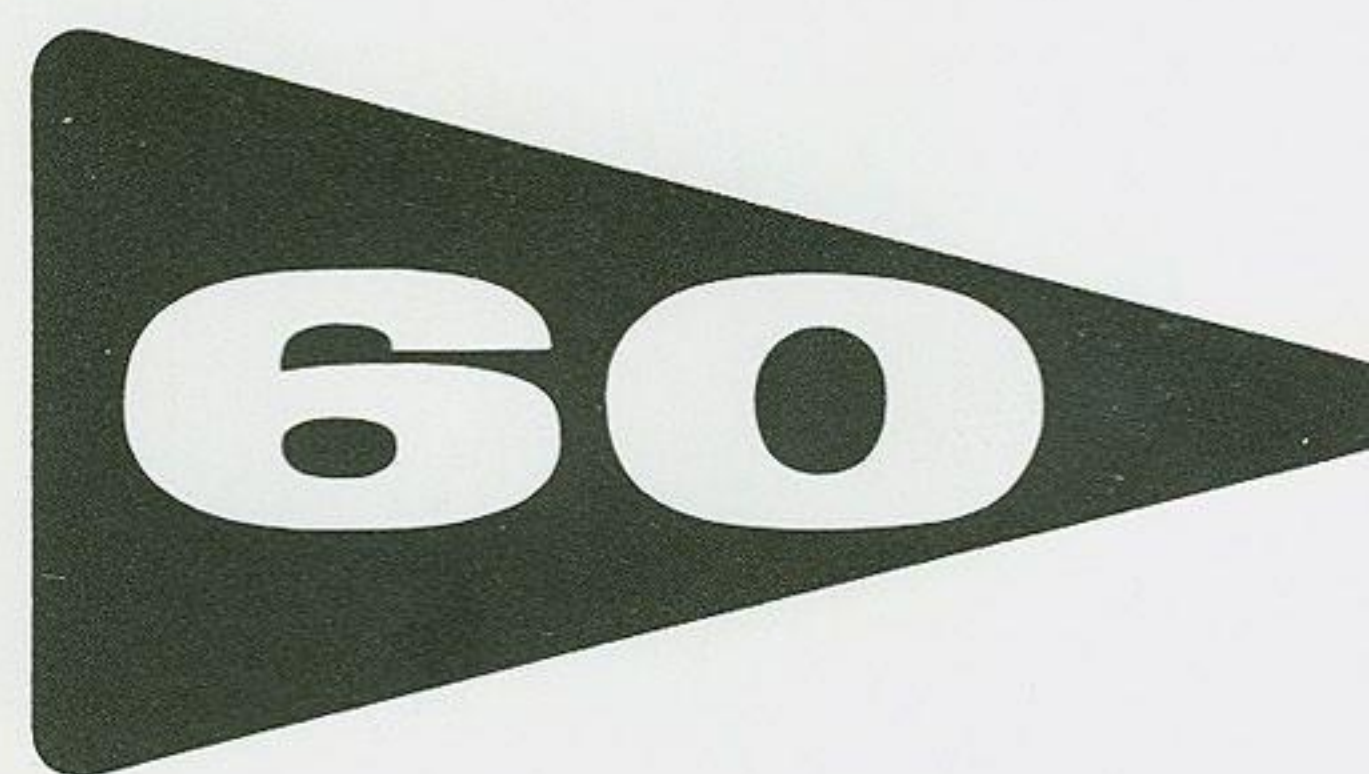

It was a tentative, questioning search for greater purposefulness.

Still smiling and busier than ever, ASUW President Don Nielsen pauses in the doorway of his office to have his picture taken. As president, two of his more time-consuming tasks were serving as chairman at Board of Control meetings and visiting many, many committees. For Don, the ASUW presidency was the climax of an active college career. In his sophomore year, he served on the AMS Advisory Board and last year, as a junior, he was president of his class. Don, a Delta Upsilon, is a member of Purple Shield, Oval Club and Sundodgers.

Don Nielsen

ASUW First Vice President John Collins found that reading and writing ASUW reports takes plenty of time. John, a Theta Delta Chi, was a member of Oval Club and Phi Sigma Alpha. In addition, John served last year as International Area chairman and worked on Program Panel and Model UN.

Headed Slate of ASUW Officers

No, Areta is not posing for a phone company ad, she's just performing one of her tasks as ASUW second vice president. Areta Hurley, a Gamma Phi Beta, is a member of Zeta Phi Eta, Mortar Board, Totem Club and Phi Beta Kappa. She has also served as president of Sigma Epsilon Sigma, and as a member of the Y Cabinet.

"Let's get organized" is the motto of Donna Thomas, ASUW secretary. Donna, a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority, needed plenty of organization to get her ASUW work done and still work on Board of Control, Program Panel and Totem Club. In addition, Donna has also served as AWS recording secretary, worked on Activities Bureau, and belonged to W-Key.

Chuck Owens, Manager of ASUW Activities, has the big task of supervising all extracurricular activities with the exception of the athletic program. Included in his responsibilities are supervision of the HUB operation and direction of activities programming.

Jim Overlock, Assistant Manager of ASUW Activities.

Regulating and coordinating the activities program of the Associated Students of the University of Washington is the task of these ASUW advisers. Their responsibilities are quite diversified. Some of them work with student committees and officers of such organizations as the ASUW itself, the Associated Women Students, the Associated Men Students and the student publications, the TYEE and DAILY.

Other advisers are concerned with the operation of the HUB. They select and supervise student personnel for the HUB, and direct the Games Area and various eating facilities.

Projects ranging in importance from replacing Denali to eliminating compulsory ROTC kept the Board of Control busy this year.

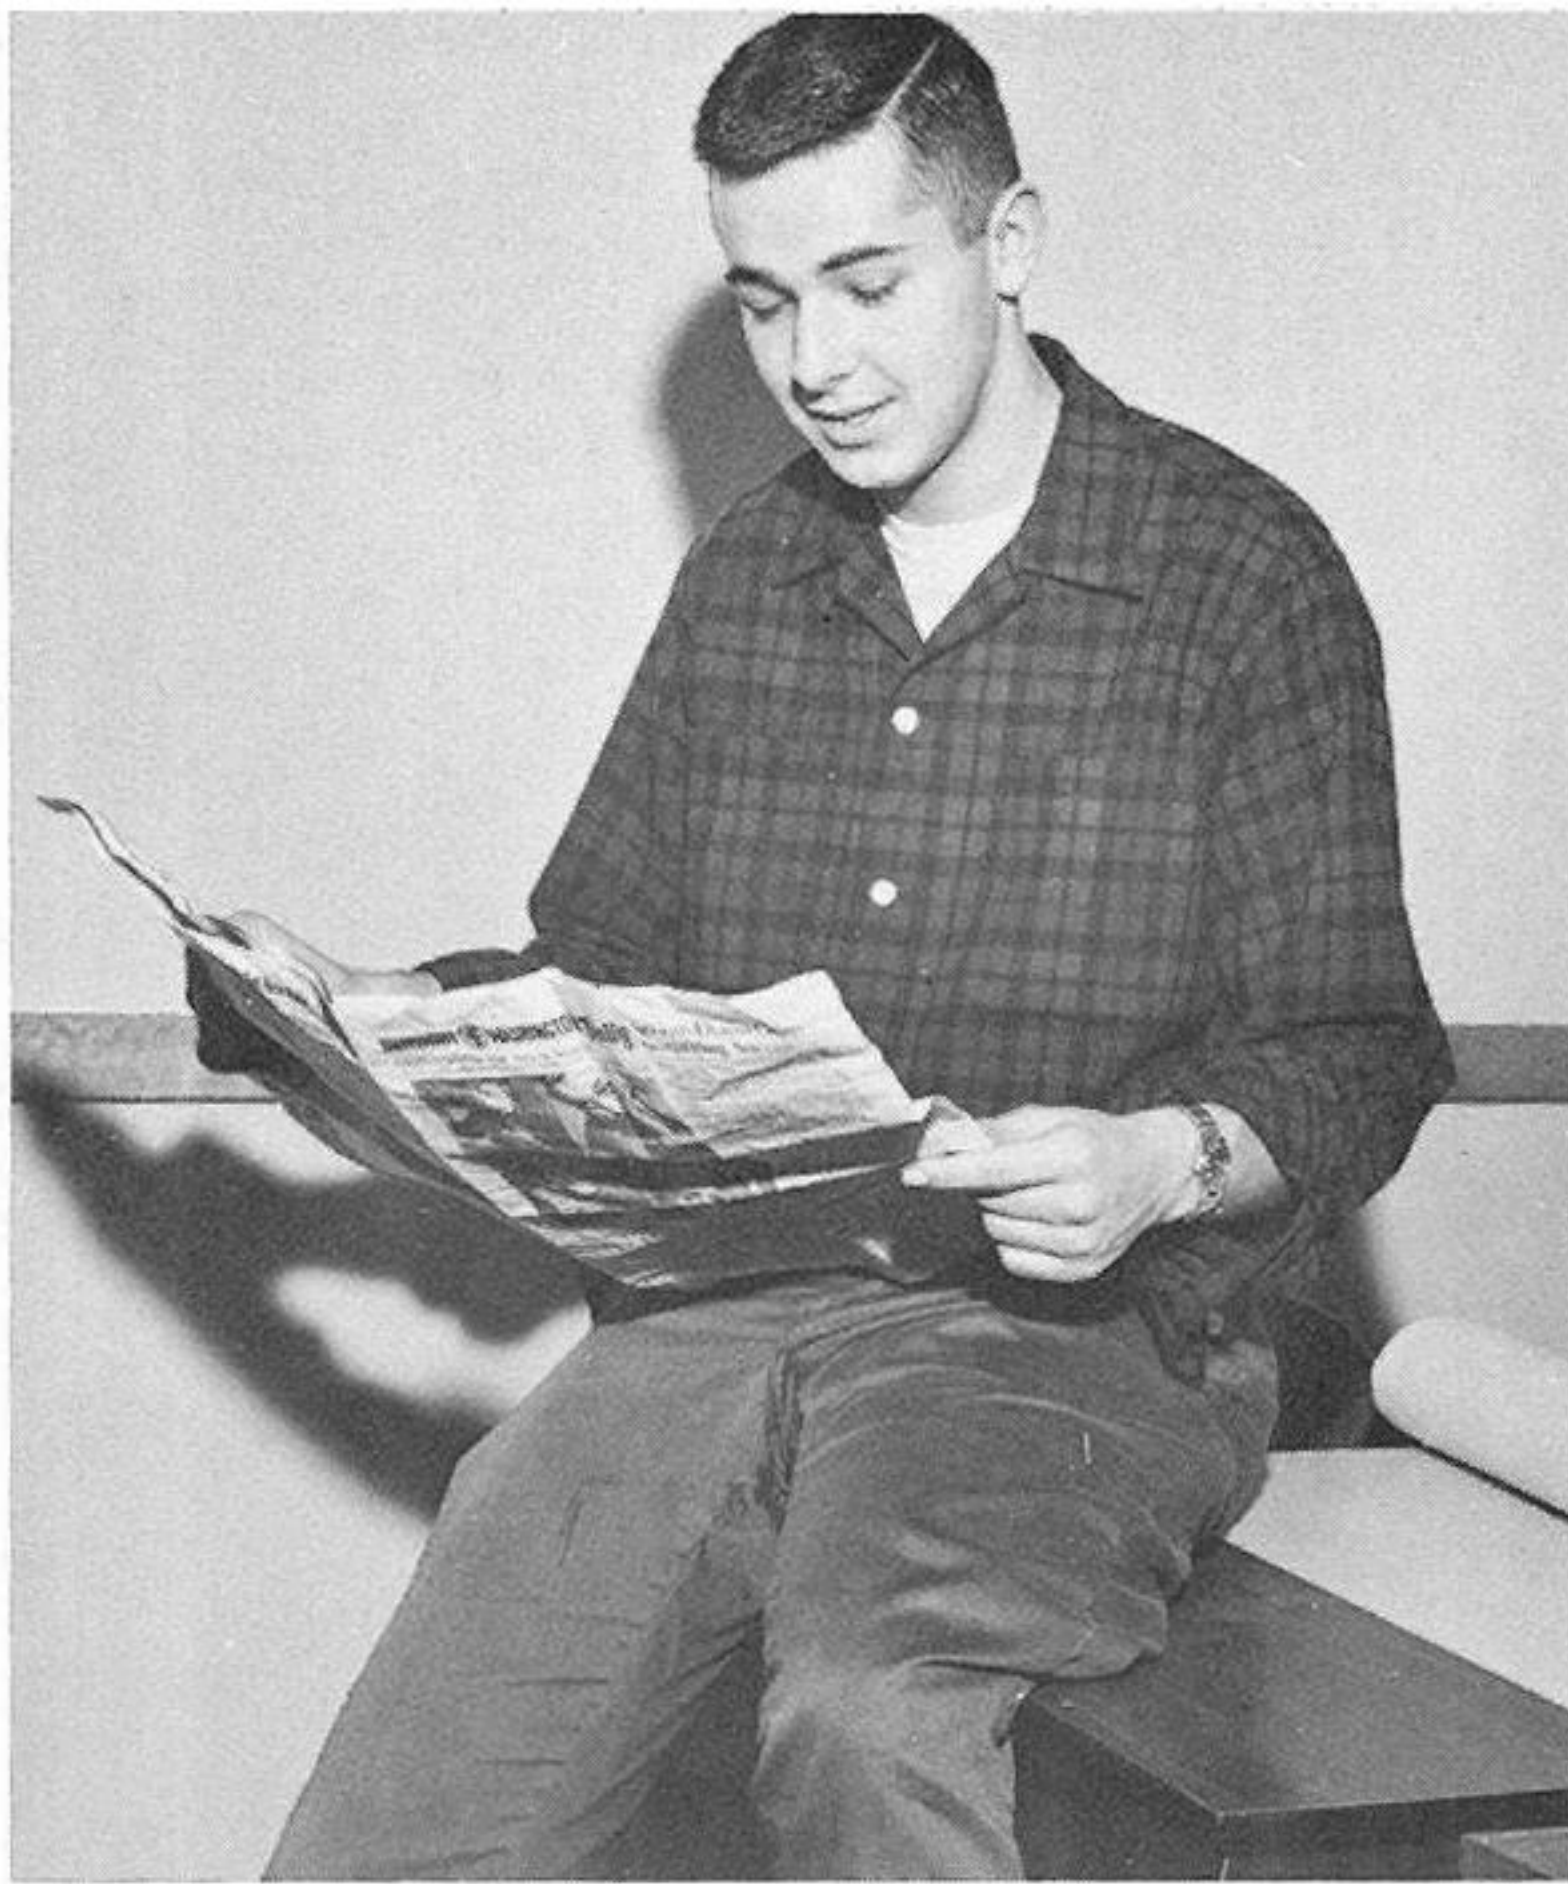

Year-long Board programs included working with city officials on Century 21, which is scheduled for 1961, studying the advisory system and curriculum of various academic departments and studying the possibilities of installing both a Lower House to increase student representation in the ASUW and a Student Court to handle all student violations of University rules.

A freshman fall lecture series was successfully carried on into winter quarter. Also in winter quarter a Campus International Student Relations Seminar was held on the University campus, and in spring quarter the special BOC project was the mock political convention, which is held every four years.

The BOC ended the year with plans for evaluating University of Washington programs and departments in its 100th anniversary next year.

Board of Control members discuss the Denali issue. At center are ASUW President Don Nielsen and ASUW Adviser Diane Cummins.

Jack Briggs, Program Panel chairman, takes a moment off to read the DAILY. Jack, a Theta Chi, was sophomore class president and a member of the Board of Control. He spent his spare time working on Purple Shield, the HUB Operating Committee, and the Constitution and By-Laws Committee.

Coordination between student organizations was stressed this year by Program Panel. One of the Panel's most important projects of the year was the securing of a master calendar for the HUB, which coordinated meetings and activities by listing quarterly all ASUW-sponsored events.

Coordination between the faculty and student budgets was improved through the use of a new finance approval system.

The Panel prepared a student evaluation sheet to aid student chairmen in reporting and evaluating their projects.

The Panel also passed resolutions which restricted the use of the activity files in the HUB and assured the presence of the files in complete form for future use.

Projects varying from conferences to fund-raising drives to dances were carried on by campus groups throughout the year. The ASUW planned the majority of these, including such annual campus events as Homecoming, University Prevue, Campus Chest, High School Leadership Conference and, of course, elections. In addition, the ASUW sponsored the major spring event, Mock Political Convention, which is held every four years. Other work sponsored by the ASUW included national projects such as Model UN and NSA.

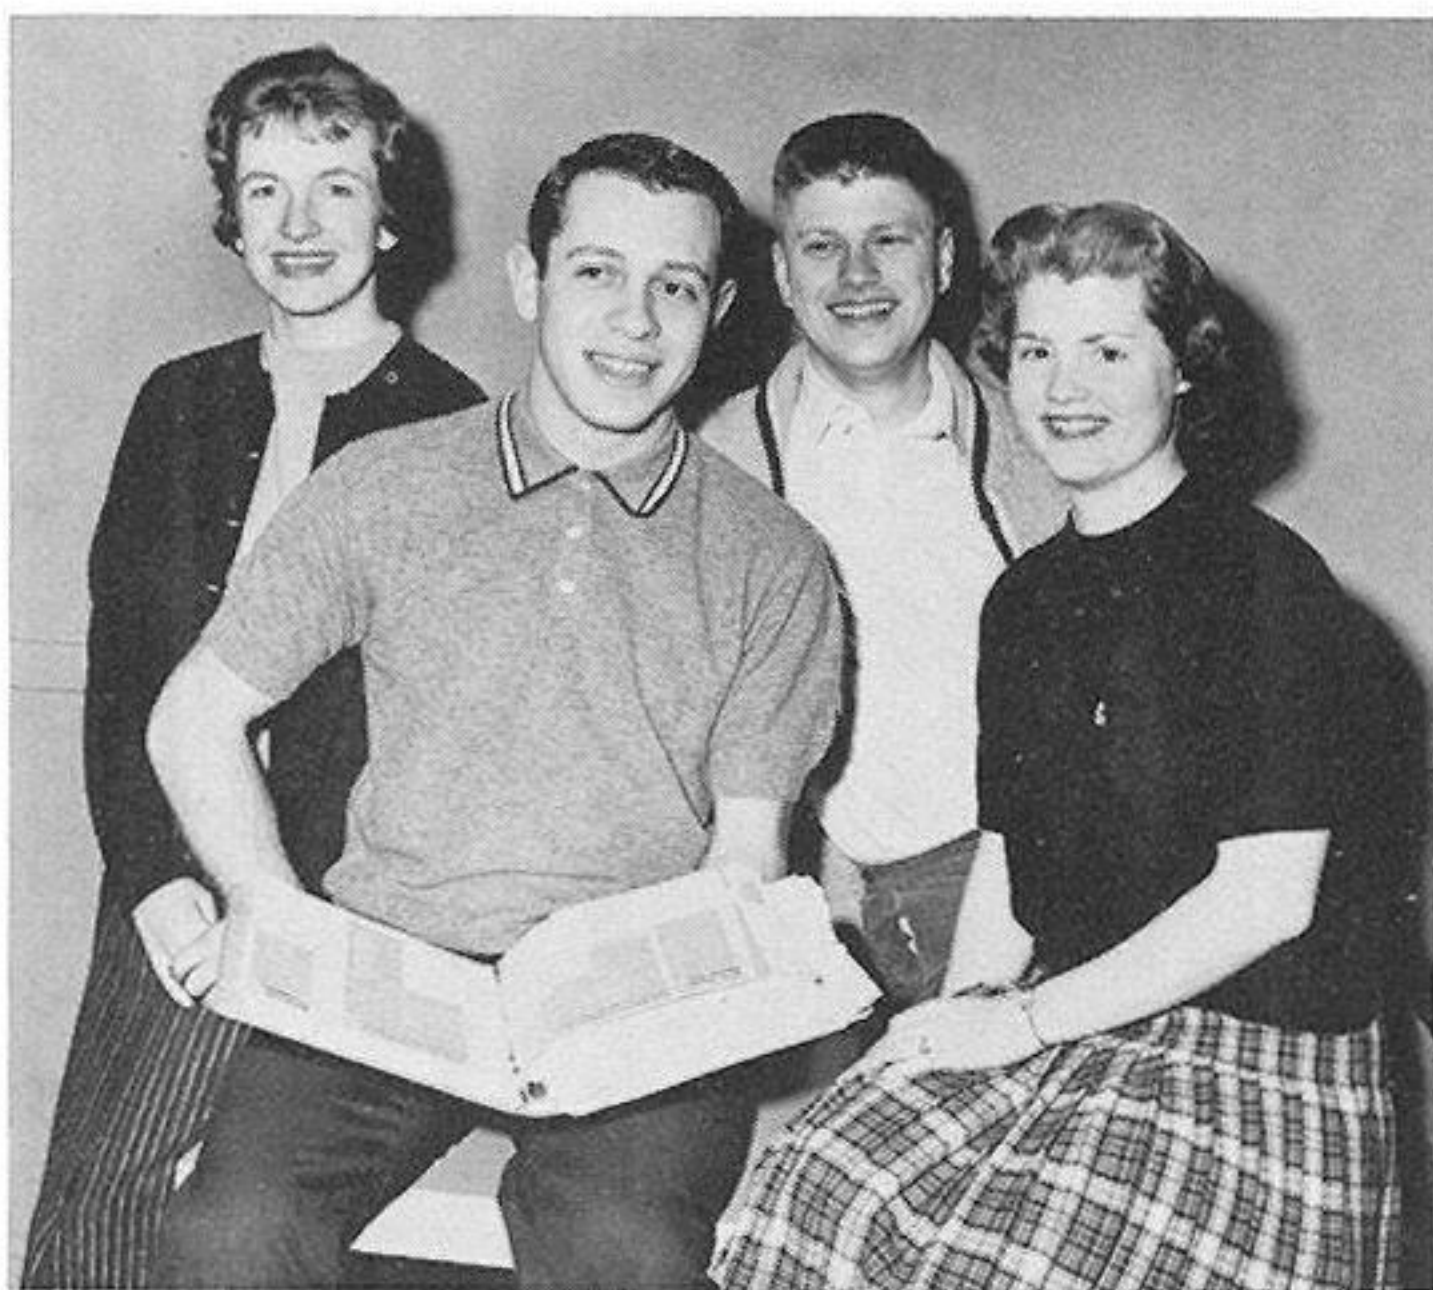

Class projects provided the other main category. In October, on the usual cold day, the sophomores held their annual Bermuda Day, while winter quarter featured the Junior Class Variety Show and the annual Frosh Day.

Campus Chest—Chevy Dodd, Pat Kelly, Alita Wilcox, Chairman Judy Hoetmer, Kathy Genner, Brenda Caples and Sandy Callahan.

Three ASUW Areas Had Active Year

Services Area sponsored two successful blood drives, one in the fall and the other during spring quarter. Other big jobs they tackled were conference housing and the selection of ASUW-sponsored scholarship winners. This area fulfilled service obligations not only to the University, but also off campus.

Dance Area planned the HUB dances, which featured "live" music. Their new project for the year was the "Get Out the Vote Dance" for ASUW winter elections.

The third area, Arts and Crafts, was combined with Music-Library Area. The HUB gallery displays functioned as a separate unit and added an extra "bit of color" to the HUB.

Cabaret Dance Committee—Verdun Place, Chairman Kenlyn Williams, Stu Kale, Judy McDowell and Tom Jewell.

HUB Dance Committee—Mary Horthor, Peggy Valela, Chairman Bob Clampett, Margaret Randall and Linda Perry.

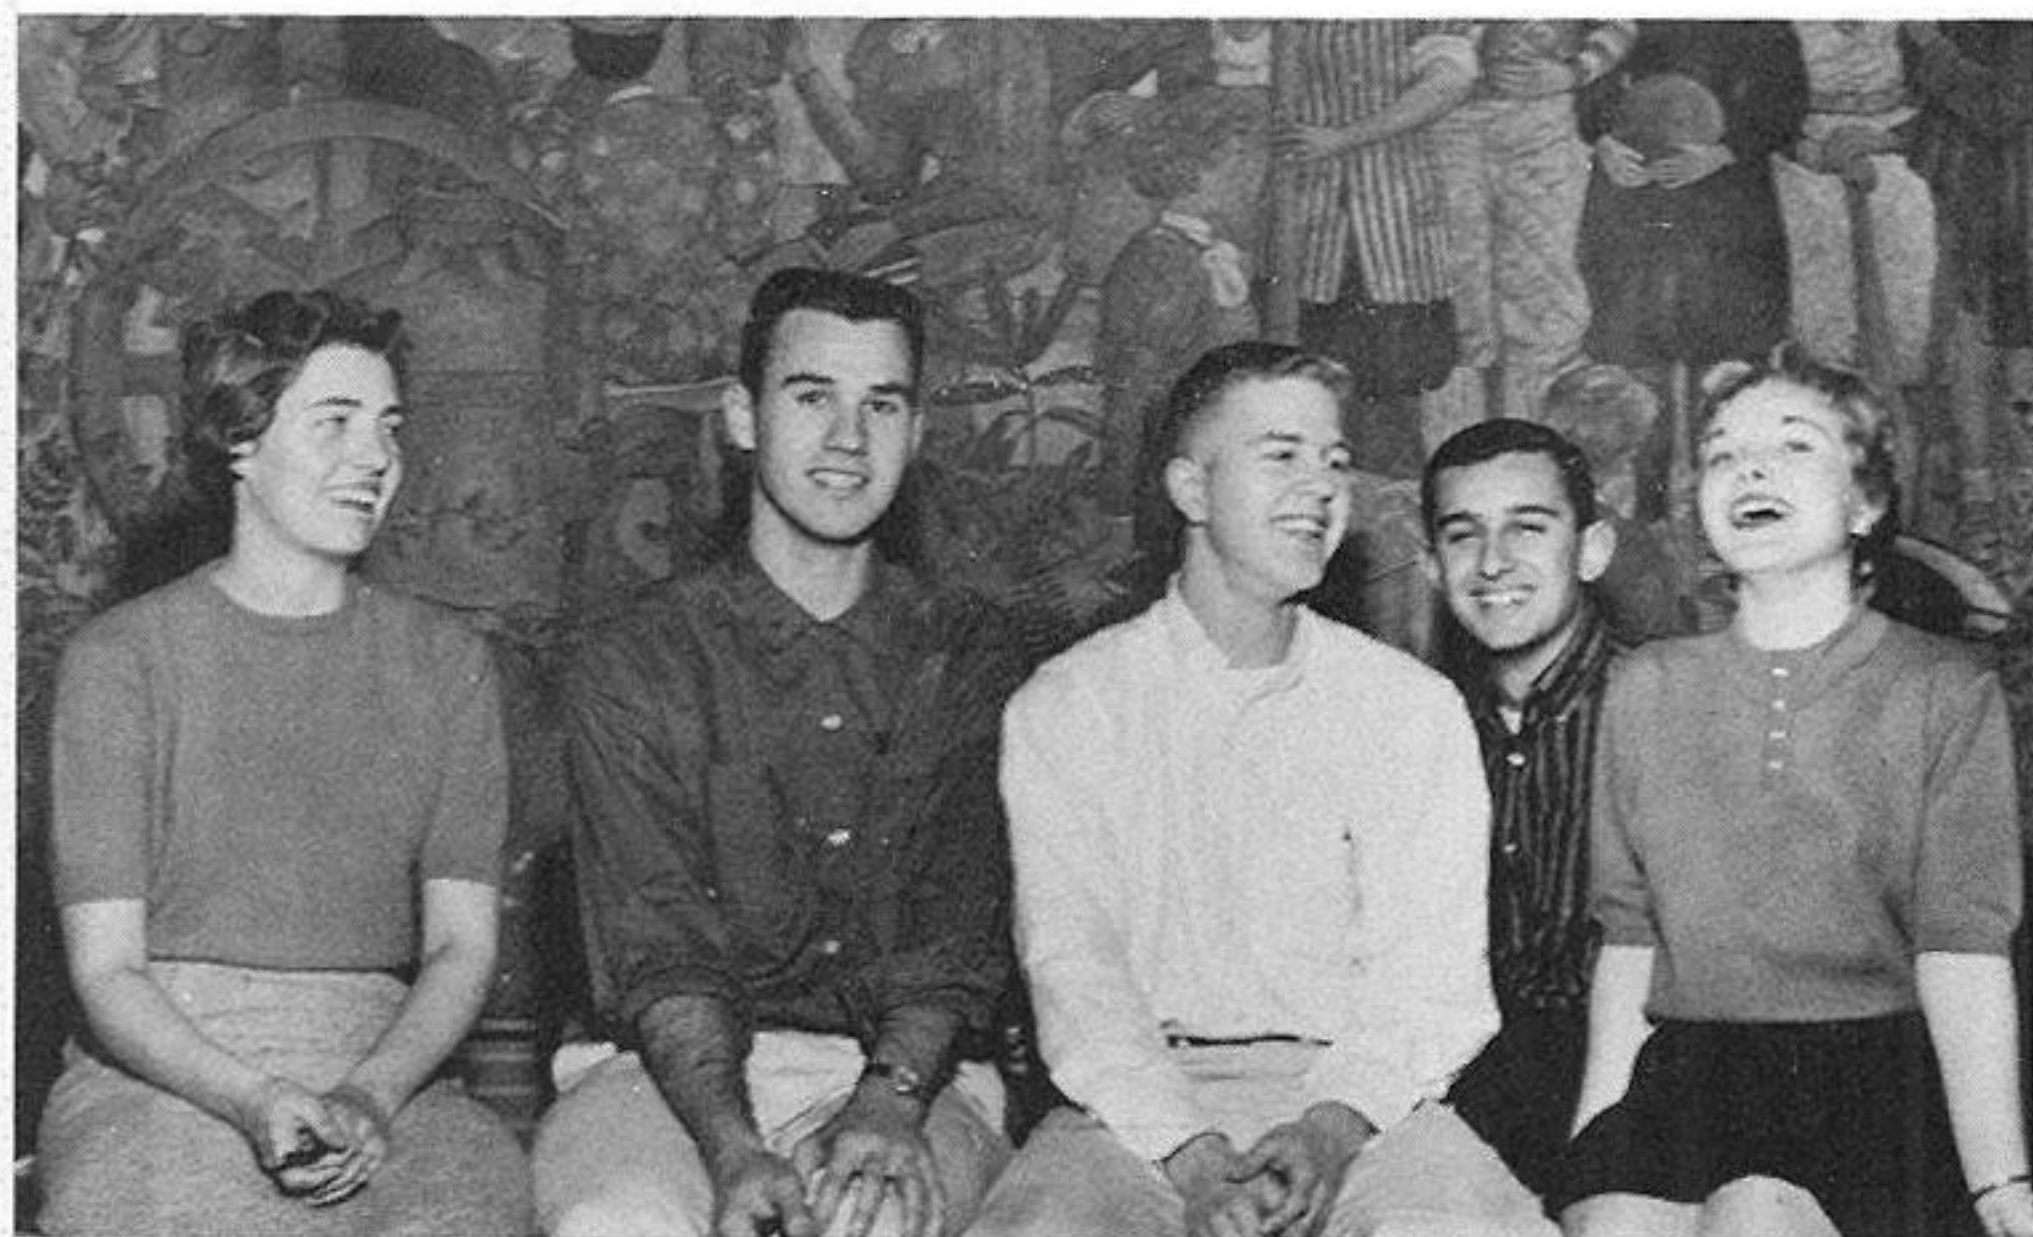

Blood Bank Drive committee members Chet Dow, Jerry Thomas and Jim Sandvig watch the committee chairman, Linda Mansfield, make the first donation.

Arts and Crafts—Mike Drew, Chairman Marylee Meyers, Betty Martin, Andy Deines, Gayle Hendrick and Bill Isley.

Discussions Area—Storm Culbertson, Fred Frederickson, Chuck Larson, Chairman Gus Kitsos and Margaret Edin.

Newscope—Sharon Stocker, Neil Mill, Bonnie Borgersen, George Sparks and Mickey Gibbons.

Special Speakers—Chairman George Rowley, Ann Clark, Tom Stotler and Judy Ange.

Thursday Noon Special—Back Row: Clark Gaulding, Co-chairman Chuck Larson, Storm Culbertson, Karen Koon, Co-chairman Gus Kitsos.

Discussions Area Sponsored Series of Special Lectures

The committees involved in Discussions Area brought many speakers of interest before the students. Newscope brought speakers on current news topics, Thursday Noon Special brought speakers on various topics of interest, while Special Speakers sponsored the Spectrum Series. Under this latter program, Edward Weeks, editor of the Atlantic Monthly; Henry Kissenger, associate director of the Harvard University Center for International Affairs; Alec Waugh, British novelist; and Alistar Cooke, coordinator of Omnibus, all spoke to the students. Discussion Area's new project was laying the groundwork for the "Last Lecture" series. This series will present University professors speaking as they would if it were their last lecture.

International Area Chairman Sonny Davidson chats with Storm Culbertson, adviser.

Foreign Student Orientation Chairman Connie Cadranel compliments Margaret Tong, foreign student adviser, on her silk dress.

Activities Bureau has finished one of its best years while serving as the organizer's organizer, centered in HUB 208. Their duties included publishing a weekly bulletin of committee openings, keeping a file of individual activity participation and posting sign-up sheets on the activity bulletin board. They also co-sponsored the activities leadership training program and laid the groundwork for a more representative activities recognition program.

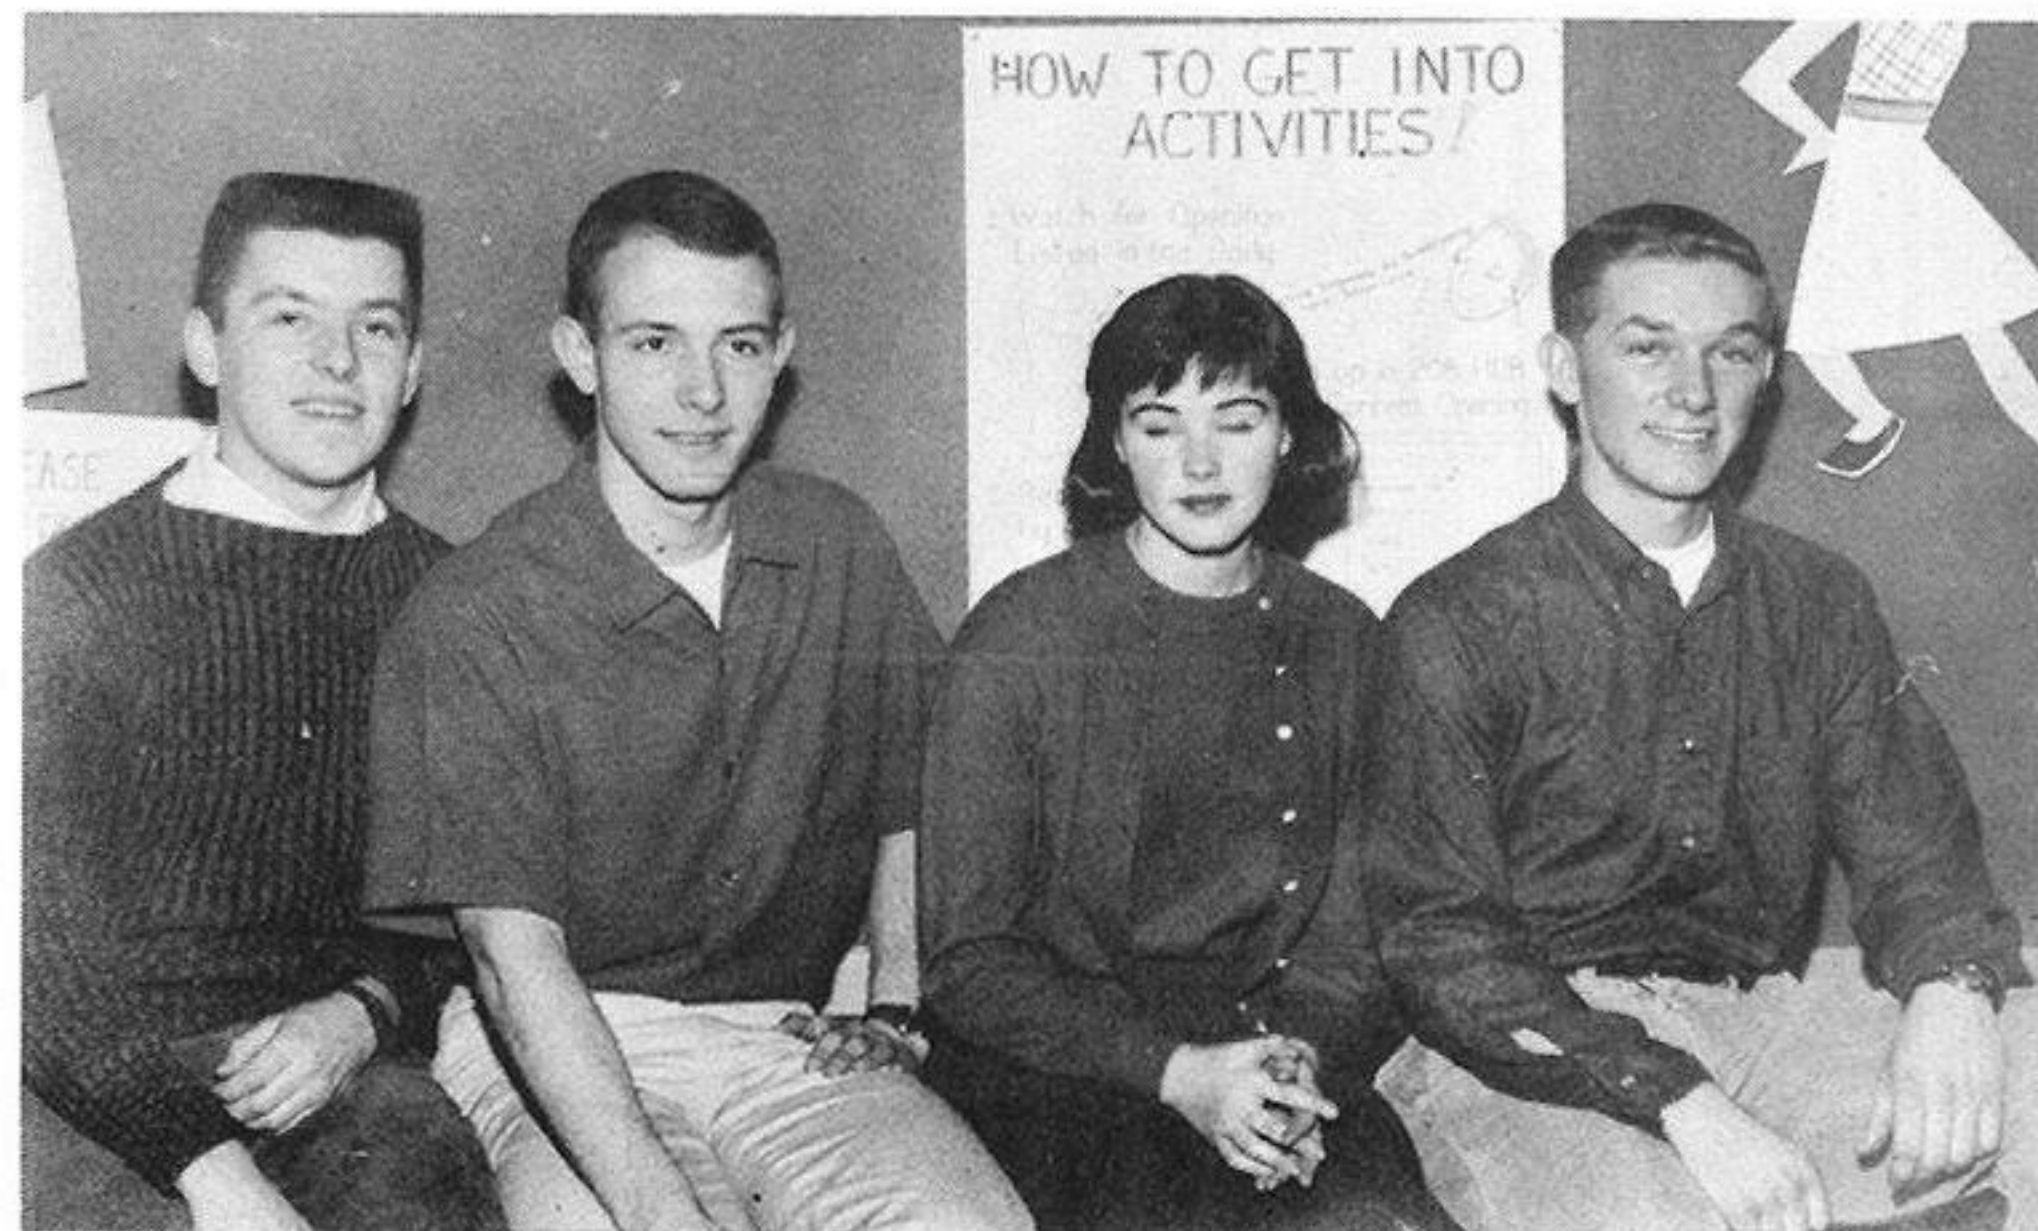

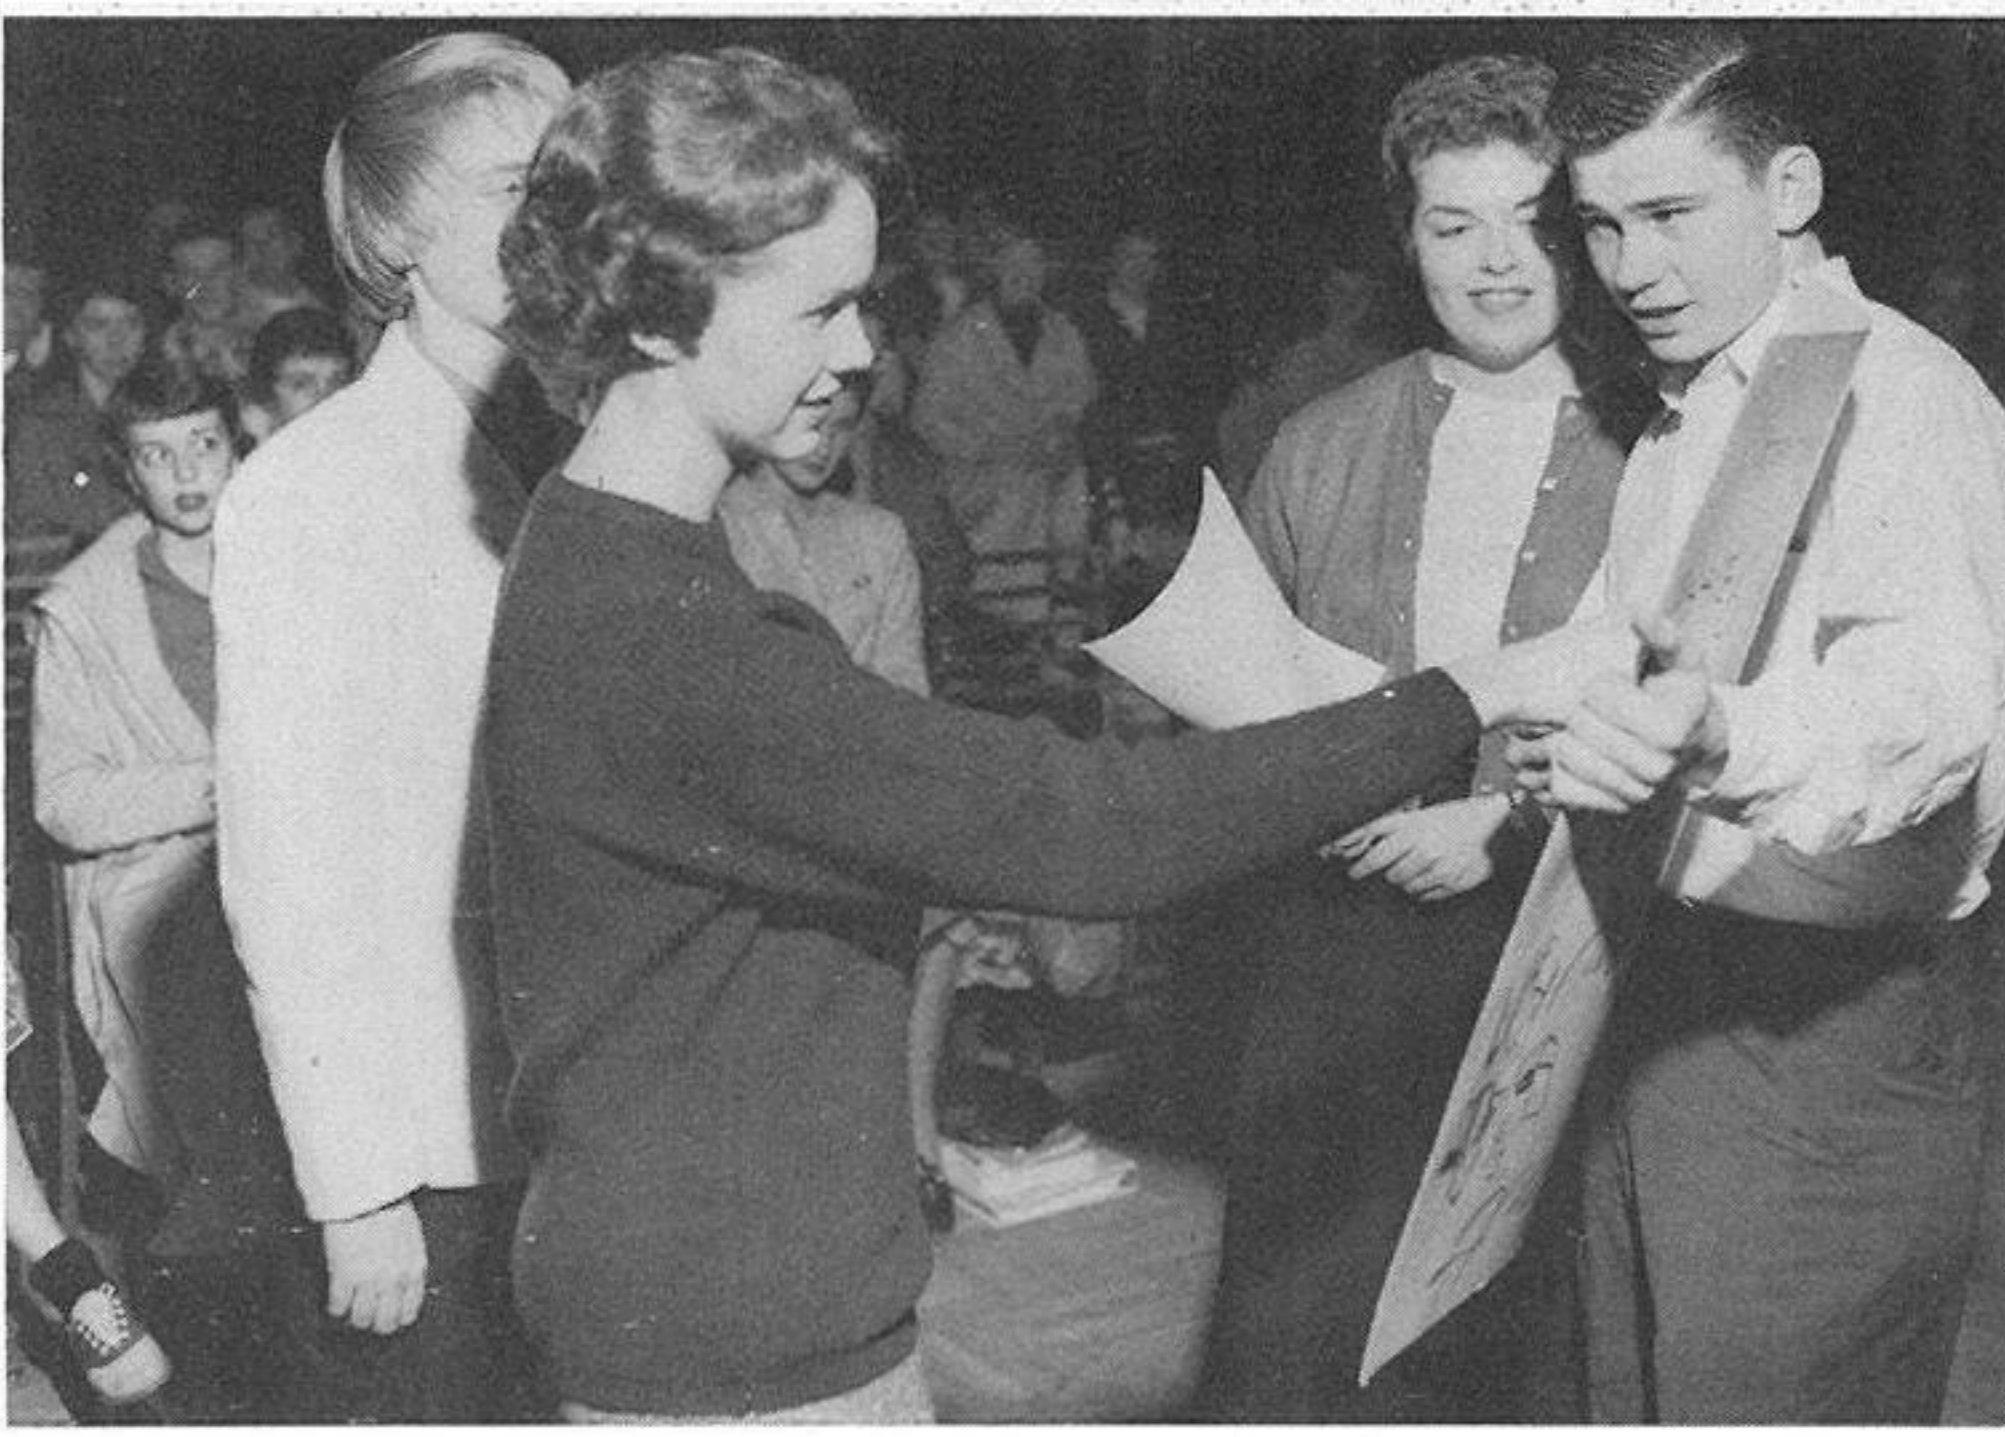

Marlin Mattson, MUN delegation chairman, and Anita Roy, Travel Committee chairman, discuss a map in the MUN office.

International Area started this year with ten days of foreign student orientation. Work on this project started last summer when each foreign student planning to attend the University received a letter introducing a personal sponsor. When the students reached the campus, tours, discussion groups and even attending a football game helped their orientation program. This area also worked on two CCUN conferences and planned the February 10th Travel Fair.

ASUW Sponsored International Area, Activities Bureau

Activities Bureau—Denny Robbins, Chairman Larry Chriswell, Judy Pence, Barry Stewart and Larry Christianson.

Nancy Nystrom, Jan Gallaher, Connie West and Larry Christenson, chairman, explain a diagram at the Publicity Training and Activities Leadership Conference held in the fall.

Publicity Area Chairman Patti Brown checks through her notebook.

Publicity Area Initiates New Training Program

Publicity Area, whose main job is the coordination of all publicity services, started a new program this year. This program consisted of four meetings to orientate interested persons with handling of publicity for ASUW-sponsored projects. From this publicity training and activity leadership group, publicity chairmen were chosen for projects. The other committees composing this area—display cases, summer tour promotion and W-Book—also reported a highly successful and very “organized” year.

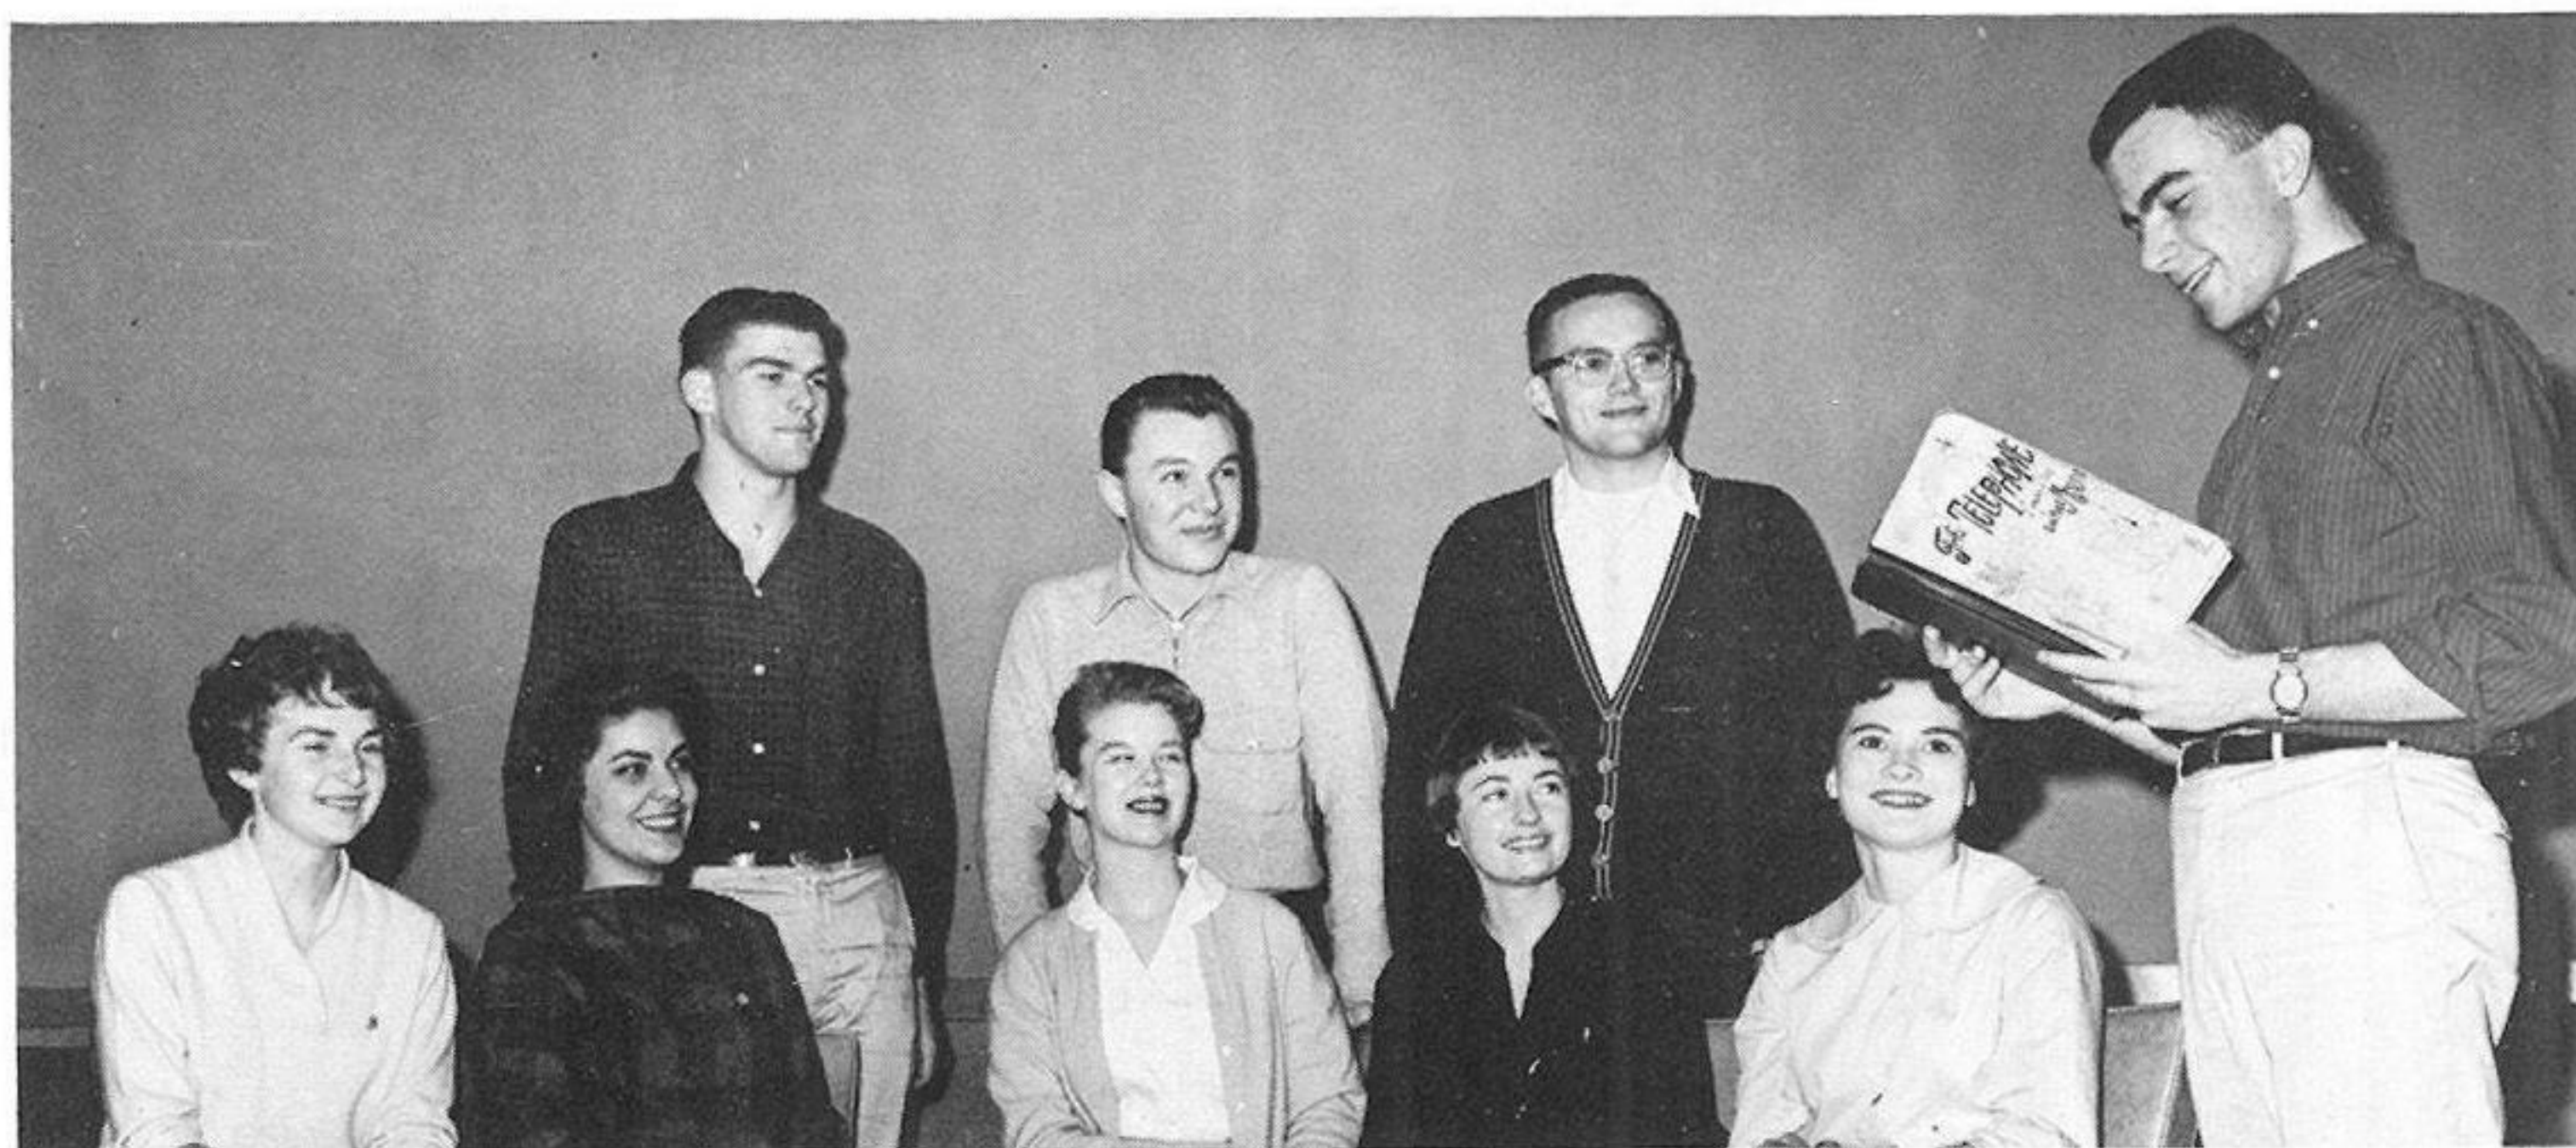

Heading two of the Publicity Area committees were Cheryl Delaitre, receptionist committee chairman, and Harvey Poll, W-Book editor.

Bob Ebert, summer tours promotion chairman, and Carolyn Smith, house announcements chairman, admire some travel posters.

Nancy Nystrom, publicity training chairman, Deanna Yale, secretary, and Marcia Stephenson, HUB display cases committee chairman, stop to talk in front of a HUB display.

Variety Show Committee—Front Row: Fred Goldberg and Lee Carozza. Back Row: Vicky Sutcliffe, Paul Neiman, Nancy Bunker, Suzi Williamson and Sharon Lund, co-chairmen, and E. Allen Kent, set designer.

Rehearsing their beatnik act for the Variety Show are Les Tavenner, Jim Flint, Carl Olson, Jack Bontemps, Jerry Lee and Tim Caldwell.

Music-Library Area Was Active

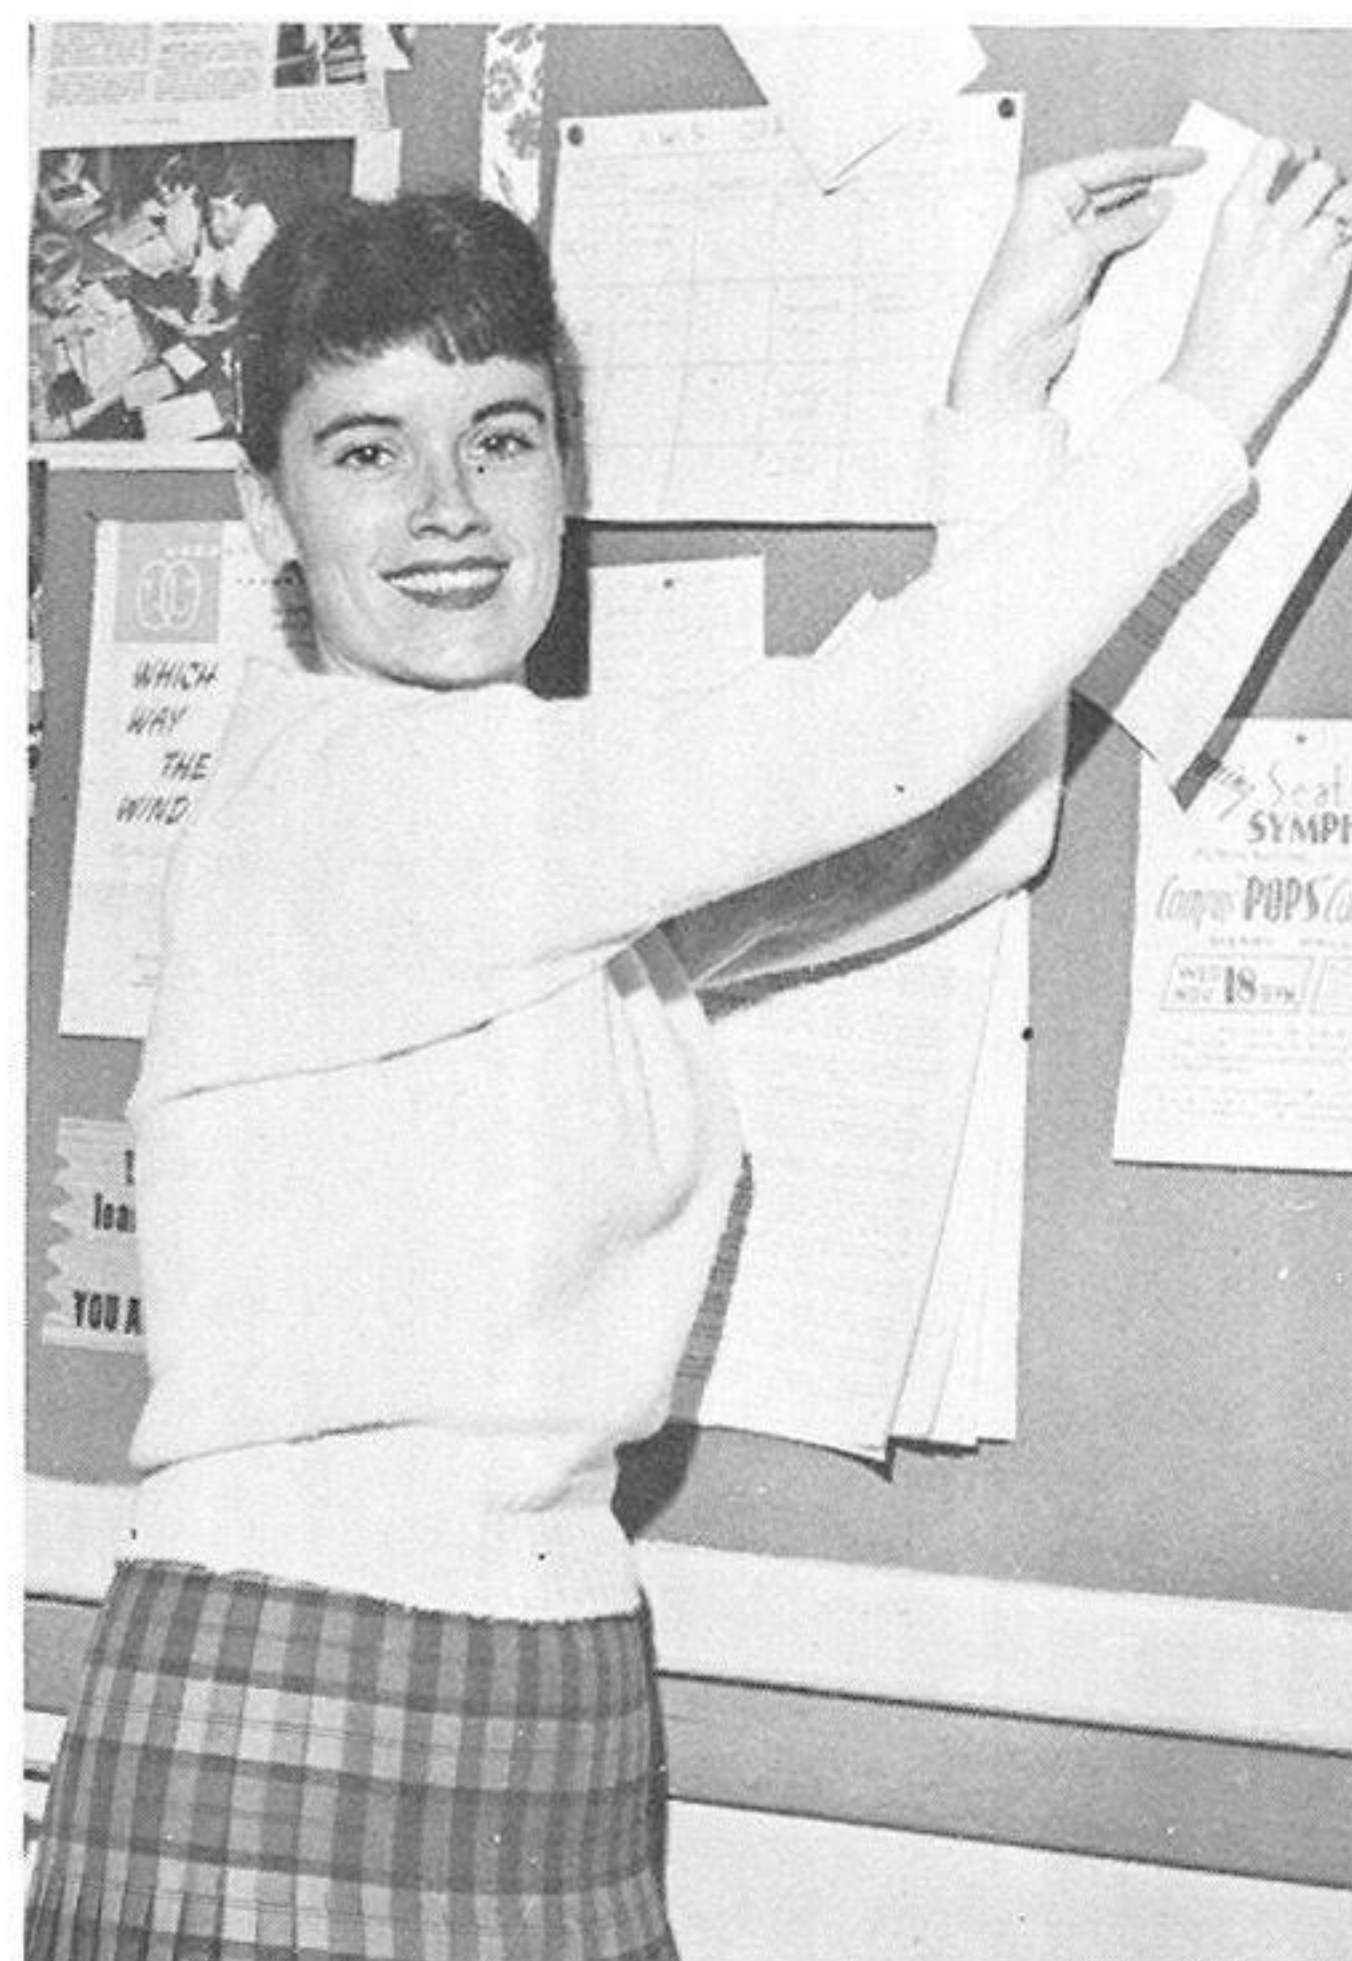

The Music-Library Area worked on a variety of things during the past year. The Talent Pool was organized and worked in with Music-Library's co-sponsorship of the Junior Class Variety Show. Spring quarter brought the Grand Opening of the HUB Coffee shop and the return of TGIF jam sessions.

Kenlyn William's baton and flag twirling act was a highlight of the Variety Show.

Officers and Putting up new bulletin boards was just one of the many jobs that occupied Ginny Souder as AWS vice president. During her junior year Ginny, a Delta Gamma, served as AWS standards chairman. She was a member of Totem Club, Omicron Nu and Program Panel.

AWS President Kay Kendall paused for a moment outside her office and prepared for another busy day. In addition to her presidency, Kay was a Model United Nations delegate, Mortar Board member, Senior Honor Woman and active in Silver Fish, Calvin Club and W-Key. A Gamma Phi Beta, she was also speaker at "I Am an American Day."

Changes and improvements came about during the past year in the Associated Women Students program. The members of the executive board and various other committees spent many hours revising.

Interview Board was created to relieve the officers of some of their duties, to make new policies, coordinate activities and generally improve the quality of interviews.

For the first year a study course was offered to upperclassmen, with more than satisfactory results. A current affairs program was launched during winter quarter and some of the inactive committees were eliminated in order to streamline the AWS.

As AWS treasurer, Blythe Hecht found she had a lot of desk work. Besides keeping track of the finances for AWS, Blythe worked in Totem Club and W-Key. She is an Alpha Delta Pi.

Beth Harrell, AWS recording secretary, explained a new chart to Ann Dodd, corresponding secretary. Beth was a member of Silver Fish, Totem Club and Education Club. Her sorority is Delta Gamma. Ann was active in W-Key and Totem Club, and belongs to Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Gracias Party Committee discusses the theme for this year's party, "Orchids to You." Members were Carol Proctor, Judy Enge, Judy Condit, Chairman Joanne Springston, Cheryl Potter, Luana Josbold, Joanne Bolma and Diane Rothwell.

Standards Council—Seated: Betty Gillespie, Chairman Kay Germain, Brenda Schwartz and Cecile Fitchard. Standing: Kay Kendall, Linda Griep, Jeanette Privat, Rochelle Blumenthal, Donna Douglass, Babette Richards, Suzanne Hall, Karen Cook and Virginia Howe.

AWS Publicity Assistants included Chairman Jackie Neese, Carolyn Roberts, Rosemary Peterman, Kathy Jenner, Pam Johnson, Margaret Randall and Marilyn Newburn.

HUB Decorations Committee displays some of the decorations they have made. Members were Danni Pierce, Rosemary Ovedia, Sharon Cashow, Kristy Leivestad, Jeannie Reynolds, Carol Procter and Chairman Edieann Freeman.

Symphony Series — Standing: Susan Hoffman; Alita Wilcox, co-chairman; Ed Heacox and Lani Torre. At piano is Wally Tweden, co-chairman. Not pictured: Elinor Dunsmoor, Harriet Buckman, Susan Vickery and Bill Morse.

Seattle Symphony director Milton Katims chats with AMS President Bob Pennell and AWS President Kay Kendall. The symphony appeared on campus through efforts of AMS-AWS.

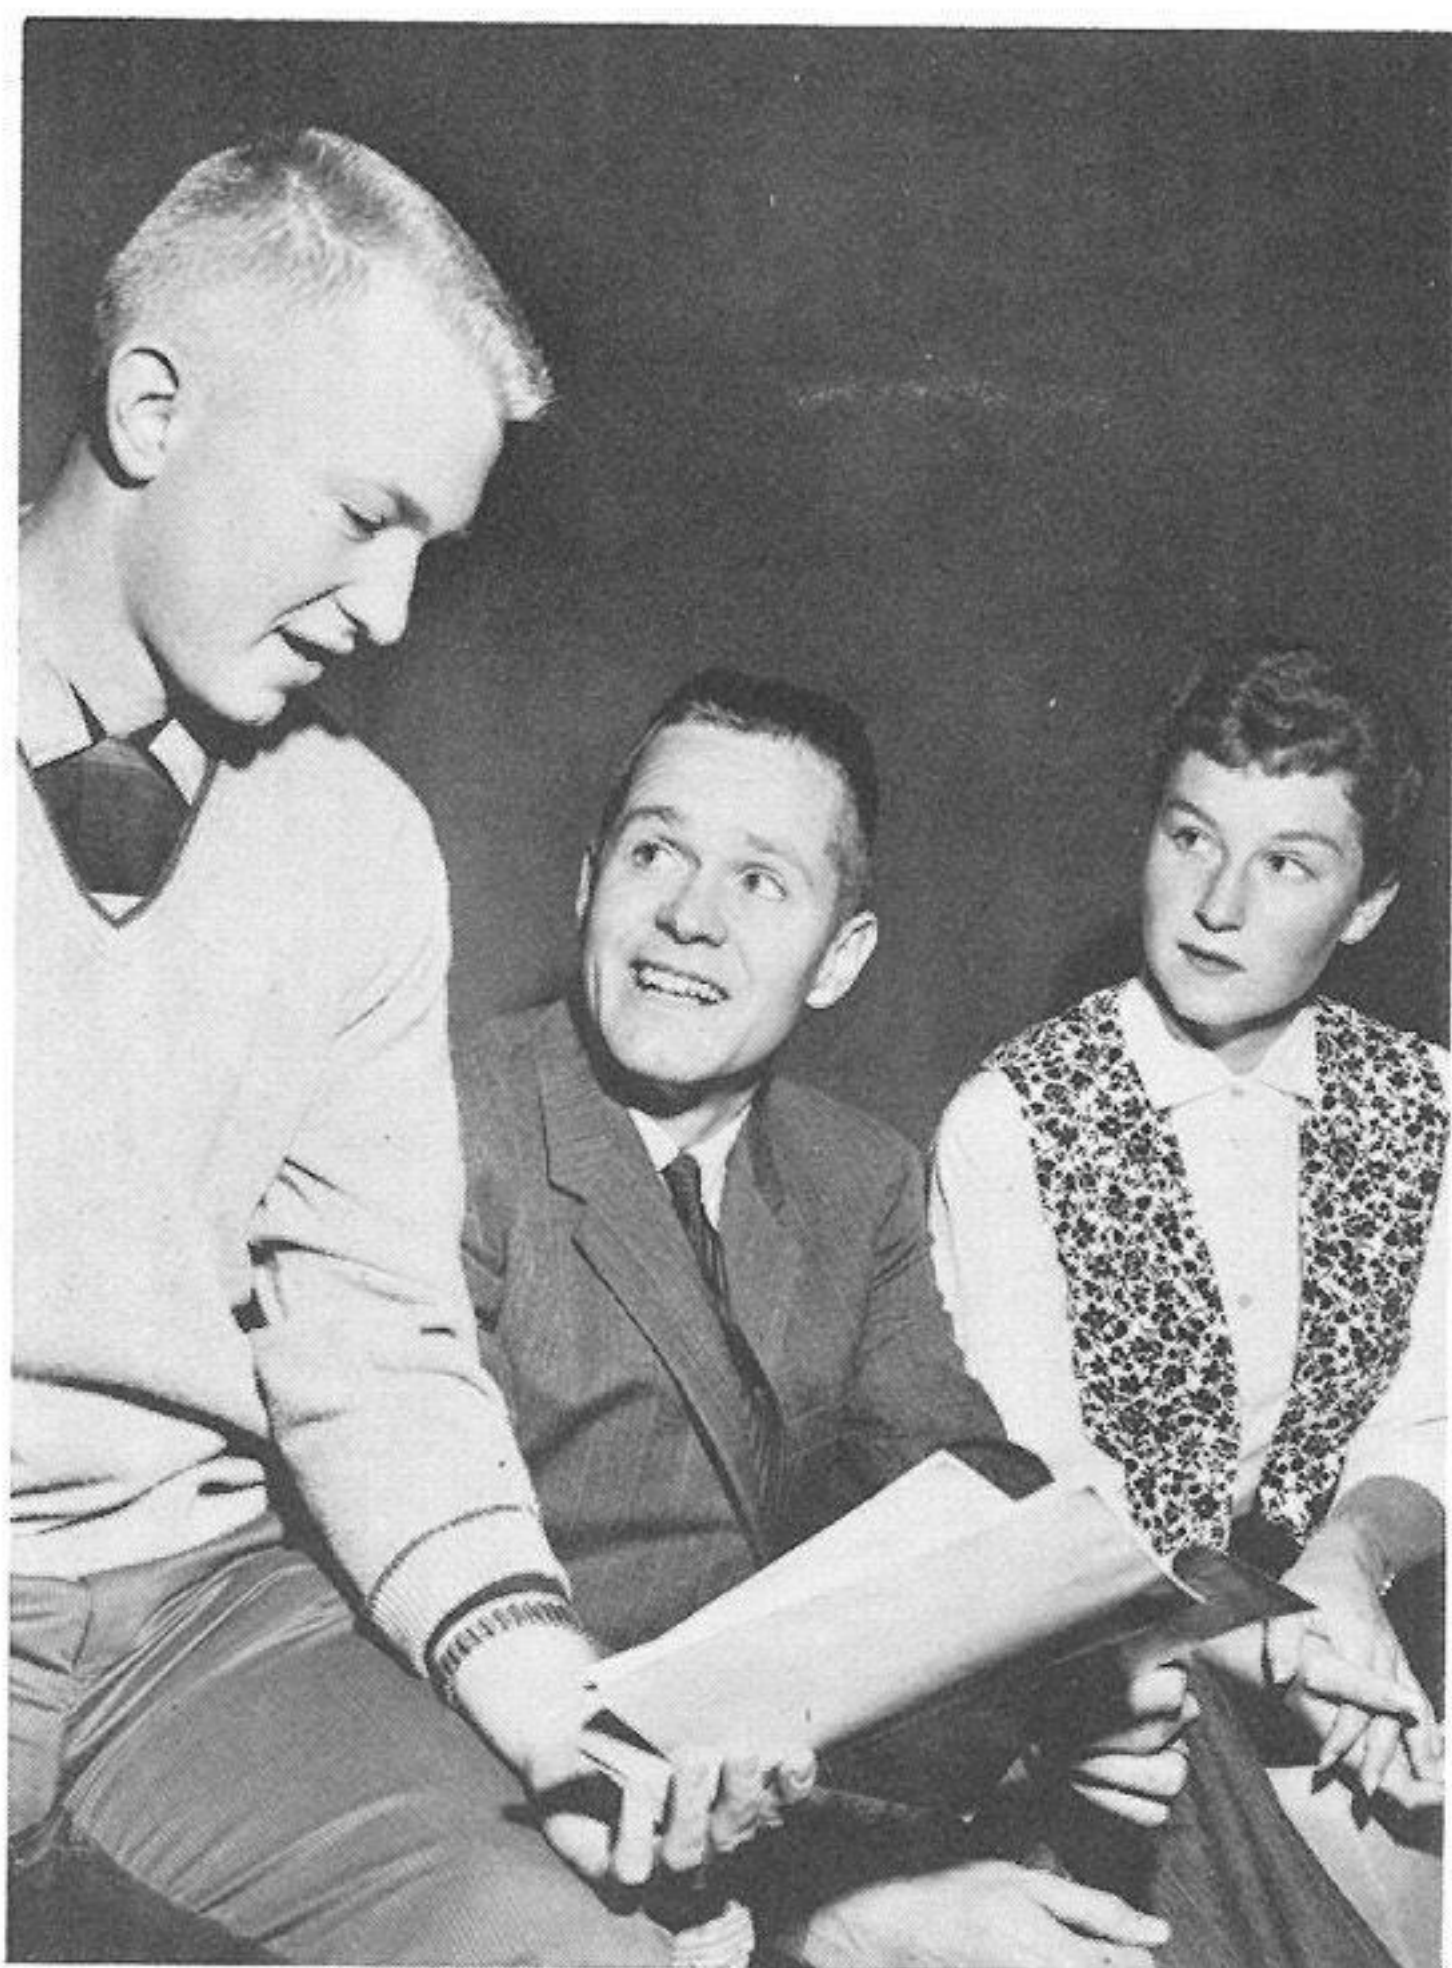

AWS-AMS Groups Planned Concerts and Other Events

House Announcements—Bev Bradshaw, Chairman Carolyn Smith, Marit Naess and Christy Glass.

Jazz Concerts—Secretary Pam Campbell, Co-chairmen Kent Barber and Susan Birkenmeyer.

Committees Carry Out AMS Plans

Intramural Trophies—Ken Forssen, Chairman Gary Baugh and Paul Wade.

Athletic Recruiting—Kent Barber and Pat Kelly. Chairman Bill Jurden was not pictured.

Constitution and By-Law Board—Stan Carlson, technical editor; Walt Robinson, financial consultant; Larry Epstein, staff administrator; Pat Kelly, general chairman; Gary Nelson, technical assistant; Bob Kelly, administrative assistant; Ric Larisch, secretary.

Checking through the files is AMS President Bob Pennell. Bob spent his second active term as an AMS officer this year; he was AMS treasurer in his junior year. Bob, a Phi Delta Theta, was also active in Purple Shield, Oval Club and Sun Dodgers.

Keeping the bulletin boards up-to-date was just one of the tasks which Carolyn Forney, AMS receptionist, carried out this year. Carolyn, known as "the House-mother" to AMS officers, is a Gamma Phi Beta.

AMS Program

AMS had a more active year than the usual. According to their president, AMS started out the year by putting on a "really big show" at Frosh Orientation Night. They also put time and effort into the Athletic Recruiting Committee and the Intramural Open House. AMS joined AWS in presenting both symphony and jazz concerts which proved to be successful money-wise and enjoyment-wise.

AMS investigated ROTC and "revitalized" their publicity committee. To entertain the fellows they held several football and basketball "rooplas." For the gals, AMS again staged its famous Women's Billiards Day.

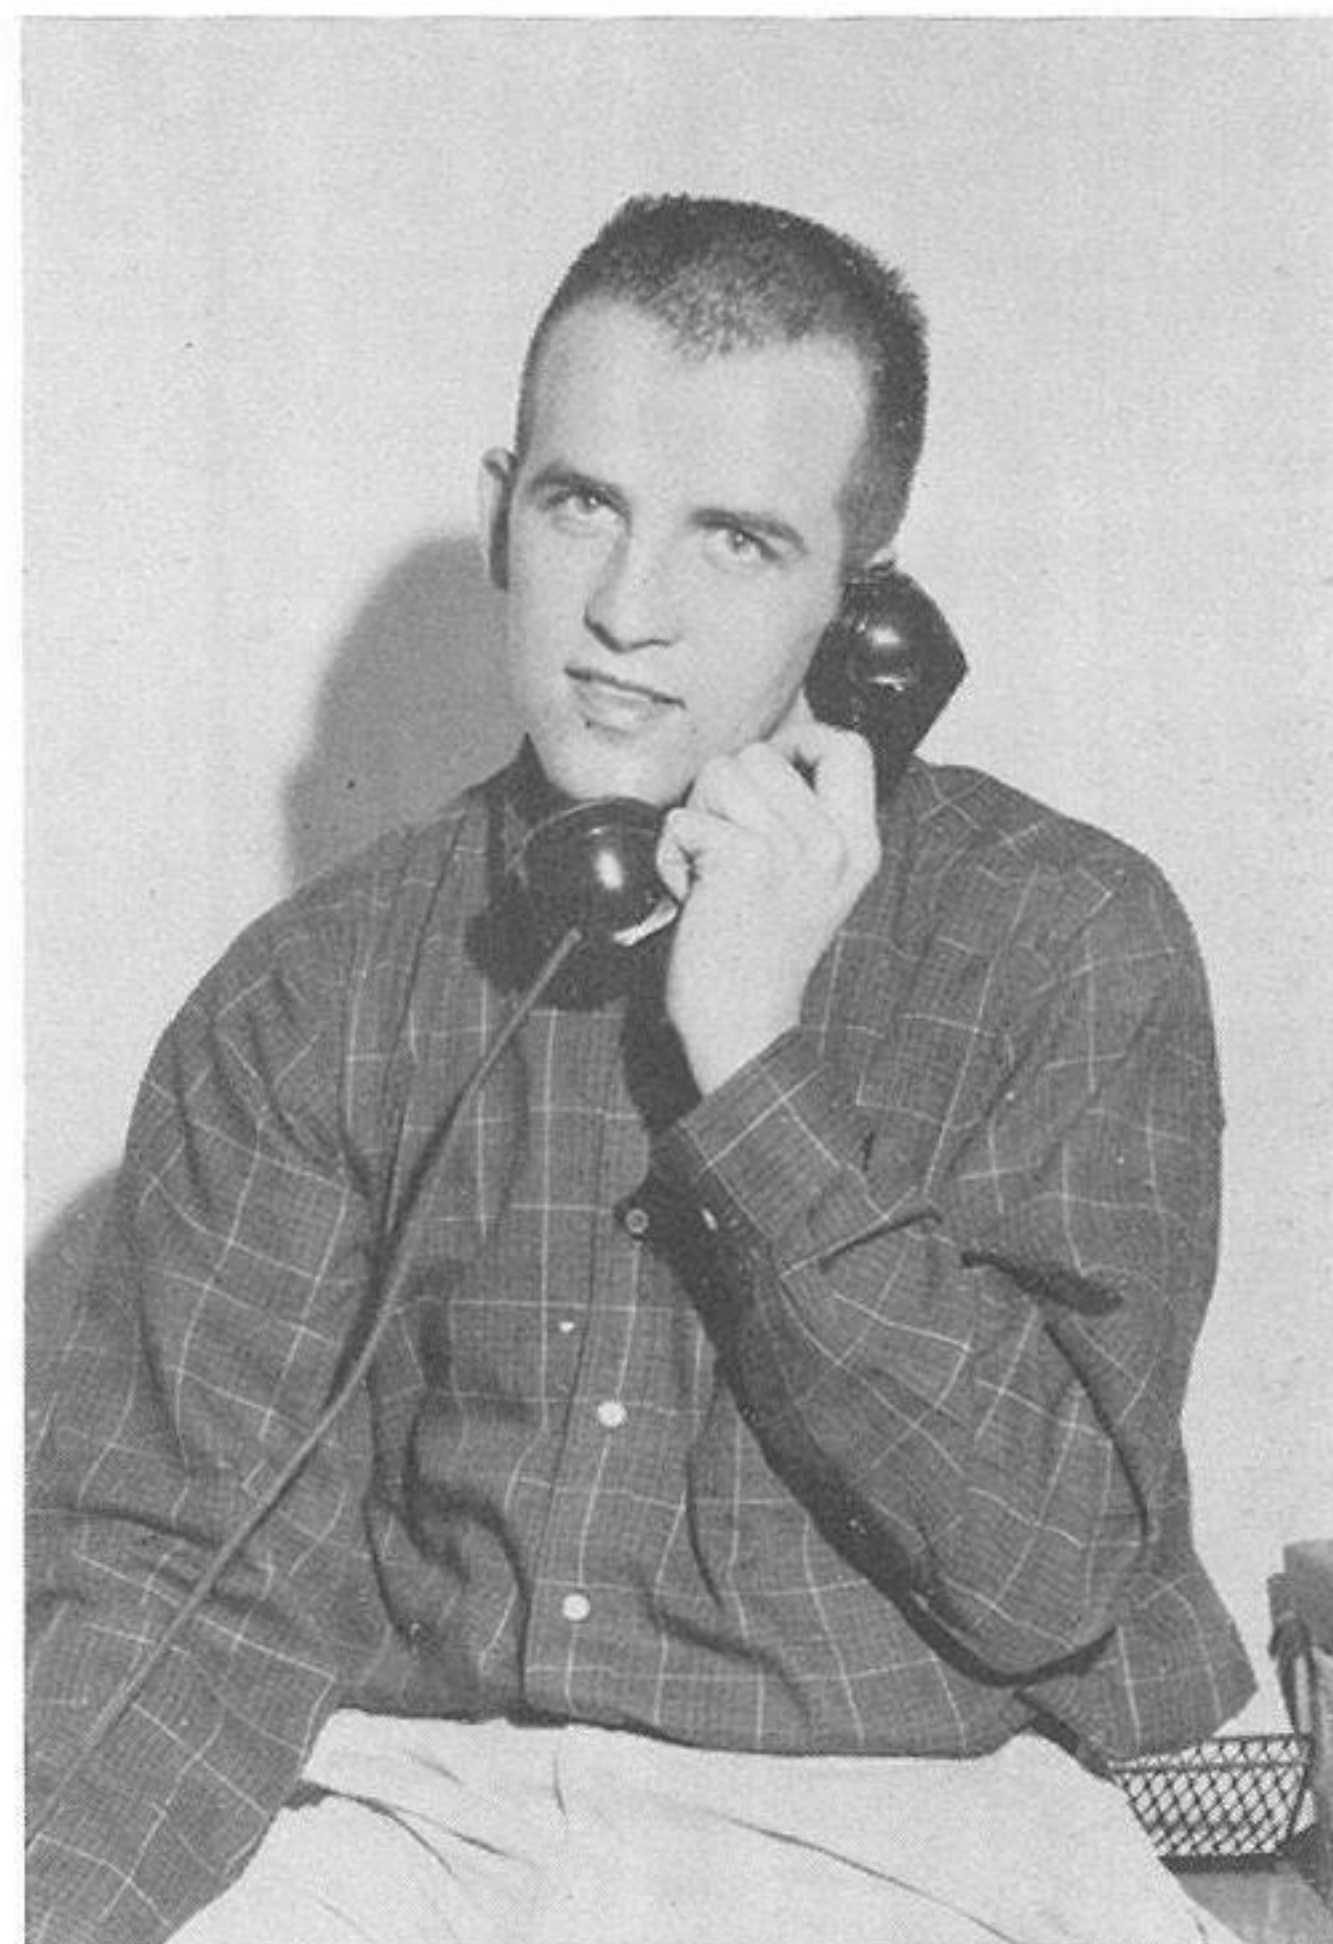

Bill Karr, AMS vice president, and Al Rogers, board member-at-large, were discussing "top secret" information. Bill is a member of Alpha Delta Phi and also lists Bachelors' Club as his outside activity. Al, an Alpha Sigma Phi, worked on Sun Dodgers and Program Panel.

Ranged from Concerts to Athletics

Reading the DAILY? Why not! Pat Lynch and Jack Stephenson take a moment off from duties as AMS treasurer and AMS secretary of the board. Pat lists his other activities as Phi Eta Sigma president and Purple Shield. Jack recently transferred from Yakima Valley Junior College where he was student body president.

Running up the phone bills is the favorite pastime of AMS Secretary Don Deasy. Don, a Sigma Nu, is a member of Purple Shield and Sun Dodgers.

Bruce Osterman tacks a Frosh Day Committee sign-up sheet onto the board in preparation for the class project. In addition to serving as class president, Bruce worked on the Cabaret Dance Committee and various other dorm and ASUW projects.

Nancy Peterson served as vice president of the Freshman Class. Nancy also kept busy as secretary of Junior Panhellenic and secretary of the Frosh Day Tug-of-War Committee. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi.

Frosh Leadership

Seated are frosh prominents Nancy Peterson and Lynn Paulson. Behind them are Duane Locknene, Jerry Landeen and Jack Strother. Nancy served as vice president of her class, while Lynn was class secretary. Duane, a Beta, was a member of the frosh football squad and his fellow Beta, Jack, was JIFC president. Jerry, a Fiji, was general chairman for Frosh Day and also worked on Scholarship Banquet.

Three freshmen prominents were Judy Soderlund, Bill Ramseyer and Jane Kitamoto. Judy, a Tri Delt, was general secretary for Frosh Day, while Bill, a Fiji, was also a Frosh Day chairman. Jane was a member of Valedas and worked on House Council.

Susan Stephan served as treasurer of the Frosh Class. Susan is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

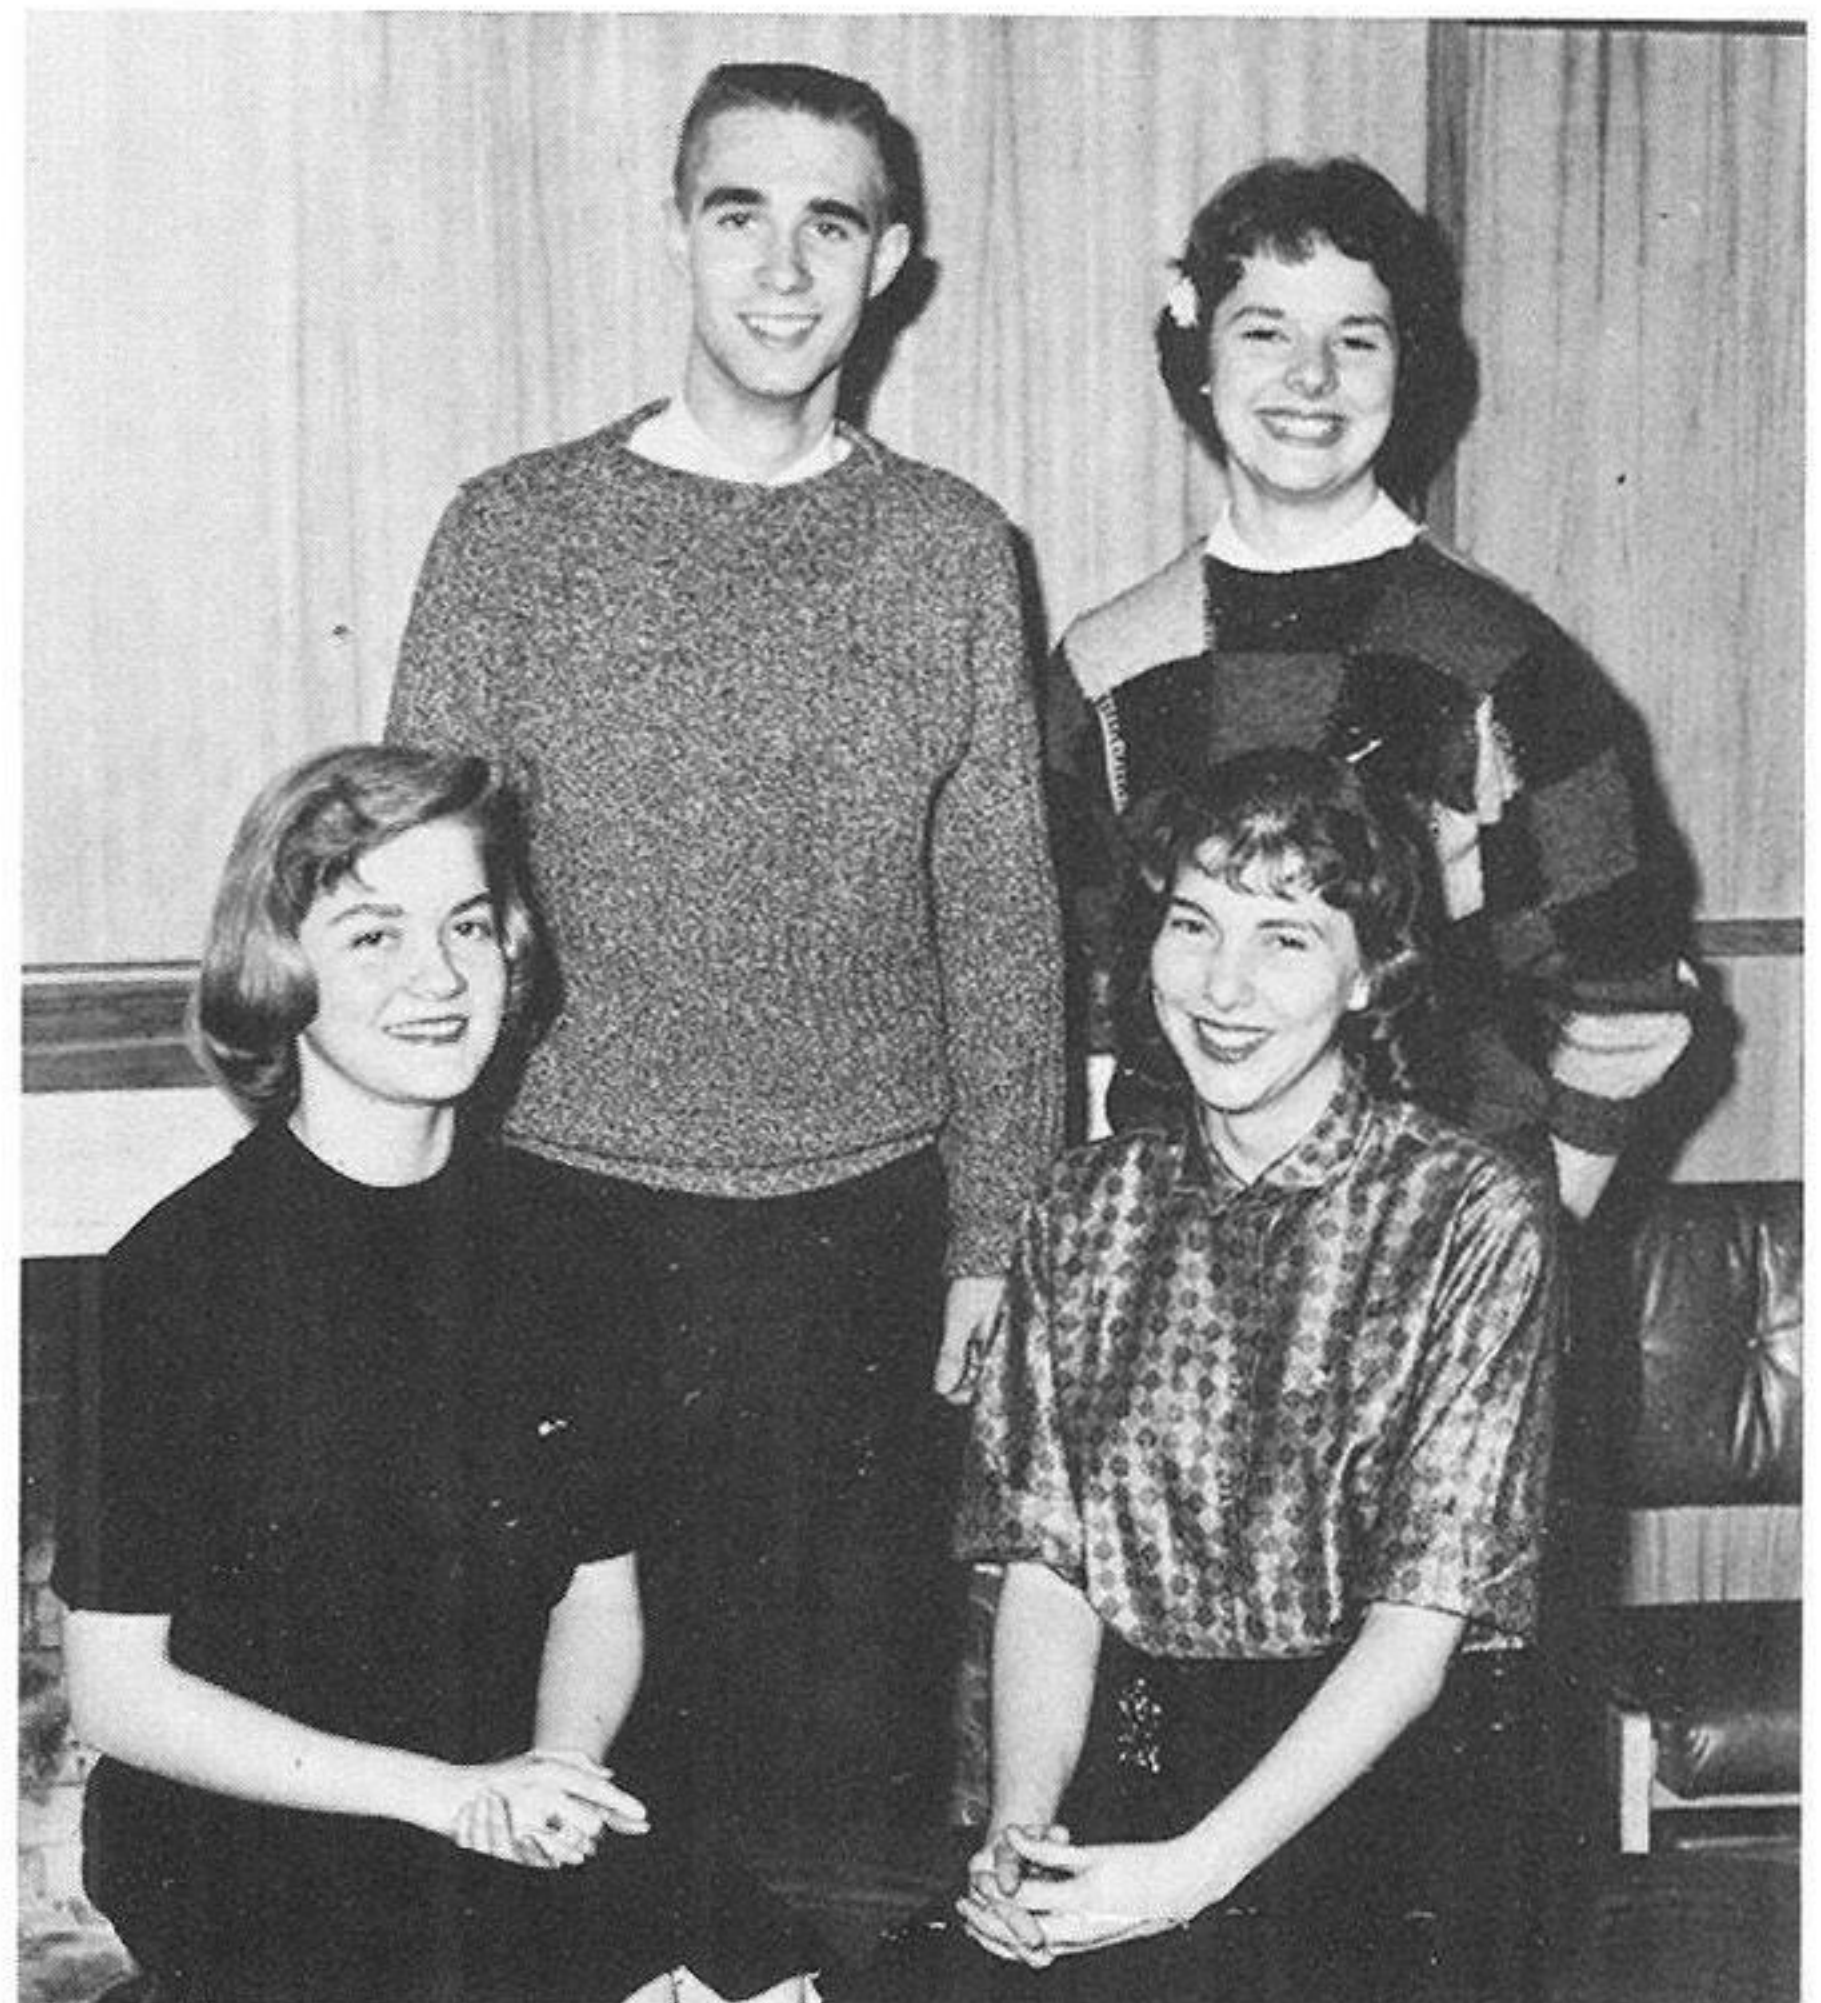

Lynn Paulson was elected secretary of her class. Lynn's other activities included Scholarship Banquet Award Committee and frosh songleading. She is an ADPi.

Made Class Day a "Smashing" Success

Three other prominents were Susan Breon, Judy Condit and Tom Jewell. Susan, a Kappa, was a member of Junior Panhellenic and secretary of Frosh Day Entertainment Committee. Judy, an ADPi, was on AWS Activities Council, Rally, Stadium Executive and May Day. She also was a Nickel Hop chairman and "Gracias" Party chairman. Tom, a Sigma Nu, served on Scholarship Banquet Name Tags Committee and was chairman of Cabaret Dance Entertainment Committee and chairman of Frosh Day Dance and Entertainment.

Seated are prominents Carole Goplerud and Gail Cochoron. In back are Sandy Law and Rodger Schlickeisen. Carole, a Kappa, was a frosh songleader and AWS Girl of the Month for January. She was also on Frosh Day Finance and Projects Money-raising Committee, as well as Songfest. Gail, an Alpha Gam, was December AWS Girl of the Month, and was in Silver Fish, Rally, Frosh Day Committee, AWS Pops Concert Committee, Calvin Club and Songfest. Sandy, Pi Beta Phi, was associate editor of the Frosh DAILY and a member of Junior Panhellenic. Rodger was a member of Calvin Club, JIFC, HUB Training Committee, Christmas Party Committee, NSA and was Sigma Phi Epsilon pledge class president.

Margaret Edin, president of the Sophomore Class, takes time out of her busy schedule for a TYEE picture. A member of Alpha Phi, Margaret was also active in W-Key, Program Panel, Board of Control, NSA, AWS Activities Council and was tapped for Sigma Epsilon Sigma. She was chairman of ASUW Election Publicity and Blood Bank Publicity, secretary of CCUN and Discussions Area and a TYEE Section Editor.

Busy with her big job of Secretary-Treasurer of the Sophomore Class is Penny Graham, a member of Pi Beta Phi. Among Penny's many other activities are Silver Fish, W-Key, Bermuda Day and Discussions Area.

It's coffee time for prominents Martha Kincaid, Judy Anderson and Jo Greenstreet. Martha, a Theta, was chairman for the Bermuda Day Dance, the W-Key Candy Sale and the Homecoming Dance Committee. Judy, a Gamma Phi, was secretary for Bermuda Day and for Homecoming Publicity. She also worked on ASUW Elections Publicity Committee. Jo, a DG, was president of W-Key and worked on Spirits and Traditions, as well as AWS Cabinet.

Two very active sophomores are Karen Lund and Cam Hall. Karen, an Alpha Phi, has participated in W-Key and Rally, was chairman of Arrangements Committee and sub-chairman for Scholarship Banquet, Bermuda Day and the AWS-AMS Elections Banquet. Cam, a member of Phi Delta Theta, served on Judiciary Committee and was president of Purple Shield and Republican Club.

Bermuda Day

"Hey! Did I get any mail today?" Sophomore prominents Larry Christenson, Barry Stewart, Pam Campbell, Alita Wilcox and Scotty Railton were heard asking this question. Larry, a Beta, was chairman for Publicity Training and ASUW Activities Leadership and belonged to Sundodgers and Purple Shield. Barry, a Psi U, served as chairman of Parents' Weekend, the Activities Recognition Committee and Publicity for the Scholarship Banquet; he belonged to Sundodgers and Pershing Rifles. Pam, a D.G., belonged to W-Key and Sigma Epsilon Sigma, was secretary for the Scholarship Banquet and the Jazz Concerts Committee and was chairman for Parents' Weekend and AWS Elections Packets. Alita, a Kappa, was chairman of the AWS Concerts Committee; she worked on the Policy Committee, Campus Chest, AWS Council, and was a member of W-Key and Sigma Epsilon Sigma. Scotty, a Sig Ep, was elected Board Member-at-Large; he was chairman of Parents' Weekend, University Preview Publicity, Newscope and was a member of Purple Shield and the AMS Advisory Council.

"Just checking out the HUB" are sophomore prominents Carolyn Smith, Jackie Neese, Kent Barber and Pat Drew. Carolyn, an Alpha Phi, belongs to W-Key, Rally Girls, AWS Activities Council and the Elections Administration Committee. During the past year she was chairman of AWS House Announcements, Summer HUB Dances, Nickel Hop Publicity, secretary of Parents' Weekend Publicity, and was active in Activities Bureau, Publicity Area and Discussions Area. Jackie was on AWS Council, AWS Interview Board, ASUW Publicity Area, and was chairman of AWS Publicity and Winter Check-in. She also belongs to W-Key. Kent, a Phi Delt, was president of underclassmen's Sundodgers, AMS Jazz Concerts chairman and a varsity cheerleader. Pat, a DU, served as general chairman of Bermuda Day and worked on ASUW Elections and High School Leadership Conference.

In addition to serving as president of the Junior Class, John Woodhead, a Psi U, was a member of Oval Club, Sundodgers, Board of Control, Book Store Board, Pi Omicron Sigma, Alpha Kappa Psi business honorary and was president of Purple Shield. John has received the Oval Club Outstanding Sophomore Award.

Juniors Initiated New Variety Show

Carolyn Kloppenburg, vice president of the Junior Class, belongs to Delta Gamma and Totem Club. During the year she worked on Elections Patrol Committee and the Variety Show.

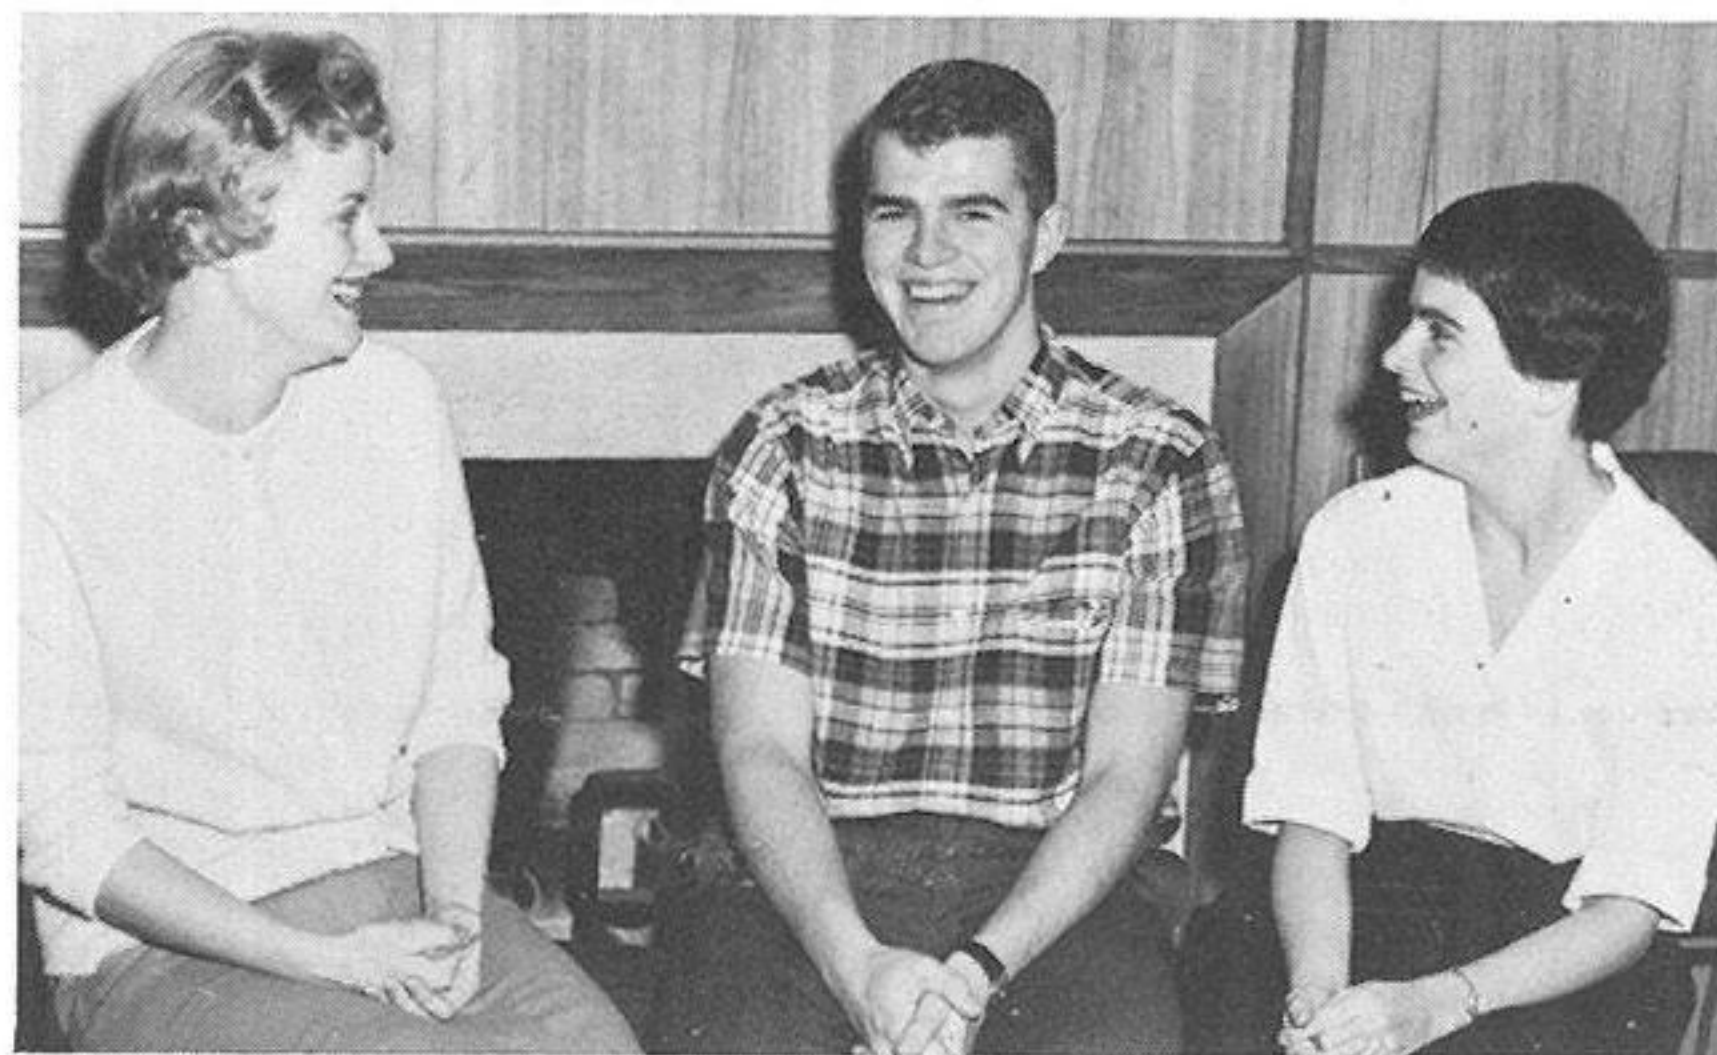

Although Nancy Webster, a member of Chi Omega, was busy with her studies, she still had time to take care of her duties as secretary of the Junior Class.

Prominents Marlin Mattson, Don Rhodes and Margaret Hartley discuss a textbook. Margaret was a member of BOC, Totem Club and secretary of Phrateres, in addition to holding the big job of DAILY News Editor. Marlin, a member of Phi Delta Theta, was chairman of Model United Nations and the HUB Operating Committee. He is a member of Oval Club, Purple Shield, Sundodgers, Phi Eta Sigma, Alpha Epsilon Sigma and Alpha Epsilon Delta, pre-med honorary. Don Rhodes, a Fiji, was on the varsity baseball squad, and worked on High School Leadership Conference and Junior Variety Show. He was chairman of the Elections Rally and Parade.

Treasurer Sharon Lund, a Theta, led an active life as Navy Ring Dance Queen, coordinator of KUOW Merrimac, co-chairman of Variety Show, and member of Corvettes, Gamma Alpha Chi advertising honorary and Little Sisters of Minerva.

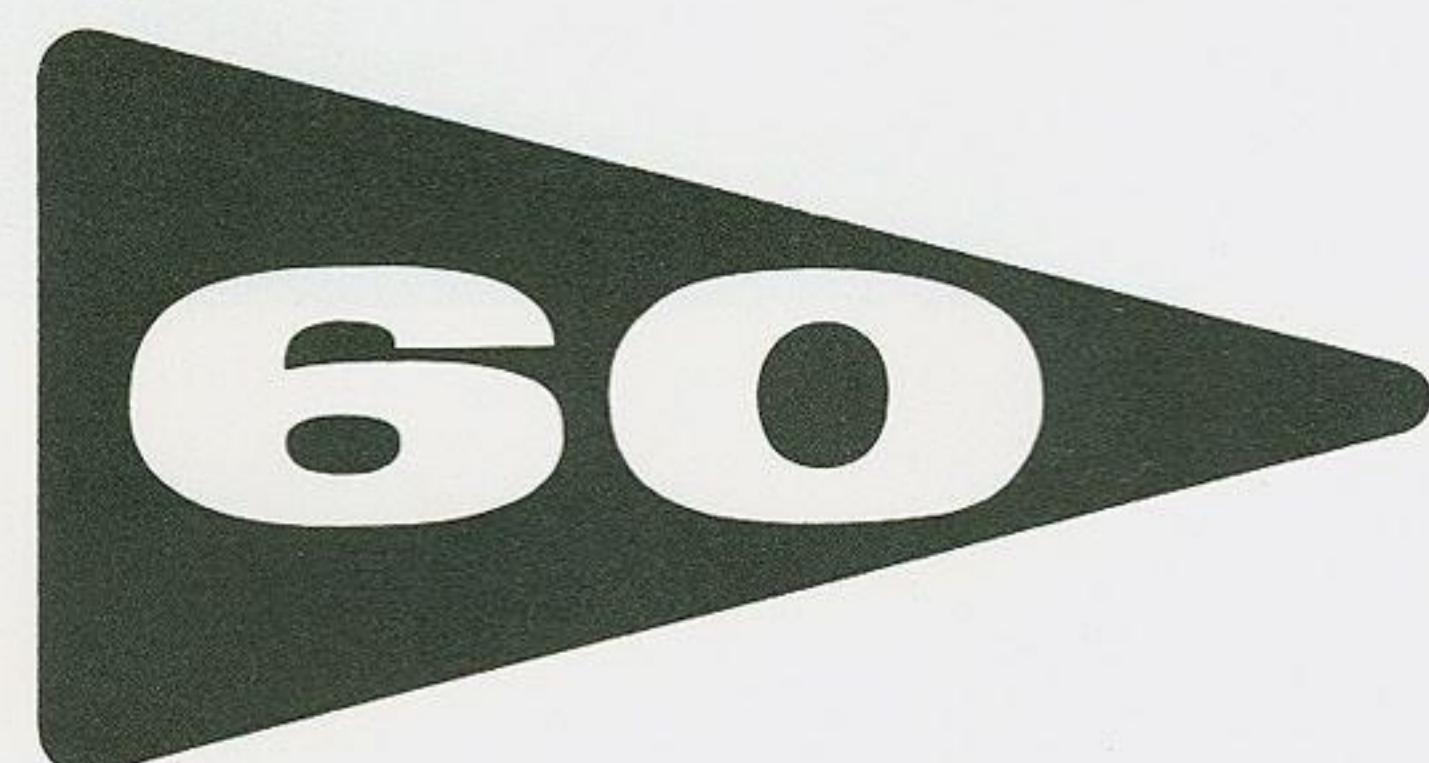

These three prominents are Sue Williamson, Geordie Martin and Biji Freeman. Geordie belongs to Phi Delta Theta, Purple Shield, Sundodgers, Oval Club and Big "W." Biji, a Kappa, was a member of Totem Club, chairman of AWS Interview Board and sub-chairman of ASUW Elections Administration.

These two prominents are Connie West, Alpha Gamma Delta, and Blythe Hecht, Alpha Delta Pi. Connie was chairman of AWS Check-In, chairman of Publicity Receptionists, DAILY reporter for the HUB, and worked on Activities Council, Junior Class Variety Show and Frosh Prevue. Blythe was AWS treasurer and a member of Totem Club and AWS Executive Council.

Prominents Bob Bailey, Nancy Carson and Sharon Meyers try a new kind of ride. Bob, a DU, was a member of Sundodgers, Arnold Air Society and was vice president of Husky Swim Club. Bob was chairman of Elections Banquet and the discussions area of High School Leadership Conference, was a member of Constitution and By-Laws Committee and sports editor of the Flying Husky. Nancy, a DG, was co-chairman of Scholarship Banquet, treasurer of Sigma Epsilon Sigma, and member of AWS Council and Totem Club. Sharon was president of Women's Inter-Hall Council, treasurer of the Junior Dental Hygiene Association, and member of BOC and W-Key.

Editors Shared DAILY Headaches

The process of producing a daily newspaper initiates with the assignment of the stories. On the University of Washington DAILY this job was done by Roy Webster, news editor, pictured above. The written story is then submitted to the copy desk where it is edited and "heads" are written.

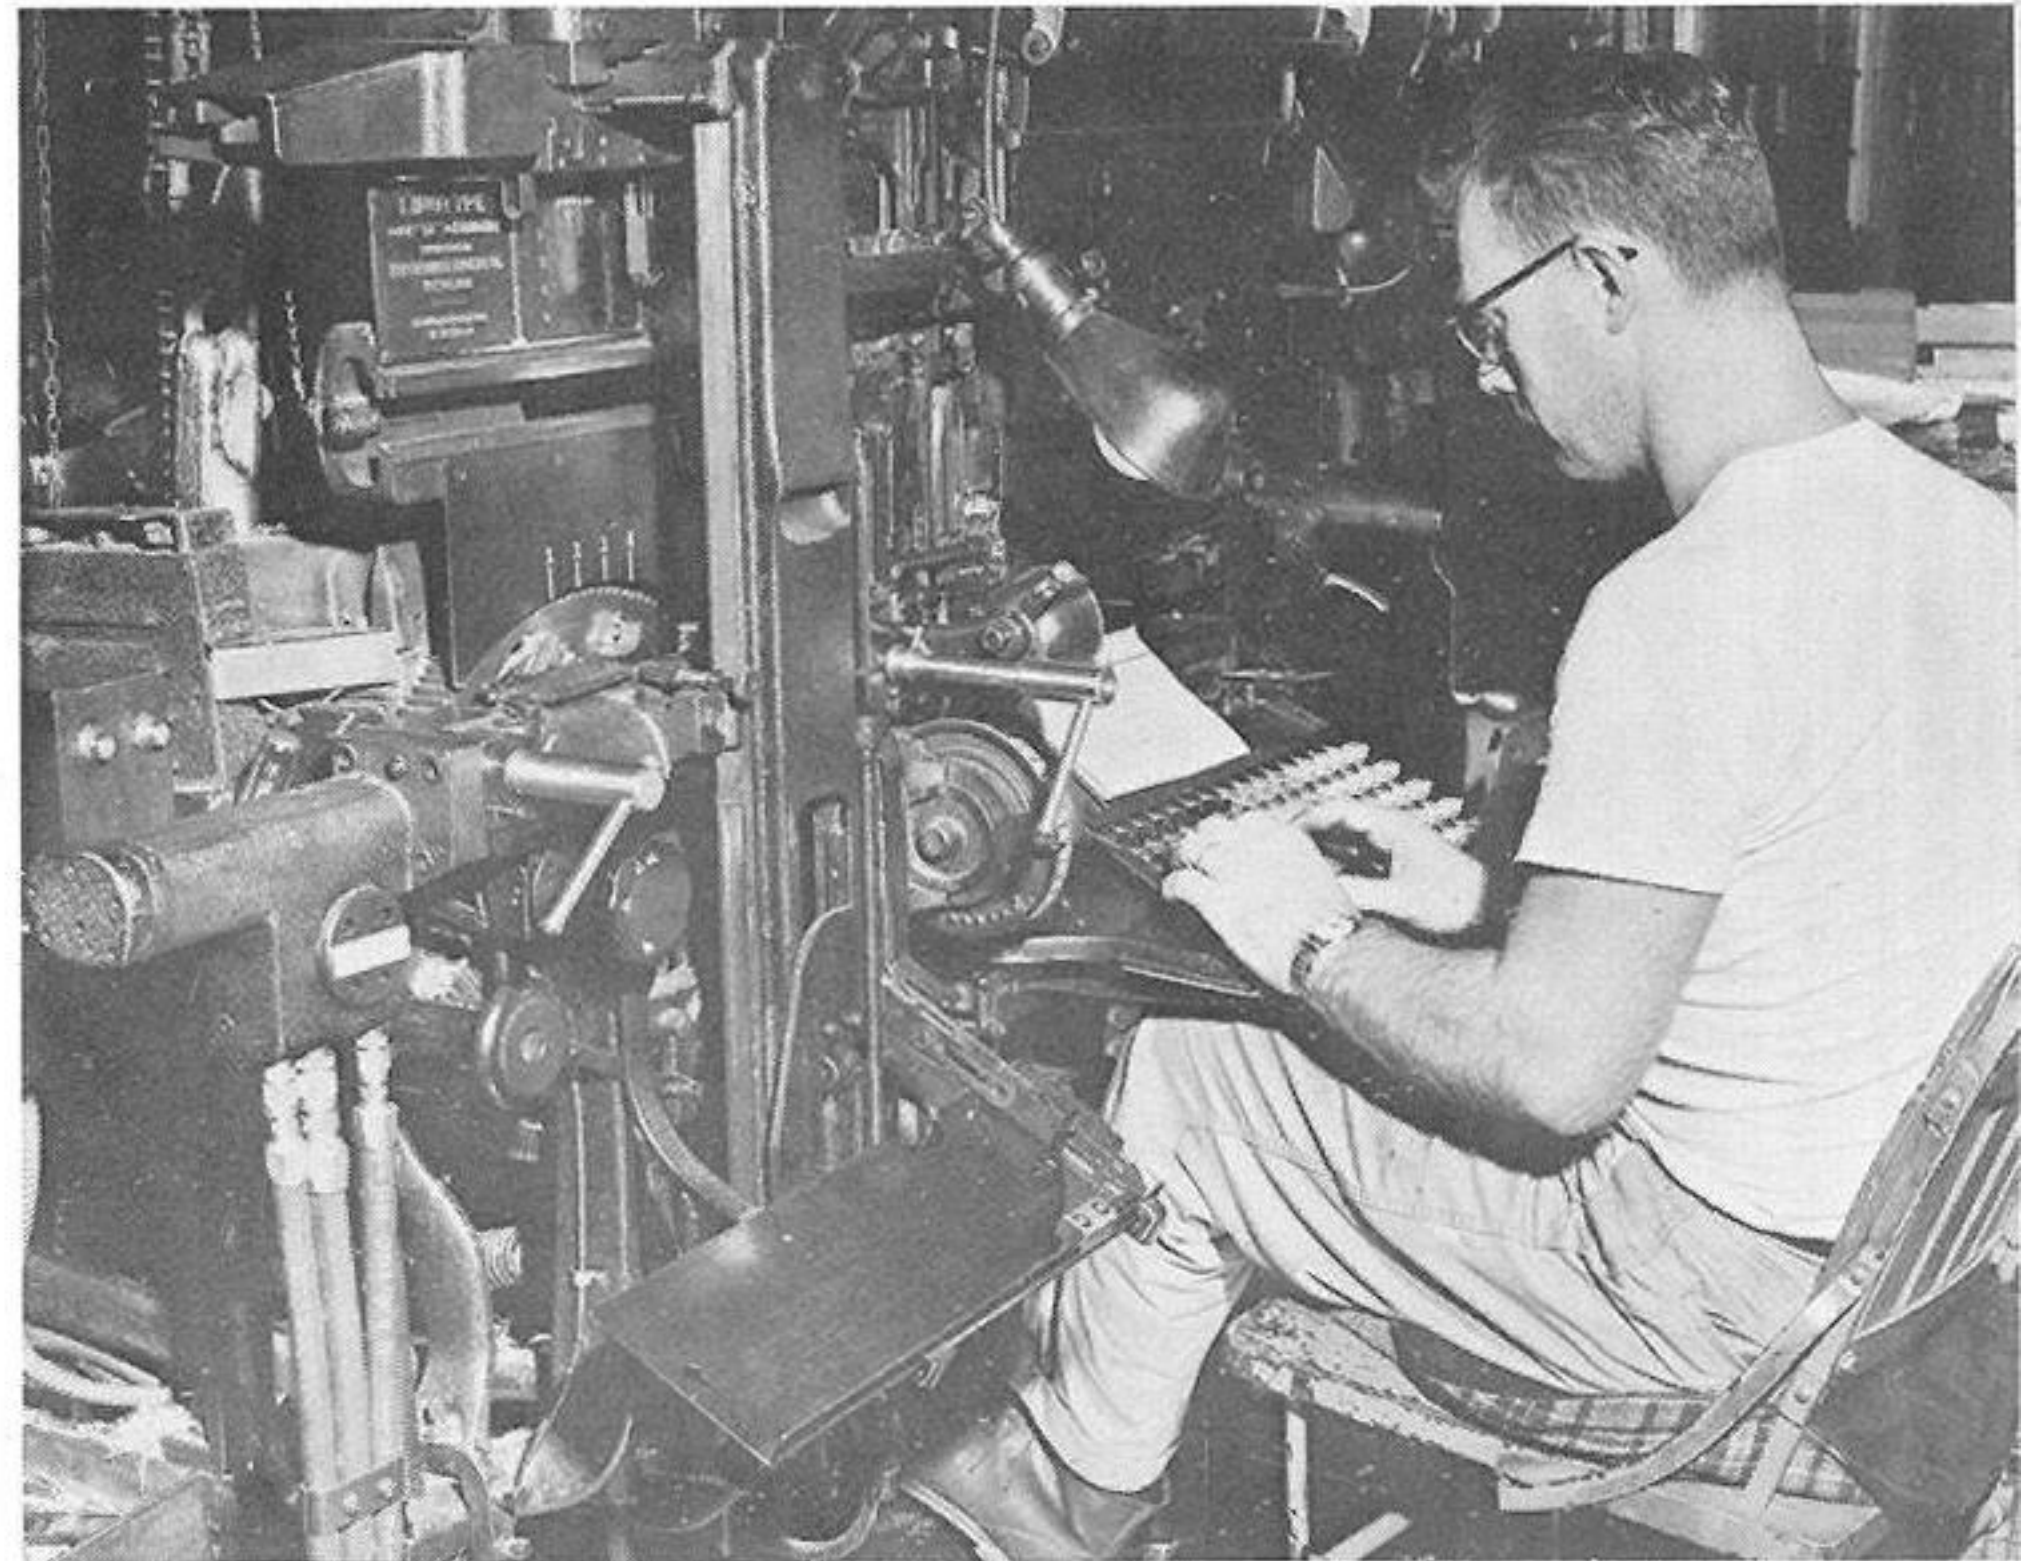

Every afternoon at 1:00 the DAILY staff gathered to put out a better newspaper than the day before. For the first three hours of work, any diversion would do—complaining about HUB food, writing notes to each other, waving idiotically to the busloads of tourists that passed in front of the building and posting terribly clever epigrams on the bulletin board.

As the deadline came inexpressibly closer, the screaming began. "Just because I'm a communications major, does that mean I should know how to change a typewriter ribbon?" The lights burned late, the ink smeared and the blue pencil chased frantically through the copy.

The editorial ideal was a combination of the thoroughness of the New York Times and jazziness of certain other college newspapers. Each staff knew that its product was better than any other, despite the charges of journalistic phobes that at least the consistency of the mediocrity was admirable.

From the copy desk the corrected stories are sent downstairs to the print shop where they are set in type on a Linotype machine, which is operated much like a typewriter. Galley proofs of the type are made, read and any typographical errors are corrected by the night staff.

While the galley proofs are being corrected, the night editors are busy "dummying" the stories, that is, fitting the story copy into the page. This is being done by George Carver, night editor, with the assistance of Roy Webster. After the "dummying" is finished, Jim Goll, head of the printing crew, "makes up" the pages according to the diagrams made by the night editors.

Writing headlines like "Washington Wins Rose Bowl 44-8" kept Roland Lund, sports editor, smiling. Roland is pictured below choosing Rose Bowl photos for the DAILY sports section.

After being dummied and made up, "proof sheets" are printed and these are checked for error. Finally the presses start rolling. The end product: the University of Washington DAILY.

DAILY Business Staff Sells Ads

This smiling group made sure that the DAILY was supplied with ads: Robert A. Denis, adviser; Bill Engel, Bob Montgomery, Judy Gillis, Karin Ostrom, Janet Woron, Dick Singer, Dale Snodgrass and Gordon Appleton.

TYEE Finances, Indexing Occupied Business Staff

TYEE adviser Clyde Robinson, more commonly known as "Mr. R," performed a varied number of tasks which ranged from budgeting to editing the minor sports section.

TYEE Business Manager Judi Wing takes an order for an advertisement.

The honorary title of Chief Supervisor of Headaches went to Jo Marvin. Jo spent her time swallowing aspirins in coffee, calculating how many pages and months behind deadlines the TYEE was, tending an insistently ringing telephone, occasionally dusting an amazingly disheveled desk and pretending to know the answers to the umpteen questions asked each minute.

TYEE Emerged

There is a steady dull roar of voices and typewriters. The editor sits with her hands over her ears and marks red lines on page dummies.

The phone rings. "TYEE Editorial. Sorry, it's too late to have pictures taken." Adds under her breath, "Three months too late."

The editor gazes wistfully at the desk sign which optimistically states "I Am the BOSS"; then eyes a wall motto, "The Real 1960 Theme: Ask Before You Louse It Up"; surveys the disheveled office; stares ruefully at the door sign, "Please Clean Up Your Own Mess"; looks hopefully at the staff; realizes there is only one person in the office who reads signs; then sighs, grits her teeth and again takes red pencil in hand.

The center table has decided to discuss Greeks vs. Independents instead of TYEE.

The telephone is ringing...

To Carol Roraback belonged the dubious delight of reading every word of copy in the entire book and checking to be sure that Joe Blow spelled his name with a "w."

Gloria Bryson kept a close check on the calendar to insure thorough coverage of The Year, and turned out a lively section despite some unfortunate "blackouts" due to camera failure.

Faculty section editor Sally Scott truly "covered the campus"—first with typewriter, then on foot. After writing copy and scheduling pictures, Sal trudged to each dean's office and the Office of Public Information, having pages checked.

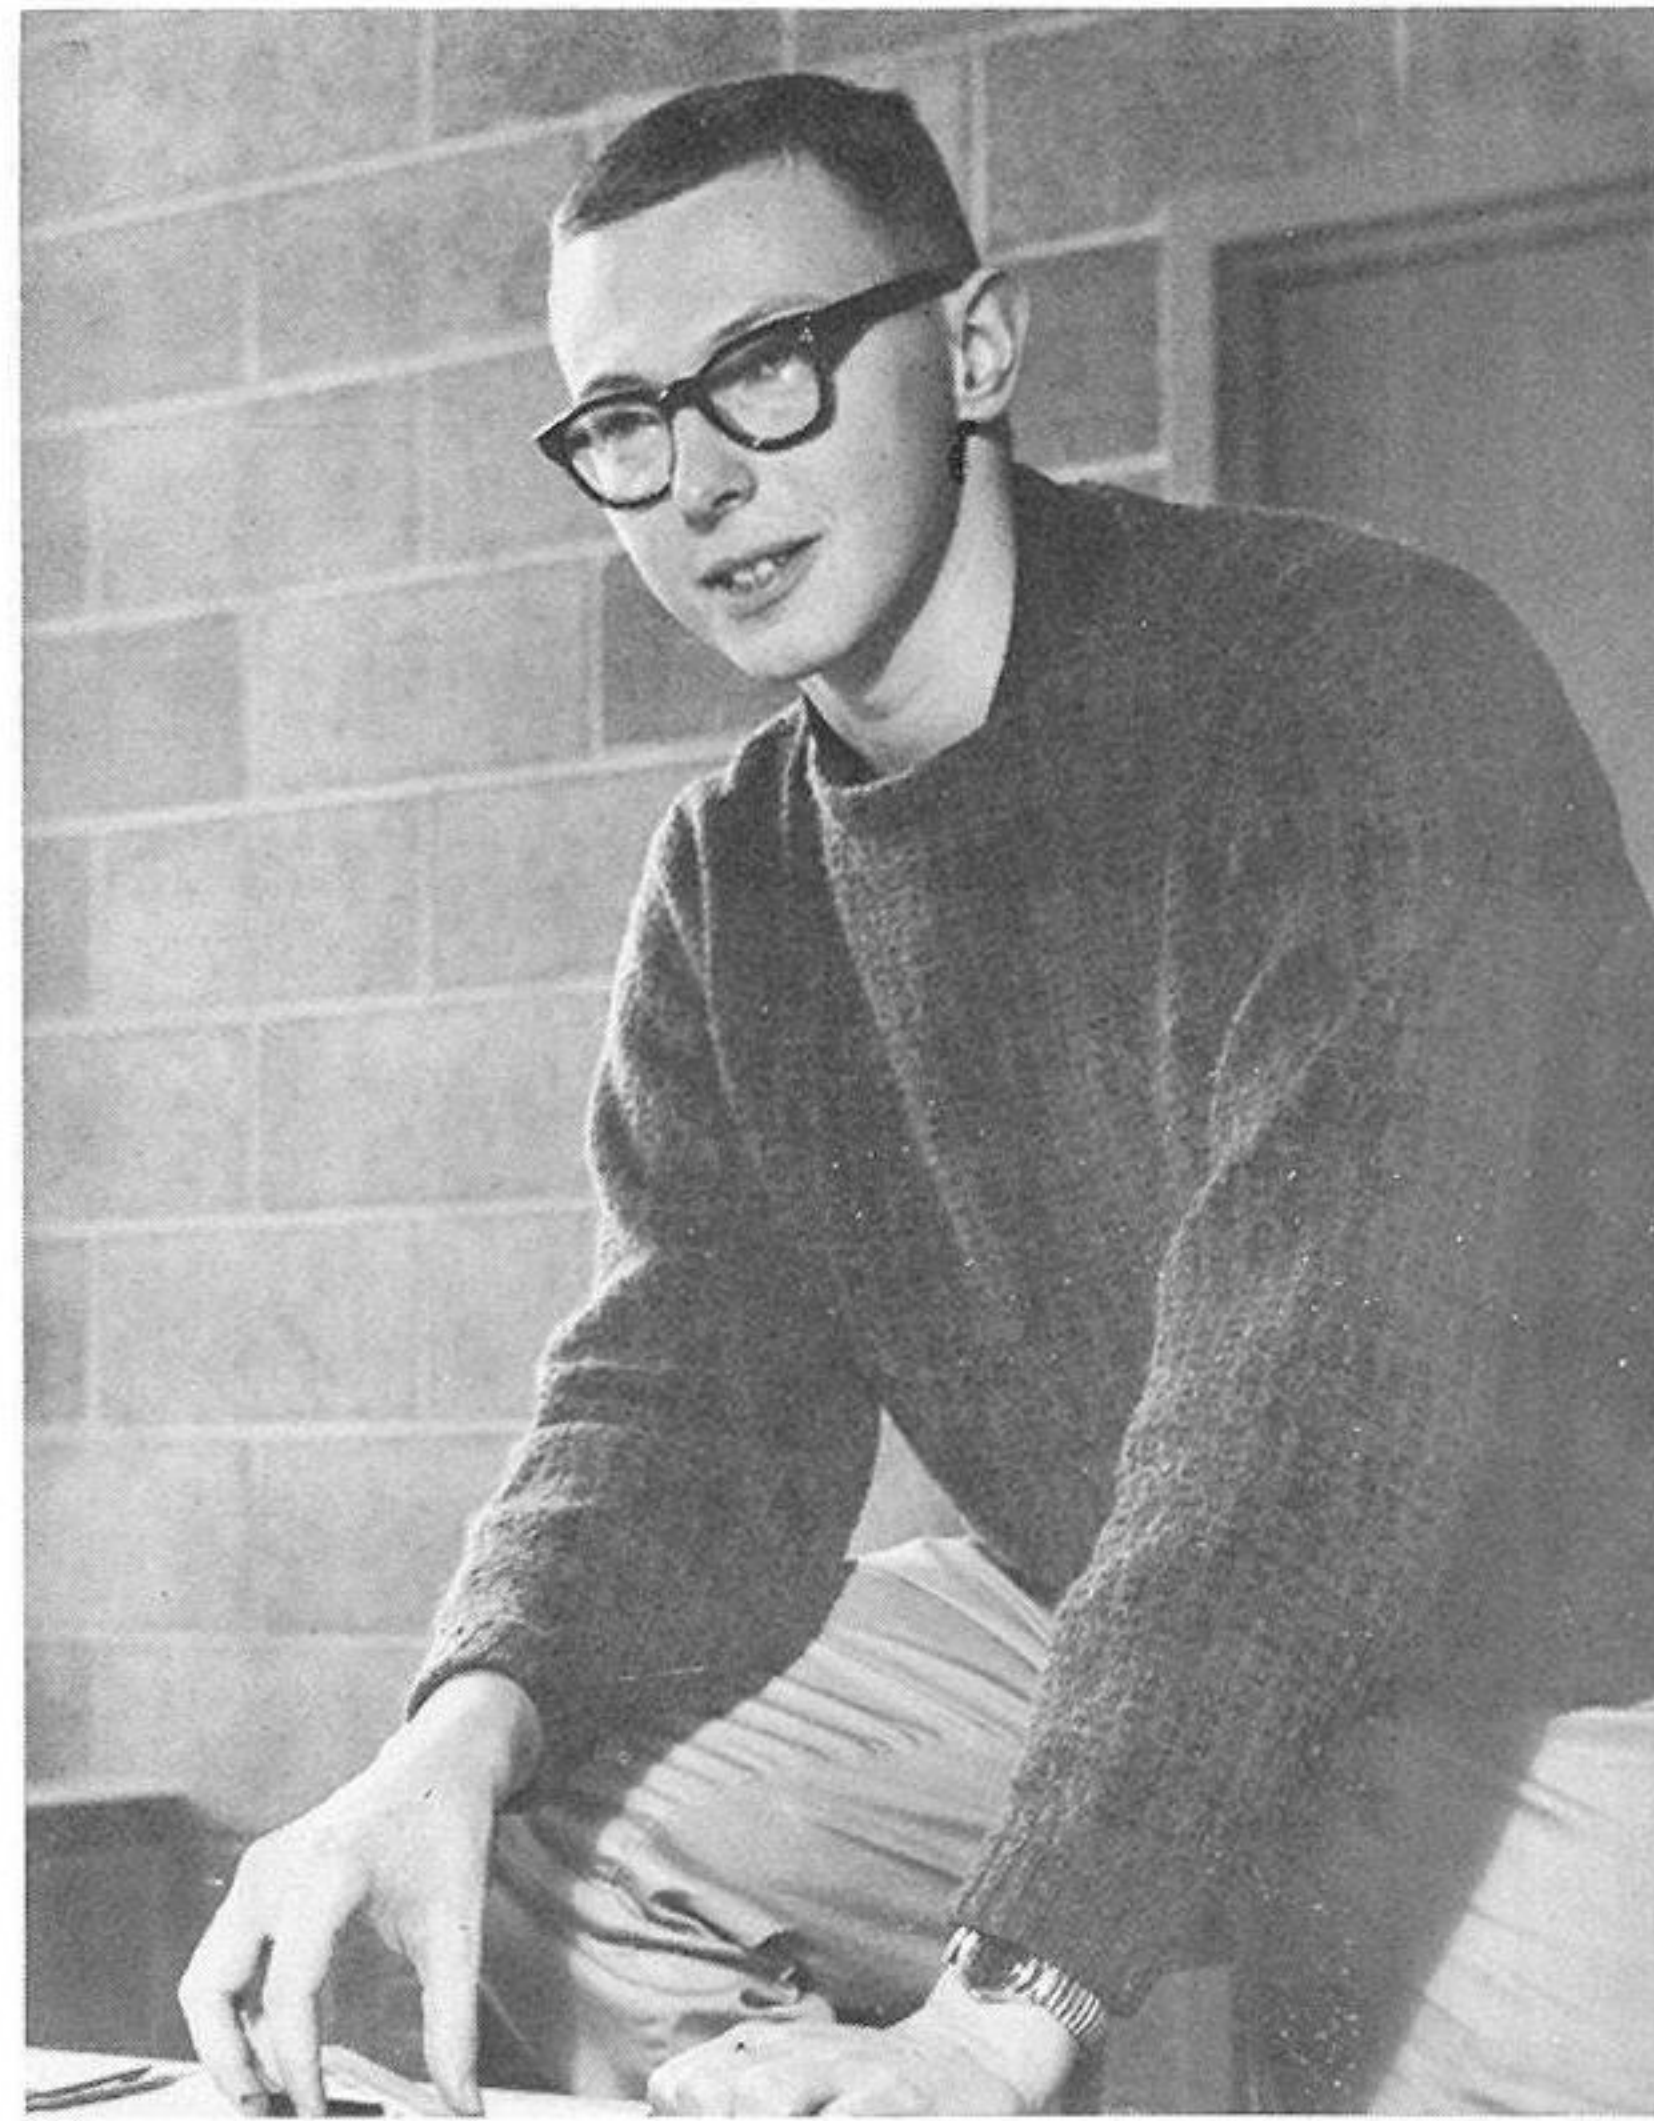

from Constant Crises

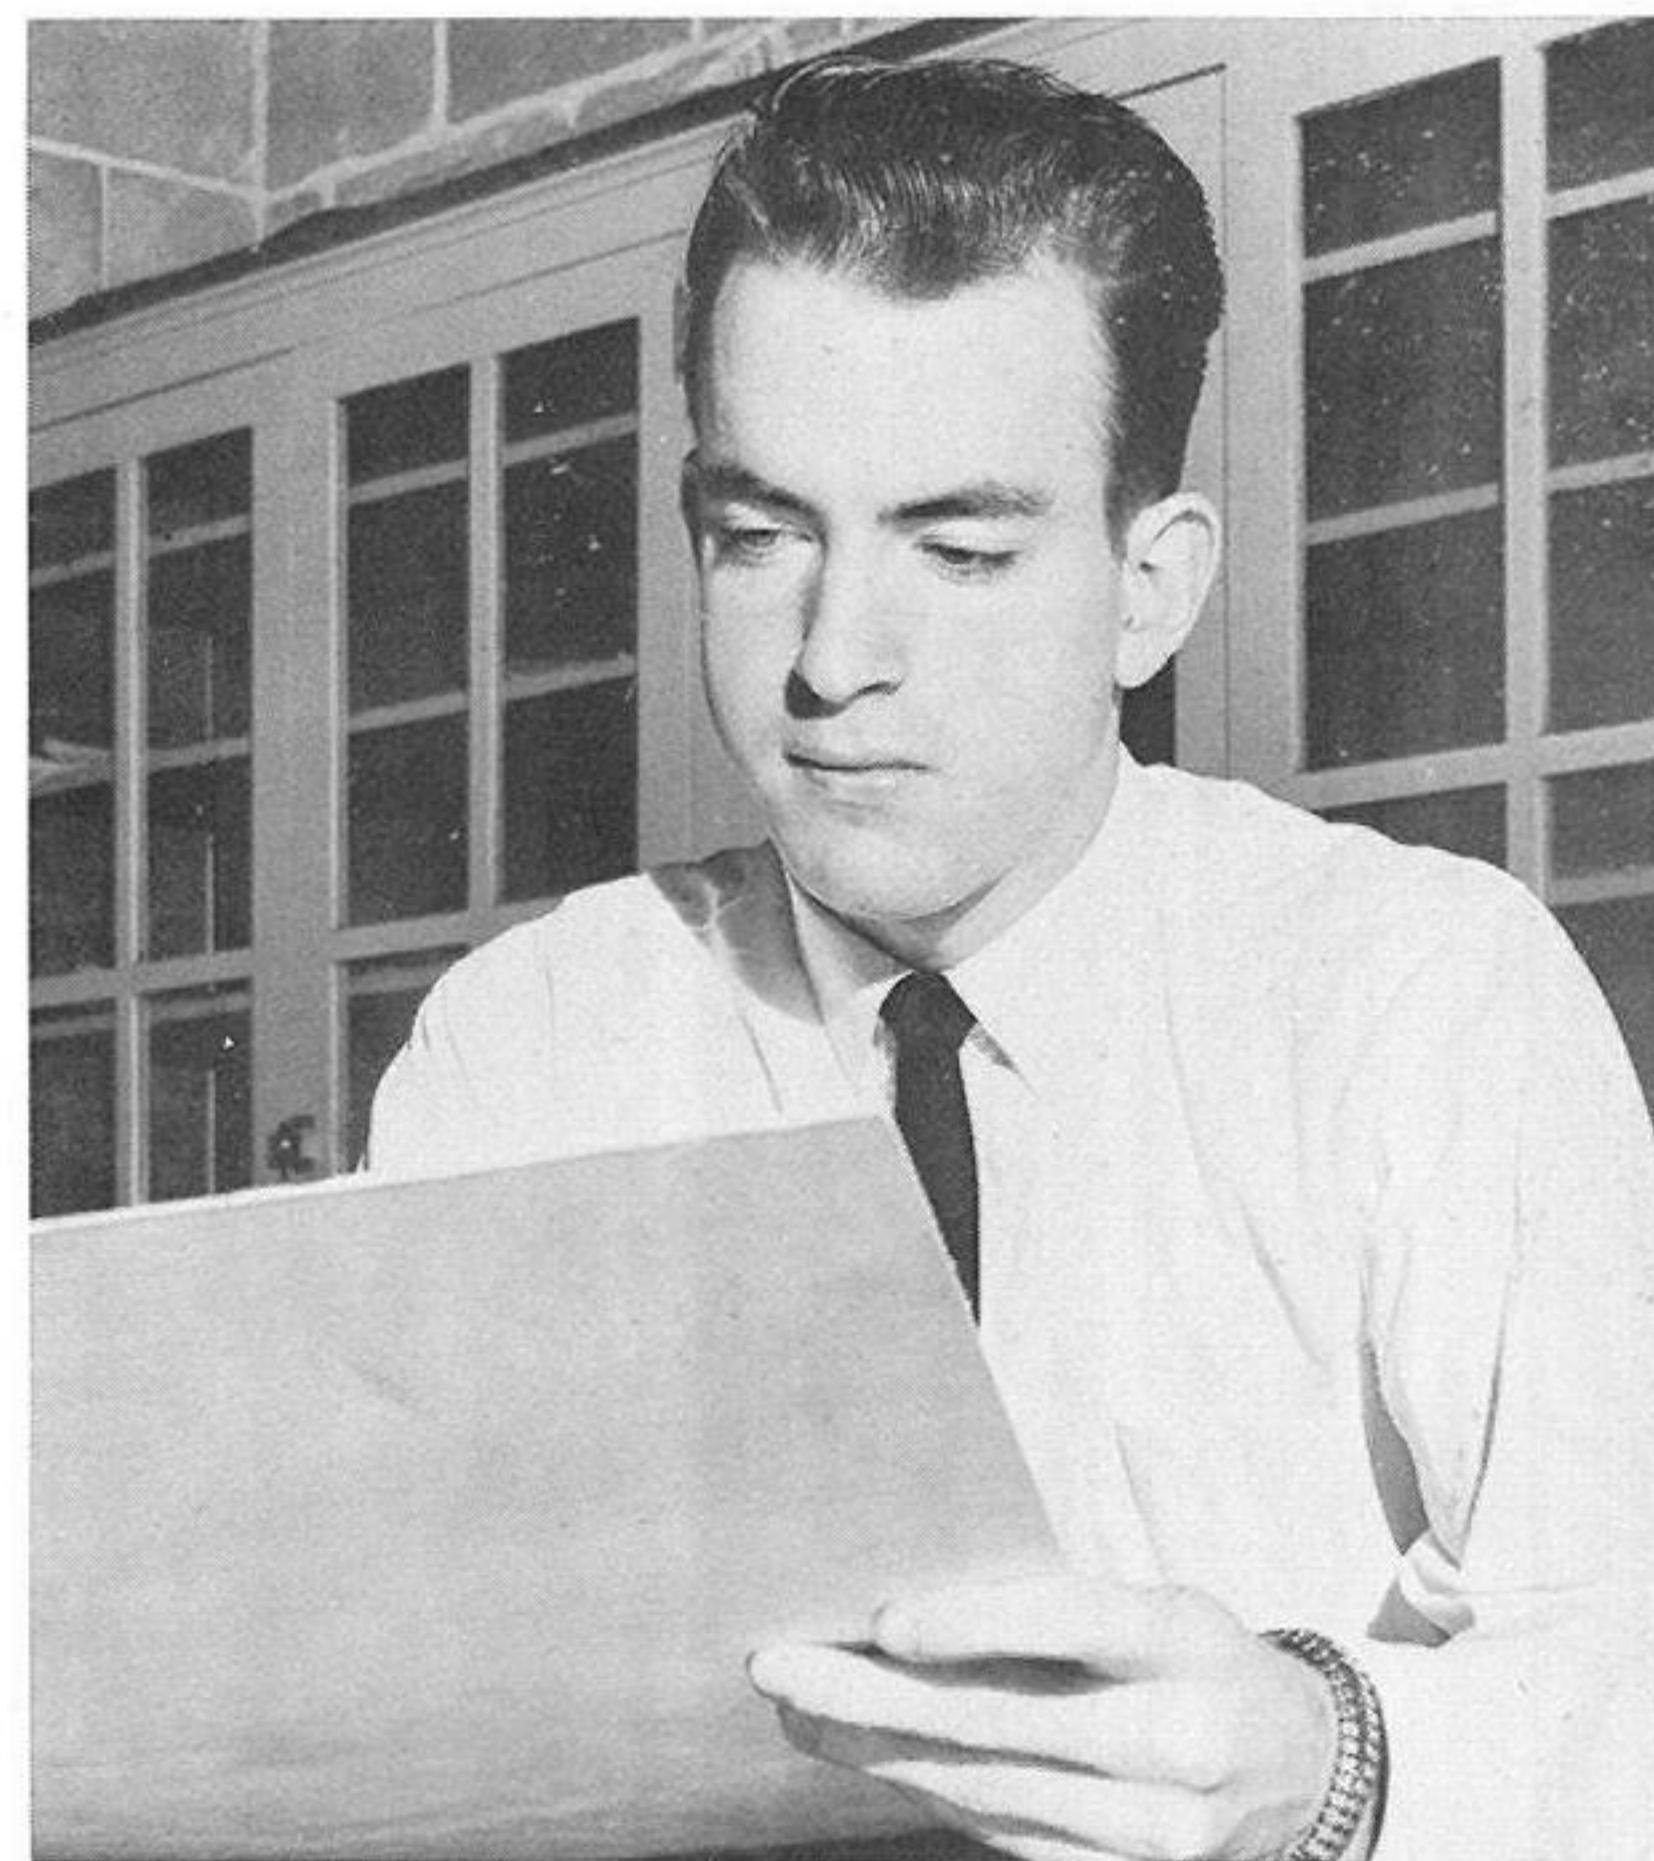

Division editor Karen Lenzie supervised Graduates, Sororities, Independents, Culture and Royalty; emerged laughing from bouts with early deadlines and hilarious feuds. Her special ulcer-raiser was a series of senior prominents photos. The number needed remained constant, but even math major Karen couldn't tabulate the number of photos snapped.

Division editor Karen Stout indulges in a pastime favored by staffs of all yearbooks, which is delicately referred to as "comparing ideas." Karen supervised Government, Faculty, Communications, Organizations and Honoraries; found that the great problem was to get an adequate list of groups to be pictured, keep them in alphabetical order, and yet make some deadlines.

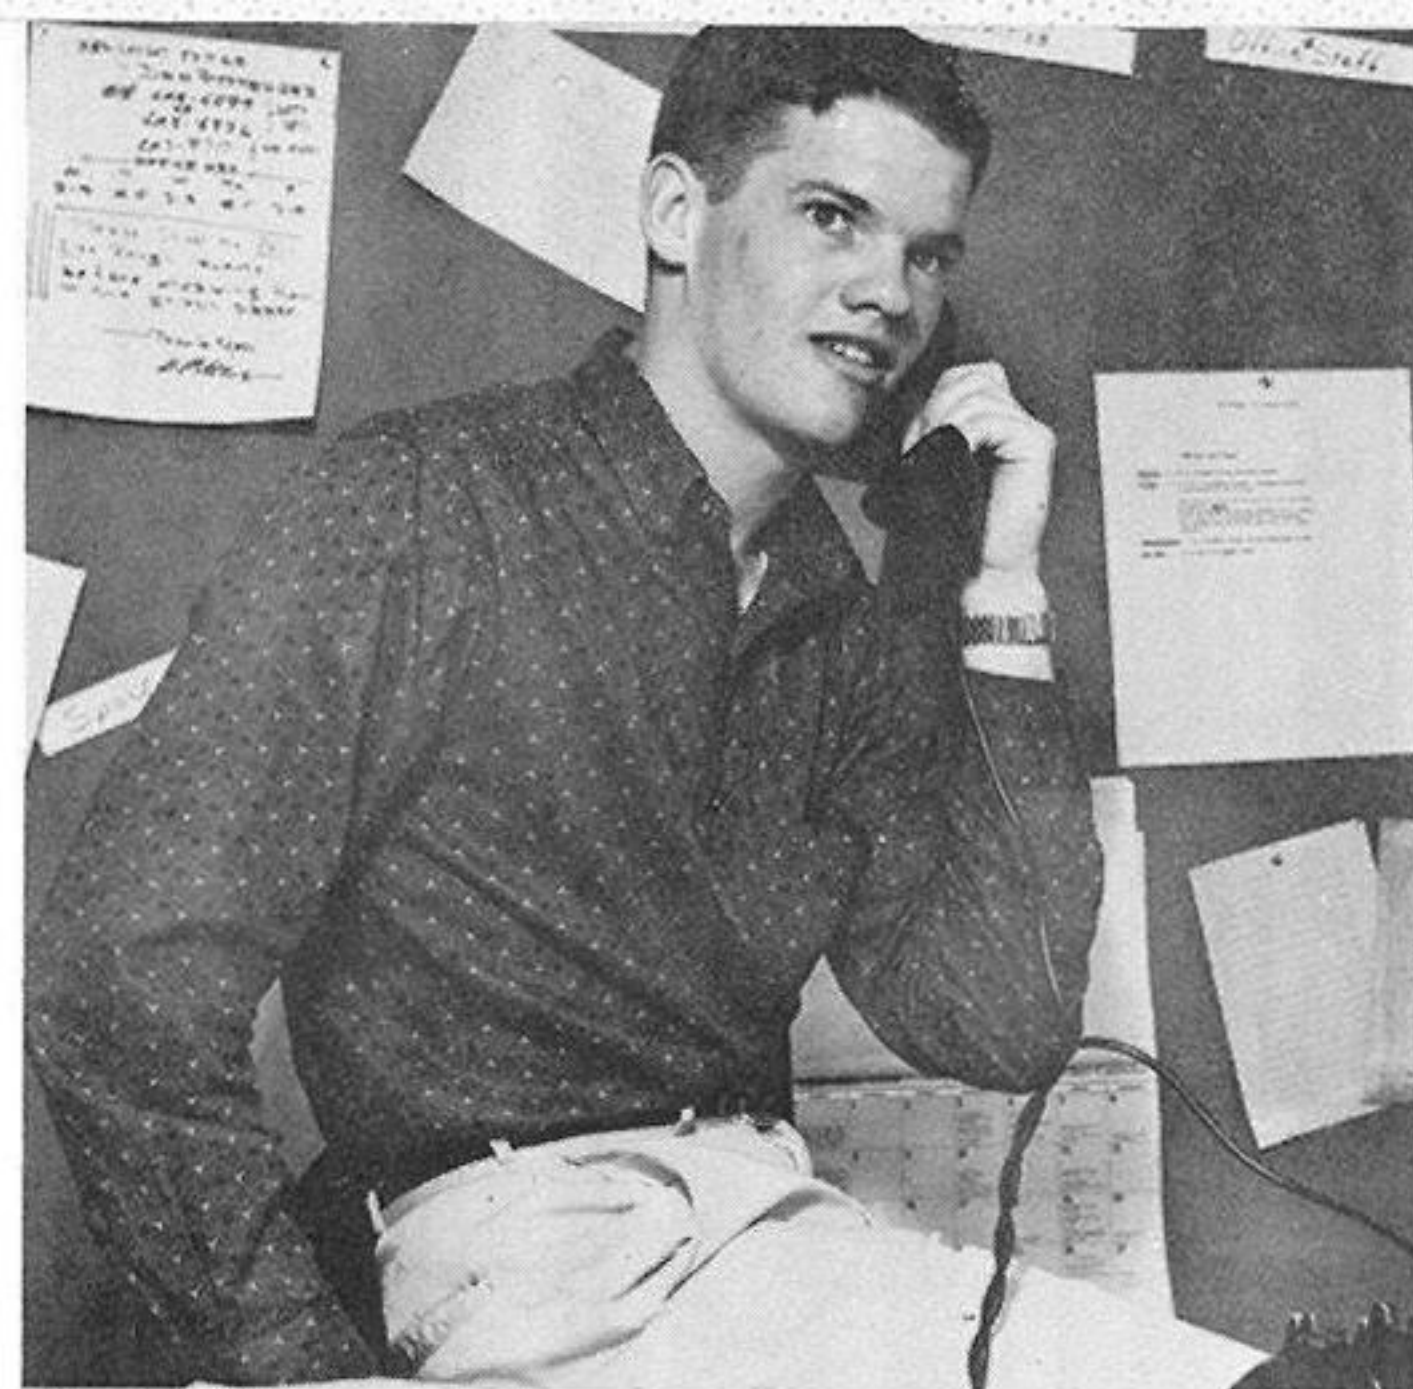

Layout manager Don Pittenger undertook the new-in-1960 campaign to make 450 pages look as if they belonged together, and, in addition, drew the Greek letters. Don surmounted a daily obstacle course of arguments over layouts, coupled with independent-inspired jibes about his fraternity, with admirable composure.

When busy Government editor Margaret Edin, seated, sorted through the section's photos, she found her face staring back out of many of them. Margaret's inside knowledge of government, plus the aid of Jean Rabe, Marcia Stephenson, Linda Hjenvoll and Cedelia Felton (not pictured) produced a good job.

In attempting to produce the Fraternities section, Jerry Tuttle's problem was twofold: first, how to convince 38 placid fraternities of the seriousness of his plight and, second, how to overcome his own persistent amnesia regarding standardized page margins.

Sororities editor Linda Freeman, left, and assistant Norene Schrenk deserved devotion-to-duty medals for long hours spent on a job complicated by early deadlines and a shortage of staff.

Ginger Marvin, seated, won an extra measure of sisterly devotion for painstakingly sorting out acres of misfiled—and monotonous—picture cards. Jody Gordon spent her time typing equally monotonous copy.

As Independents editor, Dotty Johnson faced early deadlines, misfiled picture cards and 12 embarrassing phone calls to inform men's dorm officers that, due to malfunctioning cameras, their pictures would have to be retaken. A glut-ton for punishment, she later returned to help with Seniors.

Organizations editor Sue Wickland, seated, and staff members Kristy Leivestad and Val Dent spent much of their time looking up picture numbers.

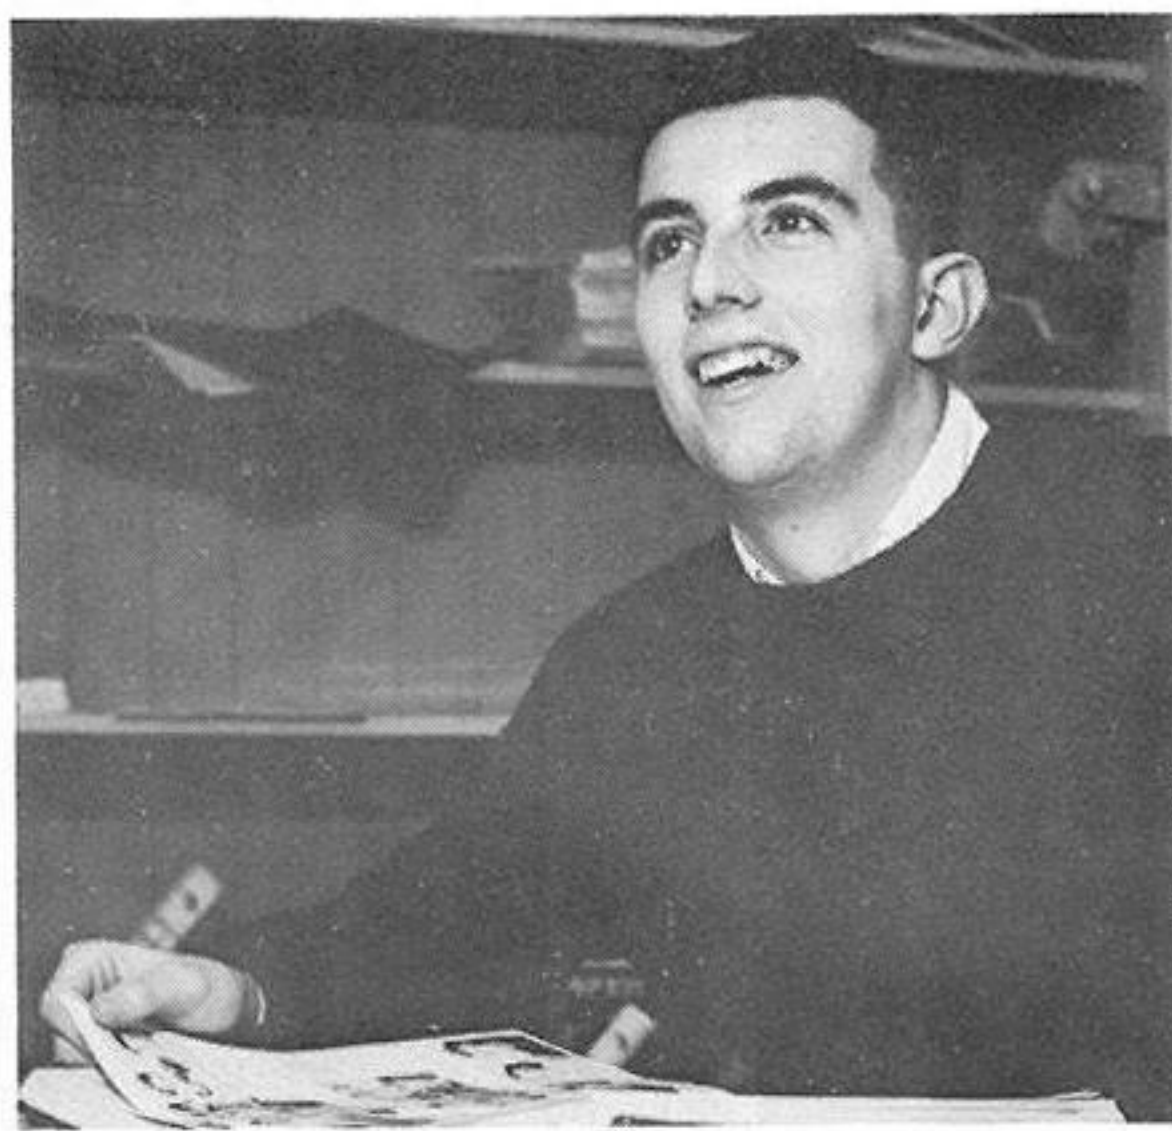

Royalty editor Pat Petrie spent hours on the telephone scheduling pictures; as an added sidelight found herself a finalist for one of the crowns.

Communications editor Sue Ganz, right, soon learned that the most difficult people to obtain copy from were communications majors. Sue was aided by Ann Peterson.

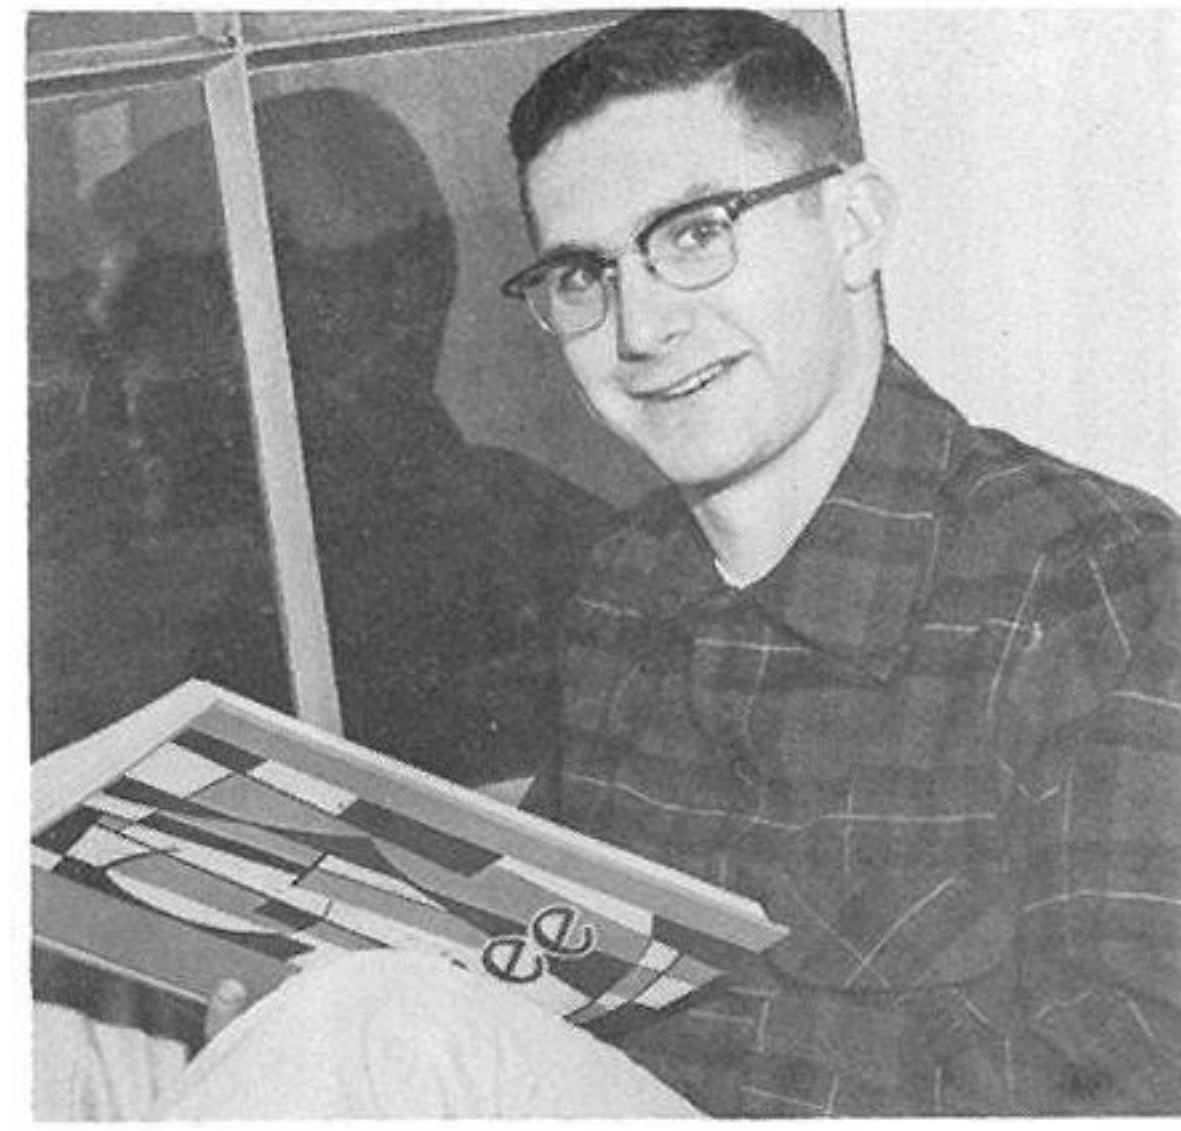

Tom Faragher turned out for crew, and edited the crew section in TYEE as well. His major problem: a shortage of good photos.

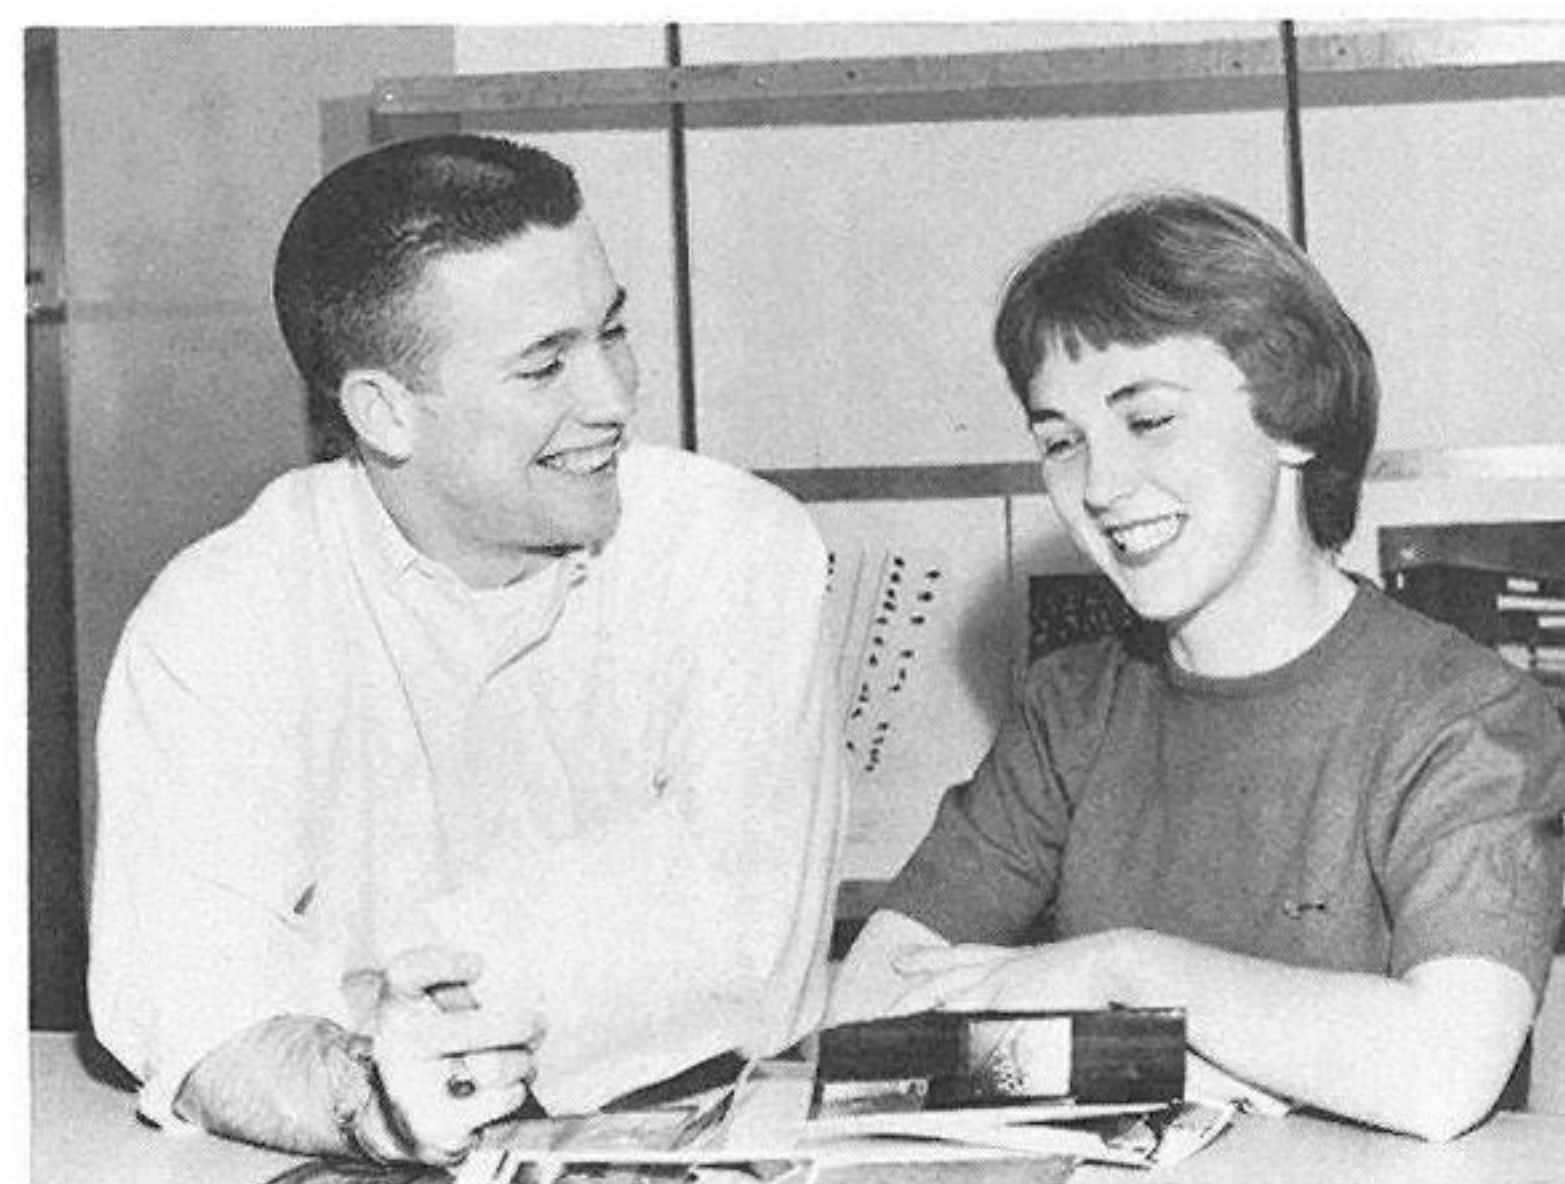

Larry Fox belonged to one of the winning intramural teams he wrote about in his section. Larry did a bang-up job in his first year on the staff.

Mike Carp was another who participated in the sport he wrote about. Mike edited the track section, successfully fought the battle of the early deadline.

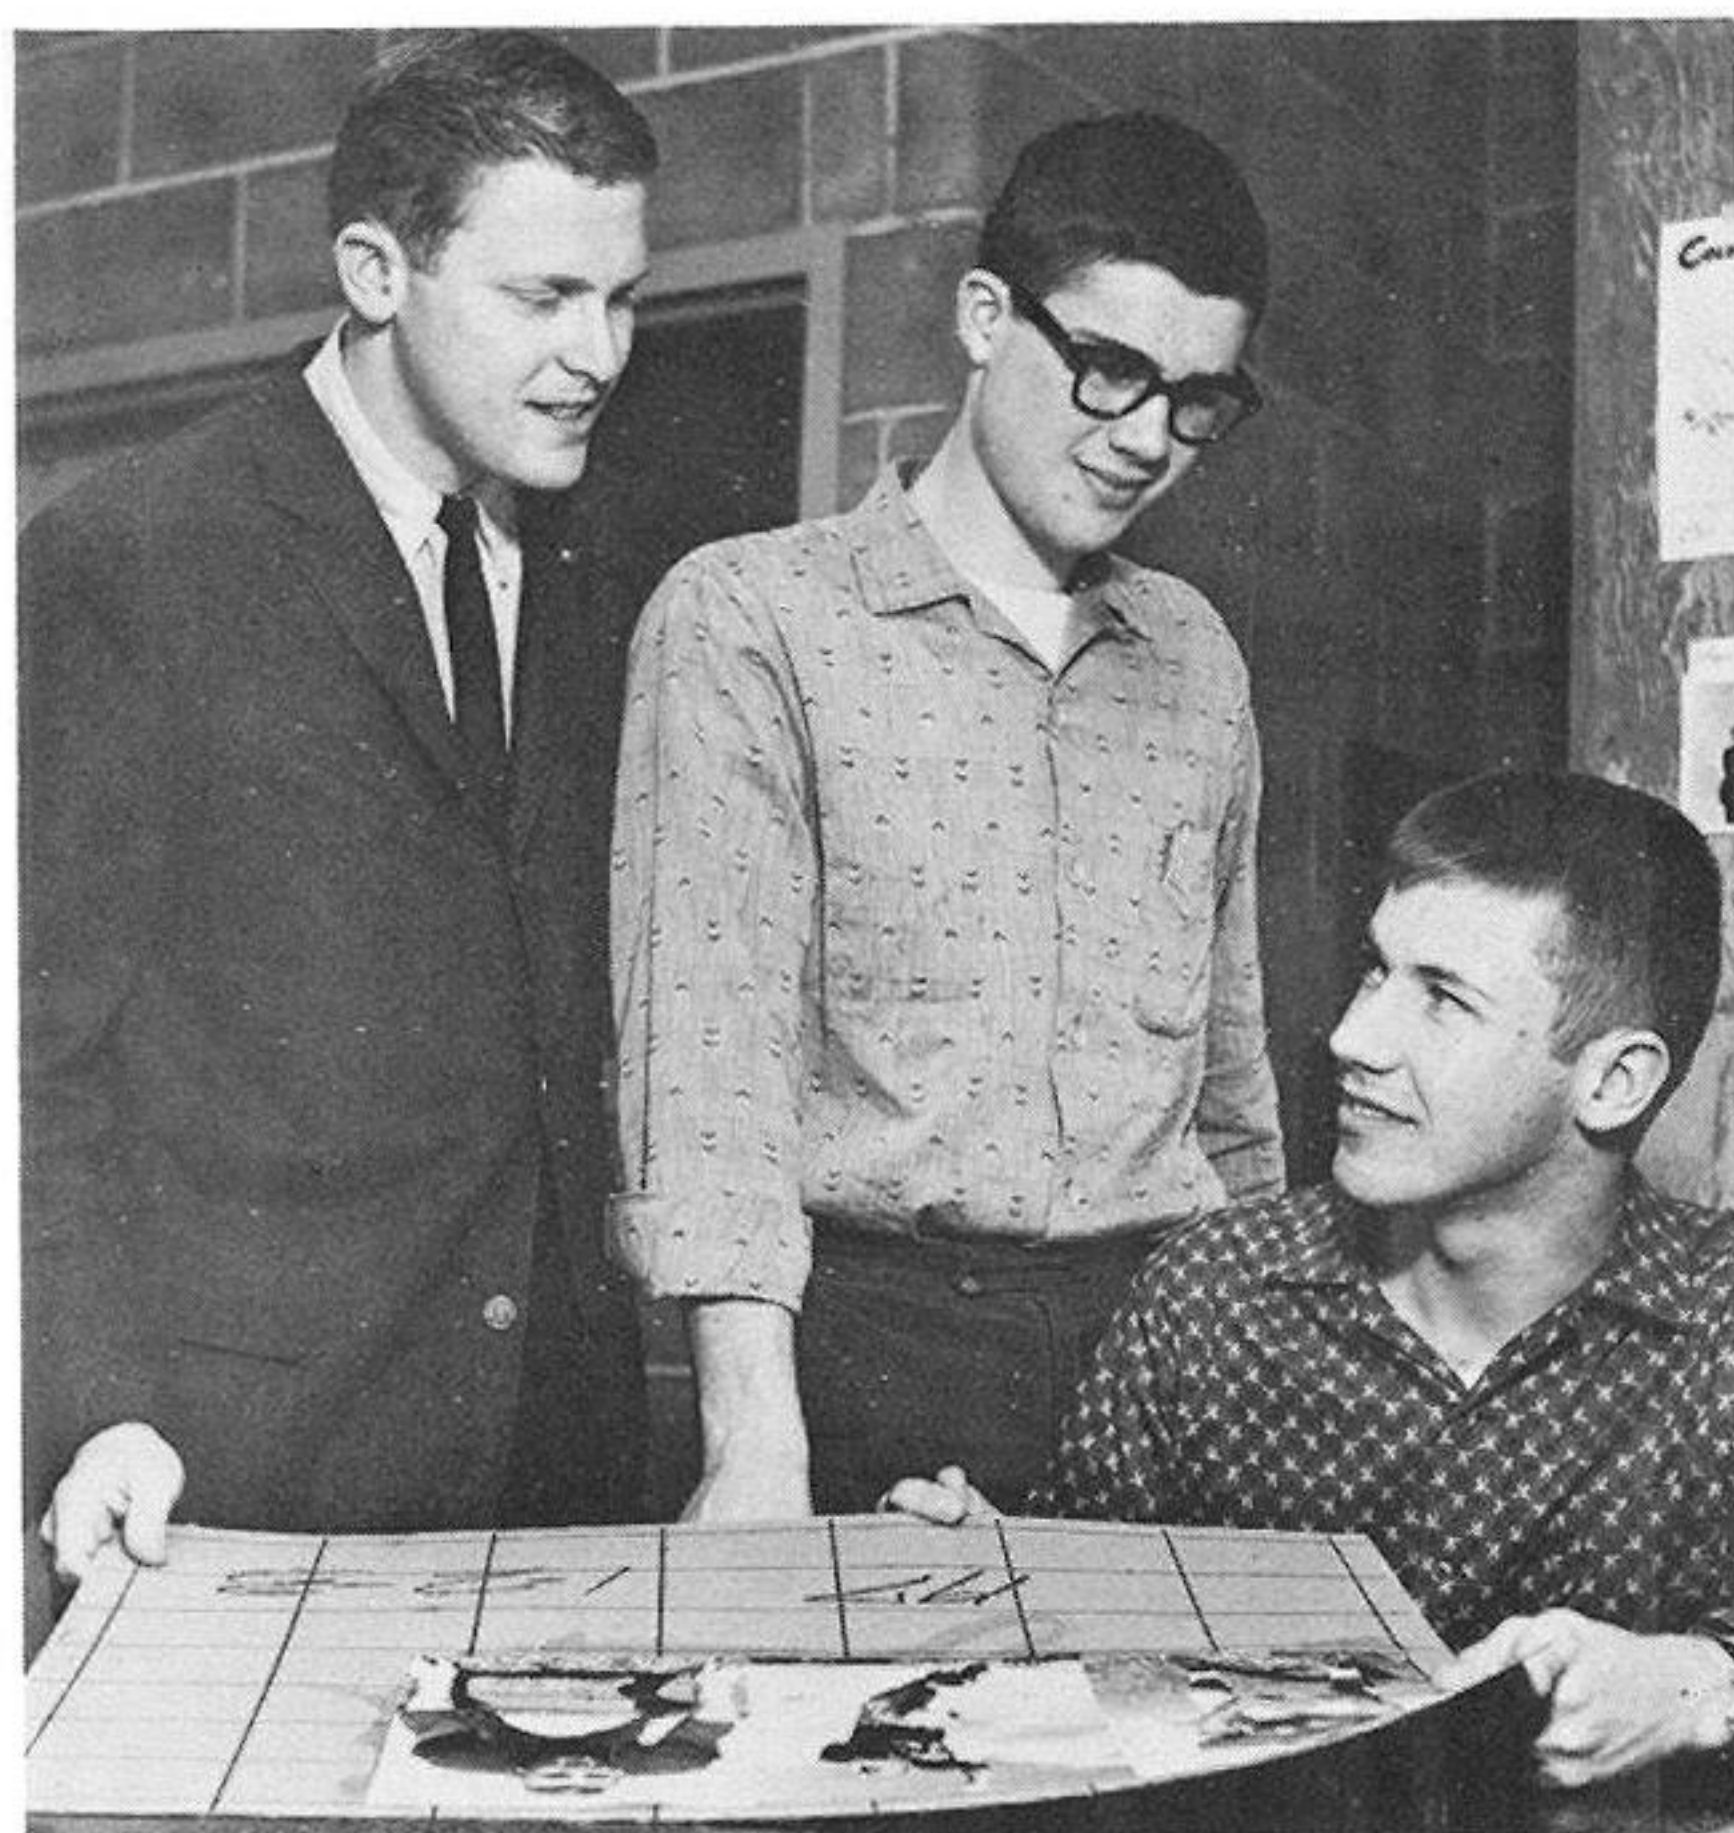

Glenn Collins enjoyed his work as basketball editor, despite a difficult deadline schedule. Part of the reason was his assistant, Judy Parke.

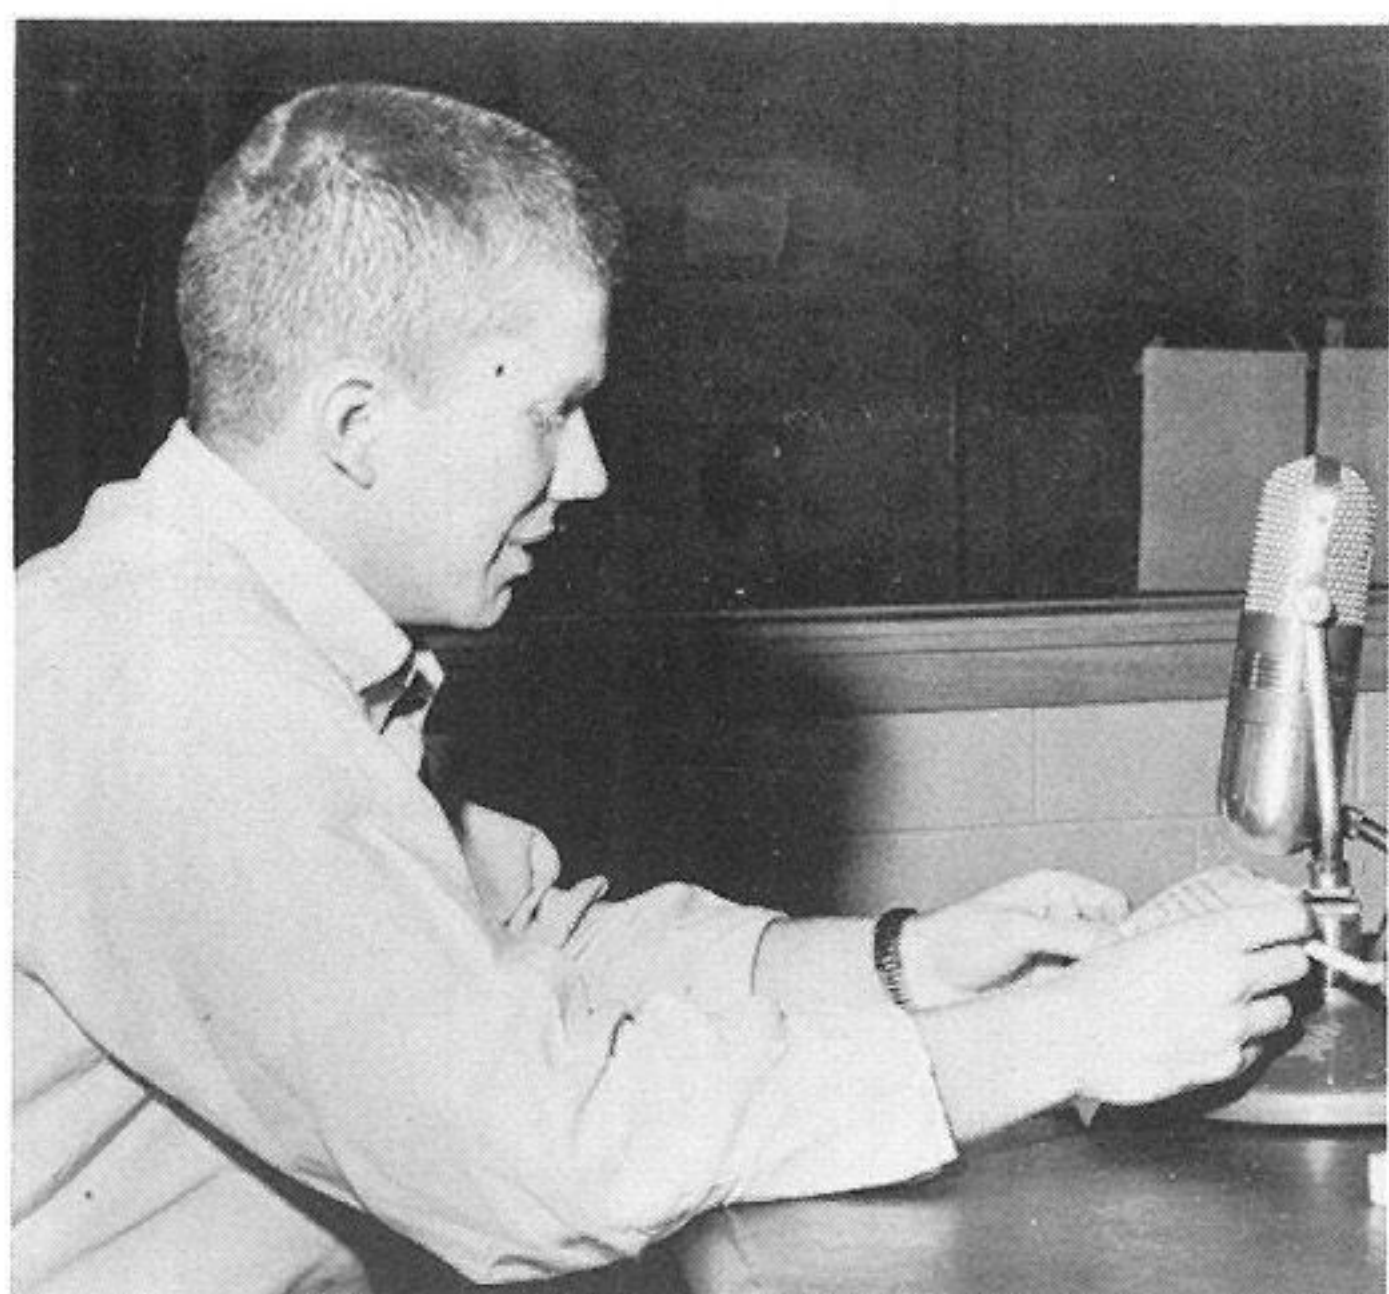

George Stewart and Sally Rivenes inspect some new photos. George edited the swimming section, while Sally covered women's sports.

The football staff had a pleasant year to cover. Dave Stern, left, wrote the fine Rose Bowl copy and season's summary, while Fred Pflugrath and editor Dick Bothell, seated, provided game-by-game coverage.

Two fraternity brothers who worked on TYEE were Dick Hannah, skiing editor, and Rich Carwell, baseball editor.

Bill Jenkins, KUOW newsman.

Tony Ward-Smith, board man, cues Maurice Shelby, assistant operations manager, and Ken Kaper, station operations manager.

Two brothers, Gerald and Elwyn Kechley, collaborated on an opera, "The Golden Lion," produced during the Christmas season by the University Opera Theatre. The opera, which has its setting in ninth century Byzantium at the summit of the empire's opulence and power, dramatizes the efforts of an aging patriarch to maintain order and to curb the destructive passions of a willful emperor. Two members of the cast are pictured at the left, Everett Kent as Amos and Sharen Feetham as Theodora.

In "Miranda and the Dark Young Man," a pretty daughter, an understanding aunt and a cherry tree prove more than a match for a tyrannical father. Pictured at the right are cast members Howard Nelson as the father, Sharen Feetham as the daughter and Nancy Nuckols as the aunt.

"Susanna's Secret" tells of a jealous husband who plays detective and eventually discovers his wife's secret passion. This one-act classic starred Doris Richards and Jack Turner.

Speaking Skills Developed

One of the most widely traveled organizations of the campus, the University of Washington Forensics Association, chalked up an impressive 8,000-mile record in its travels to debate tournaments throughout the Western states. Here they are pictured during a debate with the University of Hawaii which was televised over KCTS.

The yearly agenda of the Forensic Association is divided into three phases. The first phase is that of intercollegiate debate, while the second consists of public discussions and public speeches at civic clubs around Seattle. In the third phase Forensic members covered debates, problem-solving debates and symposiums here and at other colleges. In addition to traveling to Pullman for a symposium on religion in education, they were host to a West Point team for two parliamentary debates on Russian vs. American education. Listening attentively as Dale Clarke rehearses one of his arguments are Dr. David Strother, Forensics adviser, Lewis Bright, Dick Sween, John Gaedke, Margaret McLean, Sharon Oliver, Doric Holtz, Phil Mahony, Dennis Robbins, Clarke Cavin, Toni Kowalski, Carol Hurley, Walt Hubbard, Edith Campbell and Bob Stott.

The Readers Workshop, sponsored by the Department of Speech, presented a series of four Sunday Evening reading hours in the Music auditorium. In addition to a Christmas reading, the students read selections from the Tales and Verse of Thomas Hardy, Erik XIV by Johan August Strindberg, The Open Boat by Stephen Crane and Barefoot in Athens by Maxwell Anderson. Rehearsing for The Open Boat, under the direction of adviser Dr. Wilma Grimes, is the winter quarter group: Linda Halverson, Mary Quillian, Paul Roberts, Diana Wood, Gordon Edwards, Jan Callaher, Mike Lyon, Yolande Johnson and Sally Rivenes.

The University Singers, students enrolled in Miss Iris Jones' music class, specialize in choral music accompanied by instrumental ensembles for presentation at their May concert.

Formed in 1935 to sing sixteenth century music, the Madrigal Singers had an especially busy year, singing at the Christmas concert and faculty Christmas party, as well as entertaining the faculty wives and providing the off-stage chorus for "The Golden Lion," an opera by their director, Gerald Kechley. Seated around a table in informal manner are Madrigal members Lou Ann Wernli, Ann Erickson, Glenna Jean Rust, William Humphries, Francis Colby, Allan Capps, Kathryn Enbody, Judith Farrington and Linda Russel.

The University Concert Band, directed by Professor Walter Welke of the Music Department, is pictured during its annual appearance at the Christmas Concert.

The University Symphony Orchestra, directed by Doctor Stanley Chapple, Music Department head, gave one complimentary concert each quarter in Meany Hall.

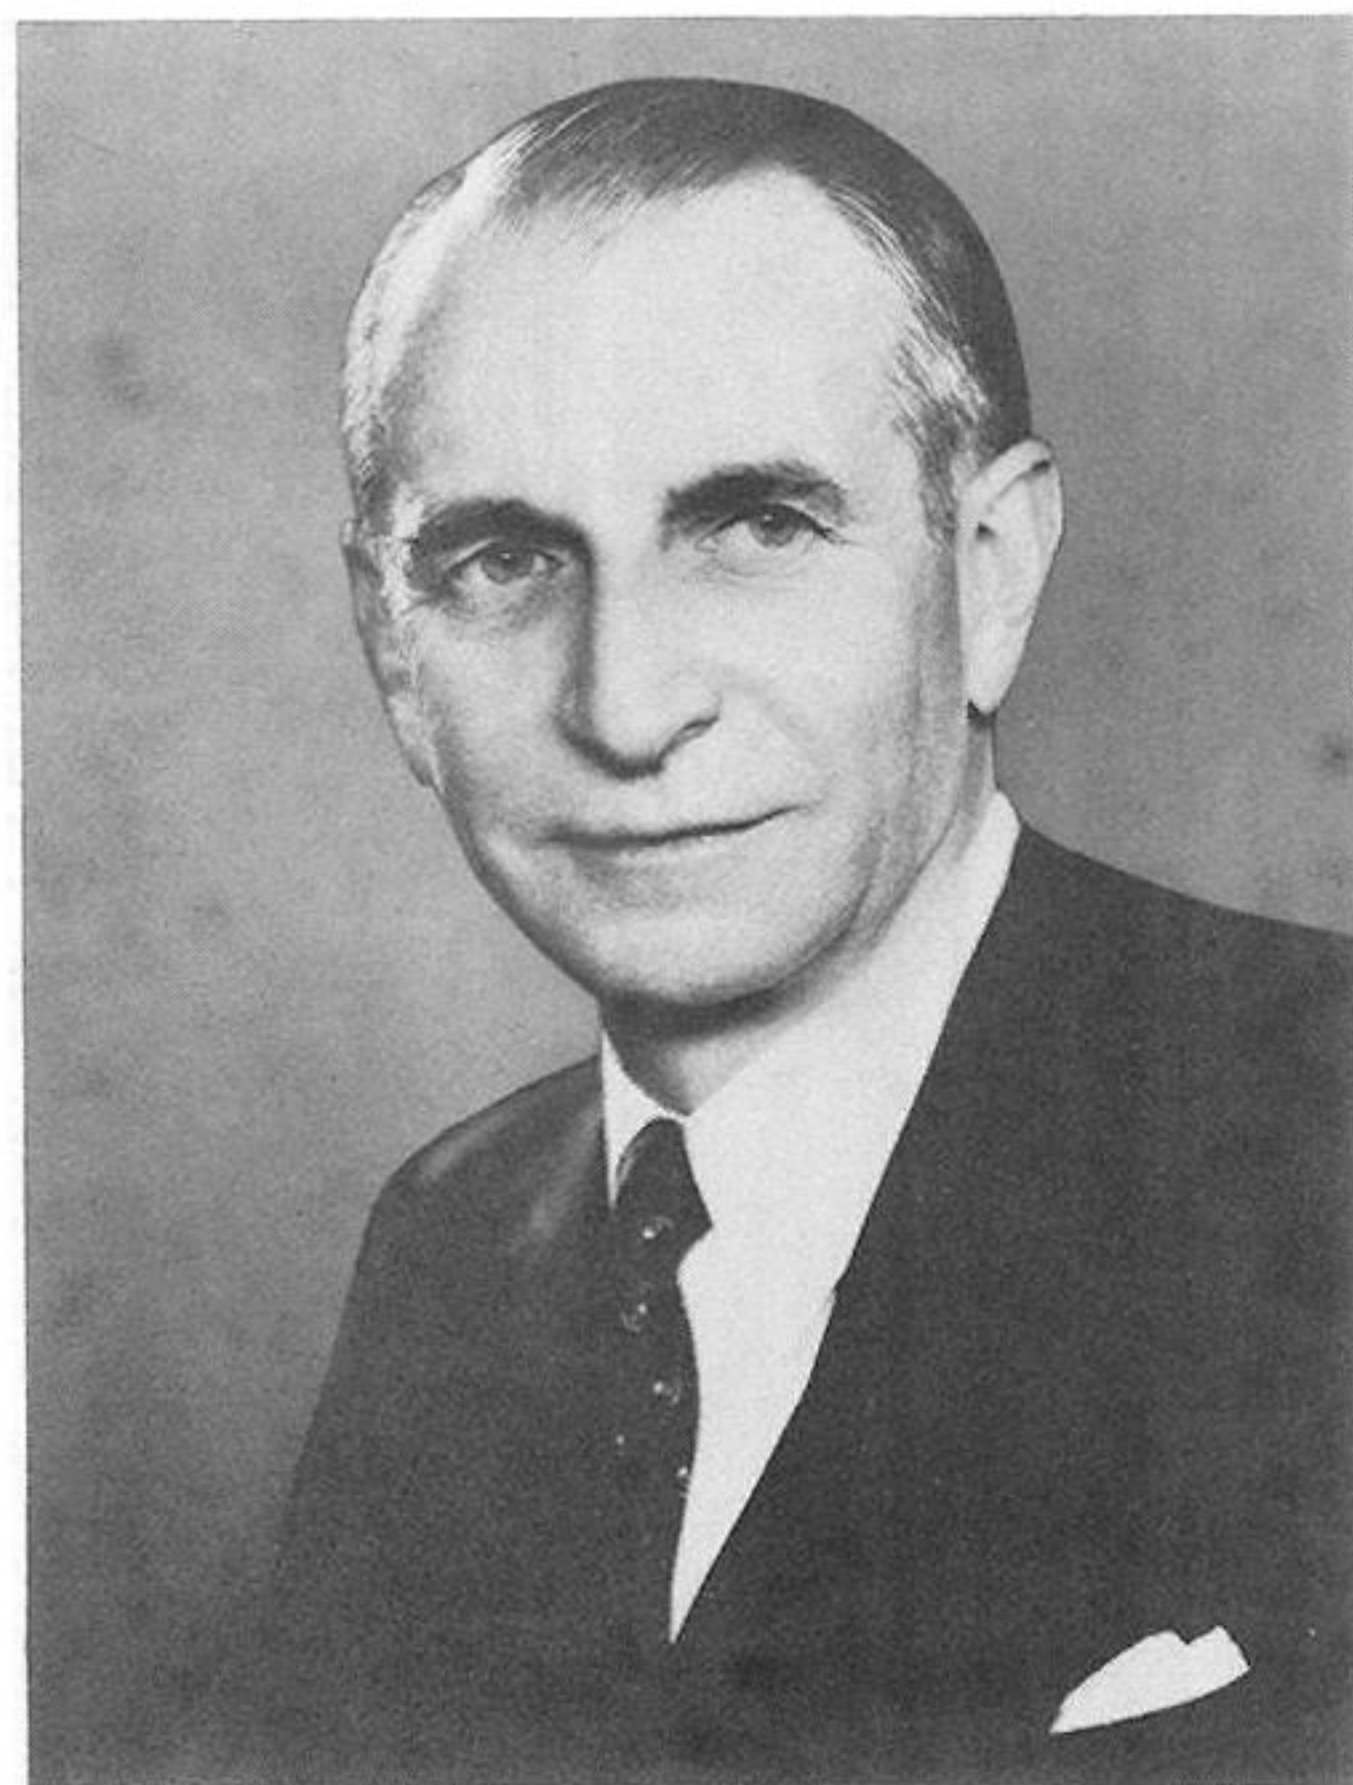

Student Music Groups Presented Concerts

The 80-member ASUW Glee Club, directed by Miss Iris Jones, is composed of students selected by audition. The Glee Club appeared on KING's Community Workshop in addition to on-campus performances at the ASUW Christmas party and Songfest.

The highlight of the summer cultural presentations was the June performance of the Gagaku, the musicians and dancers of the Japanese imperial household. Sponsored jointly by several University departments through the courtesy of the Japanese consul, the company has undergone rigid training in classical Western music as well as the Gagaku or "elegant music" techniques.

The first speaker of the 1960 Spectrum Lecture Series was Edward Weeks, editor of the Atlantic Monthly, who spoke on "The Editor's Chair" during early winter quarter. Later in the quarter, British novelist Alec Waugh aired his views as "A Novelist on Novels."

Artists Enriched

The Faculty String Quartet performed in numerous concerts in the Seattle area as well as their regular campus series. Members of the quartet are Emanuel Zetlin, Richard Ferrin, Eva Heinitz and Vilem Sokol.

Speaking on the topic "Reporting America to the British," Alistair Cooke, the coordinator of television's "Omnibus," was the final speaker of the 1959-1960 Spectrum Series. He was preceded by Henry Kissinger, director of Harvard's Center for International Affairs, whose topic was "Nuclear Weapons and Strategy."

"Le Misanthrope" starred Jacques Dumesnil, one of France's leading actors. Written by Moliere, the play was presented in French by the Vieux-Colombier troupe. The group of eleven French actors was brought to the United States to play in colleges and universities under the auspices of the Cultural Counselor to the French Embassy.

Campus Scene

The Friends of Music Series presented five European string quartets for University music lovers. The Smetana Quartet pictured here was the second in the 1959-60 series which also included the Netherlands, Vegh, Quarteto di Roma and Amadeus String Quartets.

The Campus Pops concerts by the Seattle Symphony, directed by Milton Katims, afforded Washington students two opportunities to hear fine classical music on campus. These fall and spring concerts were sponsored by the AMS-AWS concerts committee.

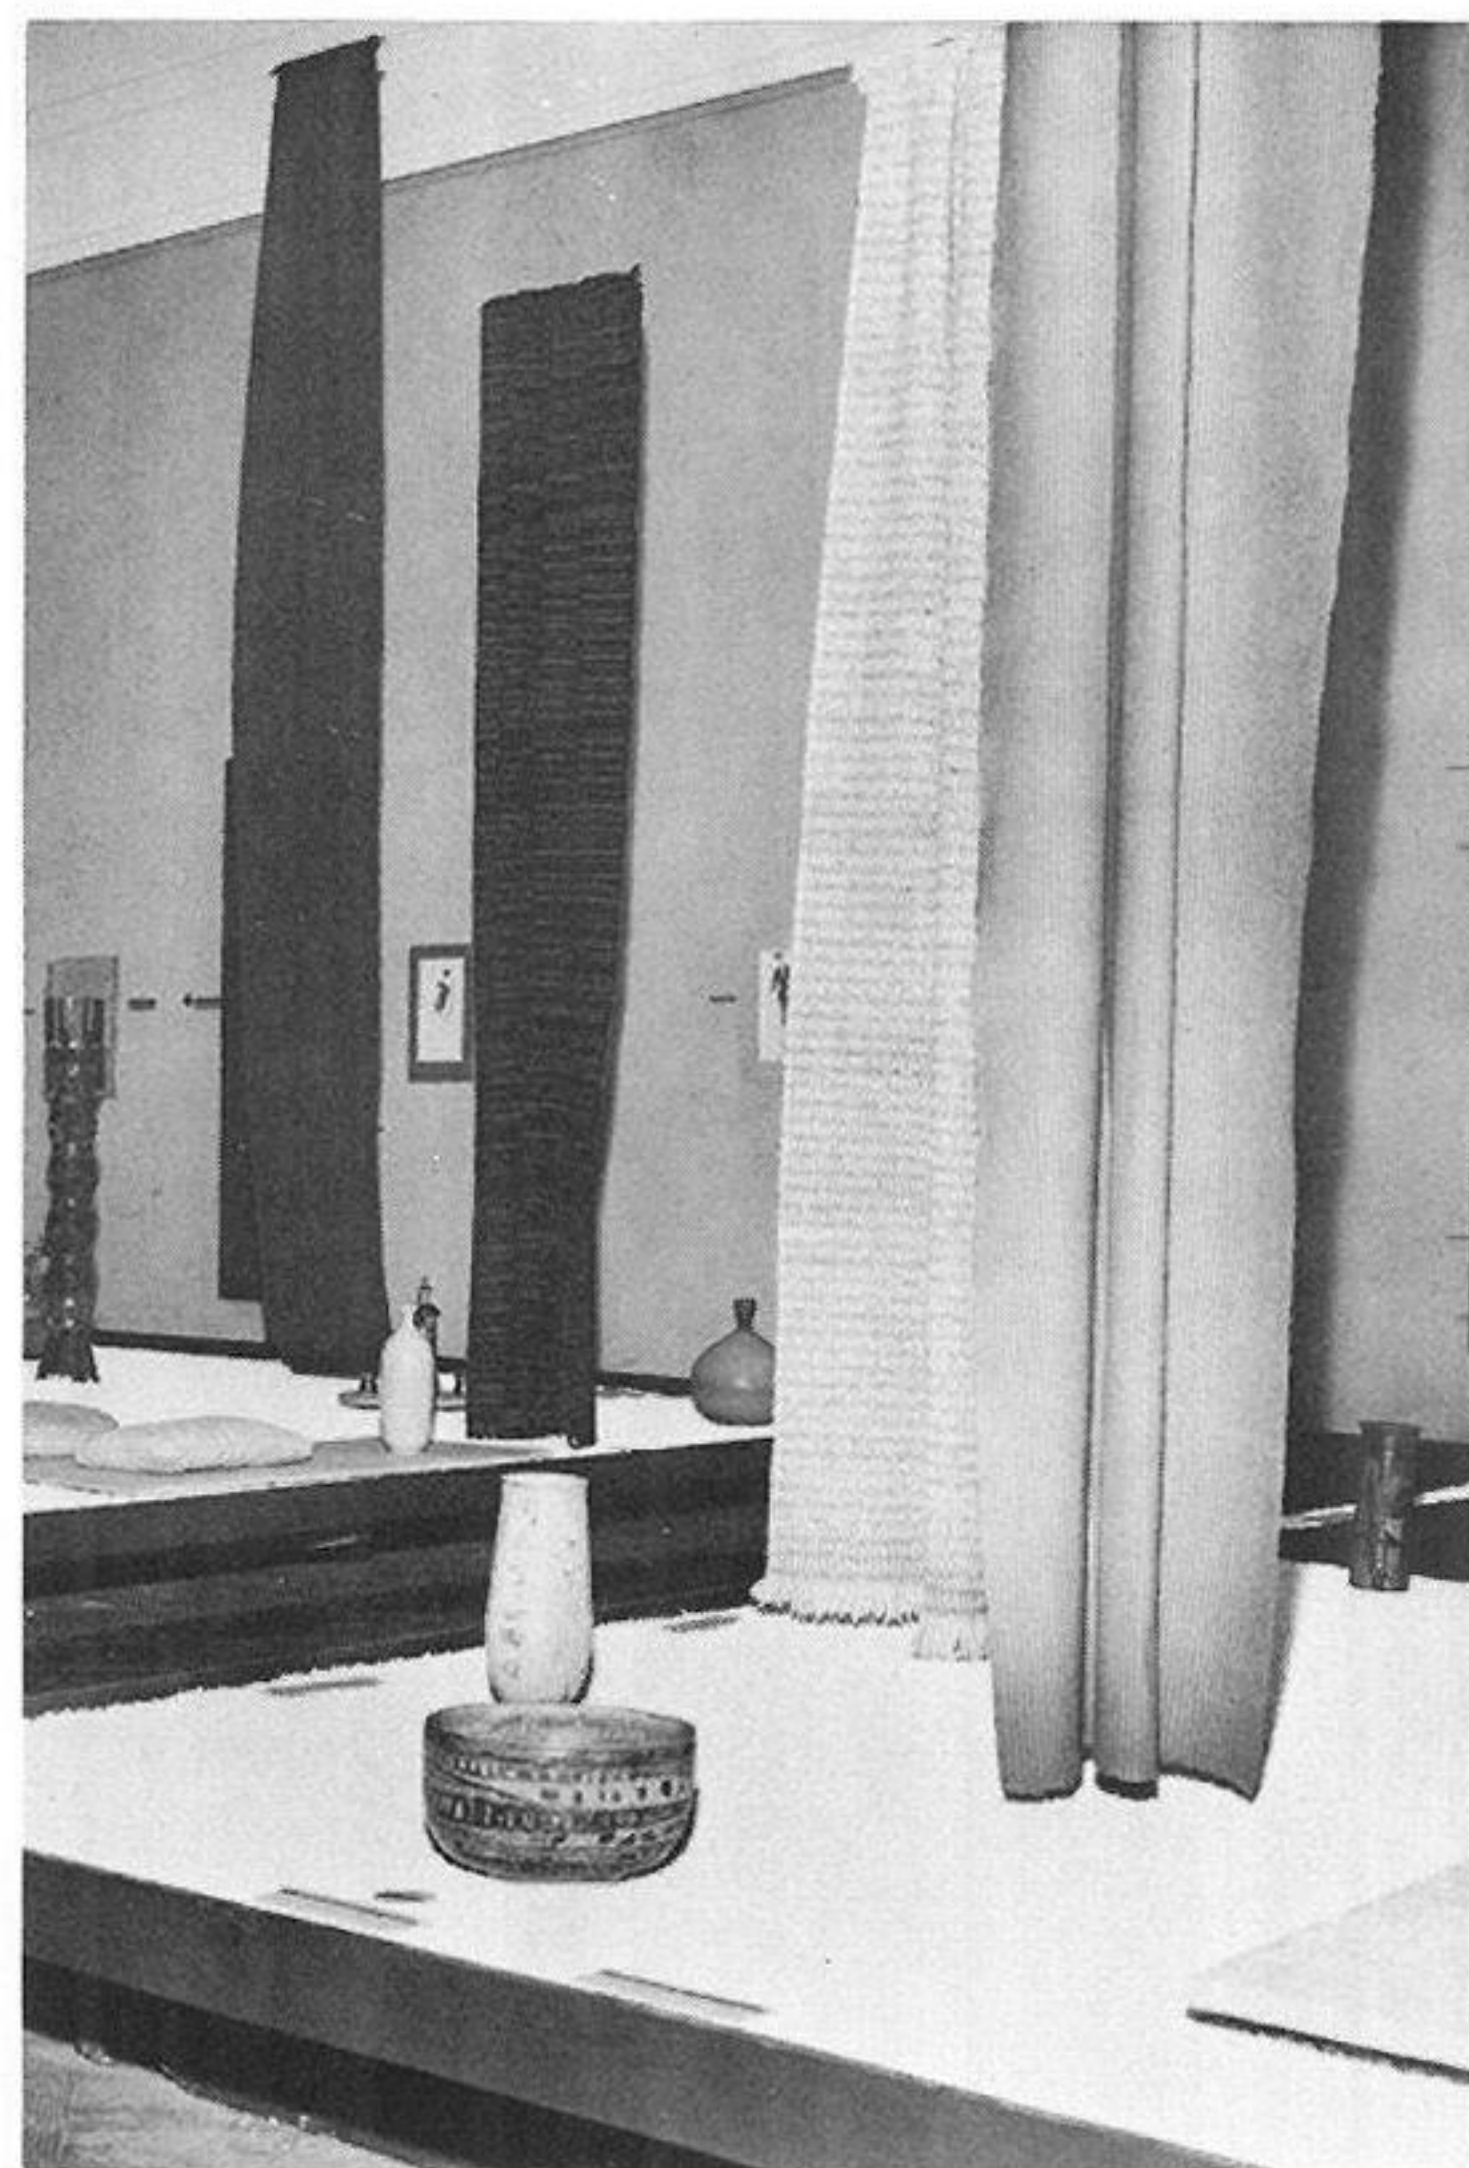

The Henry Art Gallery

Northwest Art Shown

The Henry Gallery, located on the west side of the campus, was built in 1926 with funds donated by Horace C. Henry as a home for the collection of late 19th and early 20th century paintings which he gave to the University. Selections from the Henry collection were shown from time to time this year in addition to international, national and regional exhibitions of work by professional and student artists.

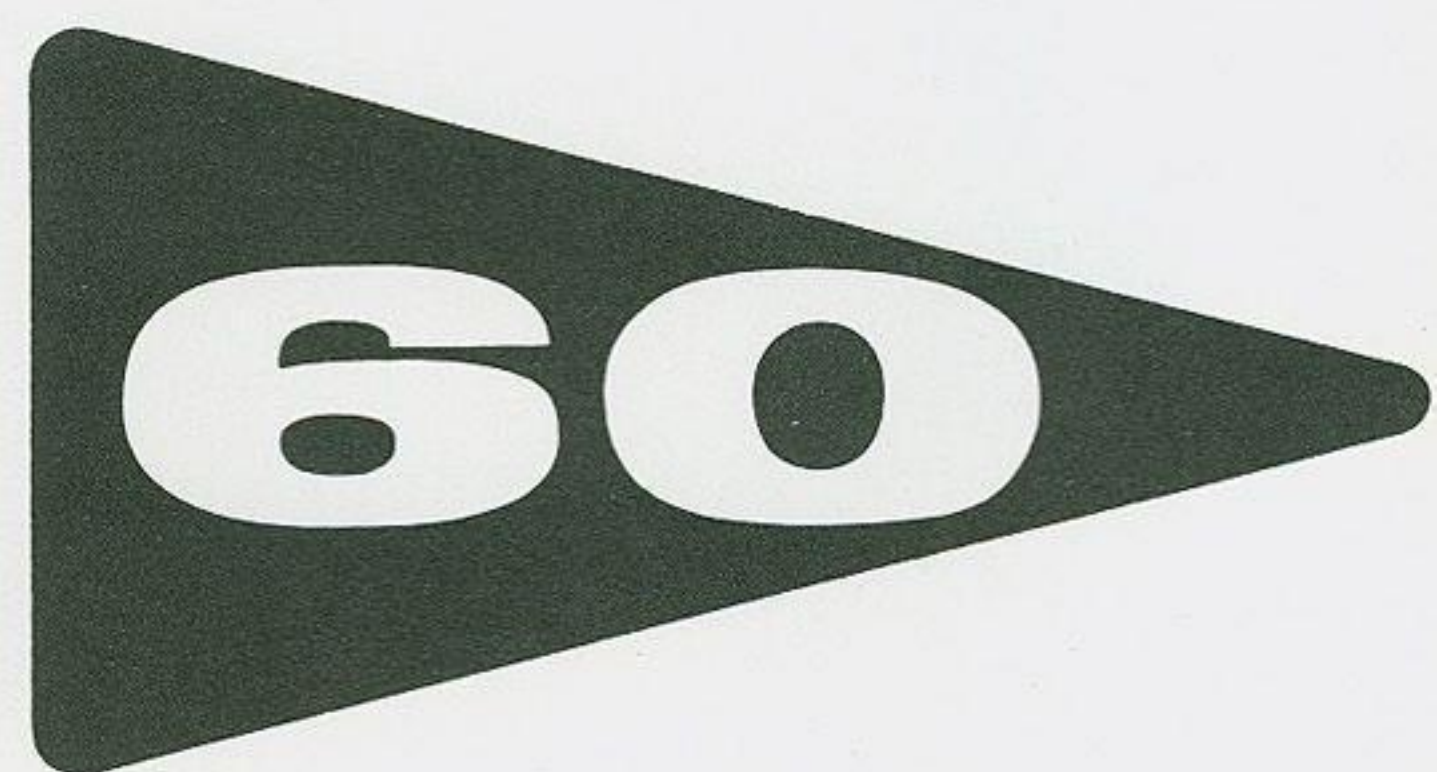

During the spring and summer of 1959, the Marsden Hartley Retrospective, "Living Design" and Artists of Puget Sound exhibits were shown at the Gallery while the Hallmark International Art Award, V'soske Rugs and Picasso ("La Suite Vollard") shows came during the fall and winter.

As it enters its thirty-fifth year, the Henry Gallery continues to provide cultural leadership at Washington by bringing first-rate art to the campus.

In March, the Northwest Craftsmen's exhibit of pottery, jewelry, wood-working and fabrics by artists of the Northwestern states came to the Henry Gallery. Students taking Art 480 made fashion drawings illustrating the possibilities of each piece of fabric shown in the exhibit.

Printmakers from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming and Montana submitted works to the competitive Northwest Printmakers' Exhibition held at the gallery during December. Judges for the show were Bill Colbey, instructor at the University of Puget Sound; Art Hansen, printmaker and instructor at the Burnley School of Art, and Robert Huck, instructor at Oregon State College.

ATHLETICS
ΑΛΗΓΕΛΙΣ

► Athletic thrills were many, and disappointments few, at the University of Washington during the year 1959.

The wheels of the Washington sports machine ground out championships in swimming, baseball and football. The gymnastic team and crew were both undefeated in regular season competition. The track squad finished second in the Northern Division Meet. A young, inexperienced basketball team proved sports are played from the heart when they finished the season with a better record than had been expected.

Memories of athletes and sports contests fade. But no Washington fan will ever forget that sunny afternoon on January 1, 1960, when an underdog Husky football team shocked the country with its crushing 44-8 victory over the Wisconsin Badgers. This Rose Bowl win was the first in Washington history, and it erased the bitter taste of past defeats in all sports.

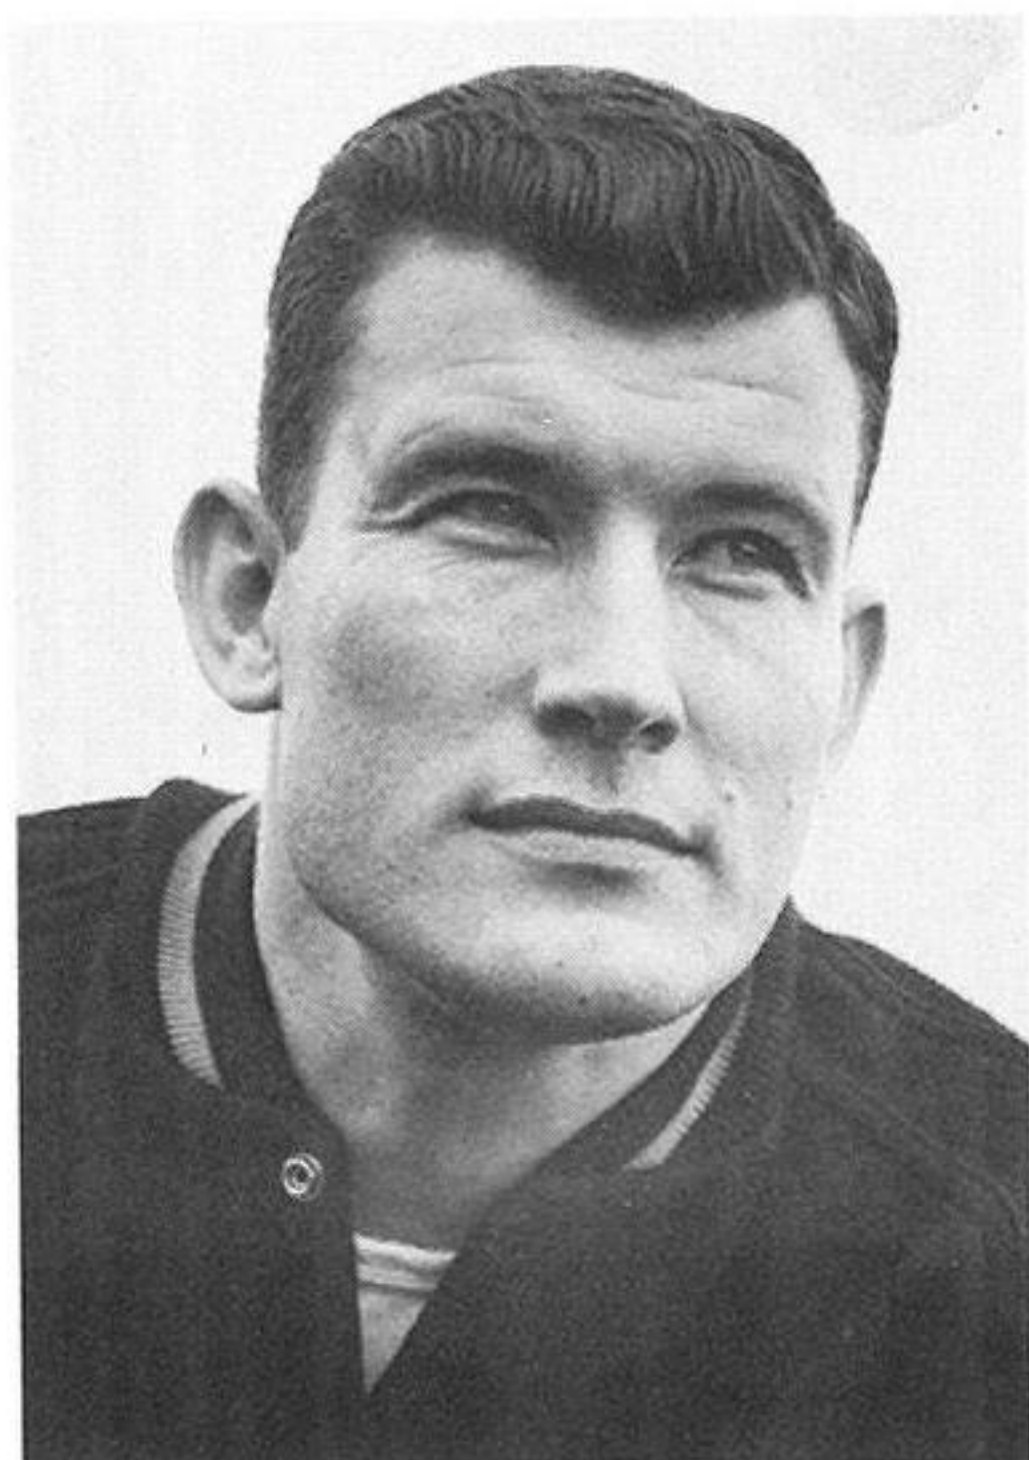

When the 1959 Husky sports folder is closed, it can be stamped with one word—"success."

Game Spirit

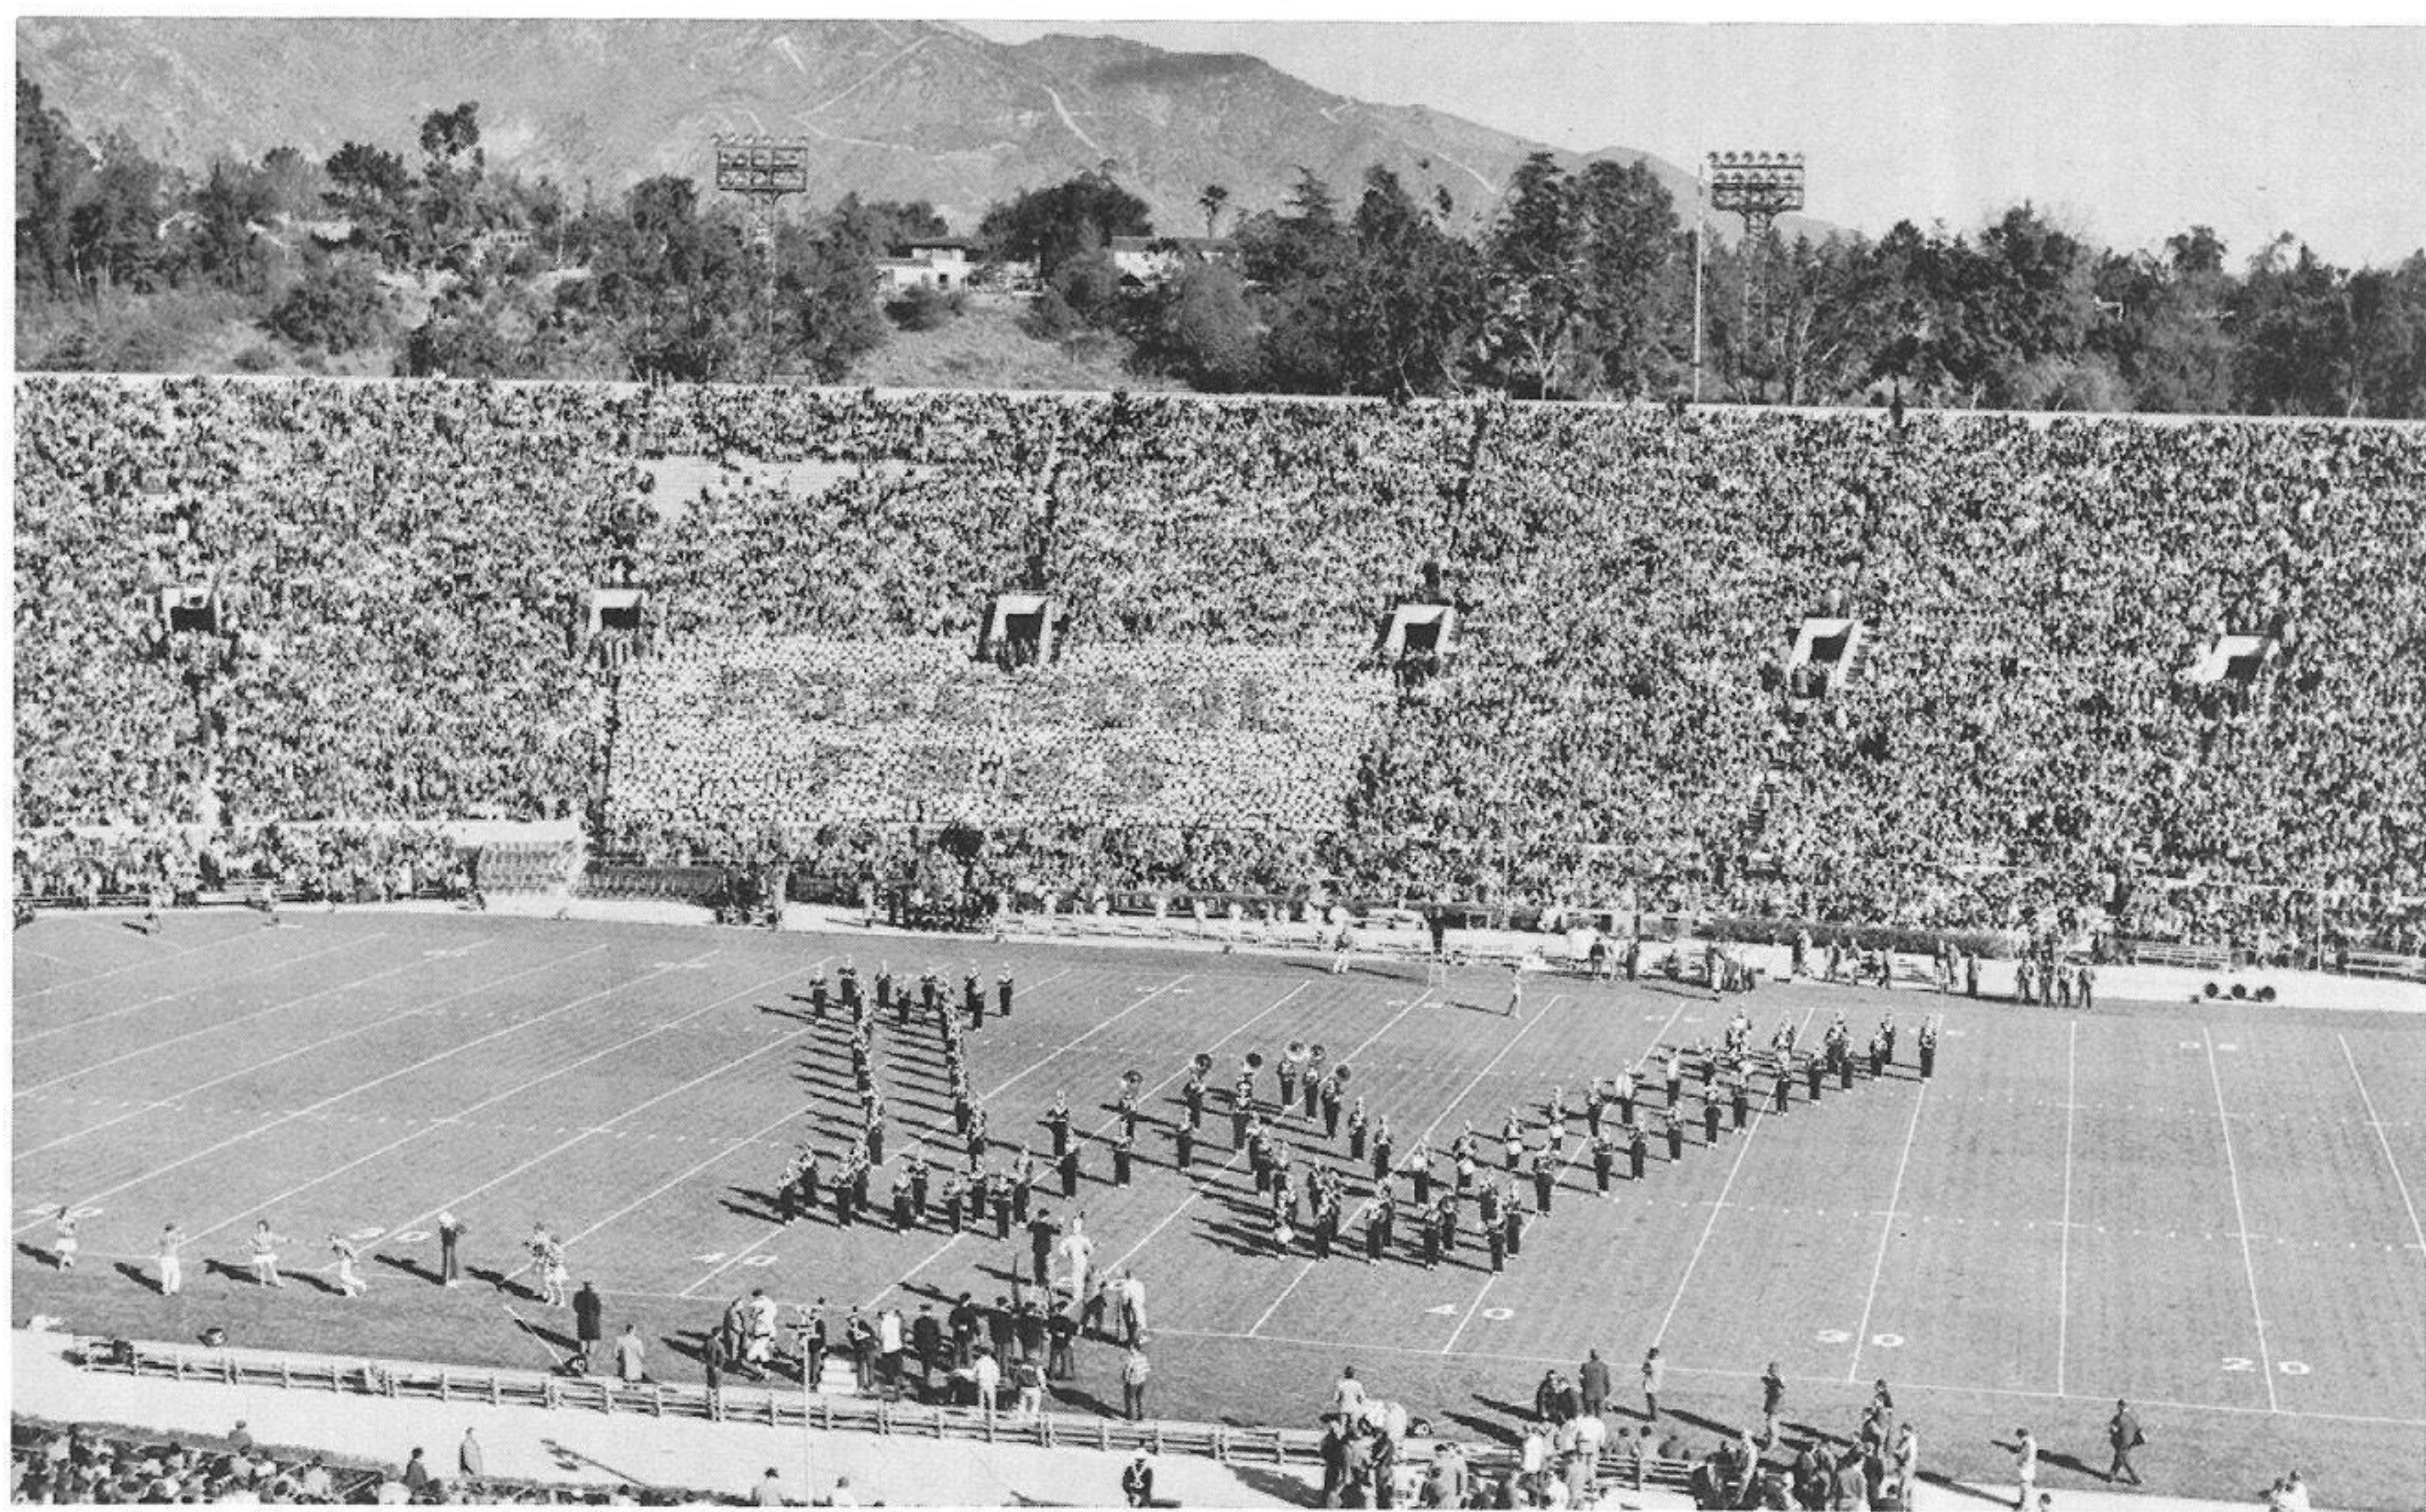

The Rose Bowl-bound Huskies had the support of the University's 100-member marching band. After the exhausting Tournament of Roses Parade, the band snapped back with a flashy halftime show during the Rose Bowl game. The band also performed for home games and the games in Portland and Berkeley. Mary Lou Ingram and Bob Flenbaugh led the band as majorette and drum major. Bill Cole, assisted by Phil Ager, directed the group.

The new Husky mascot, King Chinook, is held by ASUW President Don Nielsen. King Chinook nosed out his rival, Denali, on the grounds of purer blood lines.

Washington's gay songleaders are Sally Brainard, Linnea Rasmussen, Vicki MacDonald, Queen Sherry Samuelson, Pat Elder, Marilyn Snyder, Barbara Huebschman and Barbara Cole. Cheerleaders are Kent Barber, Dave Toner, Larry Snider, Herb Schoenfeld, Chet Brown, Ron Segerbloom and Ed Petersen.

Yell Staff, Rally,

Several student groups at Washington exist specifically to bolster Husky spirit. Washington's colorful cheerleaders and songleaders spend long hours rehearsing their routines for football and basketball games, and this year rated a memorable Rose Bowl trip as their reward. Rally Girls sell corsages, decorate goal posts, help set up the card stunts and aid with Homecoming preparations. Sundodgers, the recently revitalized men's spirit group, select the yell and song leading staffs and organize rallies and card stunt sections.

The victorious Huskies were welcomed back from California by a huge crowd of Washington fans.

"Here come two more passengers!" calls a songleader to the Sundodgers chauffeurs during Homecoming Rally.

Charlotte Avery, Rally Girls member, spruces up a memorial plaque near the University's main entrance in preparation for Homecoming. Rally Girls carry on a number of such service projects.

Highlight of 1960: a Rose Bowl Victory

"After USC you can take your pick in the 14 splinter groups, and in fact on the Coast in general. Our own candidate for second best is California. . . . The other two, UCLA and Washington, apparently will finish in that order within the new league. . . ."

That's the way football's foremost forecasting expert, Stanley Woodward, saw the 1959 season before it got underway. When it was over, at least as far as the West Coast was concerned, Woodward must have turned in his crystal ball on a new model and written a letter of apology to Husky Coach Jim Owens.

Woodward's only real consolation was that he wasn't the only "expert" who saw Washington near the bottom of the new Athletic Association of Western Universities.

The Huskies had finished the 1958 season with a 3-7 record, but the same team with a little more experience and a lot more confidence, became the top team on the Coast with a 9-1 record, humiliated the best squad the Big Ten could put in the Rose Bowl, and won the praise of football experts from coast to coast.

Week after week as the season progressed, the Huskies came up with the big play when they needed it and shattered the opposition's offensive attack with a timely interception, jarring tackles which knocked the ball loose, and a tough defense that held when the chips were down.

Paramount in the transition of the Huskies from a tailender to a powerful football machine was a substitute junior quarterback with only 10 per cent vision in one eye. Bob Schloredt got his big chance to show what he could do when the Husky number one quarterback, Bob Hivner, who was number two on the Coast in 1958, was injured in Washington's opening game against Colorado. Schloredt picked up the ball and ran all the way into the 1959 All-American backfield.

Three other juniors played major roles in Washington's powerful offense. Halfback Don McKeta, the inspirational award winner, was the morale booster with his slashing tackles and ferocious blocking and running. George Fleming, who along with Schloredt was the most valuable player in the Rose Bowl, did all of the kicking; providing a 3-pointer from as much as 40 yards out when it was needed. Fleming also showed great form as a defensive safety man, runner and pass receiver. Little Ray Jackson, a junior college transfer, provided terrific punch up the middle. Every man in the Husky backfield was dangerous—and the men who replaced them could move the ball too.

The real power of the 1959 Huskies, and the thing that made the backs go, was the rugged Washington line. The ends, Lee Folkins and John Meyers, tackles Kurt Gegner and Larry Bullard, guards Chuck Allen and Bill Kinune and center Roy McKasson constantly opened up holes for the Husky backs. And when Schloredt dropped back to throw, the linemen gave him protection like the Walls of Jericho.

It was a great year for Washington . . . possibly the greatest year in Husky football history. Coach Jim Owens was the West's "Coach of the Year," and his team was definitely the "Team of the Year." And best of all, nearly everybody will be back in 1960.

Washington 23 Idaho 0

From the opening kickoff paydirt was not far off for an eager Husky team. It took two plays to strike it rich in the Idaho end zone. The Vandals were forced to kick after receiving the ball on the Husky kickoff. Fleming took the ball on his own 48-yard line and returned it to the Vandal 32-yard line, where Bob Schloredt handed it to Ray Jackson, then to Fleming for the touchdown.

Late in the first period the Vandals came alive with a drive down to the Husky 21-yard line where Stan Chapple nailed Gary Farnworth for a seven-yard loss on fourth down.

A 62-yard run back by Fleming opened the second half and put the ball on the Idaho 31-yard line, where a pass by Schloredt to Fleming and drives by Don McKeta, then Schloredt, gave the Huskies another score. Another march late in the game brought the ball to the Vandal 13-yard line, where Fleming kicked a field goal, bringing the final score to 23 to 0.

Huskies Scored

The Huskies made a faltering beginning in their battle with the Utes. On the second play the Huskies fumbled the ball and the Utes recovered, driving the remaining 37 yards for the first touchdown.

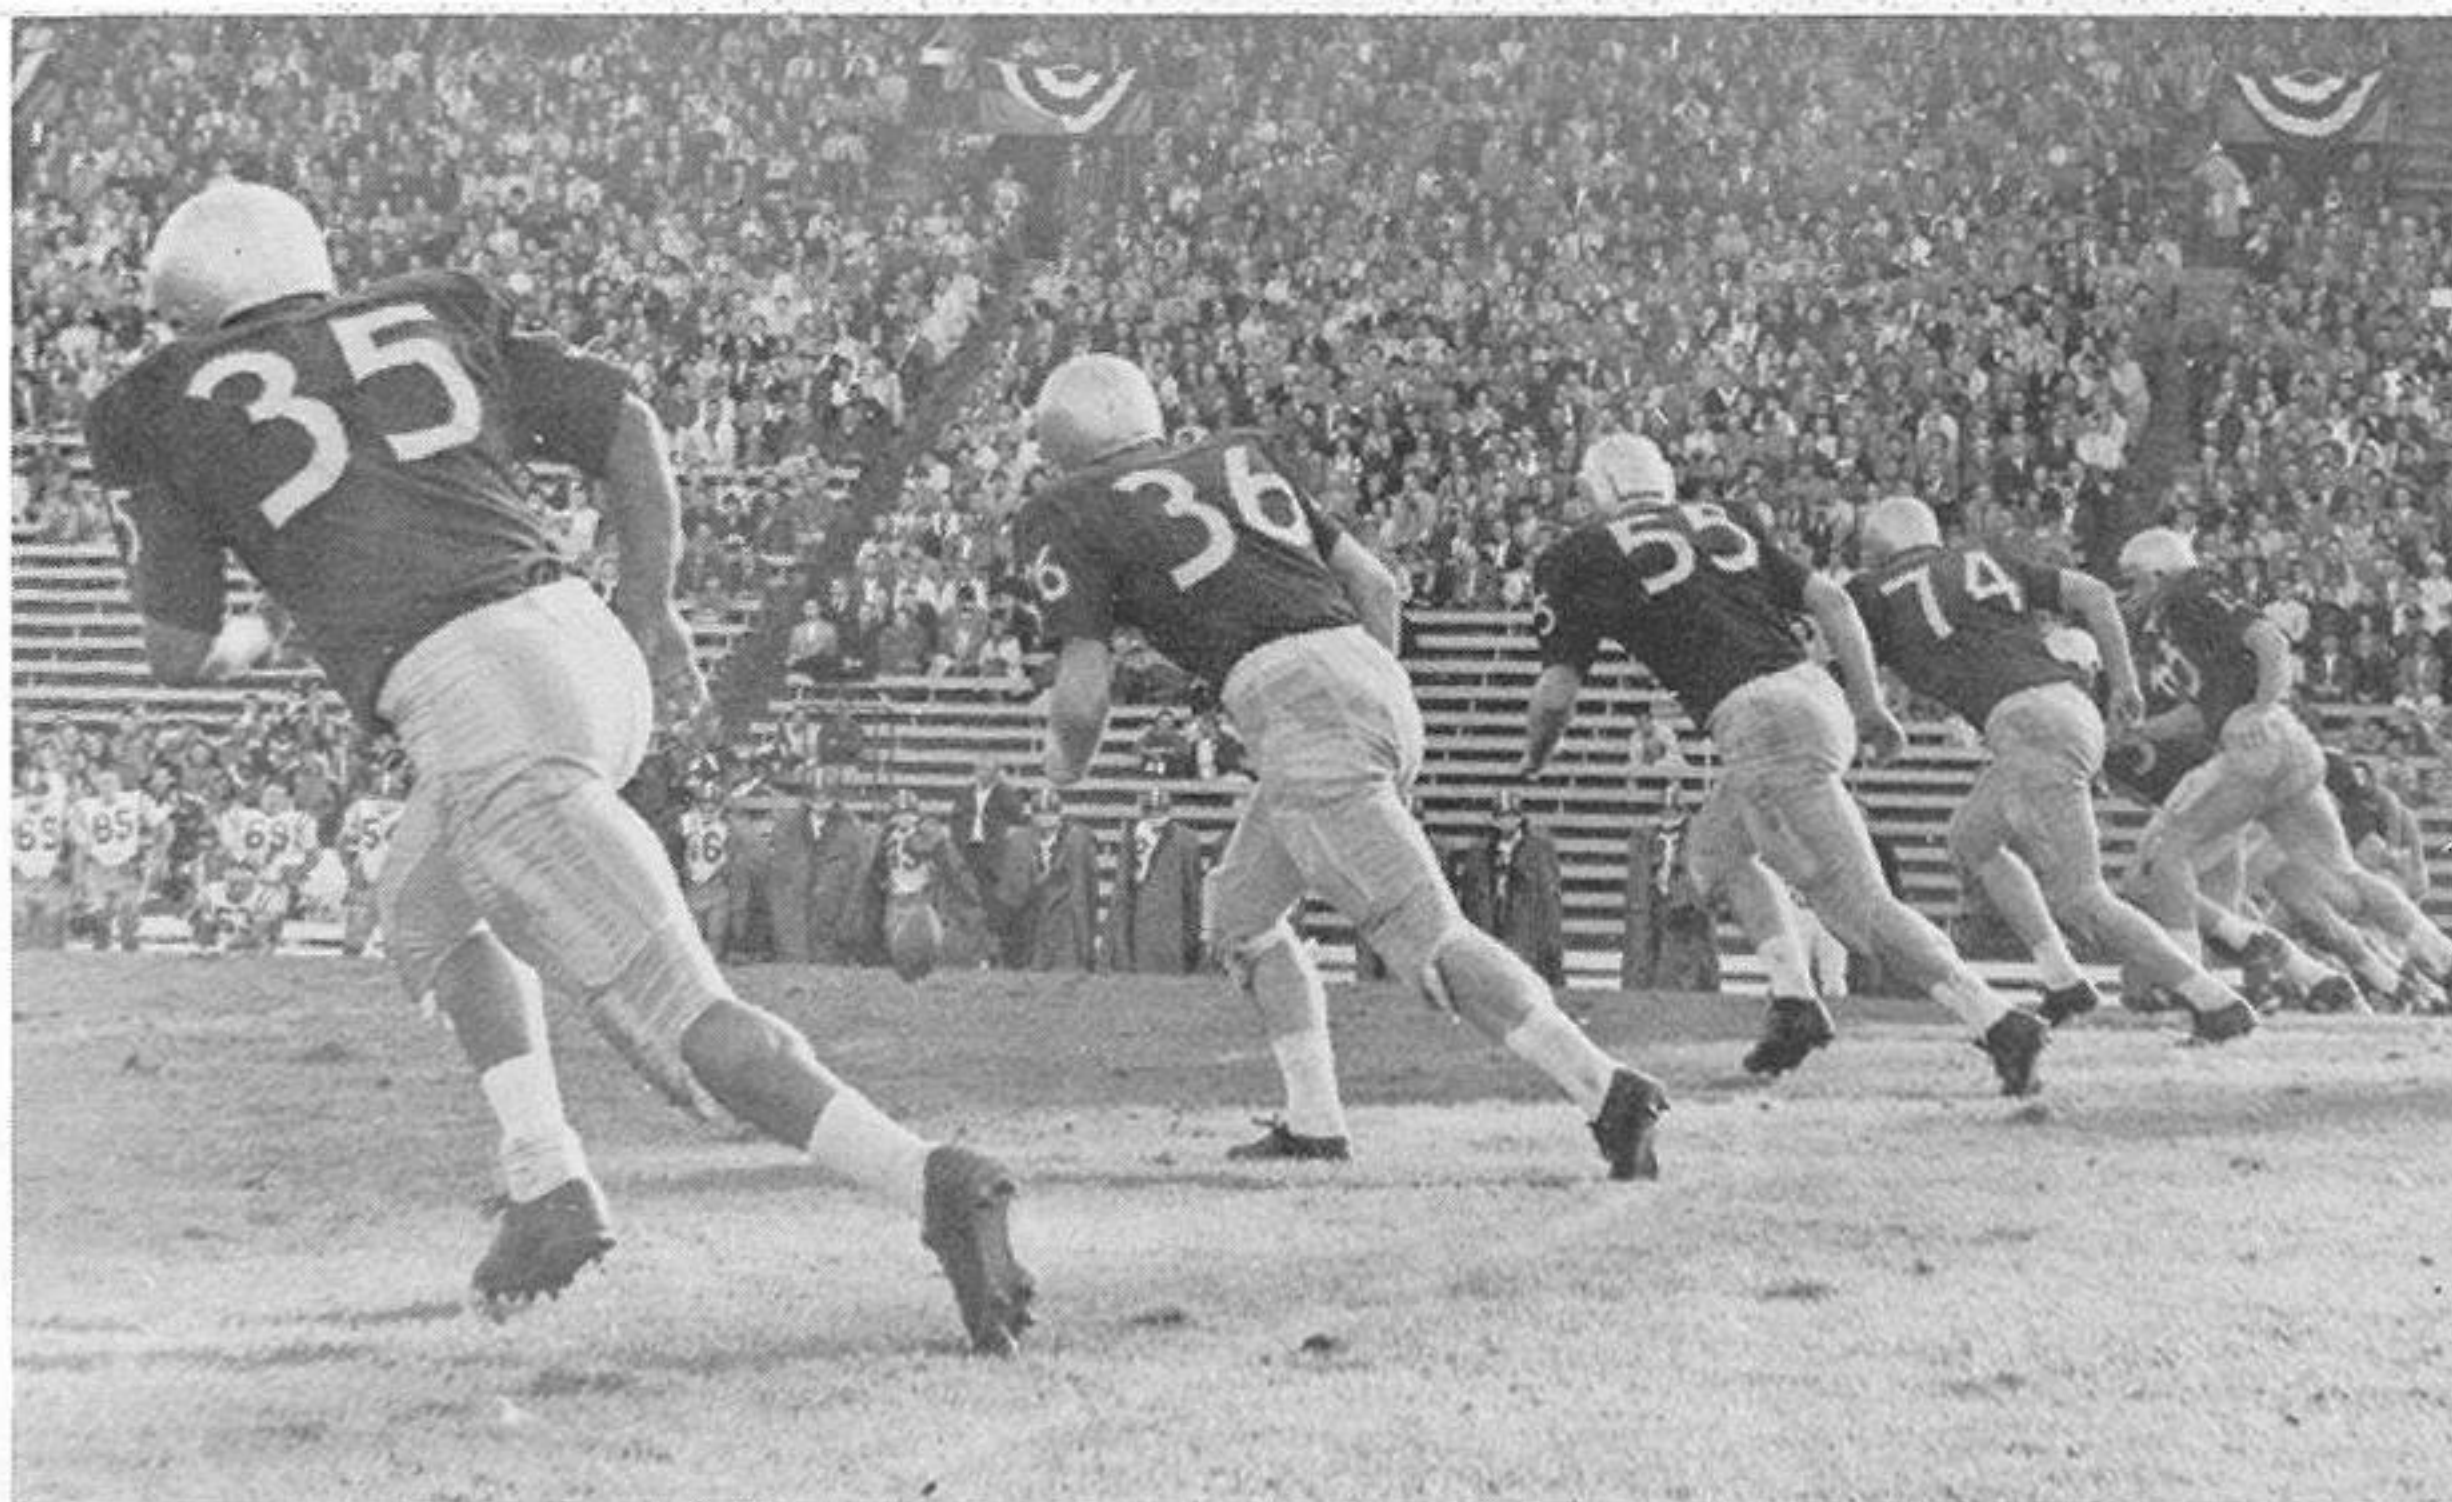

After this, however, the Huskies dominated the game. A 37-yard pass from Bob Schloredt to George Fleming tied the score up. After the kickoff Schloredt intercepted a Utah pass and ran 27 yards for the touchdown, then kicked the extra point, making the score 13-6. Minutes later another Ute pass was intercepted by the Huskies' John Meyers, who ran the remaining 40 yards for the touchdown. Fleming scored a two-point conversion, when he faked a kick and ran around right end.

In the second quarter Schloredt fired a pass to Don McKeta for 53 yards, and then threw to Don Millich, putting the ball on the eight-yard line. McKeta scored on a run around left end. Late in the period Fleming booted a 43-yard field goal, making the score 31-6.

In the second half Jackson ran 30 yards through the center of the line for a touchdown. Fleming made the conversion. Jim Everett, sophomore quarterback for the Huskies, took to the air and completed two touchdown passes, making the final score 51-6.

Nonconference Wins

The Huskies took the first score early in the period and were driving for another, when a Buffalo defender picked the ball from the hands of Washington's Pat Claridge and ran 94 yards for a touchdown, making the score Washington 6, Colorado 6.

Fleming's second-half kickoff bounced into the Buffalo end zone where alert Chuck Allen pounced on the ball for a Husky touchdown.

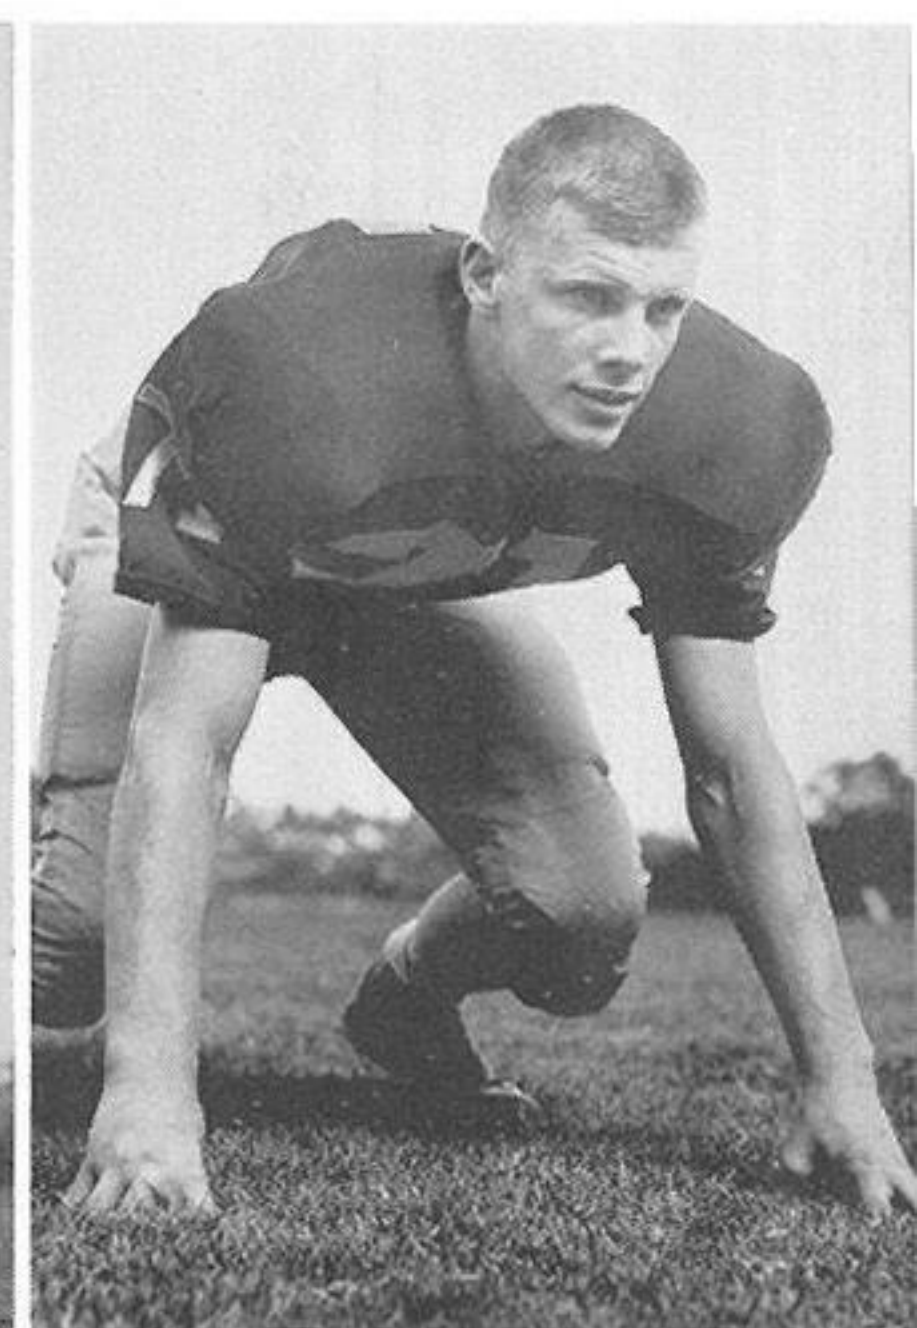

The Buffalo team found it rough going against the solid Husky line and was forced to kick. The Huskies received the ball on their own 29-yard line and moved the ball down to the Colorado 32-yard line where Bob Hivner, the Husky quarterback, passed to George Fleming for another score. The extra point was good and the score read 21 to 6.

Late in the game a Hivner-to-Claridge pass was intercepted by Gale Wiedman and he ran 94 yards for the last score of the game. The final score was 21 to 12, the Huskies over the Buffaloes.

Huskies Overpower Stanford Indians by 10-0 Score

After the kickoff the Stanford quarterback passed his way to the Husky 20-yard line, where he juggled the ball and Lee Folkins intercepted the pass. The Huskies then drove down to the Indian 19-yard line, where Washington fumbled and Stanford recovered. On Stanford's second play George Fleming pulled down an Indian pass on the Stanford 36-yard line. Ray Jackson powered for six and Don McKeta sprinted the remaining distance for the score. Fleming kicked the extra point and made the score 7-0.

The second half brought the Huskies to the Stanford 3-yard line, before a penalty moved the ball back. Fleming kicked a field goal, making the final score 10-0.

Lee Folkins sidesteps a tackler under the watchful eye of the Husky bench

Before a full house of 52,000 spectators, the Southern California Trojans topped the University of Washington Huskies. The loss was a heartbreaker; after a slow beginning the Huskies fought back and took the lead, only to lose in the final minutes of the game. Furthermore, it was the Huskies' only loss of the season.

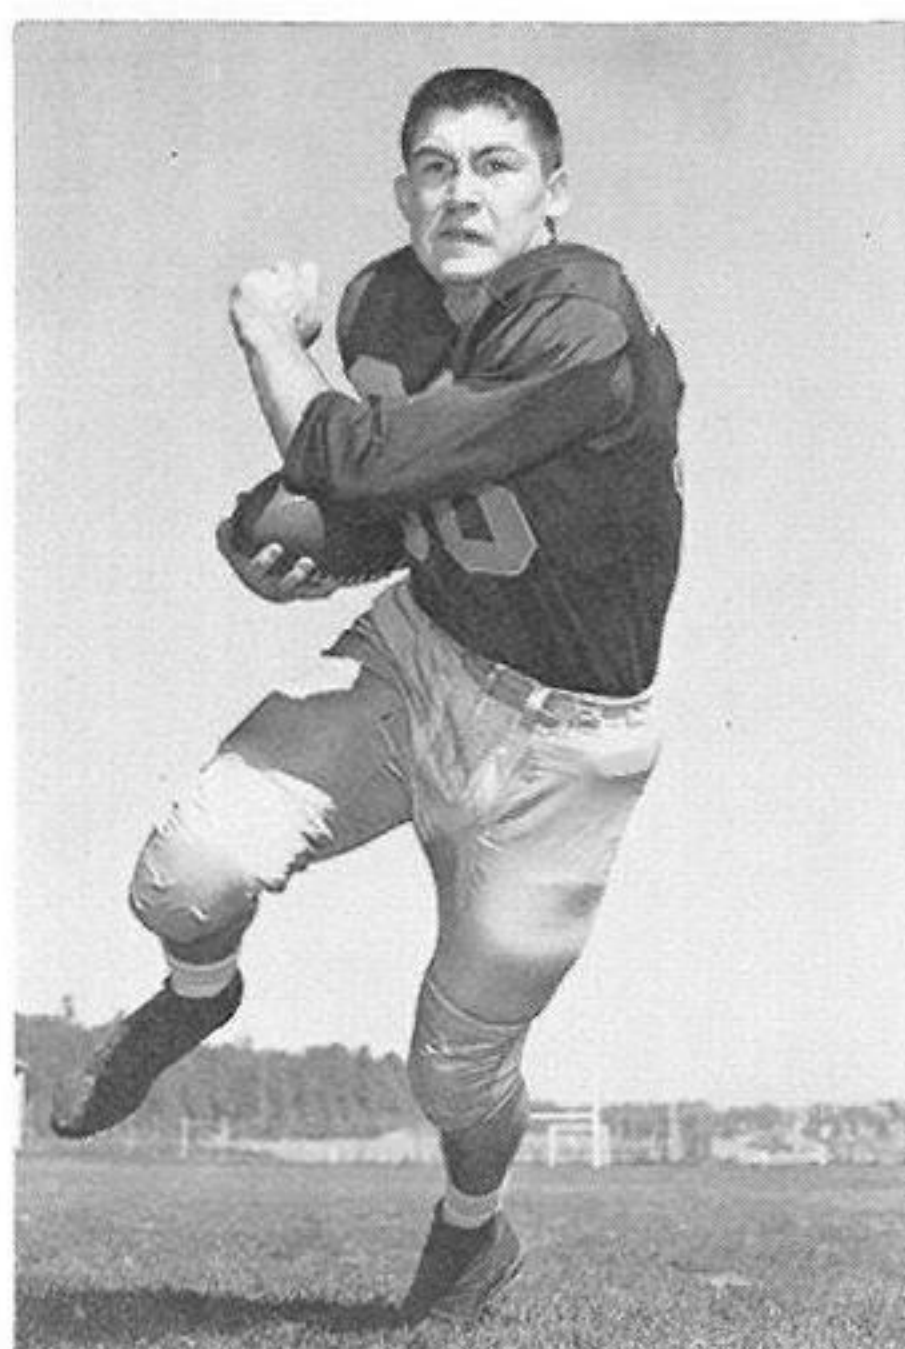

The hard driving Trojans took two scores to the Huskies' one in the first half, making the score 14-7.

Fired up after the first half, the Huskies capitalized on a Schloredt boot to Terry Traynham, when Traynham fumbled the ball and Don Millich recovered. A 14-yard Schloredt-to-Meyers pass followed by a Schloredt run over left tackle made the score 14-13. Schloredt tried a two-point conversion and found a gap over left tackle again, making the scoreboard read Huskies 15, Trojans 13.

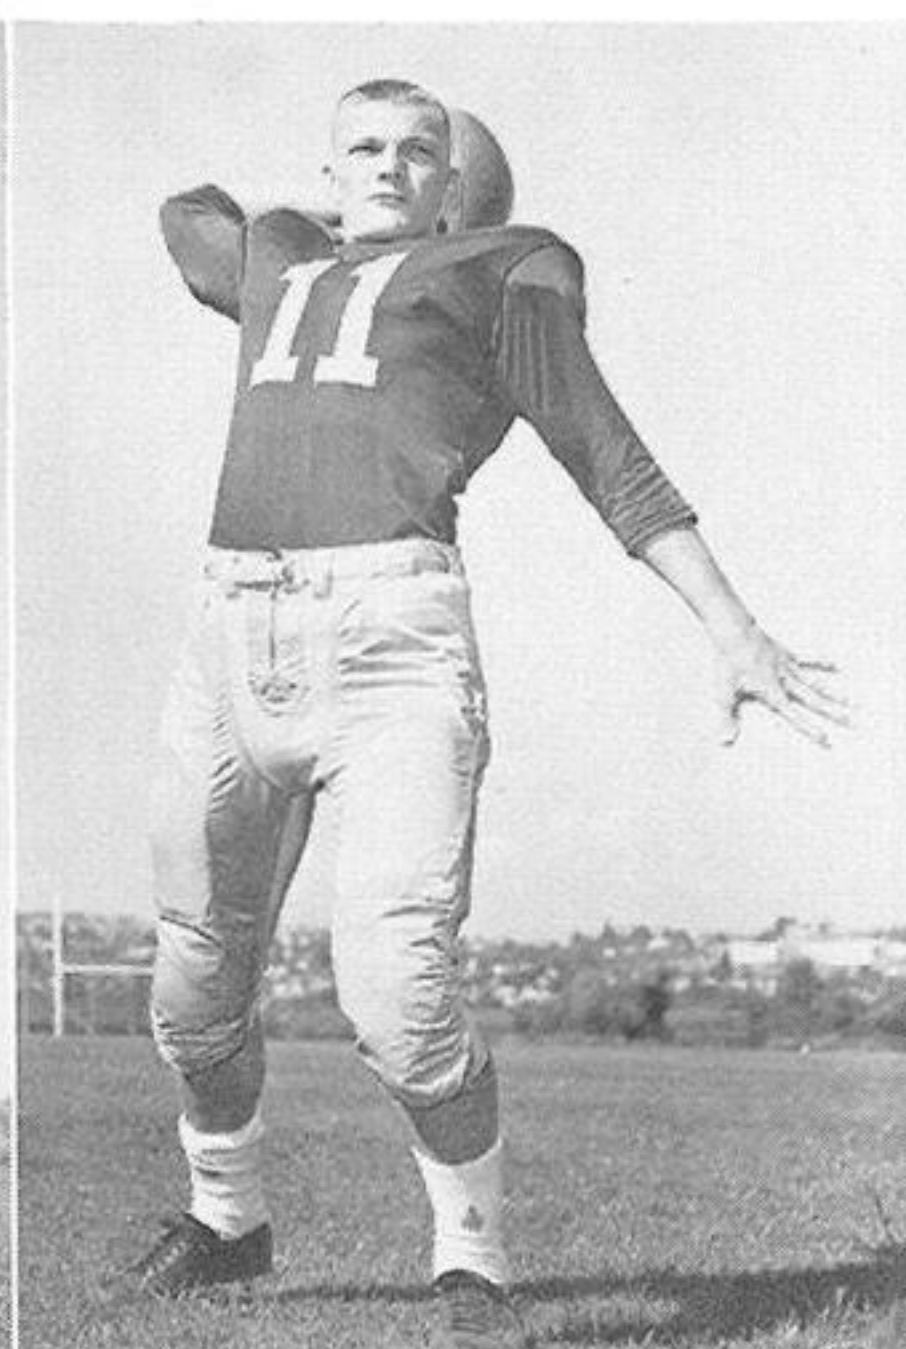

Minutes remained in the game, and the Trojans desperately attempted to score. Chuck Holden was stopped with a three-yard gain, Willie Wood gained six, then Traynham found a hole around right end and galloped 42 yards before Kermit Jorgensen stopped him, only delaying the touchdown that followed. The final score read 22-15, the Trojans over the Huskies.

Fleming outsteps an Oregon defender to catch a pass.

From the opening kickoff the Ducks, spirited by the efforts of Willie West, Dave Powell and Dave Grayson, sprinted off 78 yards for the first score, and the board read 6-0.

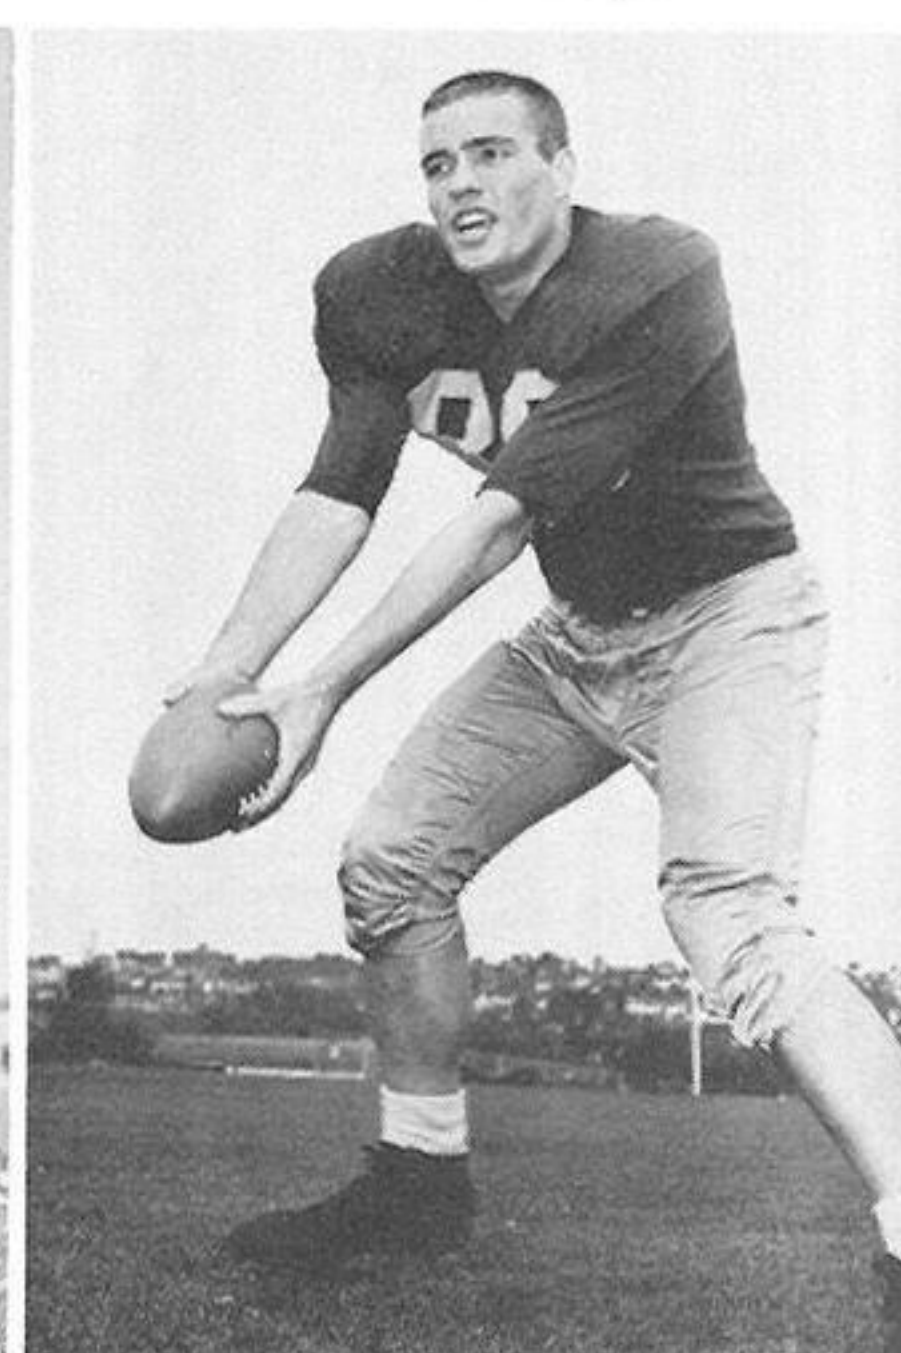

The second period brought the Ducks to the Husky 12-yard line, where Dave Grosz passed to Greg Attenhofer for the touchdown. Again the Ducks failed to convert.

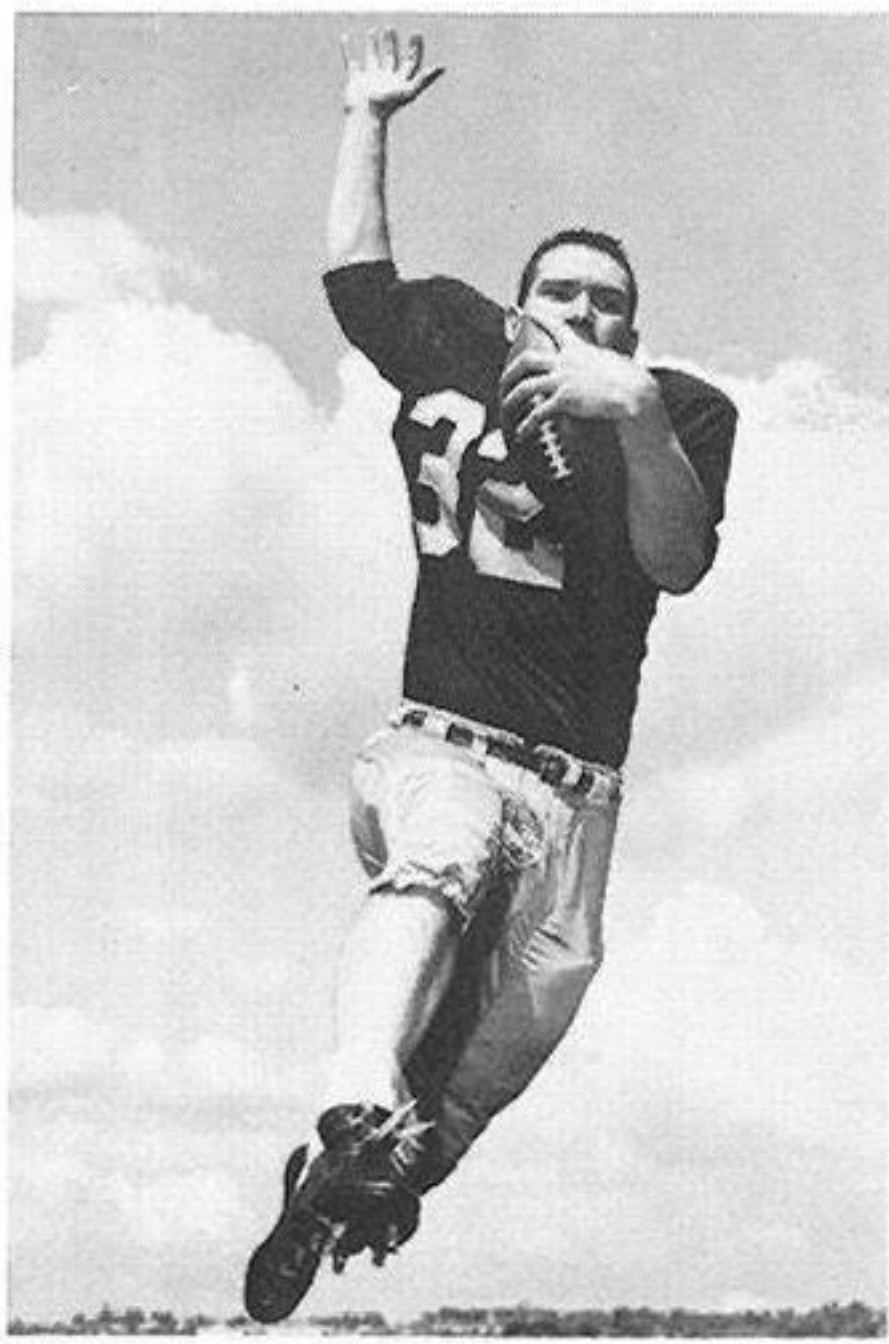

The Huskies couldn't be held down for long. Don McKeta intercepted one of Grosz' passes late in the second period, putting the ball on the Oregon 41-yard line. A combination of Schloredt, Fleming, then McKeta brought the ball to the one-yard line, where Schloredt scored and Fleming converted.

The third quarter saw the Huskies march from their own 29-yard line for the last and winning touchdown of the day. The final score was Washington 13, Oregon 12.

Huskies Taste Sweet Revenge; Stun Bruins 23-7

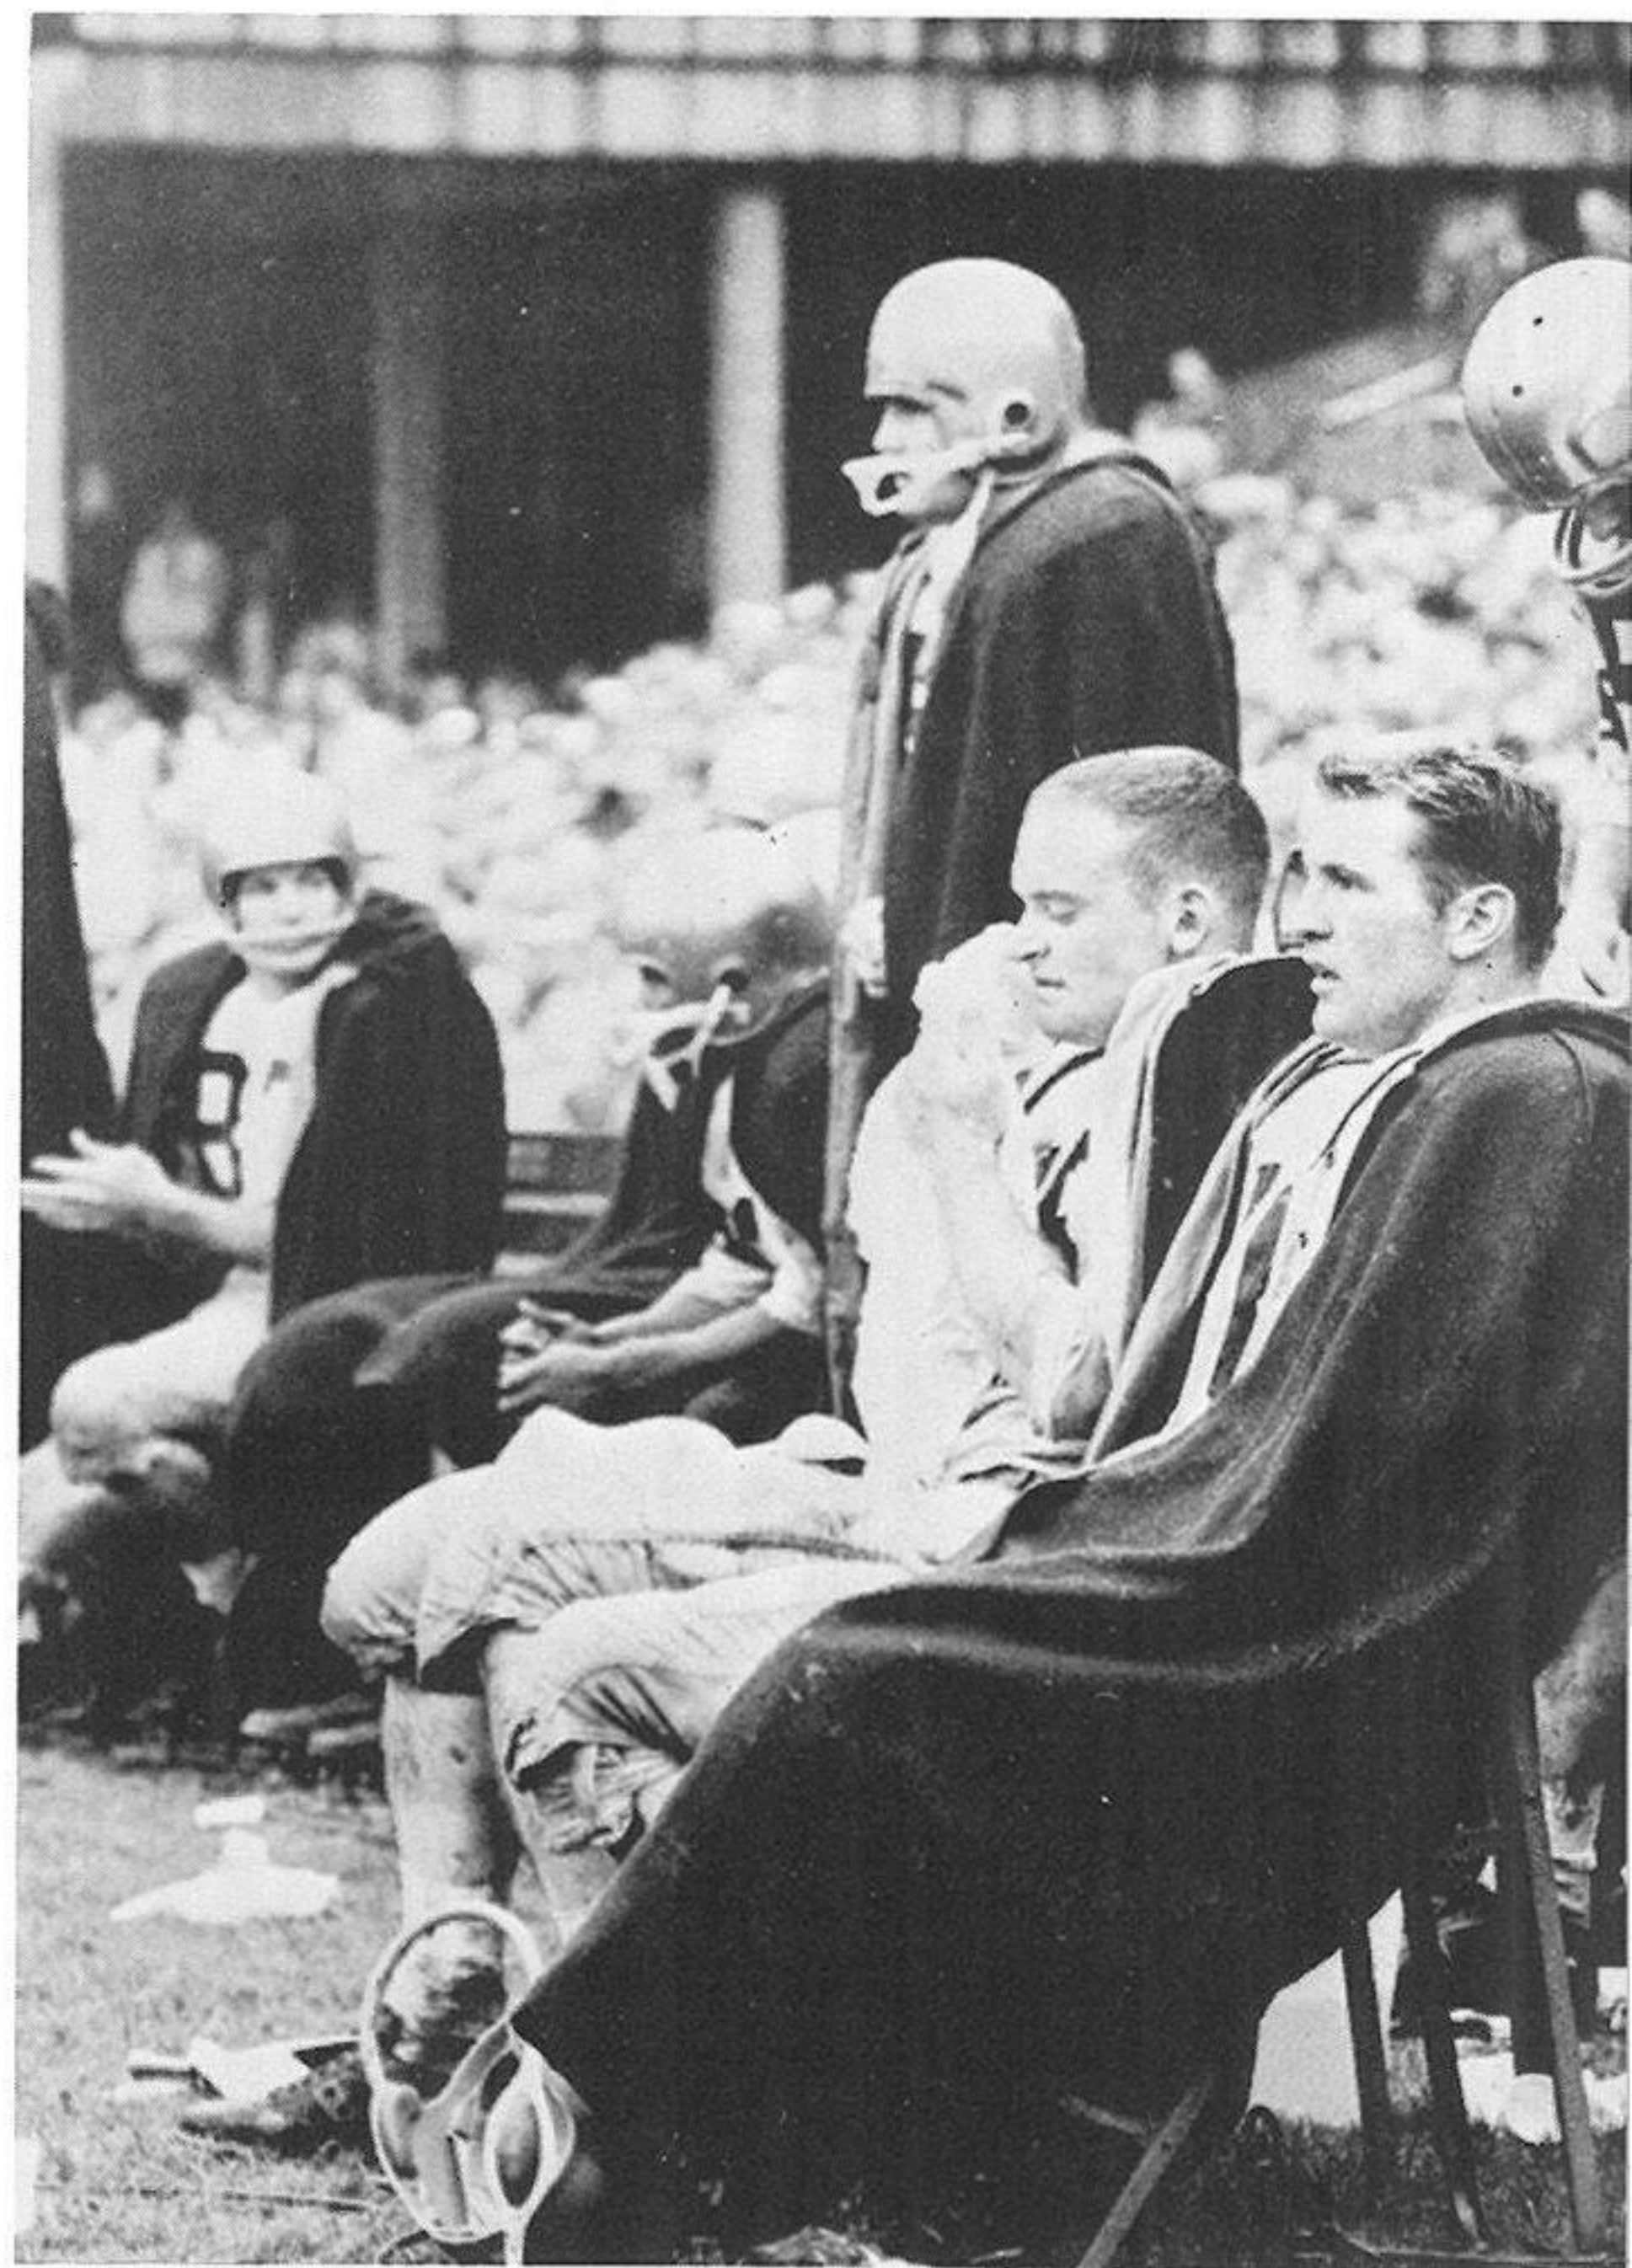

Early in the first period a pass to center shot over the head of Bob Schloredt and the ball went to UCLA deep in Husky territory. Bob Smith of UCLA sliced over right tackle for a touchdown and Ivory Jones made the conversion.

The Huskies followed with a 63-yard scoring drive, Schloredt passing 44 yards to Fleming to set up the touchdown that followed.

The Huskies took the lead in the second period with a series of drives by Ray Jackson and passes by Schloredt to Kermit Jorgensen, with a plunge by Schloredt for the final yard and touchdown.

In the fourth quarter the Huskies exploded, with Ray Jackson and Bob Schloredt carrying the ball to the Bruin 13-yard line. There Schloredt was dropped back on the 20-yard line and Fleming kicked a field goal.

The Bruins fumbled on their first play from the line of scrimmage and the Huskies recovered. There Schloredt tossed a lazy pass to Lee Folkins for the final score of 23-7.

Next, the Beavers Are Downed...

Washington scored a victory over the strongest Oregon State College team in years, in a home game on November 7. The Huskies were forced to the air to take the 13-6 win.

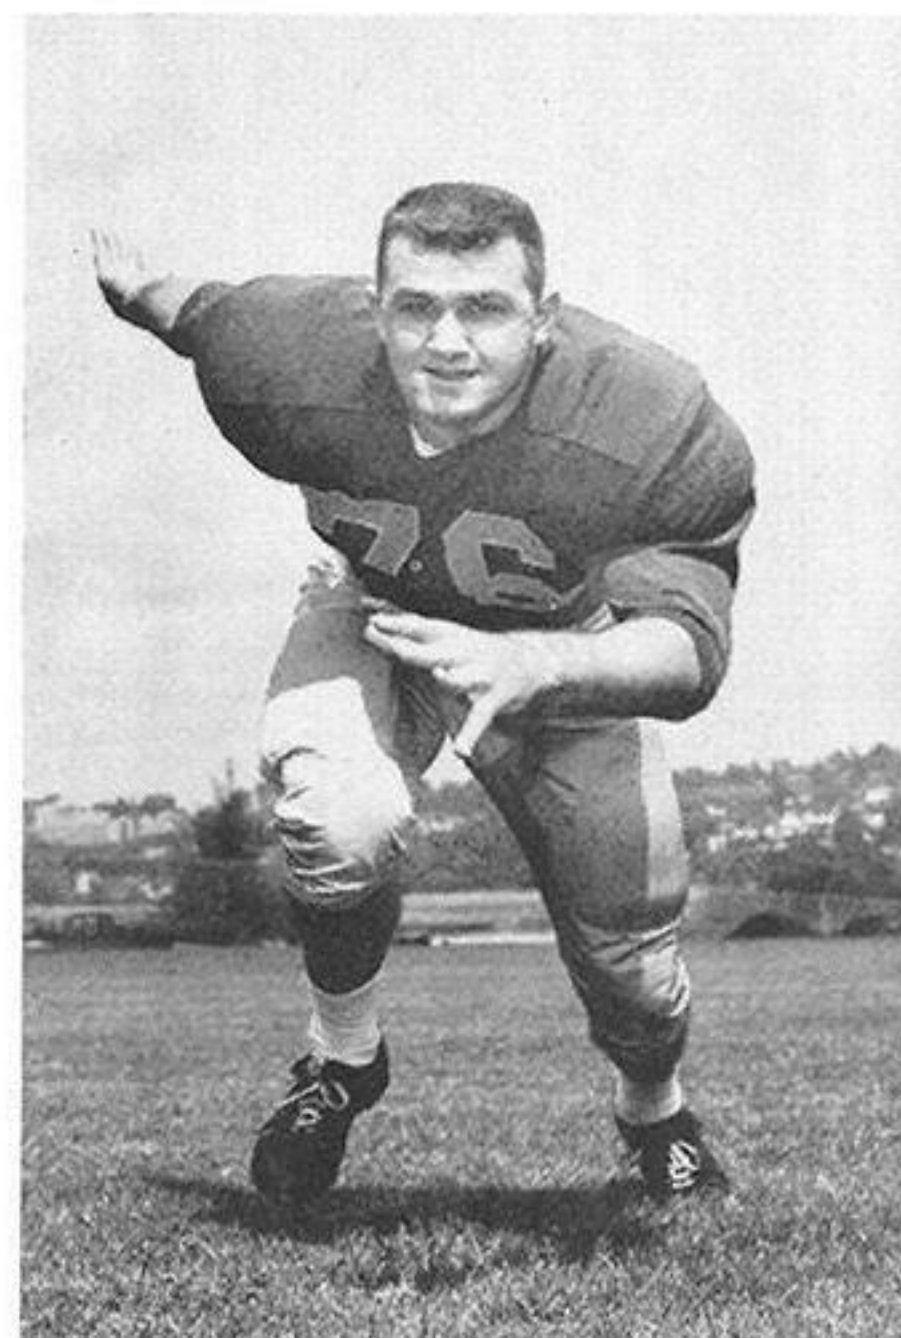

The Beavers' sole touchdown was a spectacular 93-yard pass interception in the fourth quarter. On the 7-yard line, Bruce Hake snatched a pass from Schloredt intended for Meyers, and scampered 93 yards for the touchdown.

Meyers had opened the way for the first Husky touchdown when he recovered a fumble on the OSC 35-yard line. Eight plays later, Schloredt dove over center for the score and Fleming kicked the extra point.

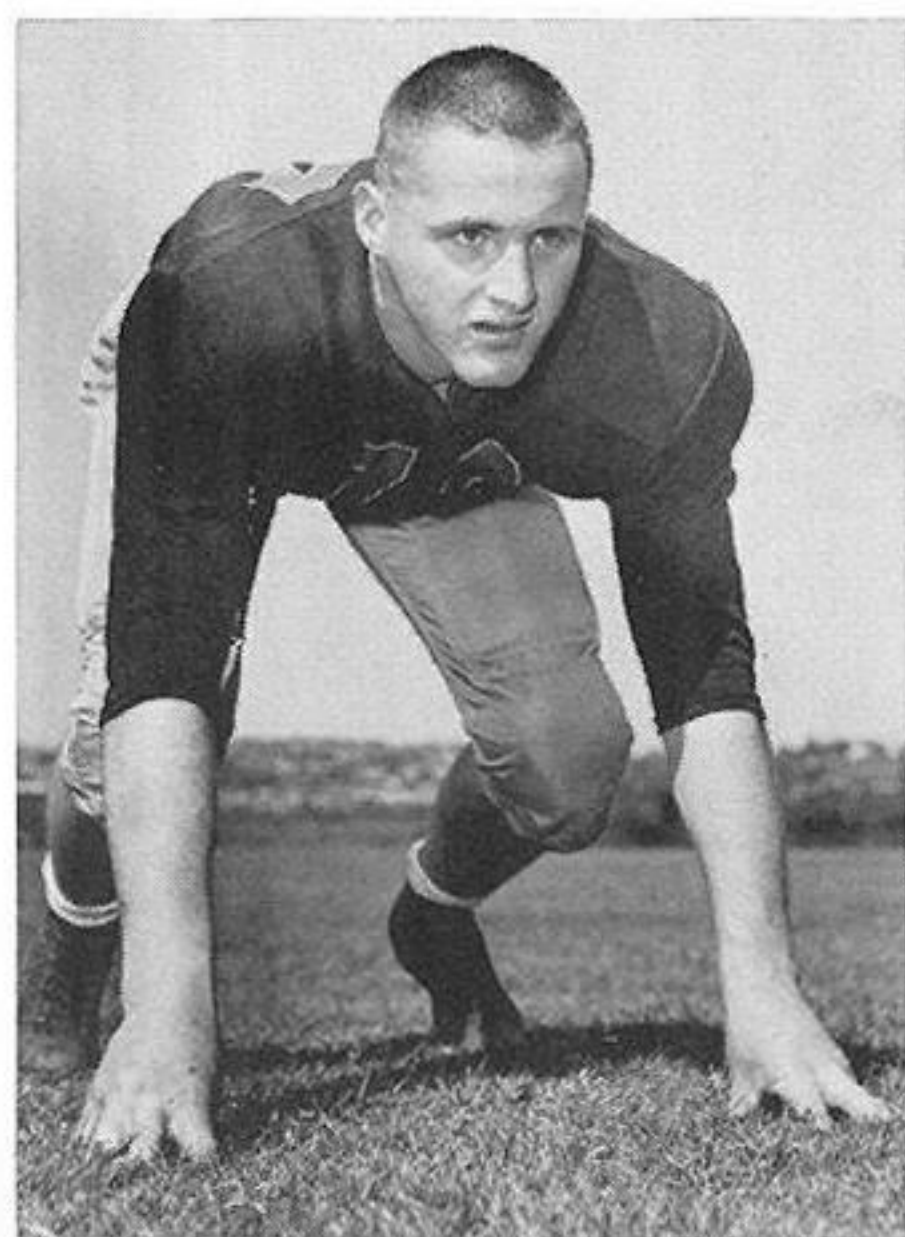

Late in the third period, the Huskies launched a drive from their own 13-yard line to the Beaver 25, where Schloredt passed to McKeta, who carried for 25 yards and the second Washington touchdown.

This marked Washington's seventh victory of the season, making the Huskies a serious threat for the Rose Bowl.

Despite 163 yards worth of penalties, the Huskies trampled the California Bears 20-0 at Berkeley on November 14.

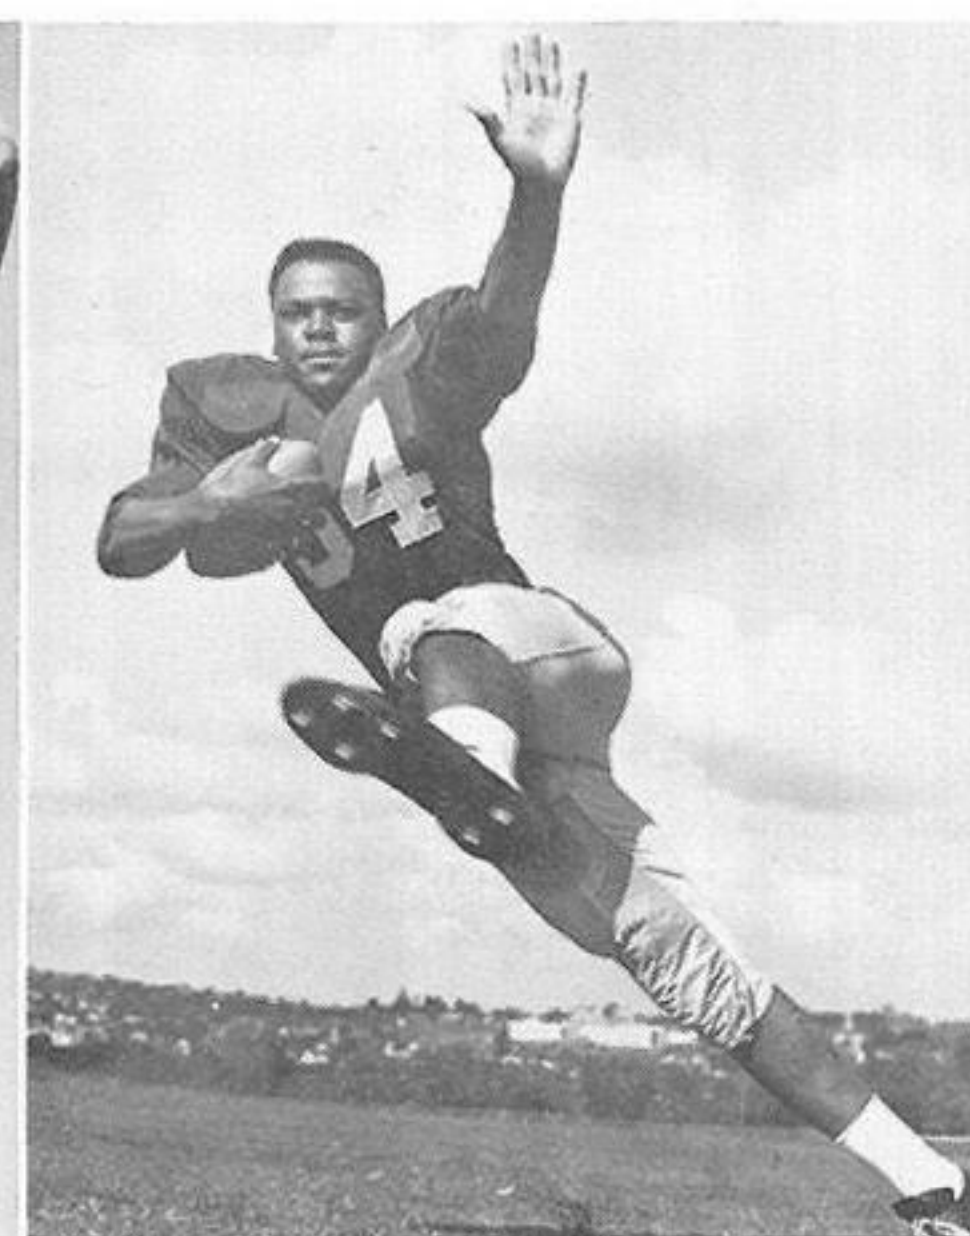

The first Washington score came after a holding penalty. Bob Hivner faked to Jackson and threw to Meyers to bring the ball up to the 2-yard line. Hivner sneaked to the 1-yard line, then Jackson scored standing up. Fleming converted.

Early in the fourth quarter, Fleming took a punt and ran 42 yards. Six plays later, Hivner cut over left tackle for the score. The conversion attempt failed.

Fleming opened the way for the third Husky touchdown with a pass interception, bringing the ball to rest on their own 20-yard line. McKeta moved up for 10 yards. Six plays later, Schloredt passed the ball to Fleming, who went 40 yards before he was shoved out of bounds. Joe Jones squirmed for the touchdown and Fleming kicked the extra point.

Huskies Clinch Rose Bowl Bid; Dump Cougars

Folkins snags a pass under the eye of a Cougar defender in the November 22 contest at Seattle.

The Huskies wound up their conference season with a decisive victory over their traditional rivals, the WSU Cougars, before a record crowd of 56,000 fans on November 22.

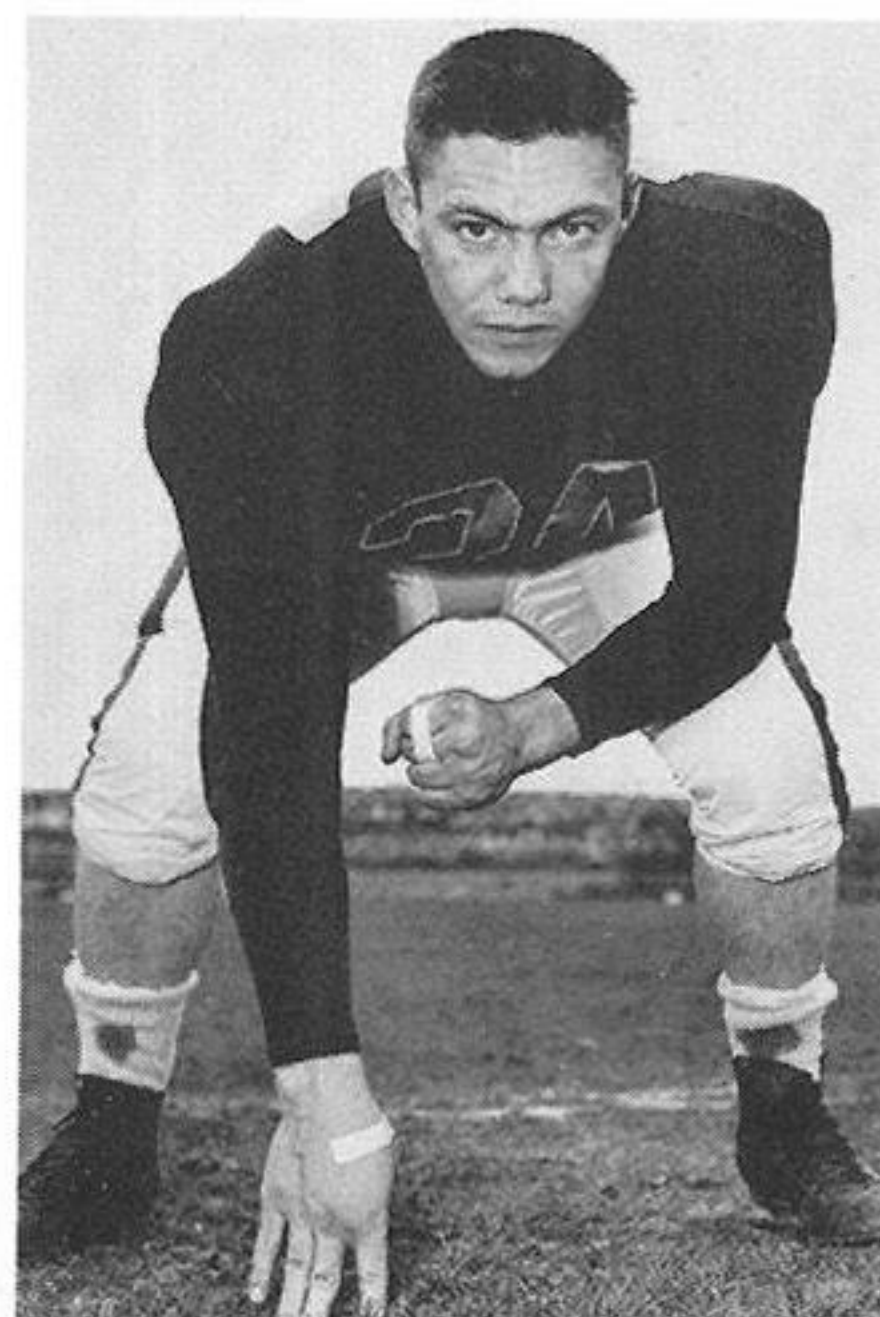

The Huskies launched a ground attack, led by Schloredt with 111 yards. The first quarter was scoreless, but was highlighted by a 48-yard run by Schloredt. A field goal attempt by WSU's Dick Copple failed.

The second quarter saw a first play touchdown for the Huskies, when McKeta drove over from the 4-yard line. Fleming kicked the extra point.

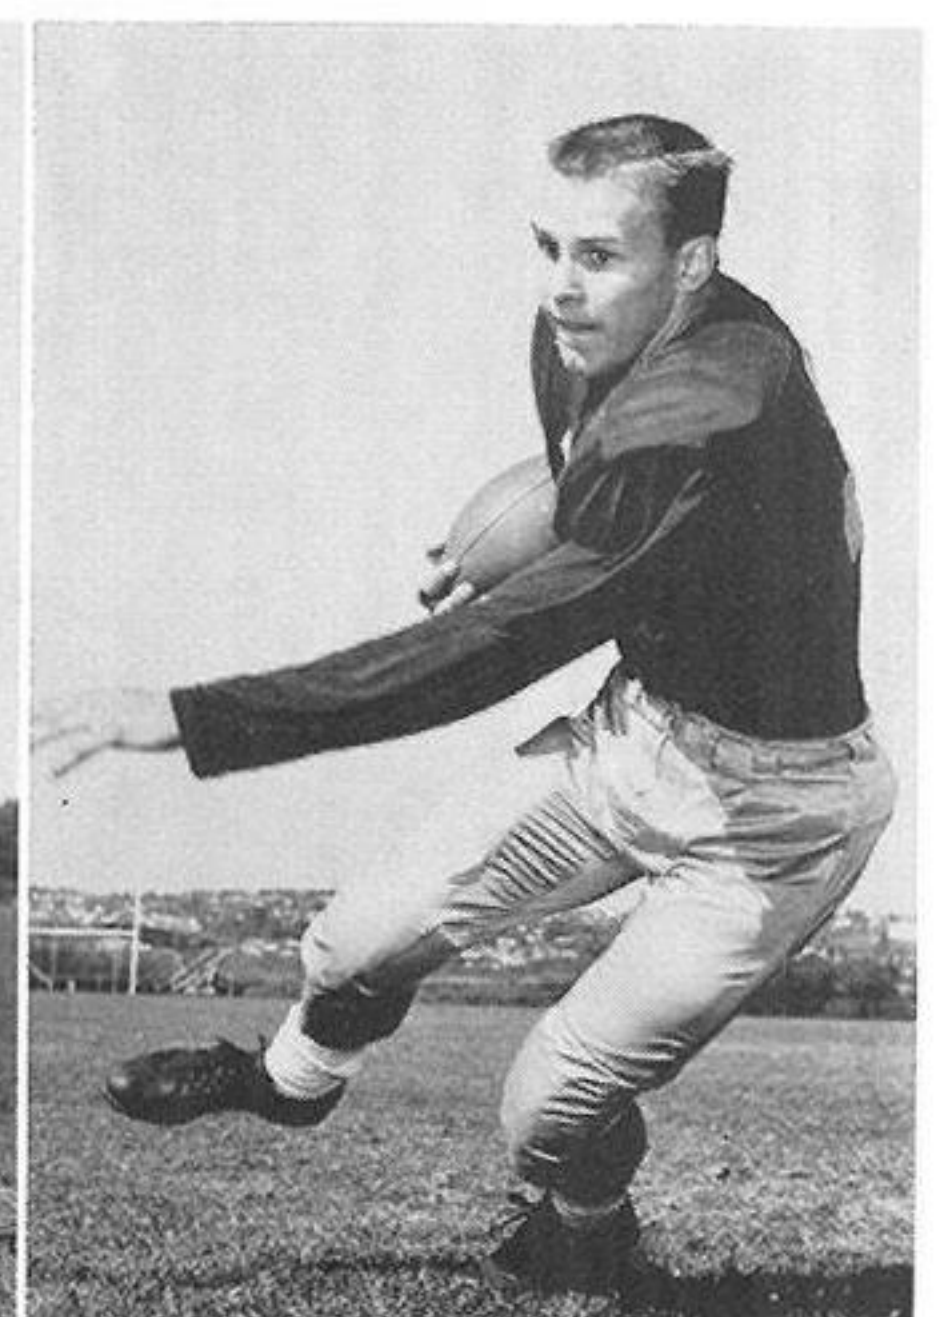

Midway in the third period, the Huskies started a 53-yard touchdown drive. Schloredt carried across for the six and Fleming added the extra point.

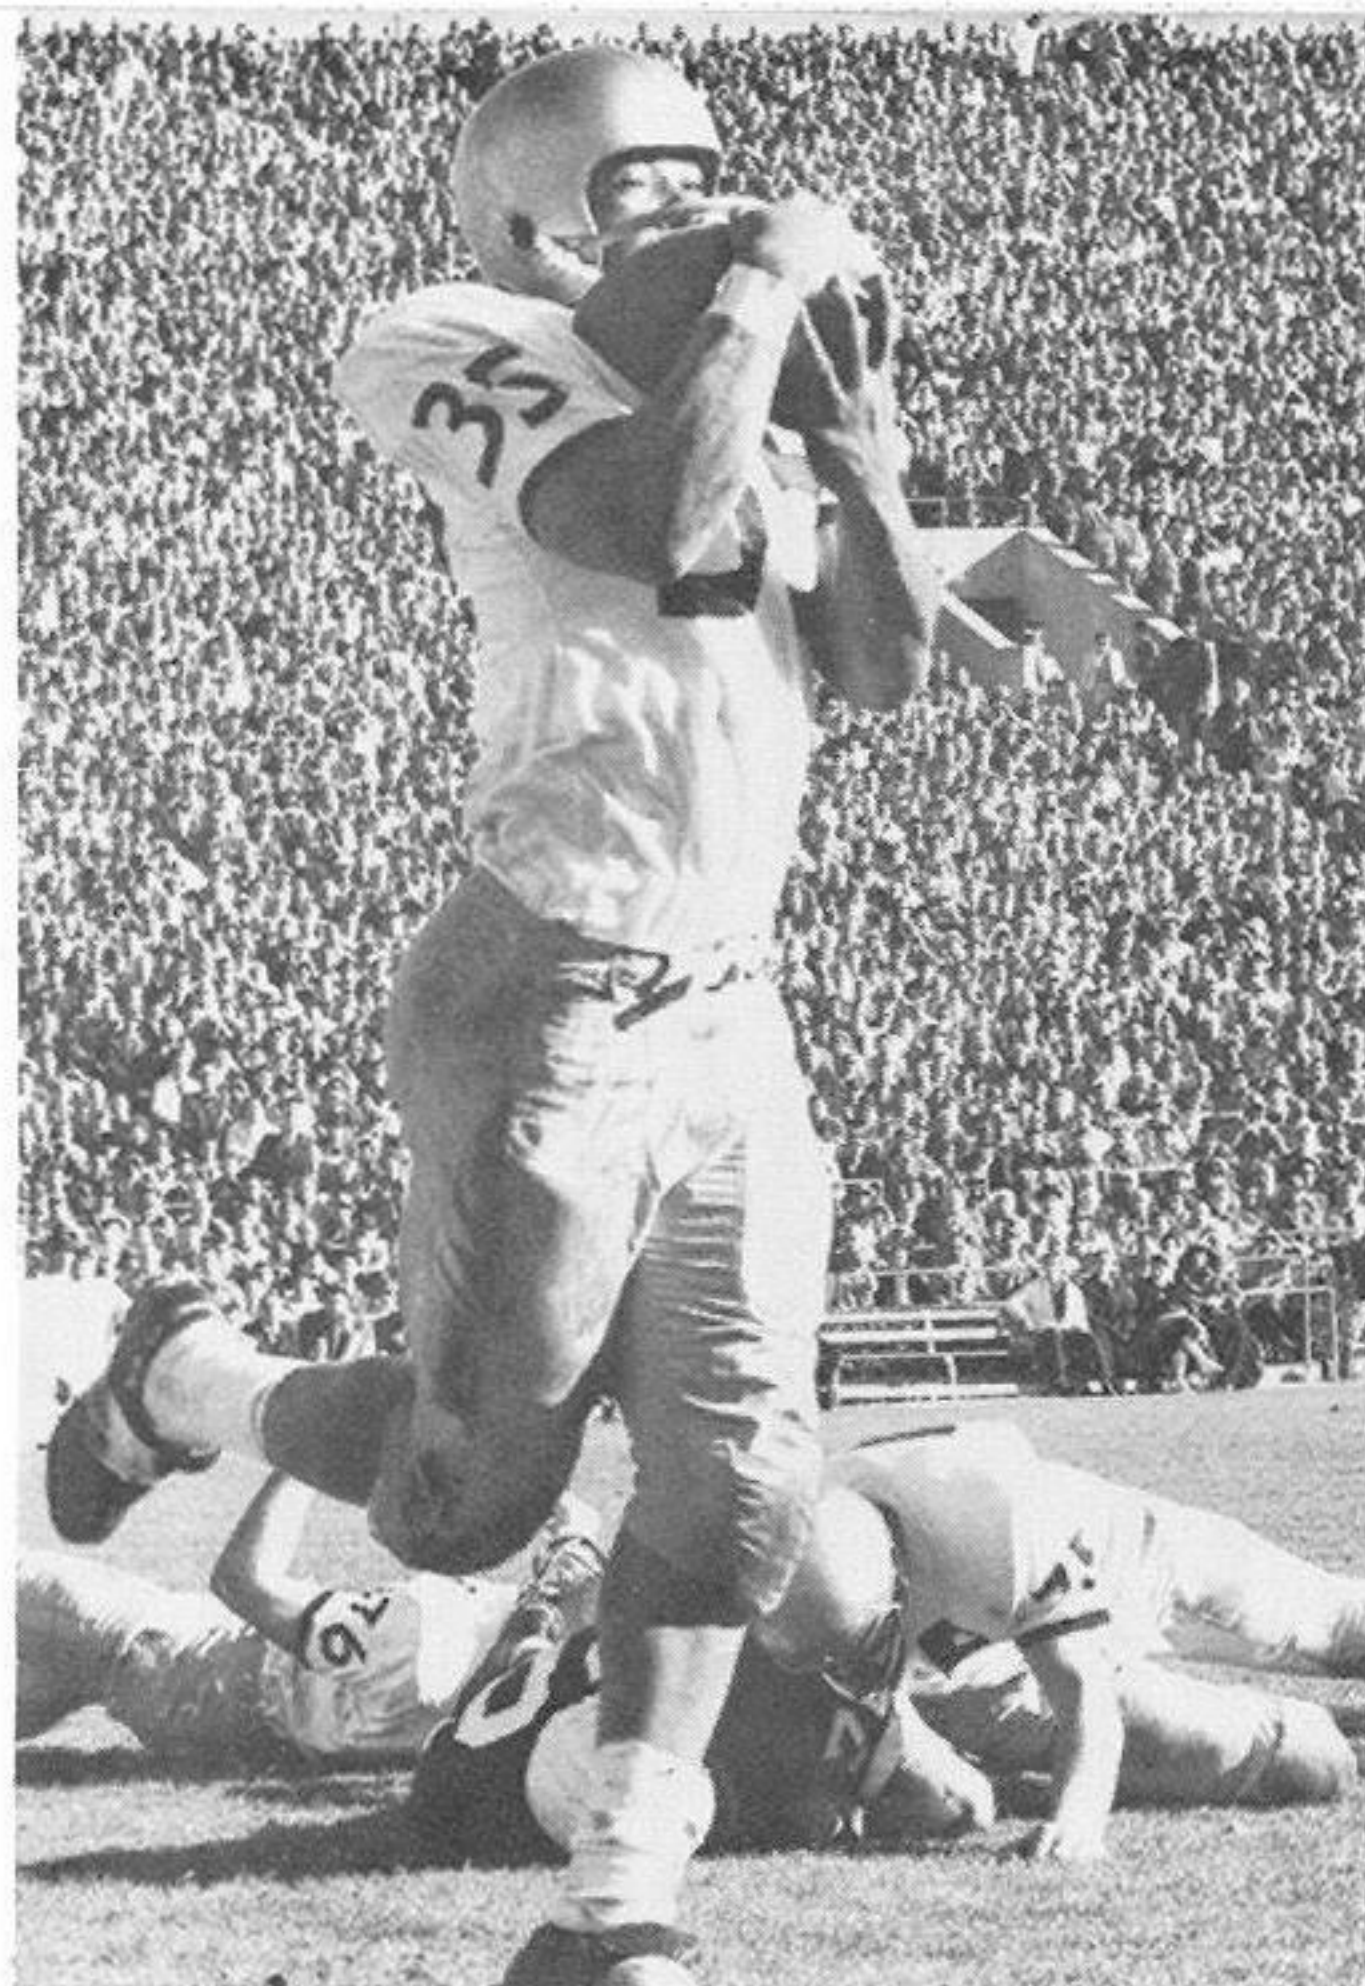

Minutes later the Huskies scored again. The Cougars fumbled following the kickoff, and Husky John Meyers recovered on the State 29-yard line. Three plays later, Joe Jones went over from the 2-yard line. The final score was 20-0.

Don McKeta carries the ball as Wisconsin's big Ron Perkins prepares to stop him. McKeta was a co-captain in the Rose Bowl game, also chosen Inspirational Player for the year by teammates.

Rose Bowl: Glory, Sunshine, Color...

It took a powerful and highly polished young Washington eleven just 60 minutes New Year's Day to erase 13 years of frustration for the Pacific Coast Conference and 23 years of football famine for Washington, with a shocking 44 to 8 Rose Bowl upset of Wisconsin.

It was the Huskies' first Rose Bowl trip since they went down 21 to 0 at the hands of Pittsburgh in 1937, and only the second win for a Pacific Coast school in 14 years. Ironically, it was Wisconsin who suffered both defeats.

The Huskies went into the game with a big disadvantage in size and experience, but they came out of it like David must have come out of his battle with Goliath. All-American quarterback Bob Schloredt and sensational half back George Fleming, both juniors, were chosen as the outstanding players in the game. But Ray Jackson and Don McKeta in the backfield and Washington's number one line of Lee Folkins, Kurt Gegner, Chuck Allen, Roy McKasson, Bill Kinnune, Barry Bullard and John Meyers played important supporting roles. All are juniors except Meyers, a sophomore. Coach Jim Owens was definitely the "Coach of the Year."

Wisconsin's co-captains, Bob Zeman and Jerry Stallcup, won the toss and elected to put the wind, which was blowing a healthy 15 to 20 miles per hour, at their backs. That was the Badgers' first mistake.

...and the Score

The Huskies punted after six plays, but four plays later Fleming returned Wisconsin All-American Dale Hackbart's punt 14 yards to the Badger 49, and it took Washington just 10 plays to score its first Rose Bowl touchdown in 34 years. Twice during the drive Schloredt ran the keeper on fourth down. On a first-down play at the Badger 23, Schloredt rolled out to his right and bootlegged 17 yards, running over Badger linemen and backs as he moved the ball to the six. On the next play, McKeta scored through the right side of the line, getting a key block from Allen. Fleming kicked the first of his five perfect extra points.

Schloredt goes around end with protection from Bill Kinnune, Ray Jackson and George Fleming.

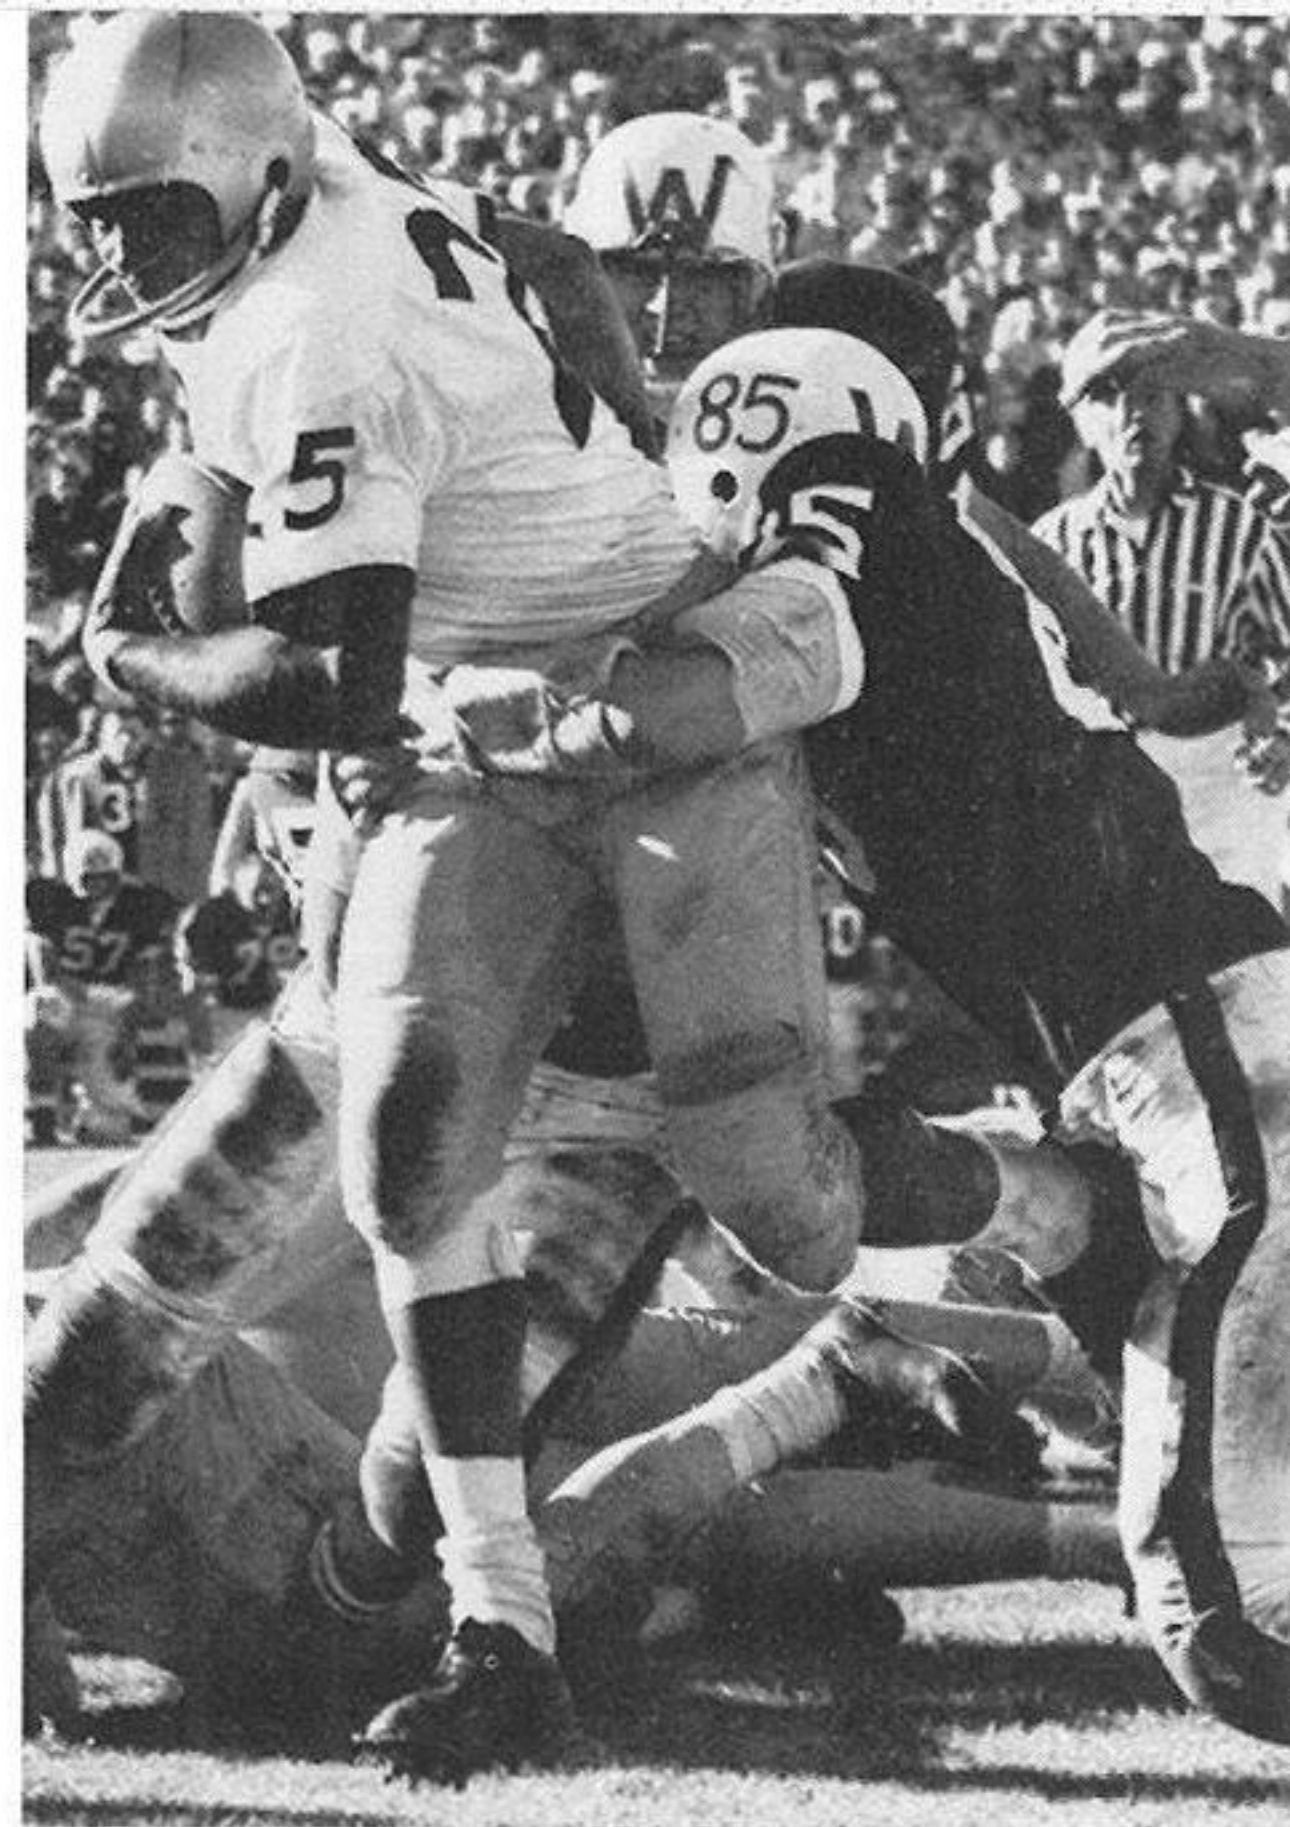

On Wisconsin's first play following the kickoff, Allen hit Badger halfback Billy Hobbs, jarred the ball loose, and Husky Brent Wooten recovered on the Wisconsin 29. From there quarterback Bob Hivner moved the second unit to the 16. Fleming came in and spread the goal posts with a perfect 36-yard field goal, and Washington was out in front 10 to 0.

Fleming routed the kickoff into the Wisconsin end zone. On the first play from the 20, Wisconsin was guilty of clipping and the ball was moved back to the 11. After Kinnune stopped Badger halfback Tom Weisner at the line of scrimmage, Jim Bakken decided to punt on third down. Kinnune broke through to block the punt, but Bakken managed to save the pigskin on the 4-yard line. On the next play Bakken got off a good high punt from his own end zone, which Fleming fielded on the Husky 47. The fleet Husky safety man lit out for the sidelines, slipped past one tackler, faked out another, straight-armed a third and roared down the field behind Kurt Gegner, whose flying block took out the last defender, and Fleming was home free—53 yards. His extra point put Washington ahead 17 to 0.

Twice during the second quarter Wisconsin fumbles were recovered by Huskies, one by Jackson and one by Pat Claridge, but the Badgers were determined to get back in the ball game when Hackbart went to the air against the Husky second unit. He hit two second-down passes good for 26 and 13 yards, then hit Bob Zeman on third and 19, putting his team on the 9-yard line. Two plays later Weisner made the score. On a fake extra-point attempt, Hackbart passed to Alan Schoonover for two points, and the score was 17 to 8.

Brent Wooten finds himself on the shoulders of Wisconsin's Jim Rogers. Huskies George Pitt (50) and Sam Hurworth (32) rush in to assist.

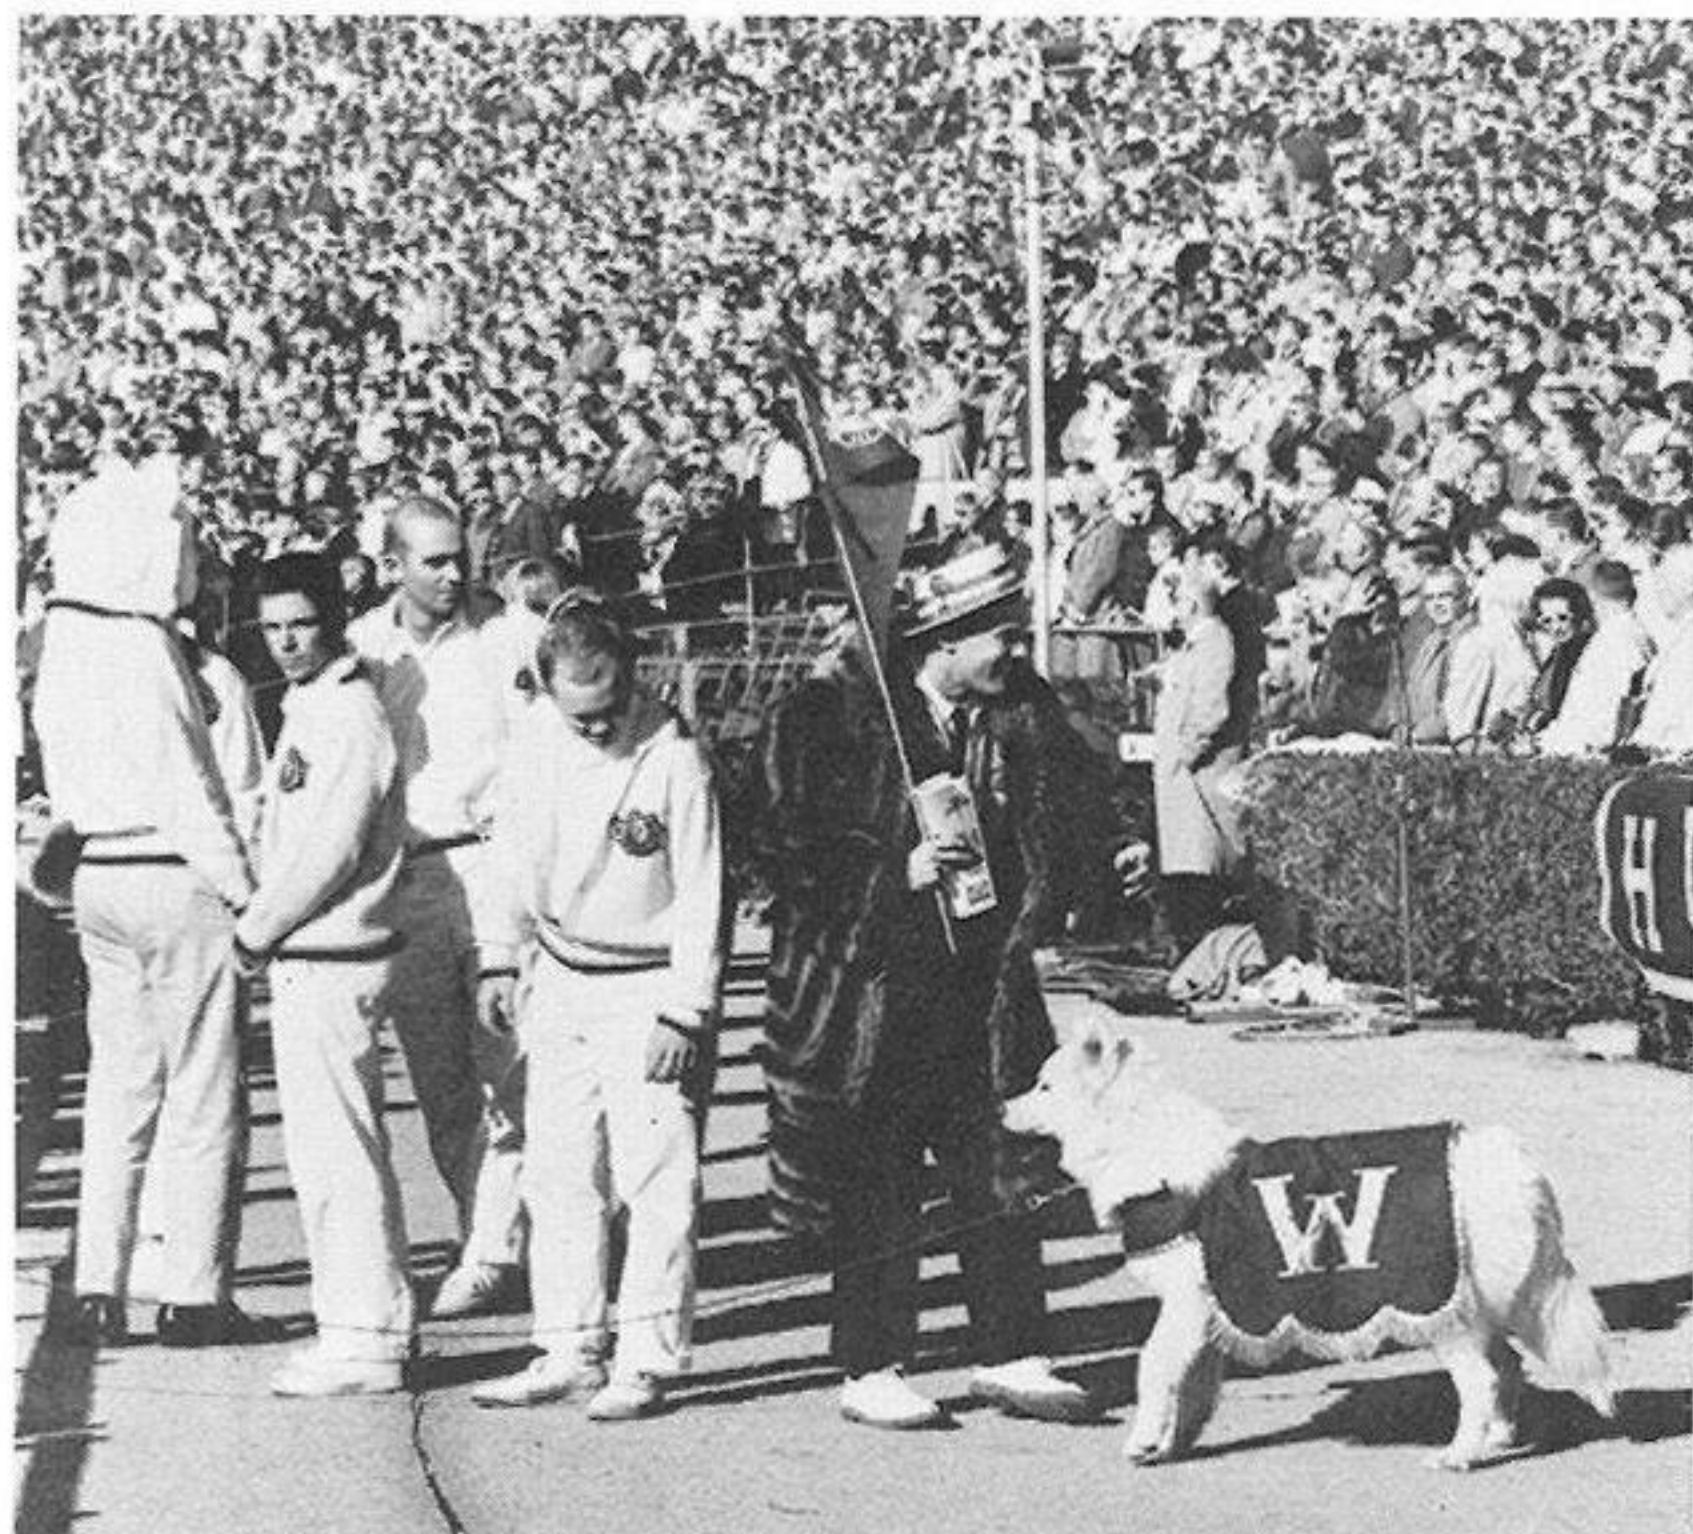

Sensational halfback George Fleming fights his way through a wall of Wisconsin players. Fleming was chosen as one of the game's Outstanding Players.

...a stunning "Huskies 44, Badgers 8"

The ball changed hands once and on fourth down Wisconsin punted. Again it was Fleming who brought 100,000 frozen fans to their feet and brought grey hair to Badger coach Milt Bruhn, with an electrifying gallop 55 yards down the sidelines to put the pigskin on the Badger 27. On third down from the 23, Schloredt rolled out to his left and lofted a pass into the end zone which Lee Folkins caught in a swan dive. It was one of the most amazing catches in Rose Bowl history. Fleming's perfect placement made it 24 to 8.

Wisconsin took the kickoff and moved the ball into Washington territory, but the Badgers' field goal attempt fell short and the first half ended.

The second half was all Washington. This time it was fullback Jackson's turn, and the little Texan did most of the damage in a 66-yard drive in 11 plays. Jackson boomed over from the two, and Fleming's fourth straight extra point put the Huskies out in front 31 to 8.

Late in the third quarter, Hackbart got his team rolling, and the period ended with the Badgers deep in Husky territory. But with first and goal on the seven, the Washington pass defense, one of the nation's best, knocked the ball away from Badger receivers and took the ball on downs. This was the first time during the season that the Badgers failed to score after getting inside the 20 with a first down.

The Huskies moved the ball to their own 16, where on fourth and one, Schloredt elected to go for the yardage. Six plays later, Schloredt spun through left tackle into the end zone from the three—93 yards in 10 plays.

Then Hivner came in to run a group of third and fourth stringers 45 yards in five plays to close out the scoring. The touchdown came on a beautifully executed pass play which set up Don Millich in solitary confinement in the end zone.

To the 100,000 fans in the Bowl it was a shocking win. It was even more shocking to a badly disappointed, physically and morally beaten Badger team. At 32, Jim Owens had put together a team almost entirely of juniors and sophomores that had thoroughly demolished the best the Big Ten had to offer. And everybody bowed down to Washington.

The Most Valuable Players of the 1960 Rose Bowl, George Fleming and Bob Schloredt, accept the Key to the City from Seattle Mayor Gordon S. Clinton on behalf of their teammates. The key was presented at a huge welcome-back rally.

Washington's 1960 Huskies ended their basketball season with a 15-13 win-loss record. The team was young, with only two seniors, Al Murphy and George Grant. This indicates a team returning next year with much needed experience. Coach Grayson had this to say about the team: "We've learned a lot this season. With some more tall, experienced men we will be right in the thick of the conference race next year."

Coach John Grayson brings to Washington an excellent record as a coach. In 21 years of high school, college and service coaching, his teams have won 404 games and lost only 87. He is a native of Stroud, Oklahoma, where he graduated from the University in 1938. A standout in both basketball and football, Grayson began his collegiate ball at Eastern Oklahoma A and M. His coaching career began in Southeastern Oklahoma; he then went to Nebraska Wesleyan University of Lincoln and then to Idaho State before coming to Washington.

Jim Rodgers came to Washington with Coach Grayson, and has played basketball for him since high school in Springfield, Missouri. At Idaho State, he was named to the All-Conference team, was picked as an All-American on the District Eight NCAA team, earned a place on the Helms Foundation All-American, Honorable Mention on the Associated Press mythical team and a spot on the Far Western NCAA regional five.

Huskies Have Good Non-Coast Record

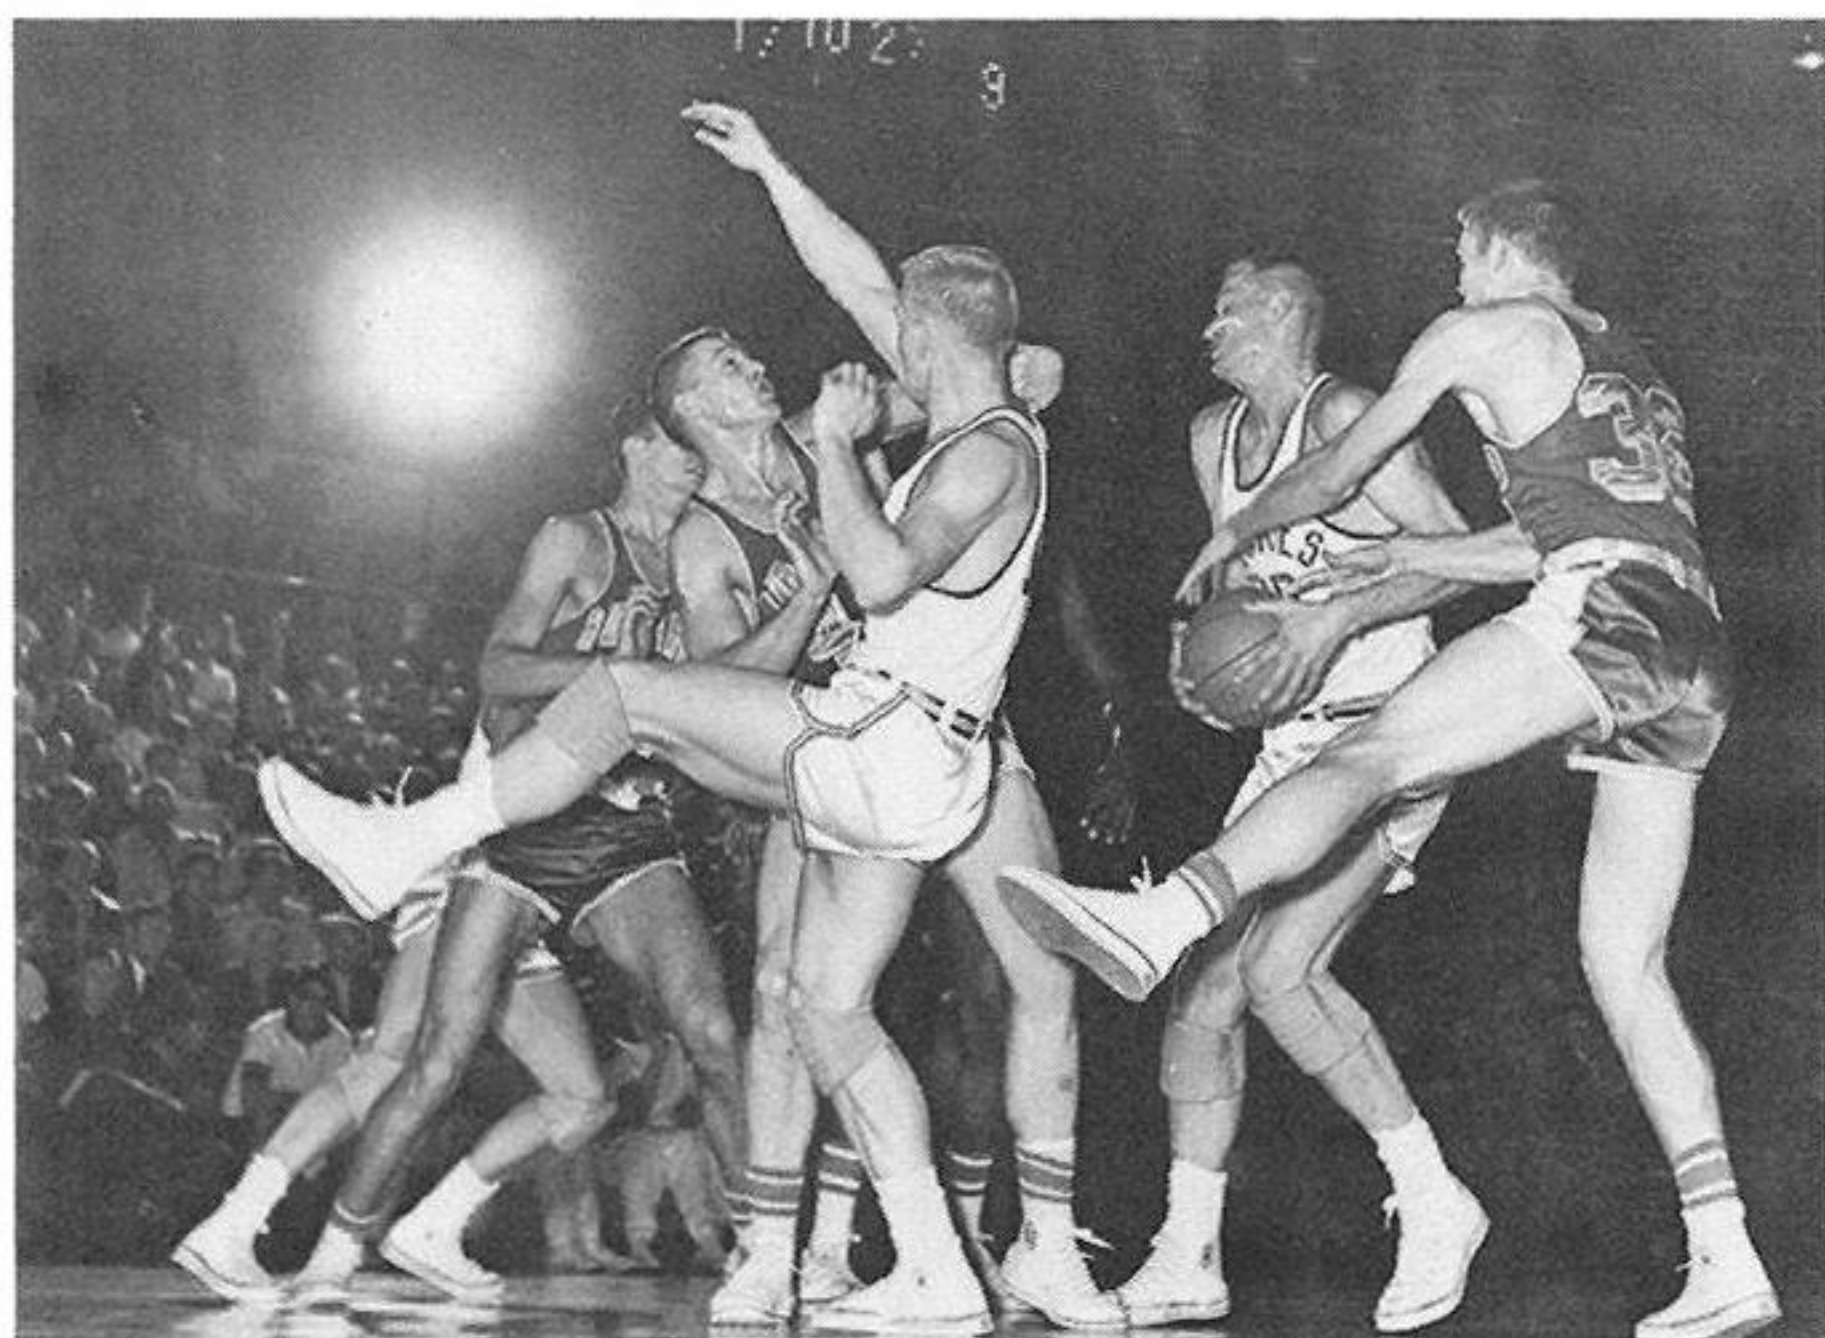

The Huskies' system was working well in the opening games of the season against BYU, but they lost the ball on penalties and mistakes too often. Consequently, they lost the first game, but won the second 60-52. At Iowa State, the Huskies had a four minute cold spot at which time the Cyclones scored 13 points while Washington was unable to score. During the second half, the Huskies caught fire and pulled to within one point with seconds remaining, but could not get the ball. In the second game the Huskies held a 27-28 edge at the half. After the lead changed a few times at the start of the second half, the Huskies pulled away with Niva, Bakken and Hanson leading the scoring.

Northwestern got off to an early lead in its first game with Washington but was trailing by eight points at the half. Washington began to open its lead halfway through the second period and went on to win by a 19-point margin. The second encounter started with Northwestern again leading, but Washington led by six at the half. Northwestern made a strong bid by cutting the Huskies' lead to three points in the second half, but George Grant hit seven out of eight free throws to give Washington the win.

At Hawaii, uncanny accuracy at the free throw line and a last-gasp basket by Hanson gave Washington a two-point victory in the first game. In the second game, Washington won easily by ten points. Also in Hawaii, Washington was defeated by a strong Marine team made up of former college players.

Vandals Defeated

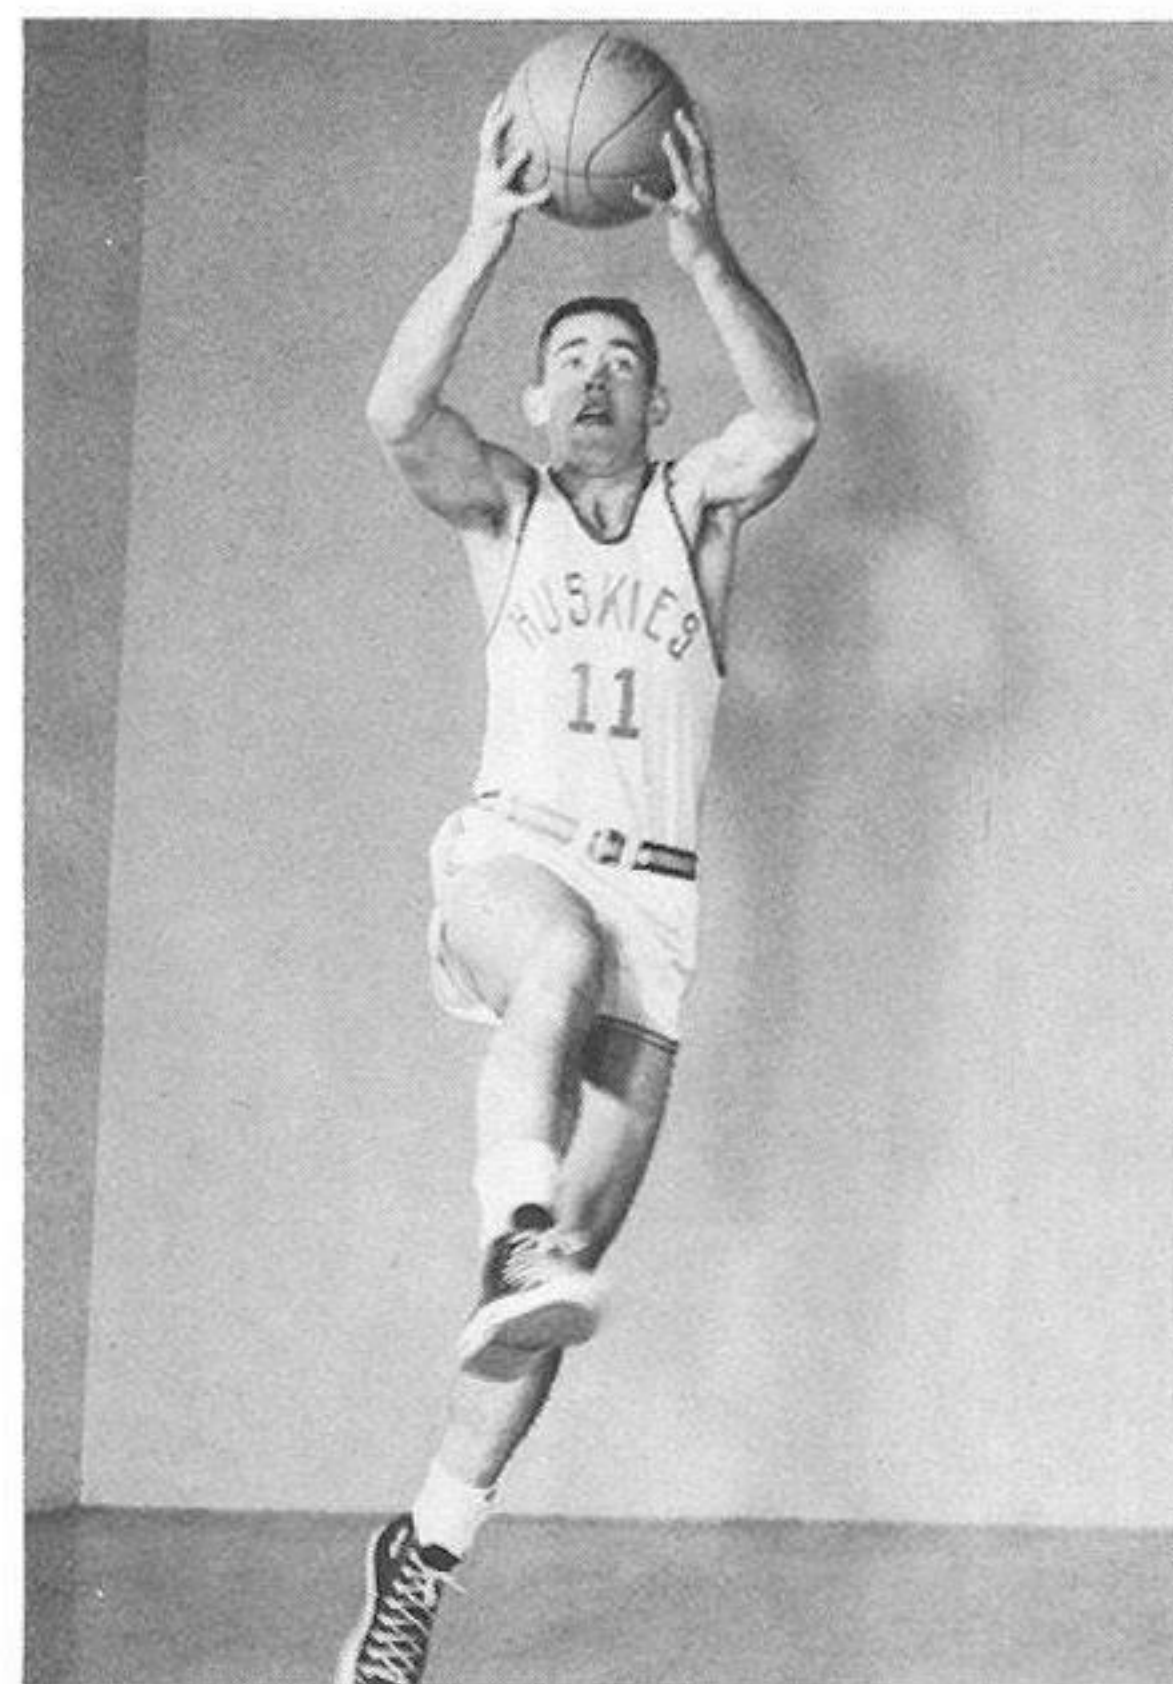

The Huskies won the first game of the Idaho series by a four-point margin. The final game of the series ended with a Husky triumph over the Vandals. Niva, Hanson and Names led the way as Washington pulled out of a 15-15 tie, taking a 23-15 lead midway through the first half. Half-time found the Huskies with a 27-18 lead. With five minutes remaining in the game, the Idaho five narrowed the margin 48-44. Two shots were then scored by Niva and Names to pull the Huskies out of danger.

Bill Hanson goes up for two points.

Clint Names, one-year letterman from Tacoma, is a player with great natural ability and exceptionally good basketball sense. He is a tremendous outside shooter, a good driver, knows how to handle himself on the floor and passes off well in tight situations.

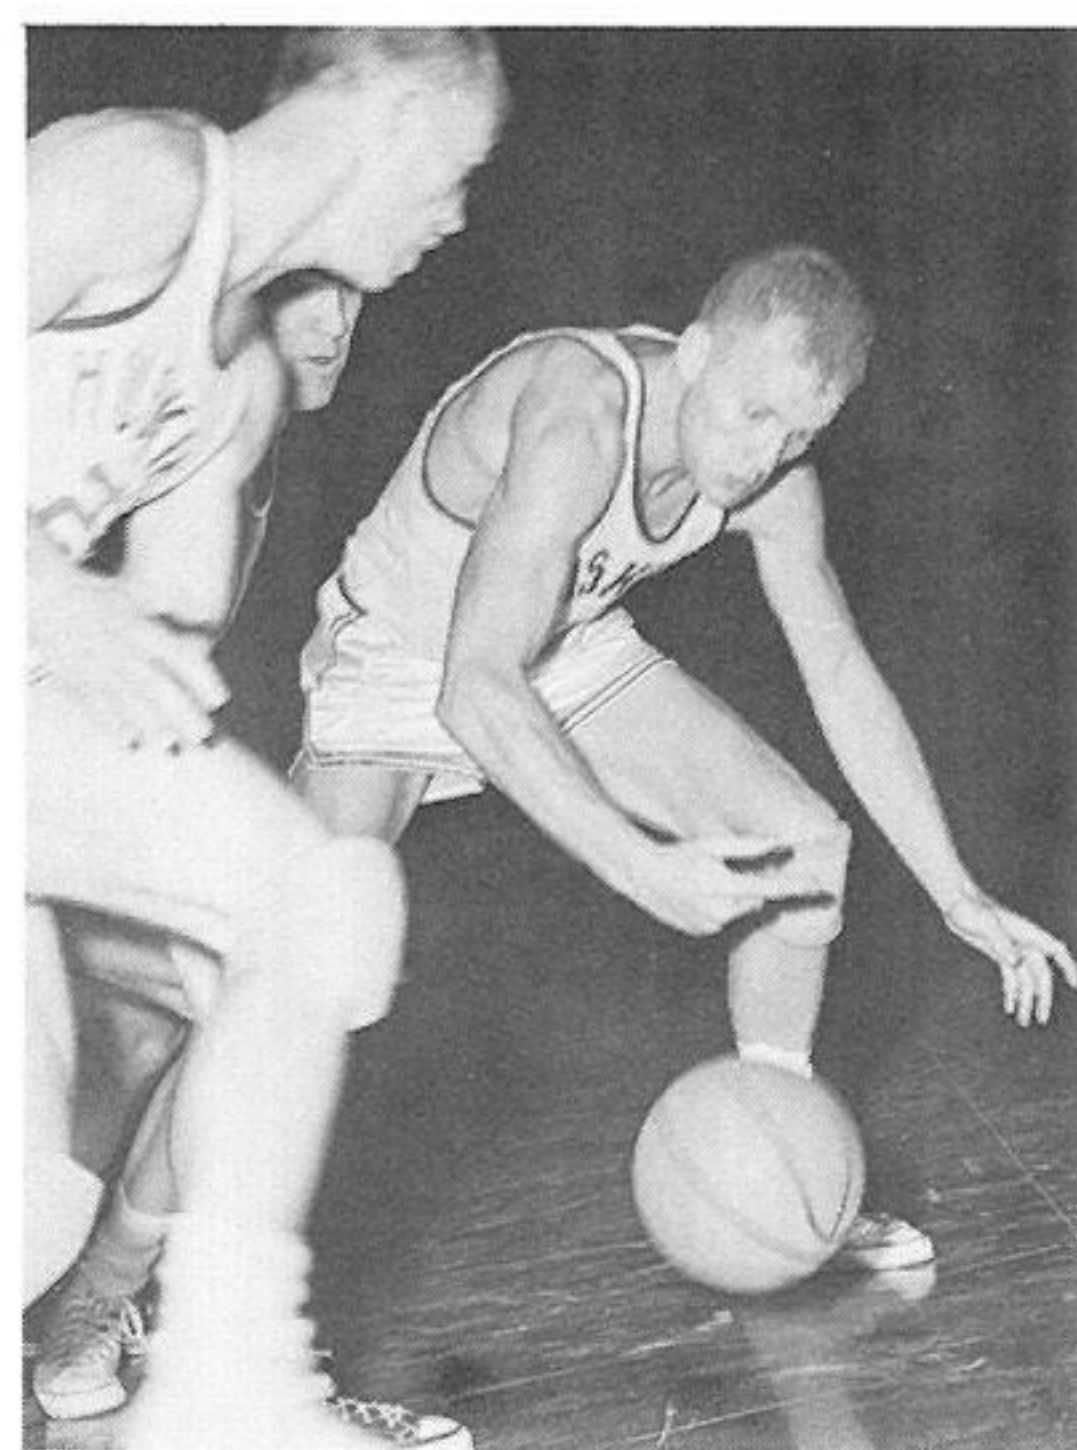

Dick Reiten is a good floorman who handles the ball well with better than average speed. He is a sophomore guard from Bellevue.

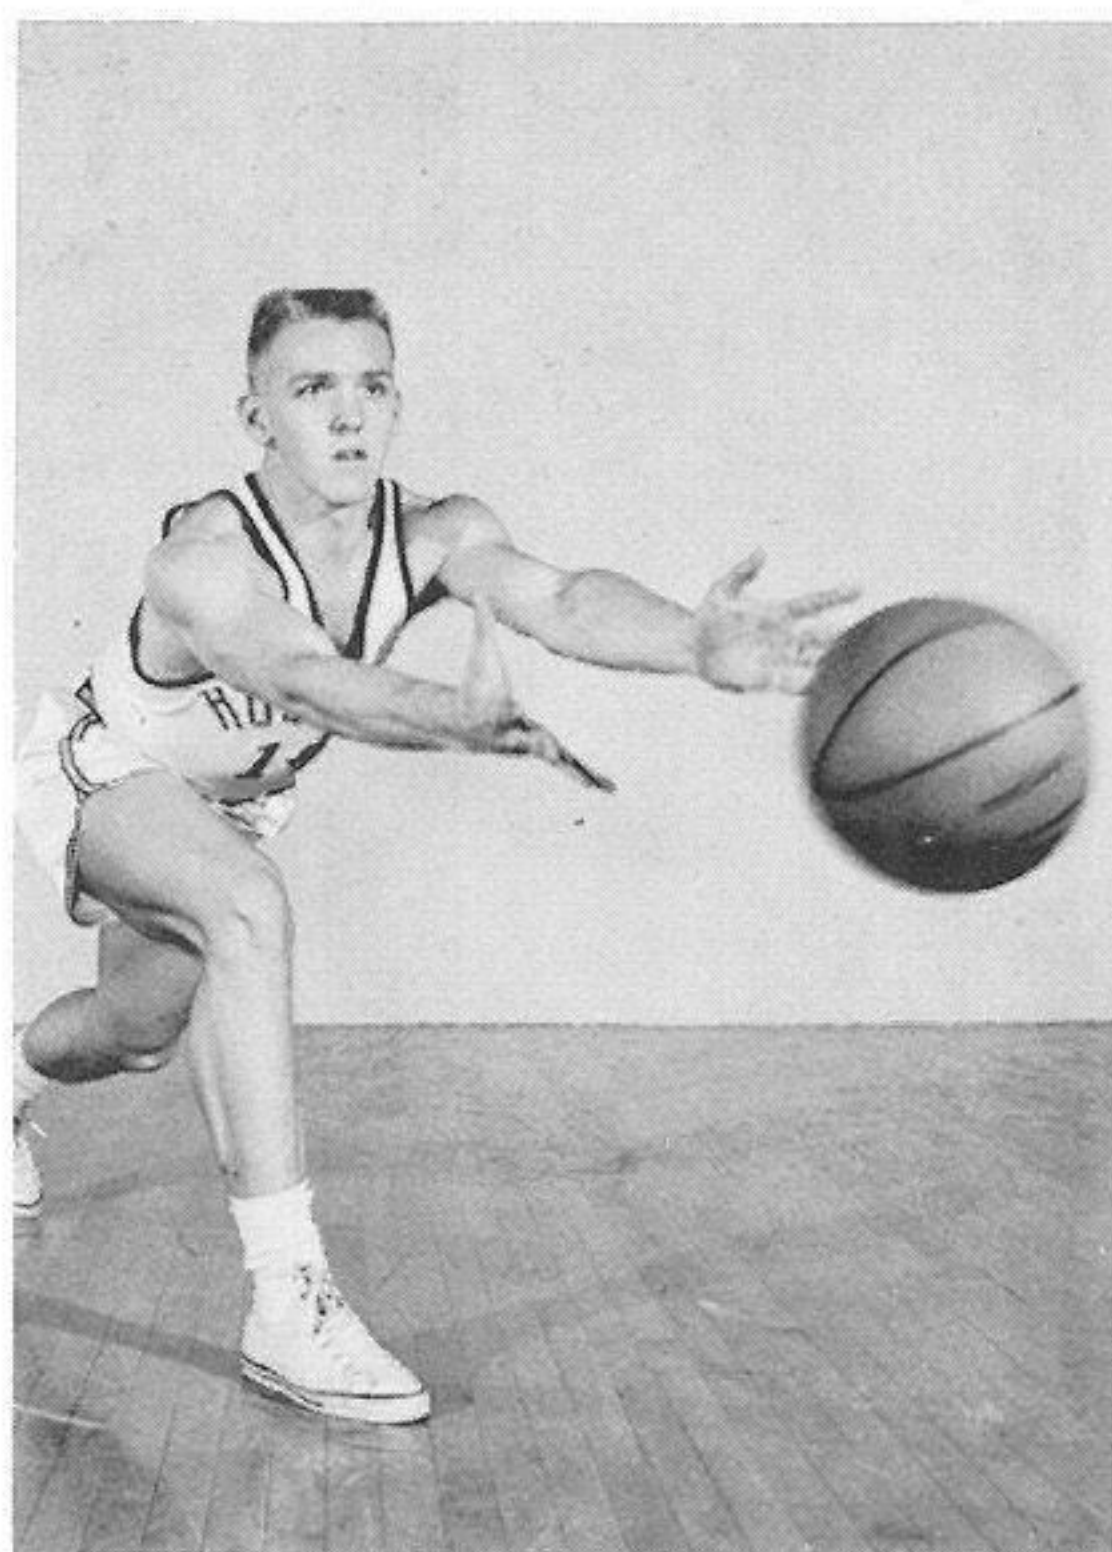

The Huskies following Coach Grayson's rule, "A time out is a minute at rest."

WSU Loses Two

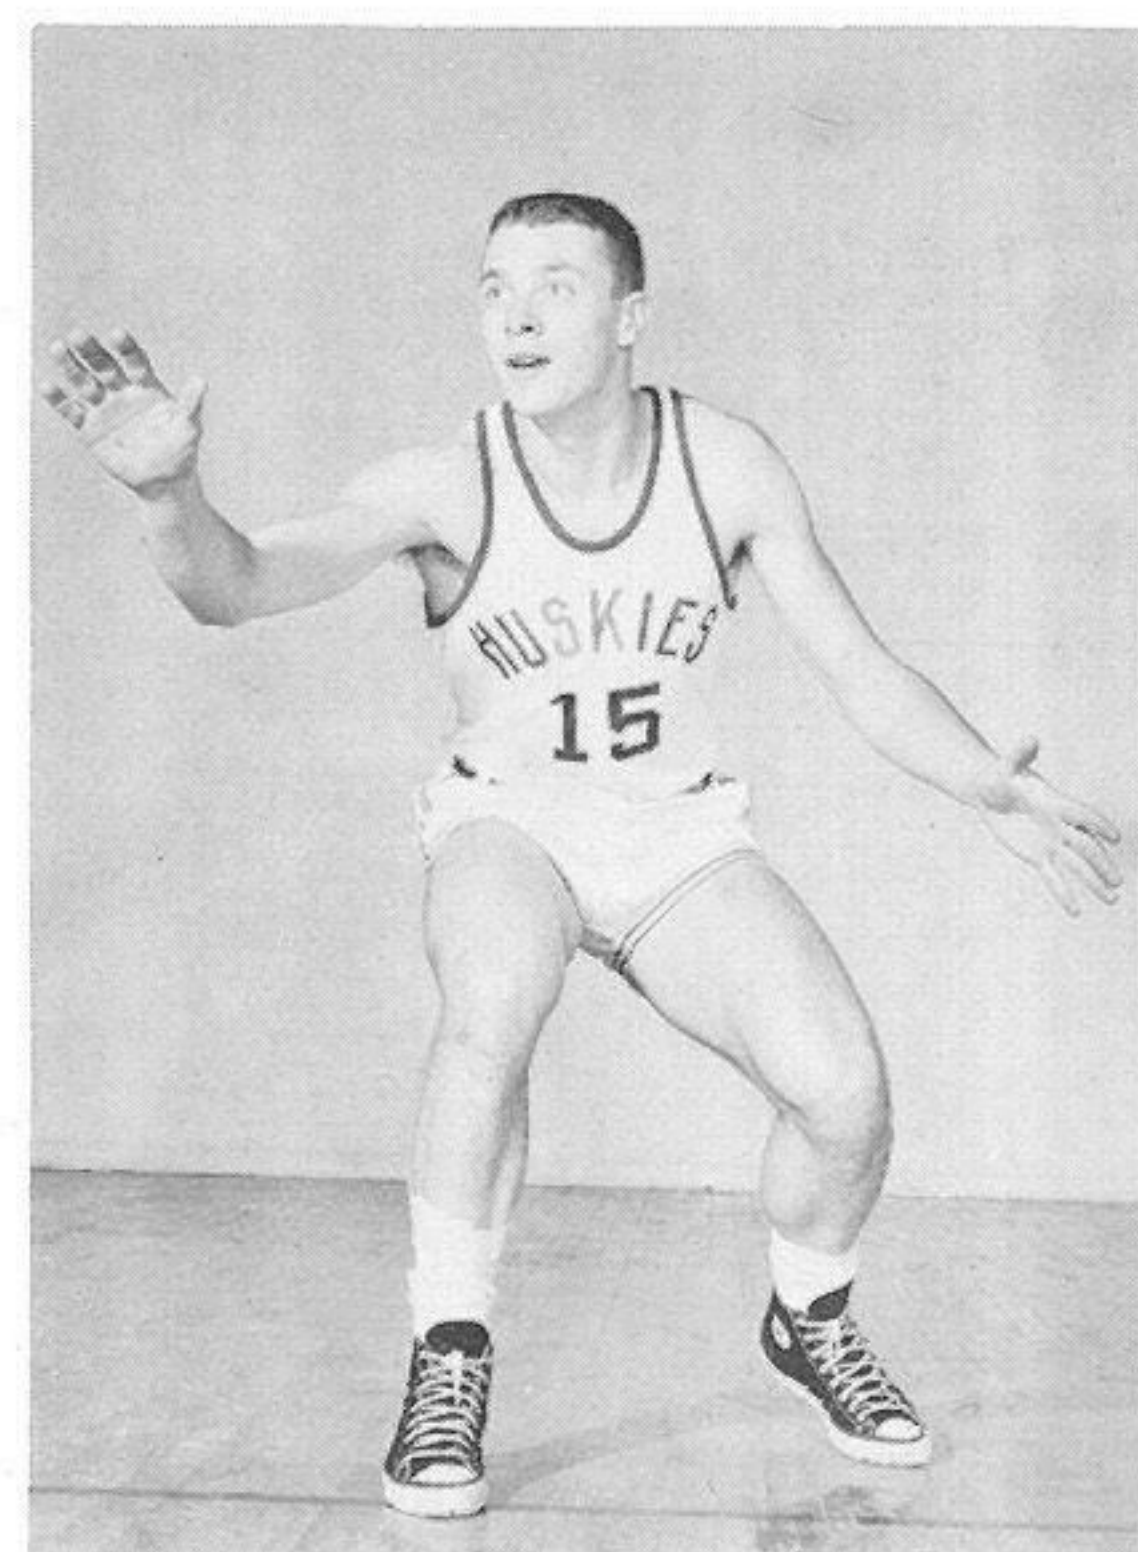

Washington ended its 1960 basketball season by downing the Cougars at Spokane. The Huskies trailed by nine points with eight minutes left in the first half, but were in front 29-22 at half-time. Clint Names, who was high with 23, scored 11 of his points in the eight minute period. WSU made its final threat in the early minutes of the second half when they closed the gap to four points, but Names then made two free throws and the Huskies were away to their second victory out of three games against the Cougars.

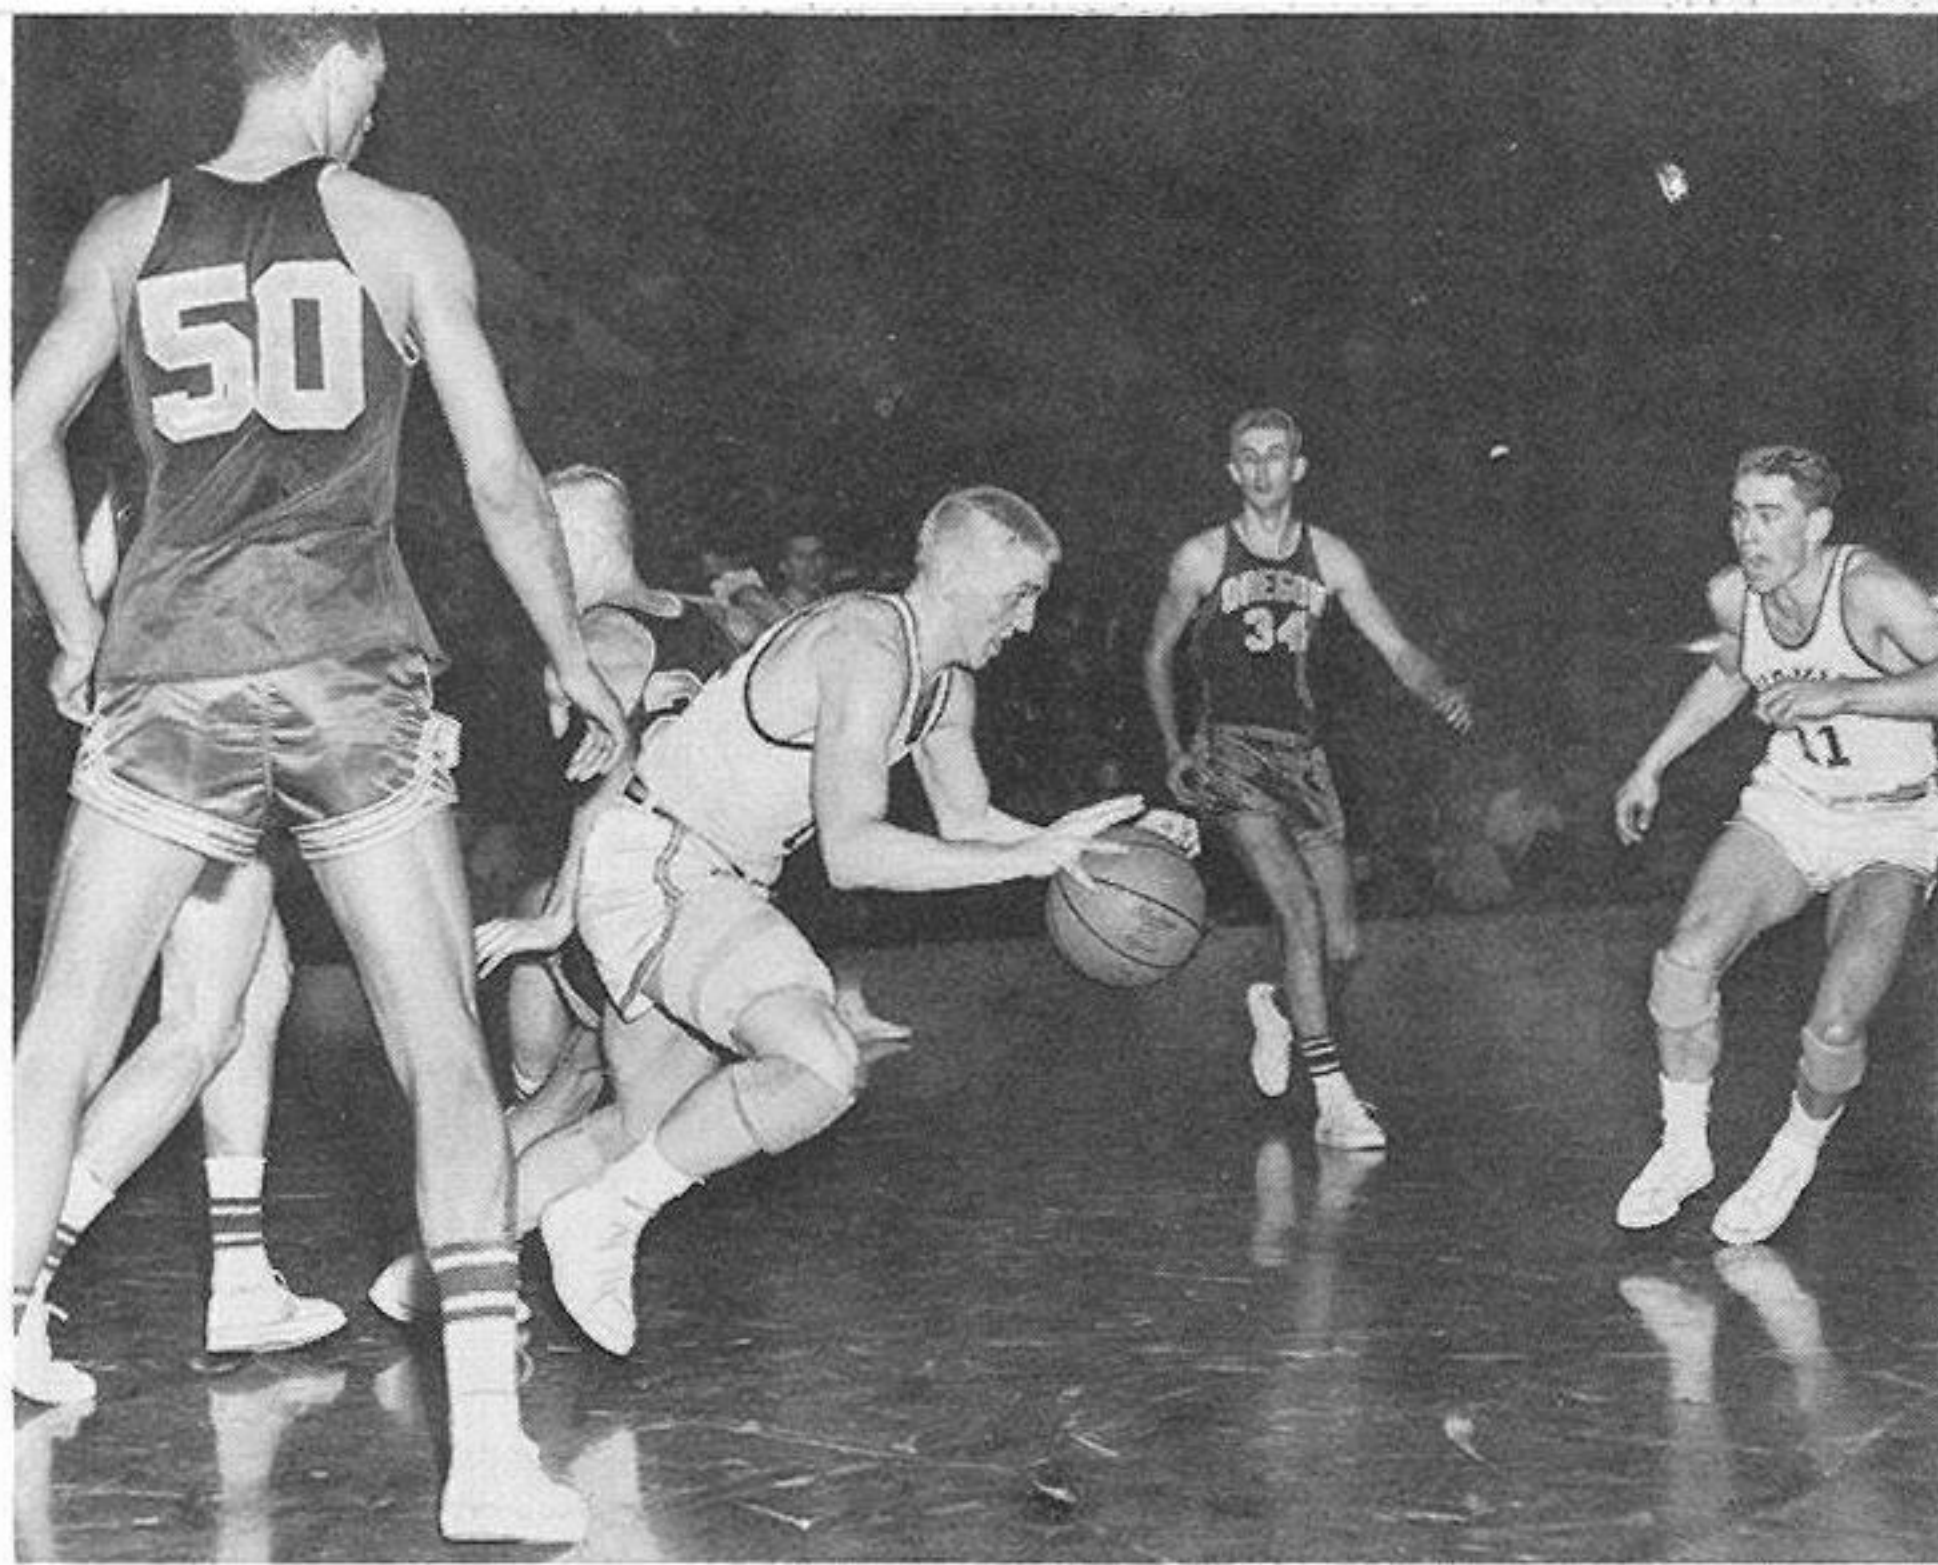

The Huskies taking control of the ball.

Lyle Bakken, sophomore forward from Bremerton, is probably the fastest floorman on the team and one of the better playmakers.

Don Daniels, a good all-around athlete, is an excellent ball handler and playmaker who can drive the key. Also, he is a fine jumper with an accurate jump shot. Don is a junior guard from Anacortes.

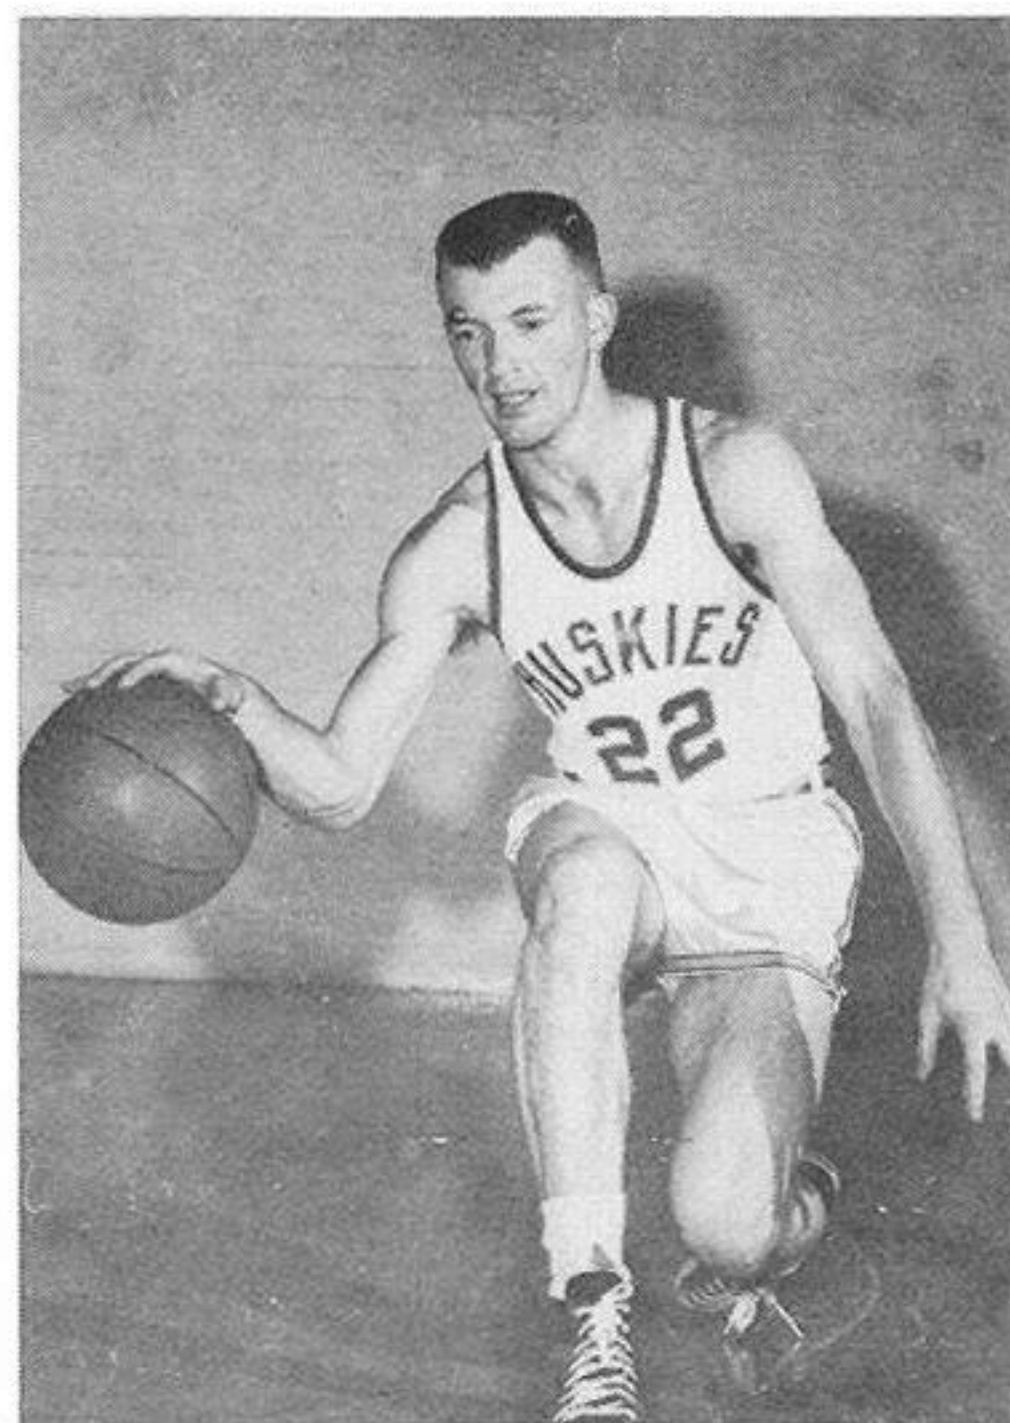

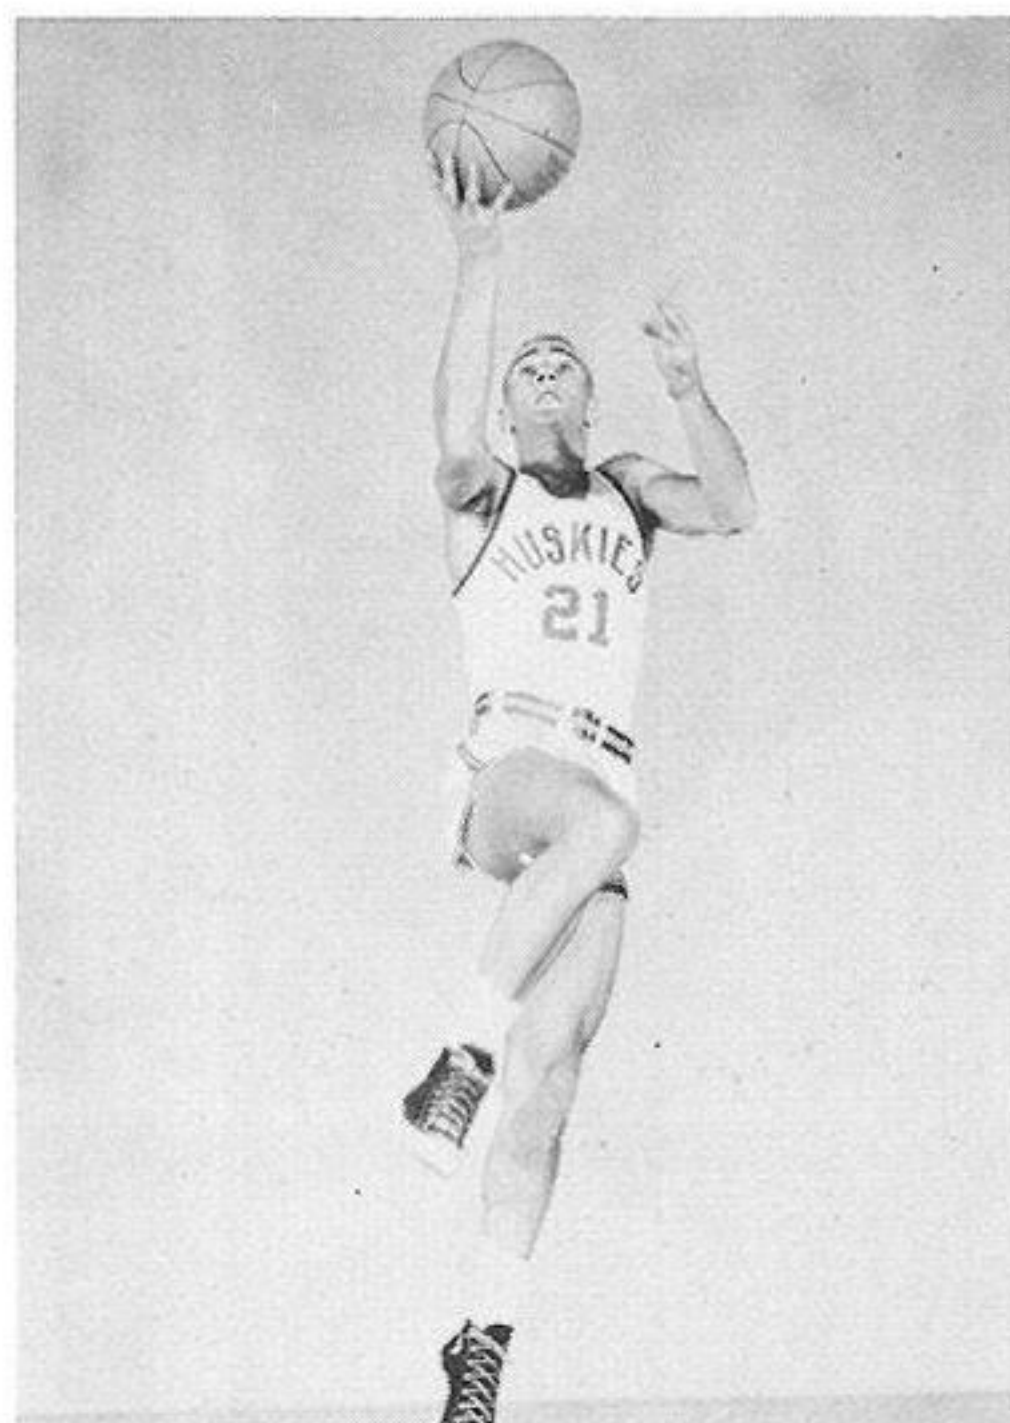

Lyle Bakken heads up court after snaring a rebound while Dick Reiten looks on.

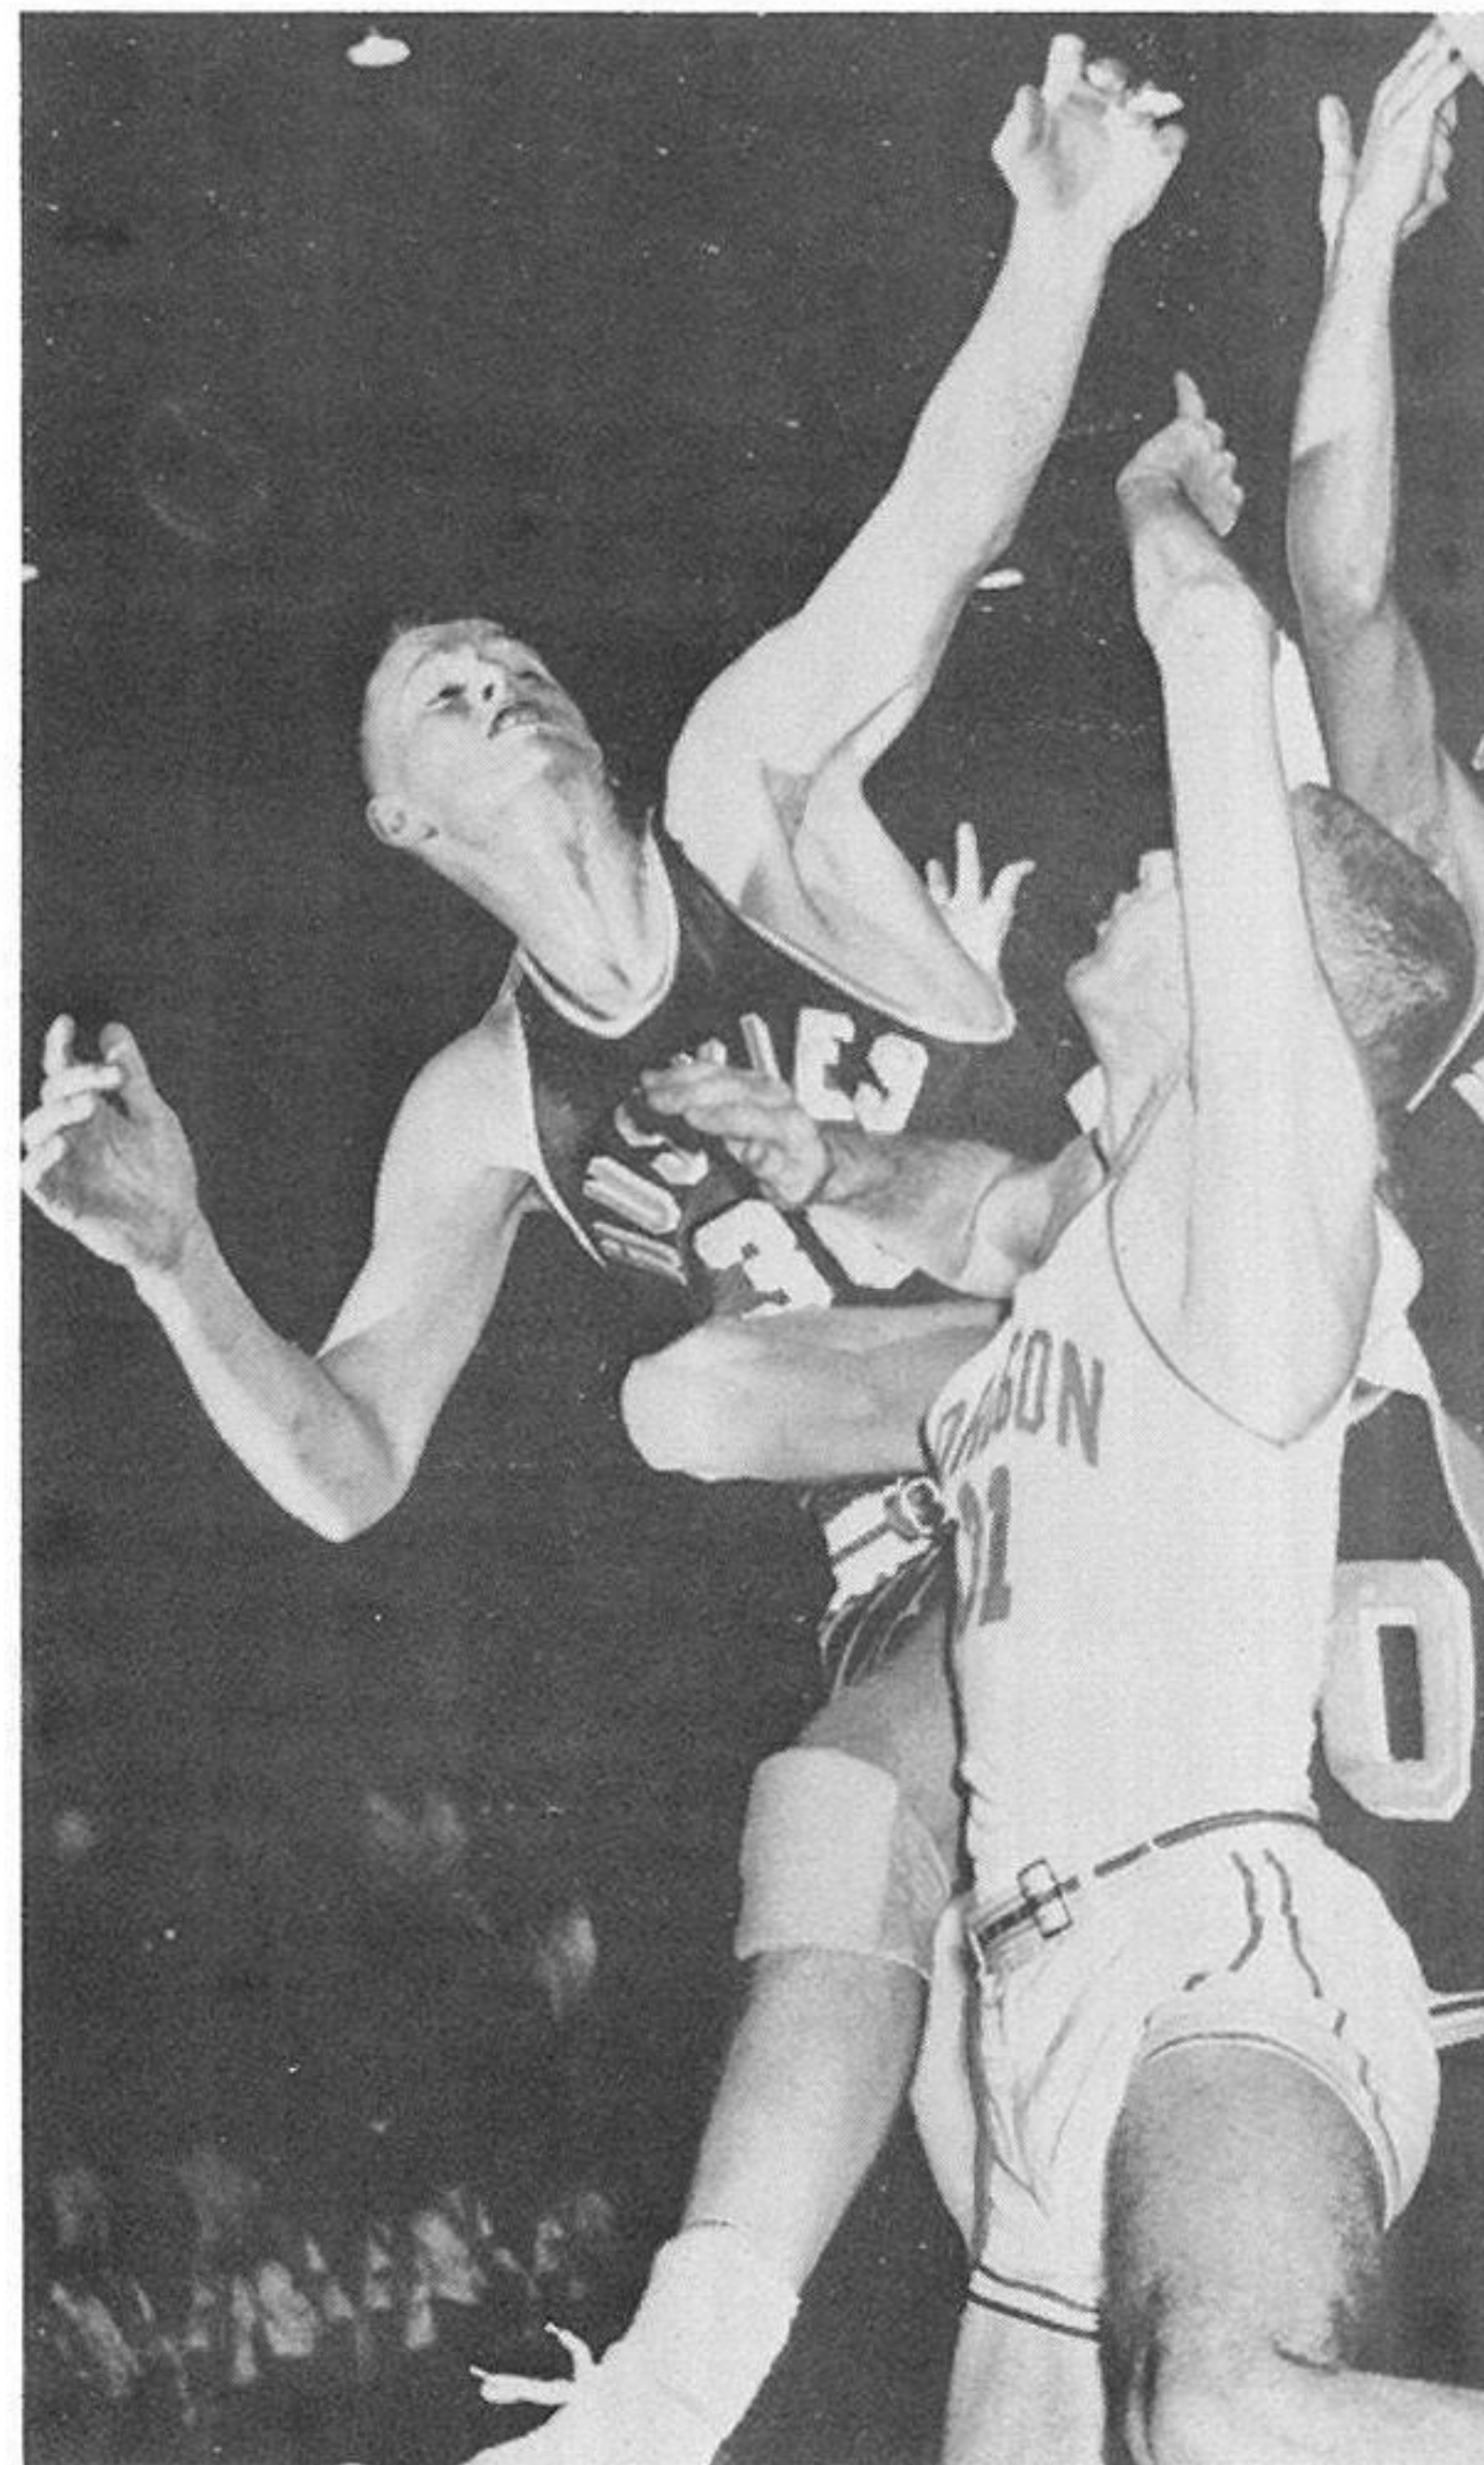

The first Washington-Oregon encounter was a hard played game. The score was tied five times in the first half, and the lead changed hands four times; while in the second half the score was tied six times and the lead changed three times. It was in the last three minutes of the game that there was evidence of who would win, as the Huskies shook off Oregon's defense with a fine example of court strategy. With the Huskies in front 53-50, they went into a passing game which drew out the Oregon defense to allow Grant to slip under the basket and make two. From then on, the Huskies held their lead to win. In the second game at Eugene, both teams were off form in the first half, which ended with the Ducks leading 19-18. In the second half the Ducks improved, using driving tactics to break up the Washington offense, while the Huskies remained ineffective.

George Grant, a guard from Tacoma, played his last year for the Huskies. He is a better than average jump shooter, is good on defense and very accurate at the free throw line.

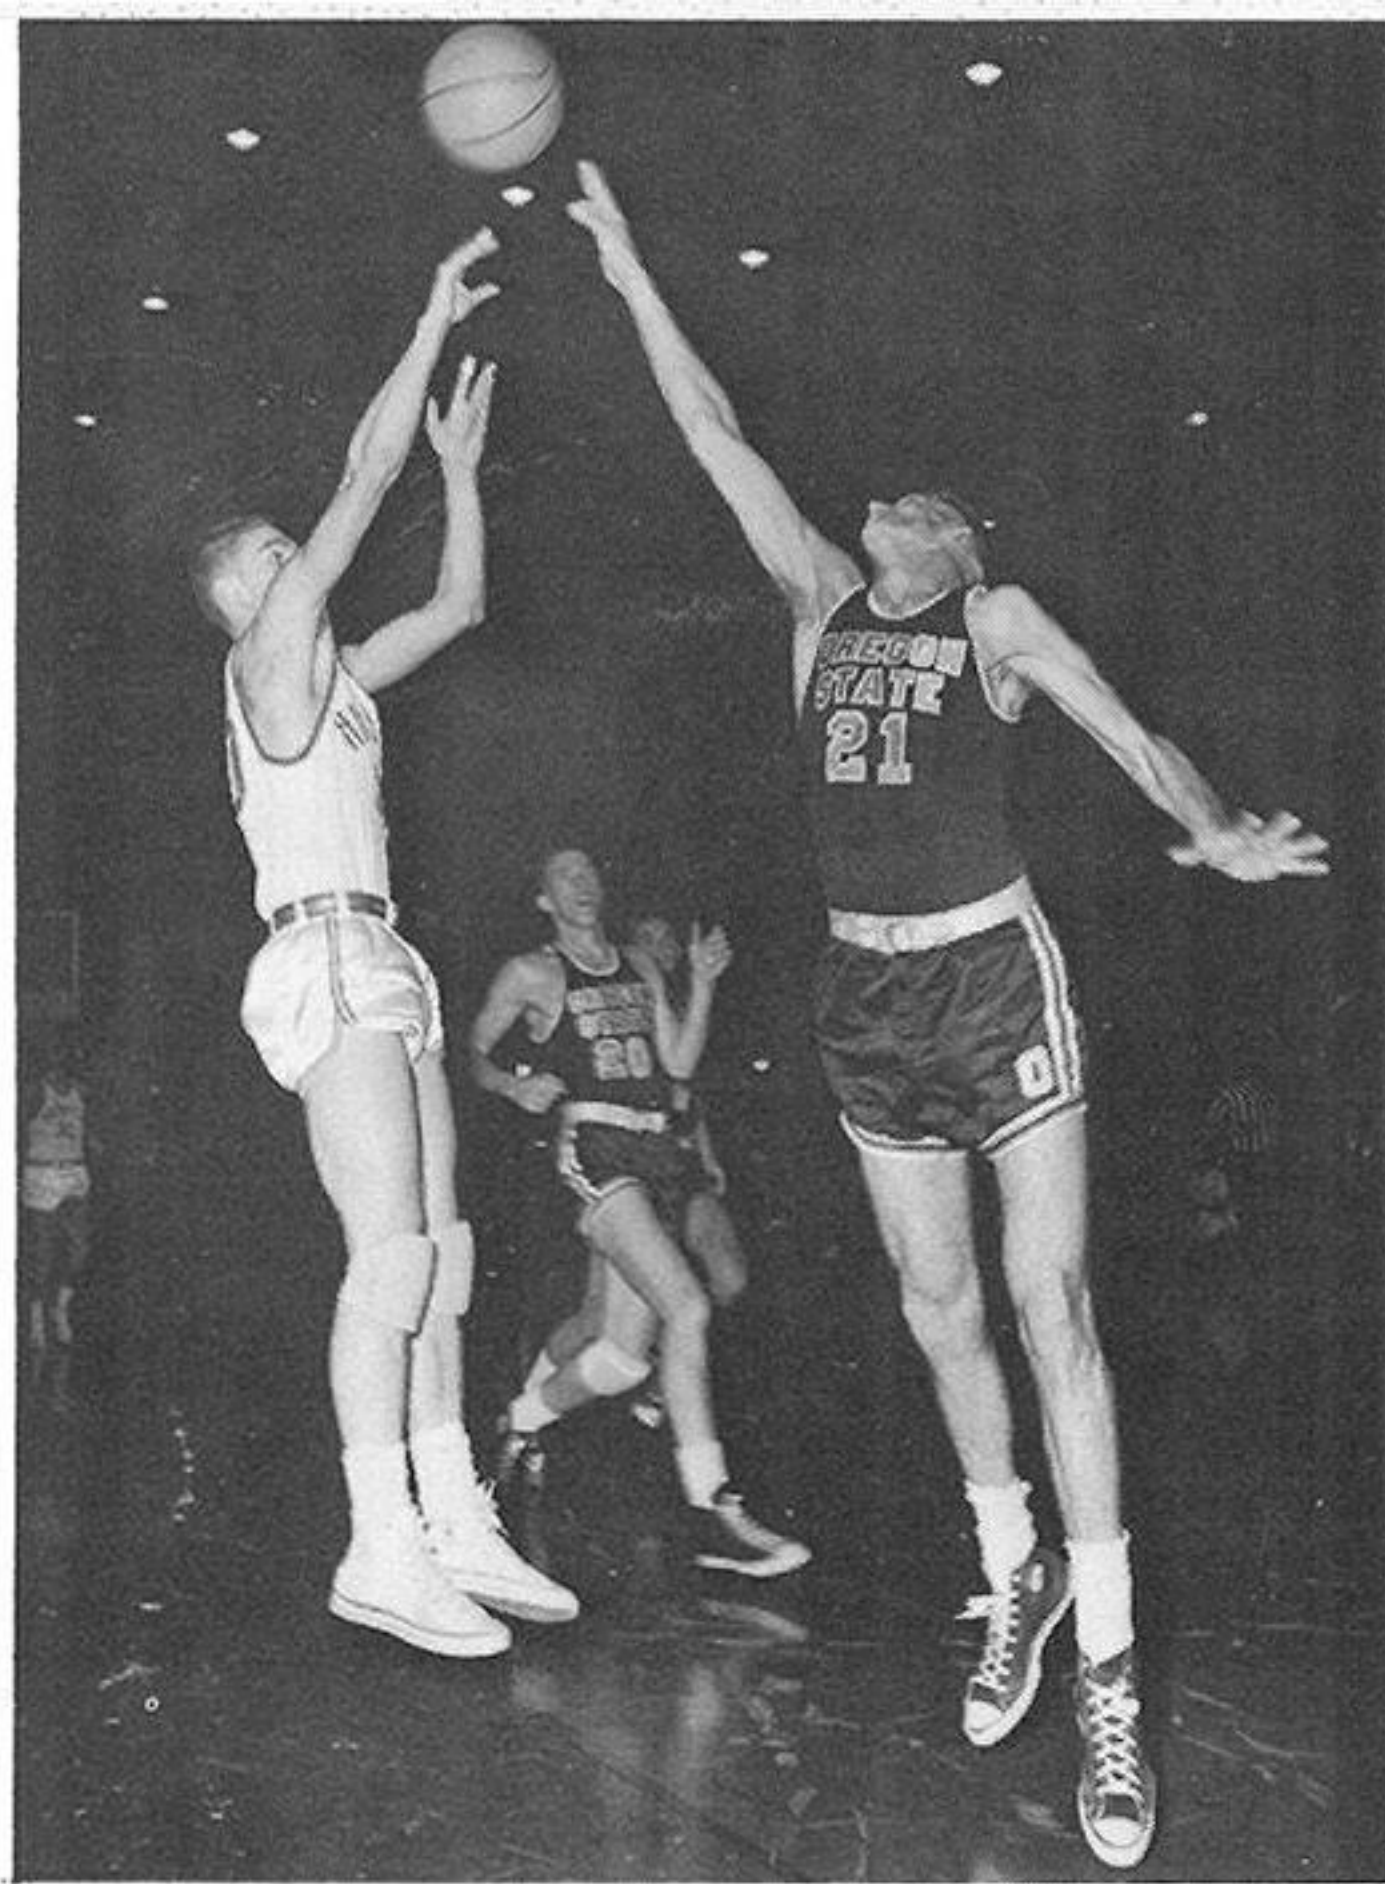

Bill Rucker, sophomore guard from Everett, is a fine rebounder with a jump shot as his specialty and has a lot of hustle.

Huskies, Ducks Split Pair

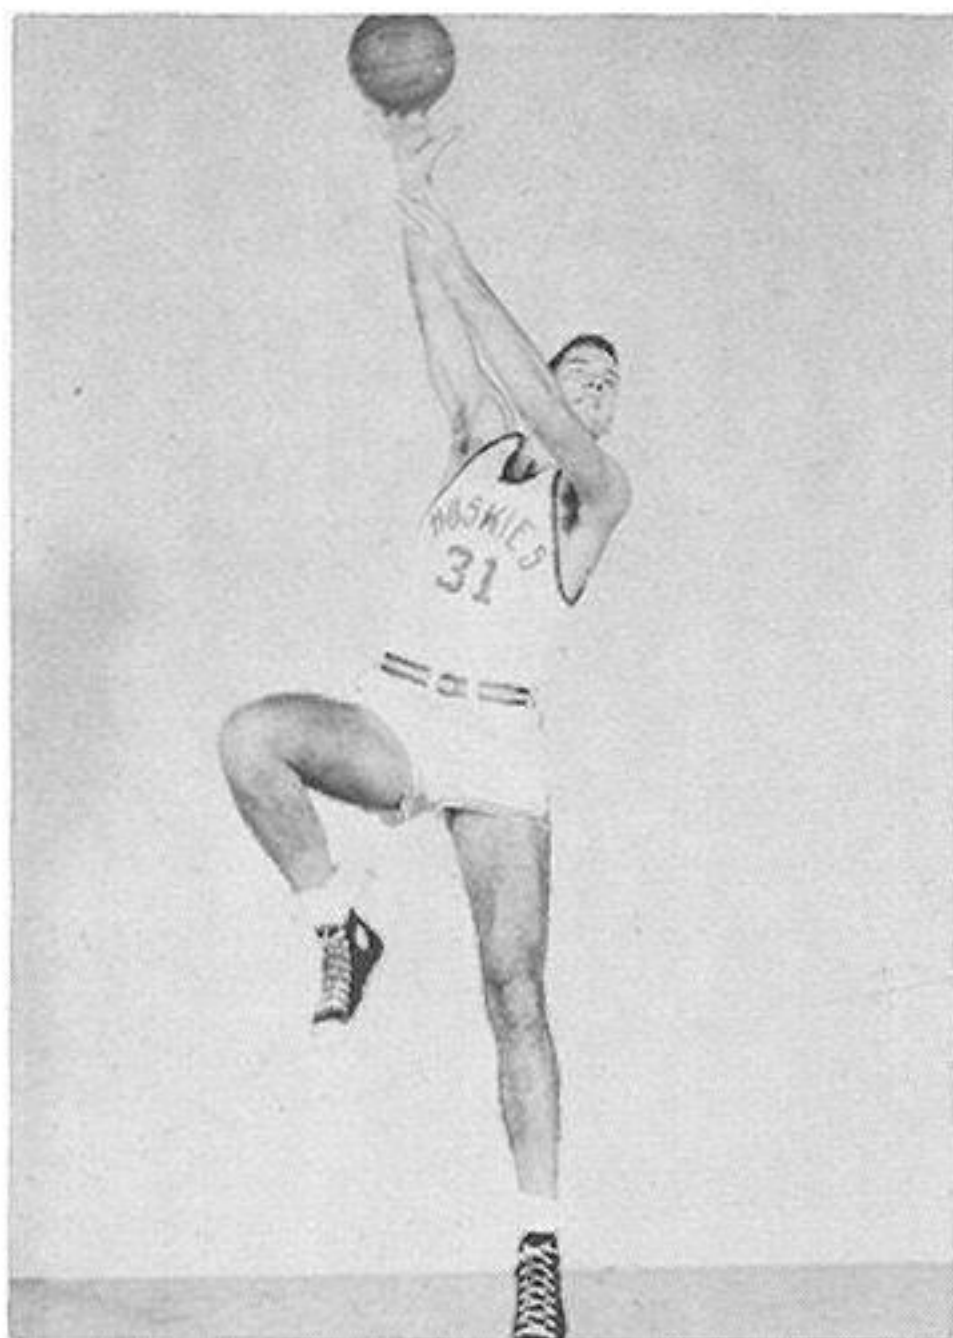

An unidentified Washington player squeezed an elbow in between the Huskies' Bill Hanson and an Oregon player, Stu Robinson, but was unable to elbow his way through the crowd for the rebound.

Going over the hand of an Oregon player, Clint Names shoots one from close in.

Clint Names eyes the basket in preparation for a jump shot.

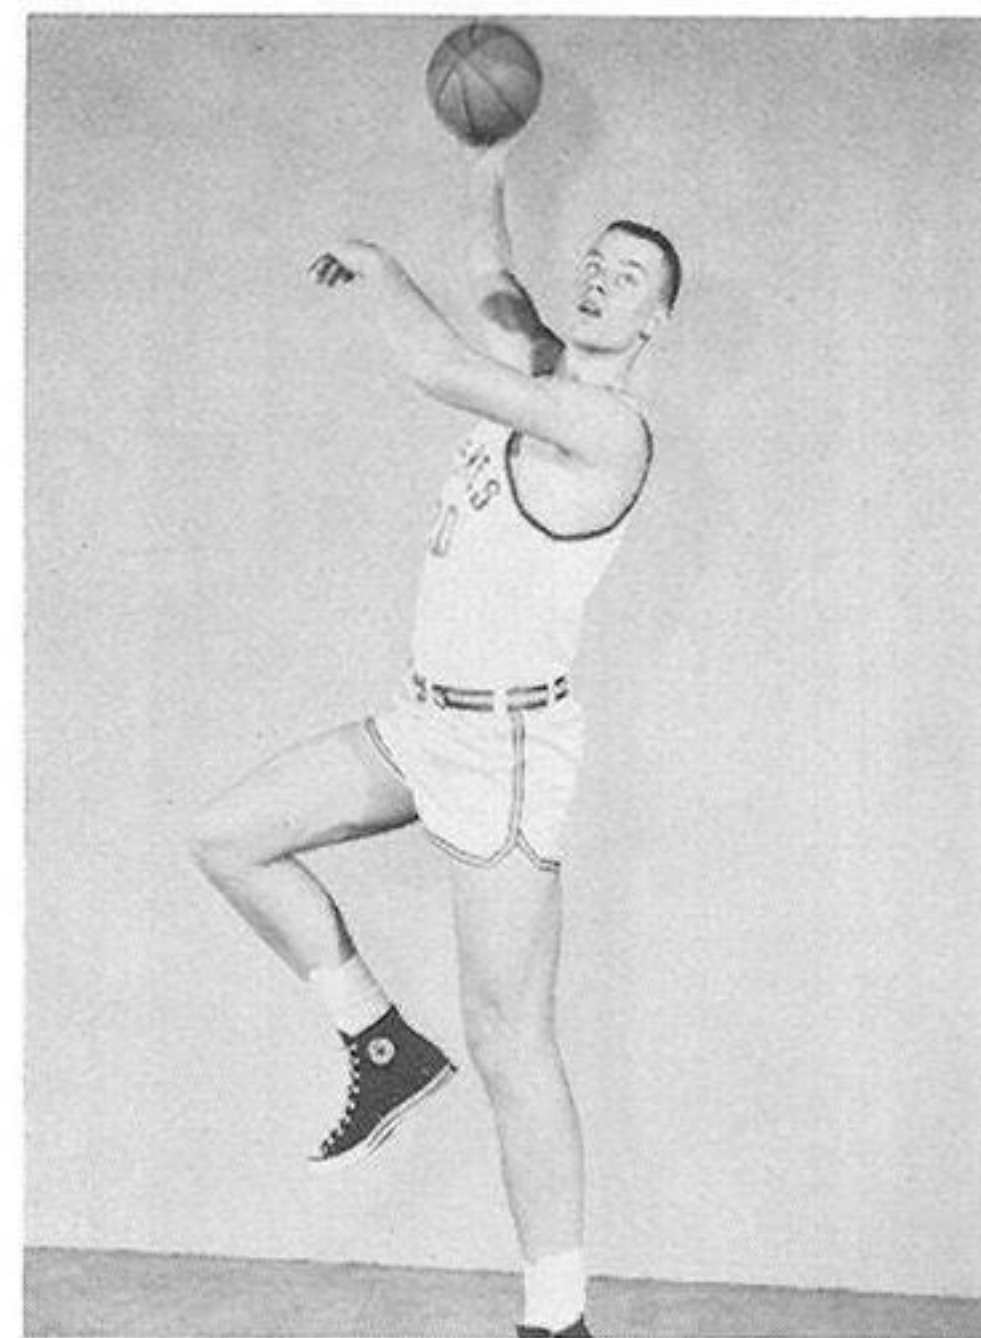

Roger Niva is a devoted player who hails from Seattle. A forward in his sophomore year, he combines a nice jump shot in the area of the circle with a hook shot from the key. He is a good driver and fine rebounder.

Washington won its first game after four conference defeats by beating the Oregon Beavers in Seattle. The Huskies gained an 11-point lead by half-time after being sparked by Hanson who scored 16 in the first period. Late in the final period, Oregon came within four points of Washington, but a jump shot by Dick Reiten, who gave one of the best performances of the night, put the Huskies out of danger.

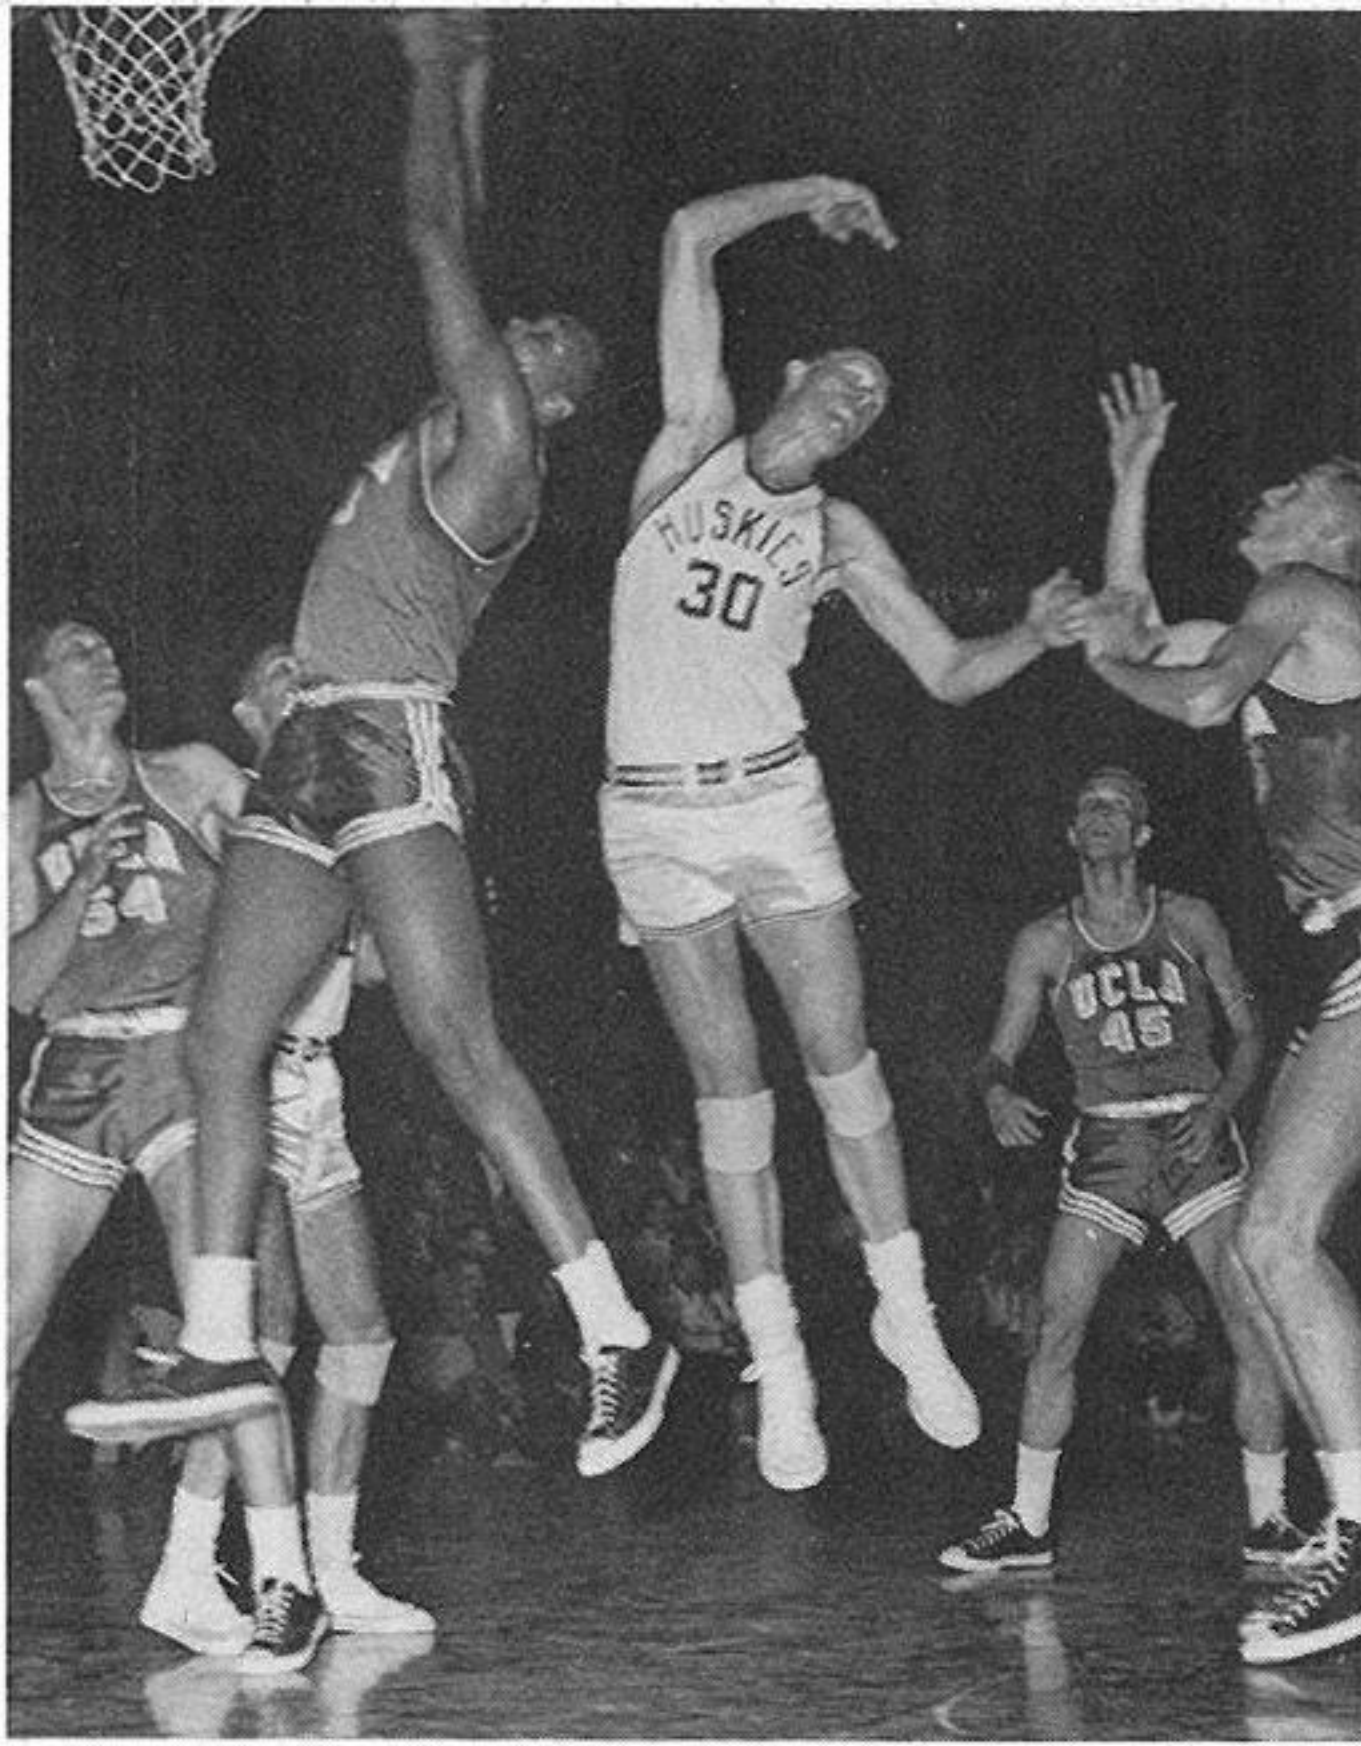

Oregon State Bows Twice

The Washington team stepped up its pace in the final ten minutes of the second half in the next meeting and eased to a victory over the Beavers. The Huskies led all the way with Oregon pulling within only three points at one time. The Beavers had their chance to take over the lead when Murphy, Douglas and Bakken fouled out. Grant insured the win for the Huskies with six free throws a little later.

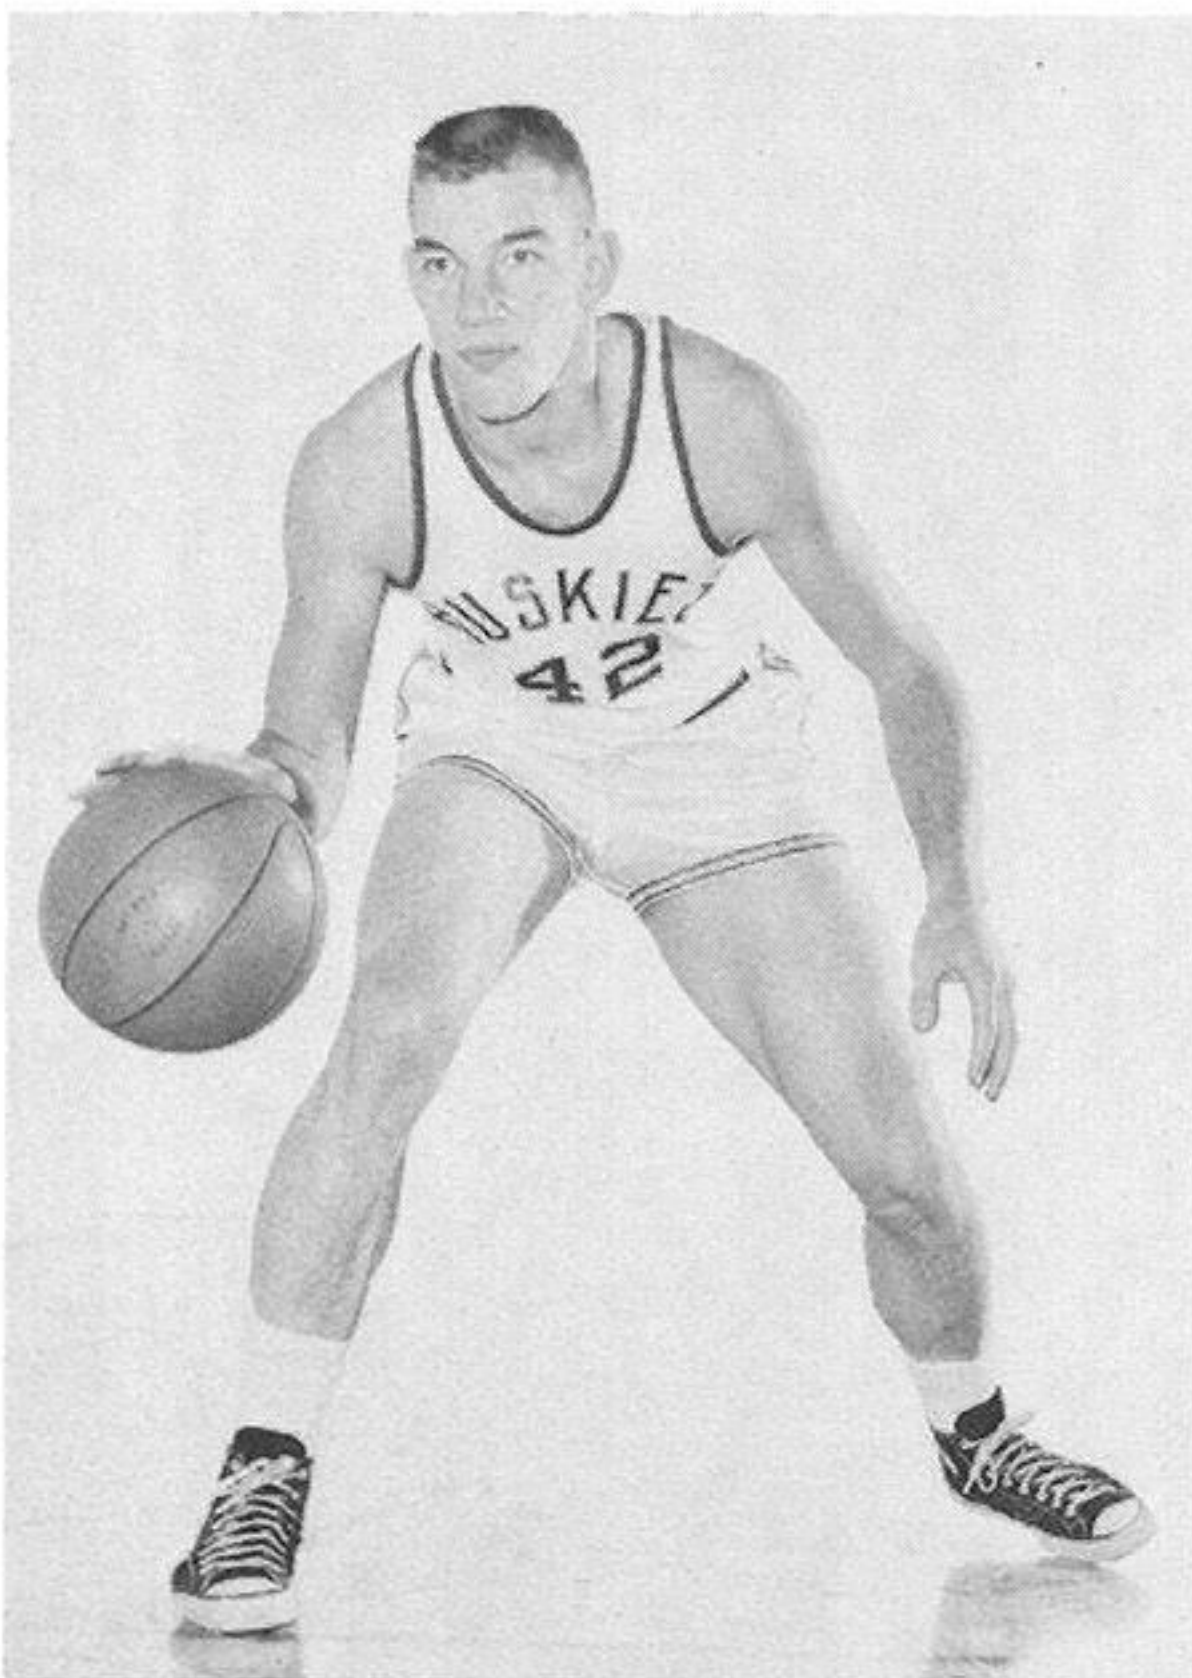

Bill Hanson, a sophomore from Mercer Island, was very important as the pivot man in Grayson's offense. He is particularly effective in and around the basket, as was shown by his being the top scorer on the team. A good rebounder on both boards, he has a variety of shots, excelling on the jump shot.

UCLA Wins Two

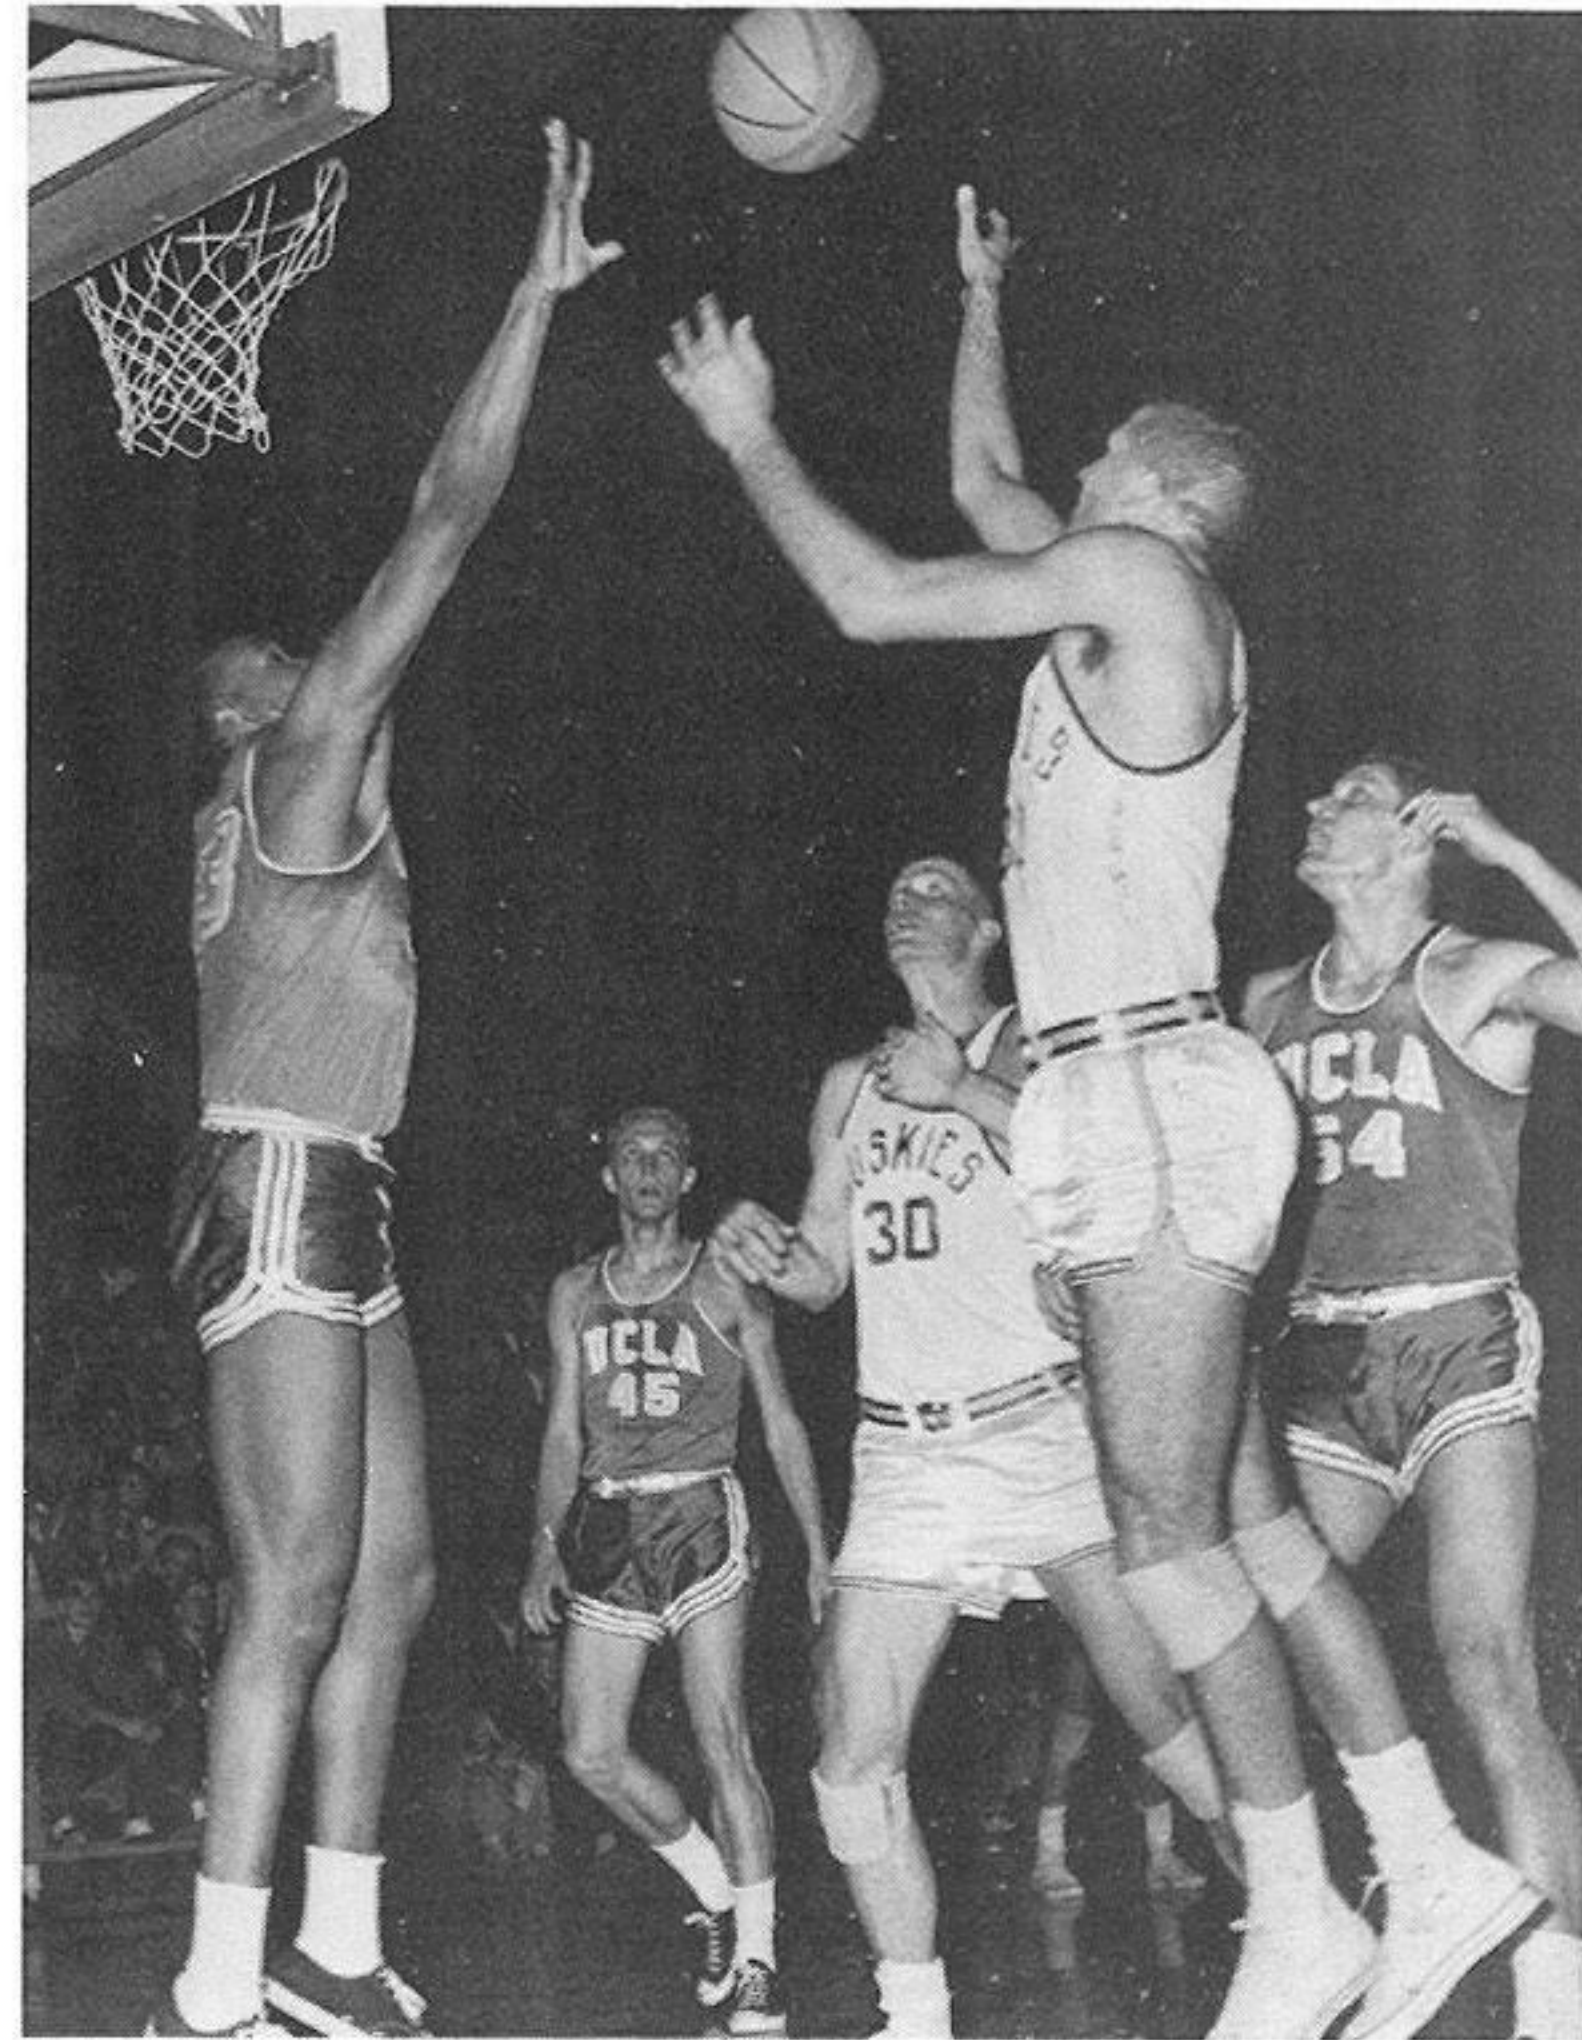

Bill Hanson stops an attempted Bruin shot.

In the initial action for Washington in the newly-formed American Association of Western Universities, the Huskies lost the first of what was to be a series of one and two point losses. The Huskies put in a good performance, although they were a little over-anxious. In the second game with UCLA at Los Angeles, Roger Niva and Bill Hanson fouled out in the last seven minutes. During that time, the Bruins scored eight straight points to tie the game at 51-51. Washington's Brad Wilson sank a tip-in and Lyle Bakken put in a free throw to give a three point margin to the Huskies. But two players of the Bruin five sank jump shots to win for UCLA. In the final game of the series with the Bruins Washington hit 56 per cent of its field goal attempts. The Huskies did not lead until the second half when Names hit a long jump shot to make it 41-40. They then continued to pull away and won by 11 points.

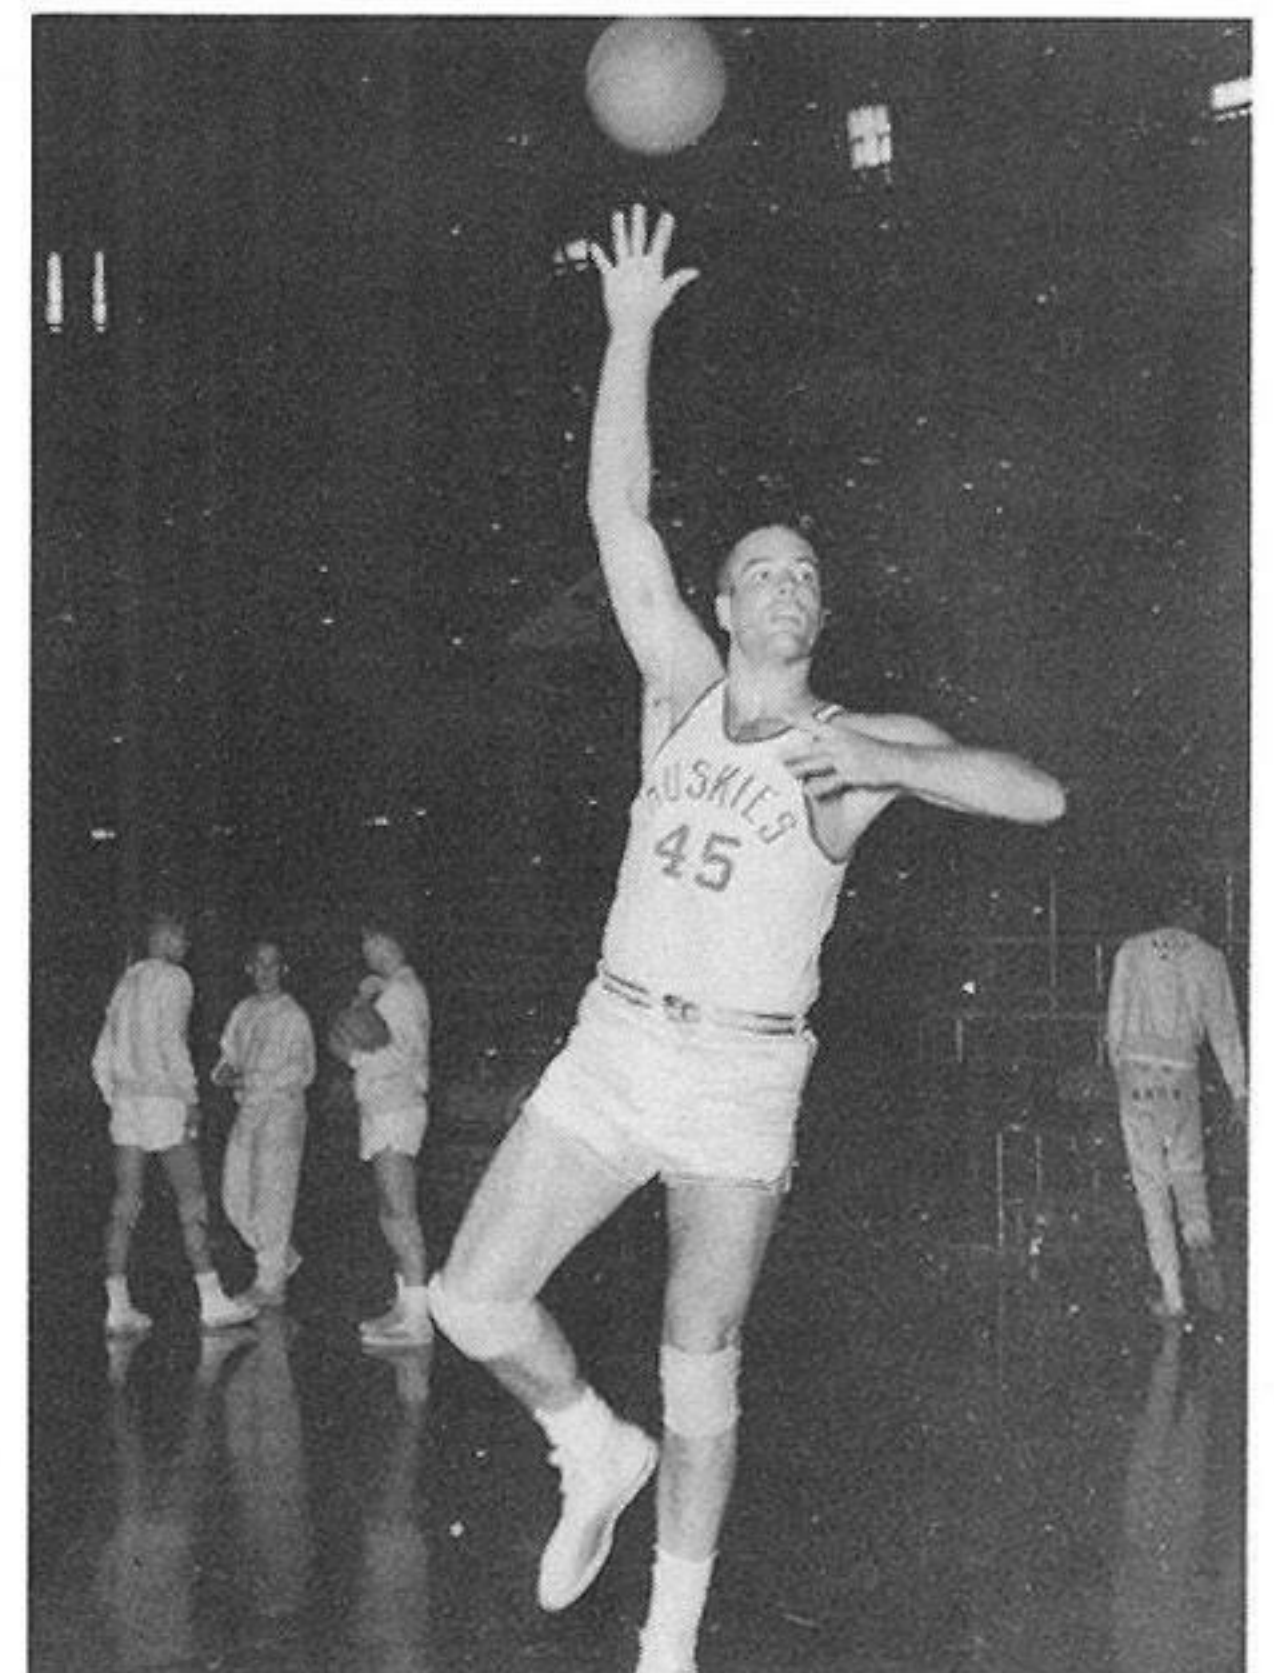

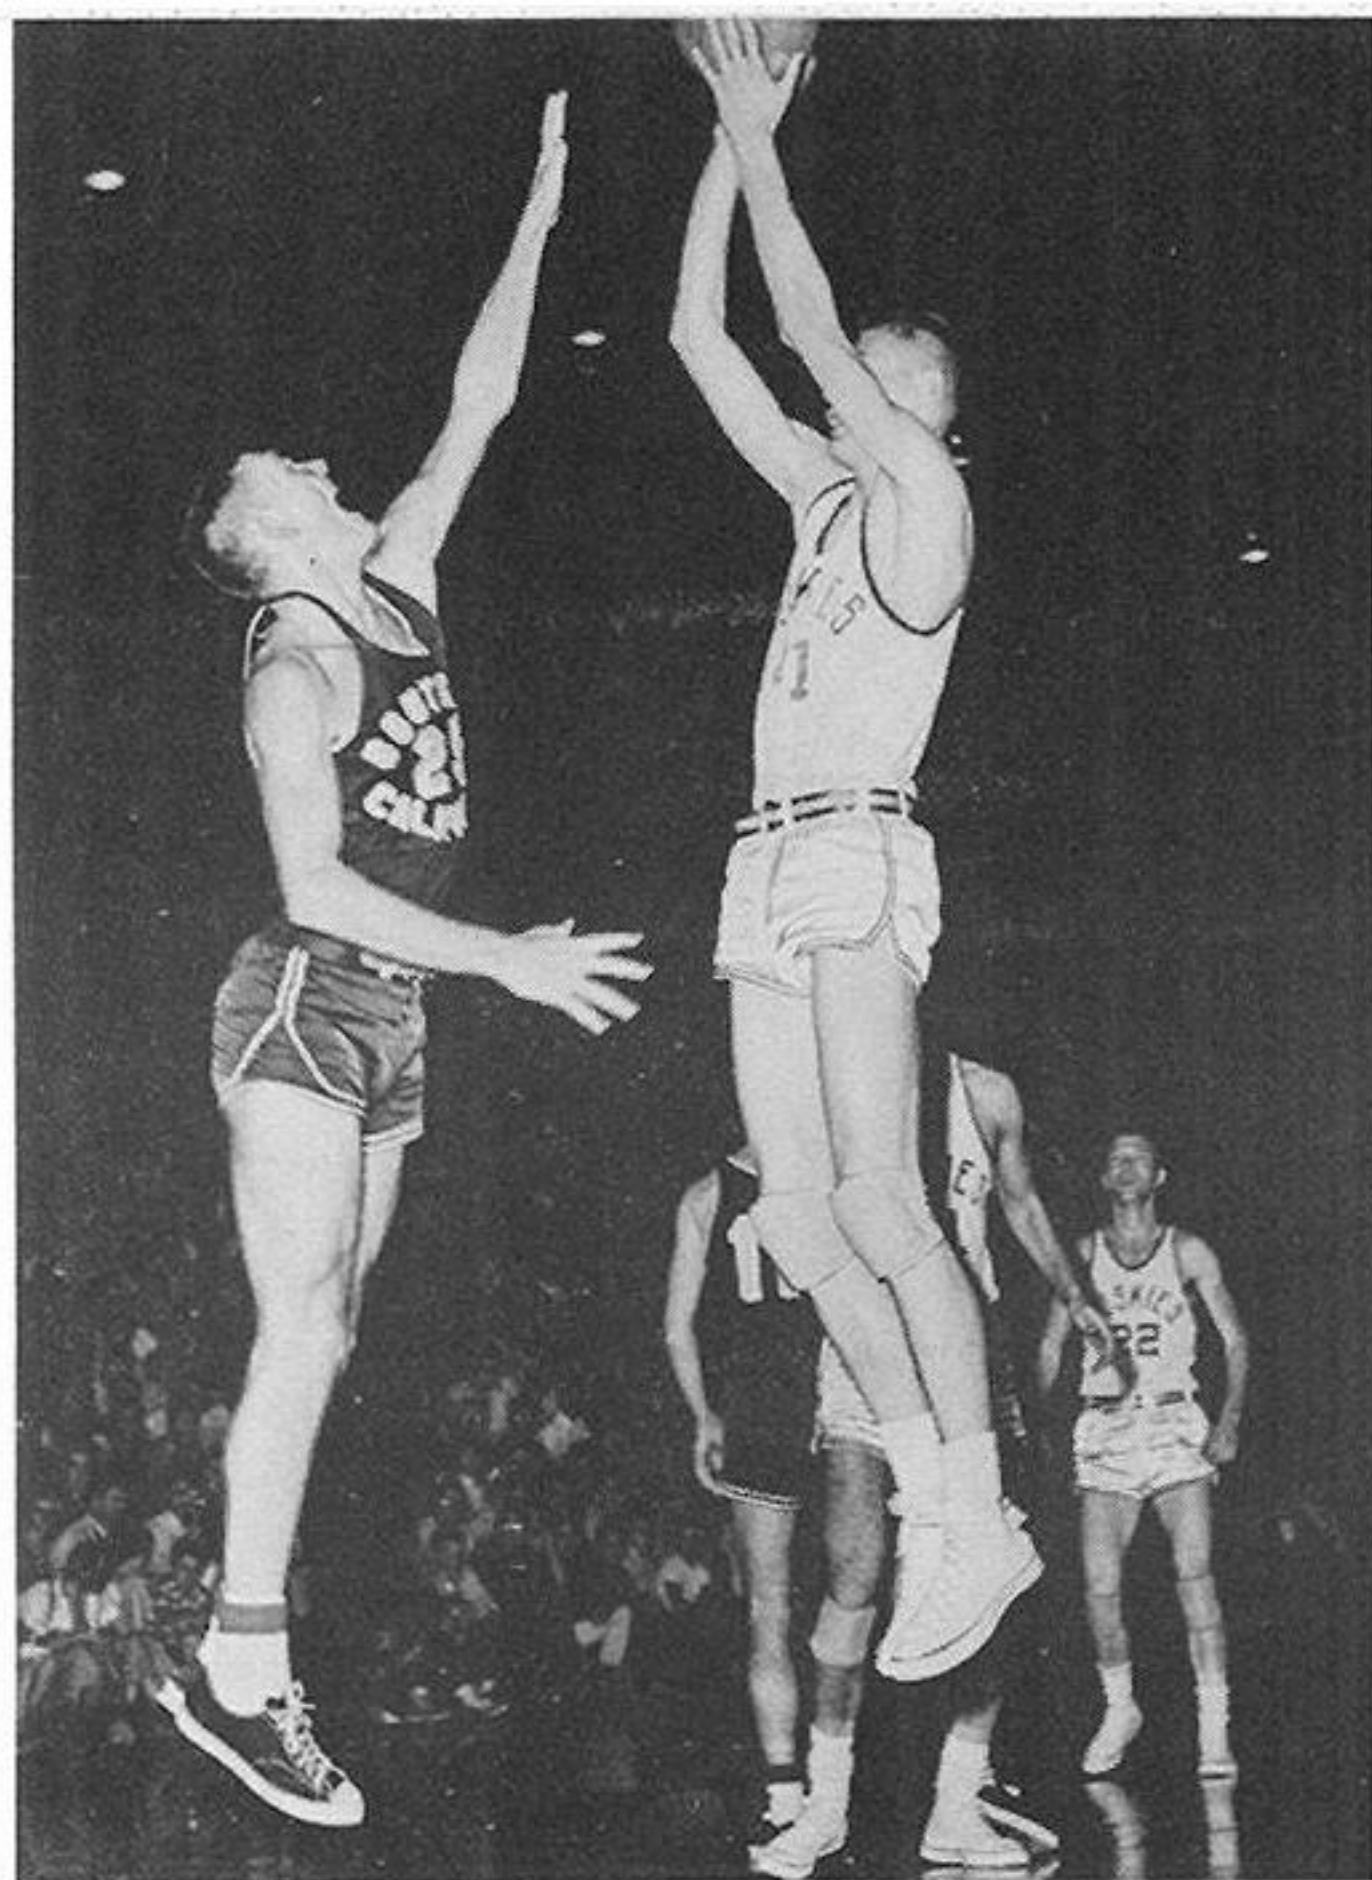

John Douglas, a sophomore forward from Wapato, is a good outside shooter who moves with purpose. He is a consistent scorer and better than average on defense.

Roger Niva makes a lay-in as Bill Hanson is set for a possible rebound.

John Meyers, a real all-around athlete, is a tremendous backboard man and is strong on defense. The sophomore center from Richland has several special shots, including a nice, easy rolling hook and one-handed push.

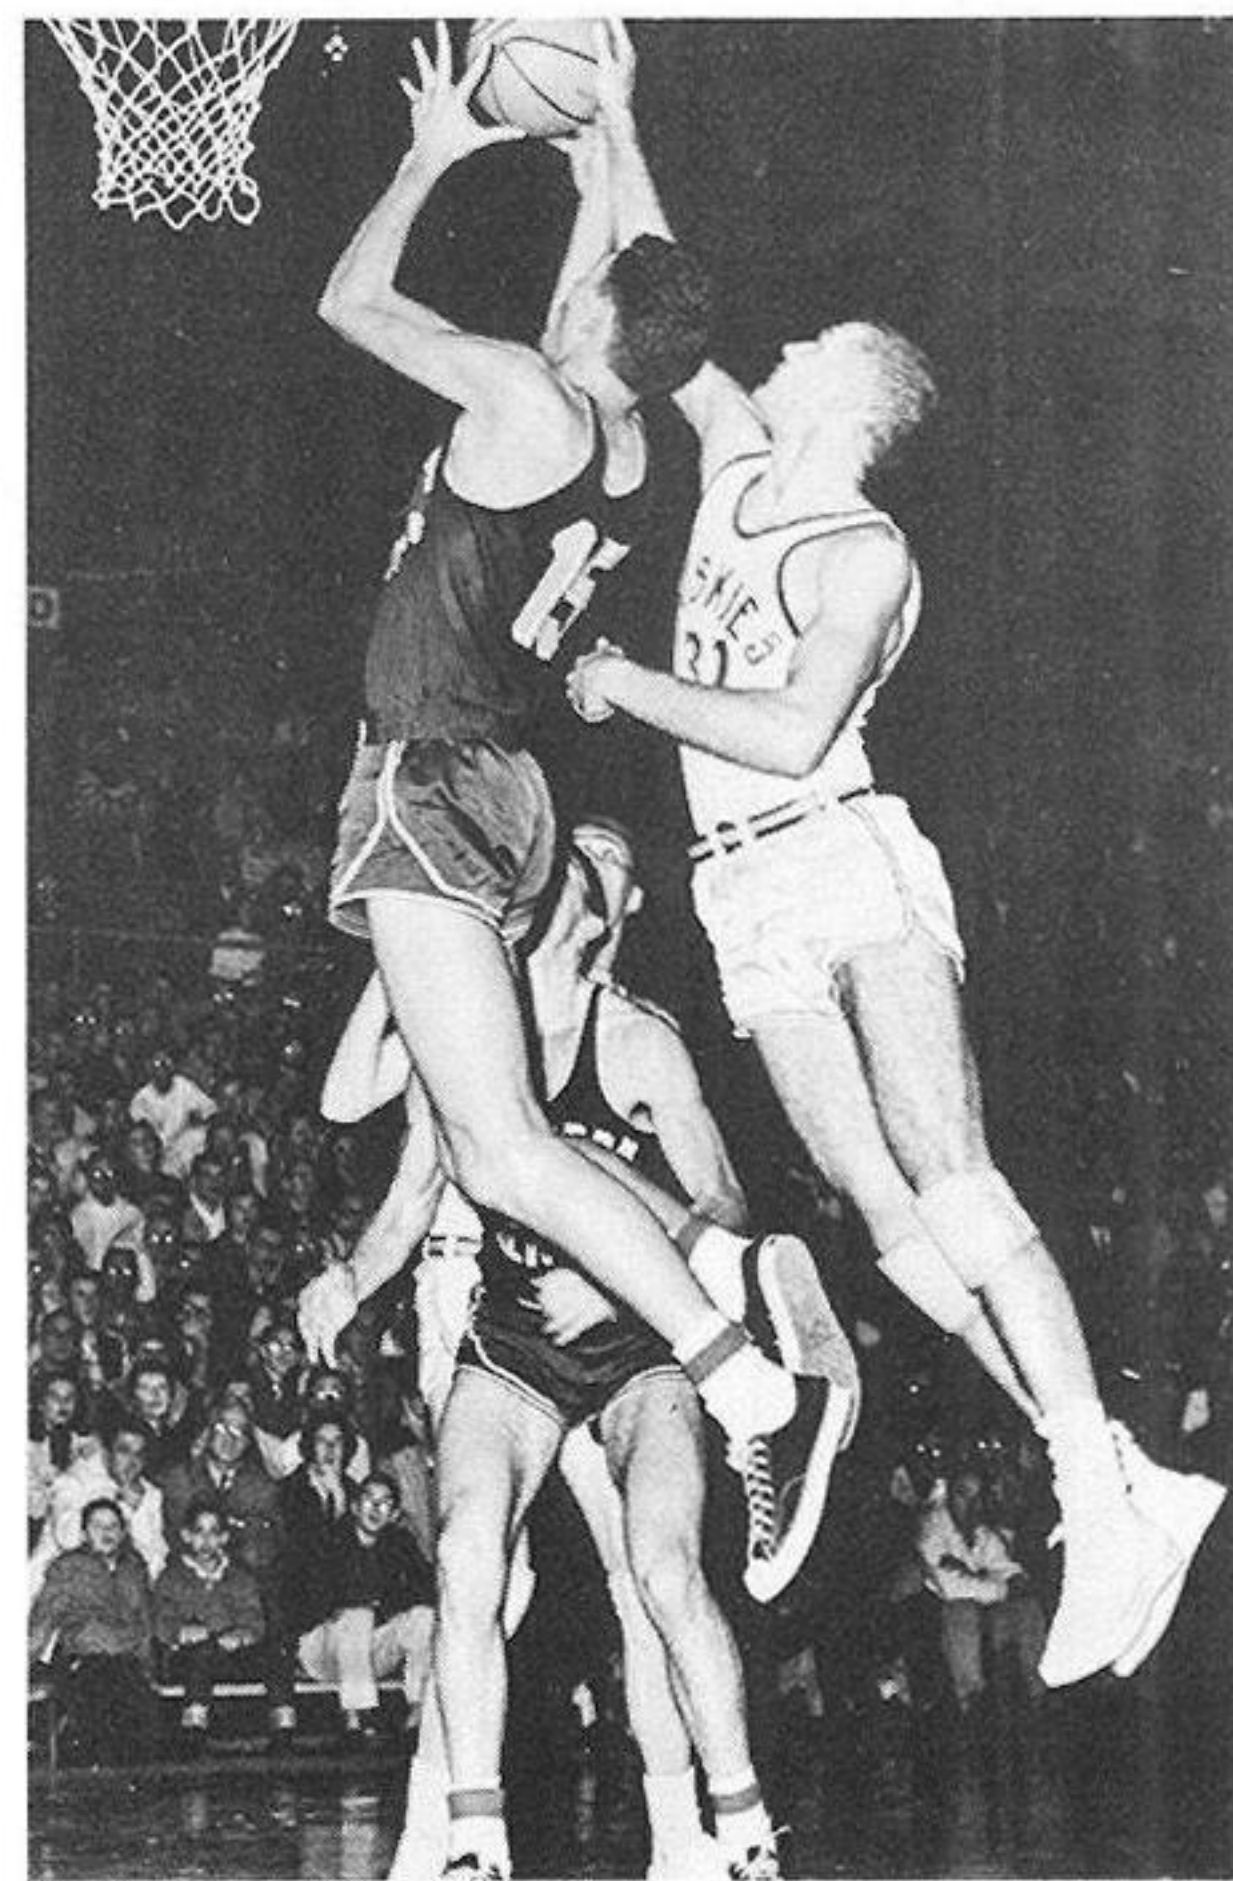

Troy Loses One

Bill Rucker of the Huskies jumps high to push one towards the basket.

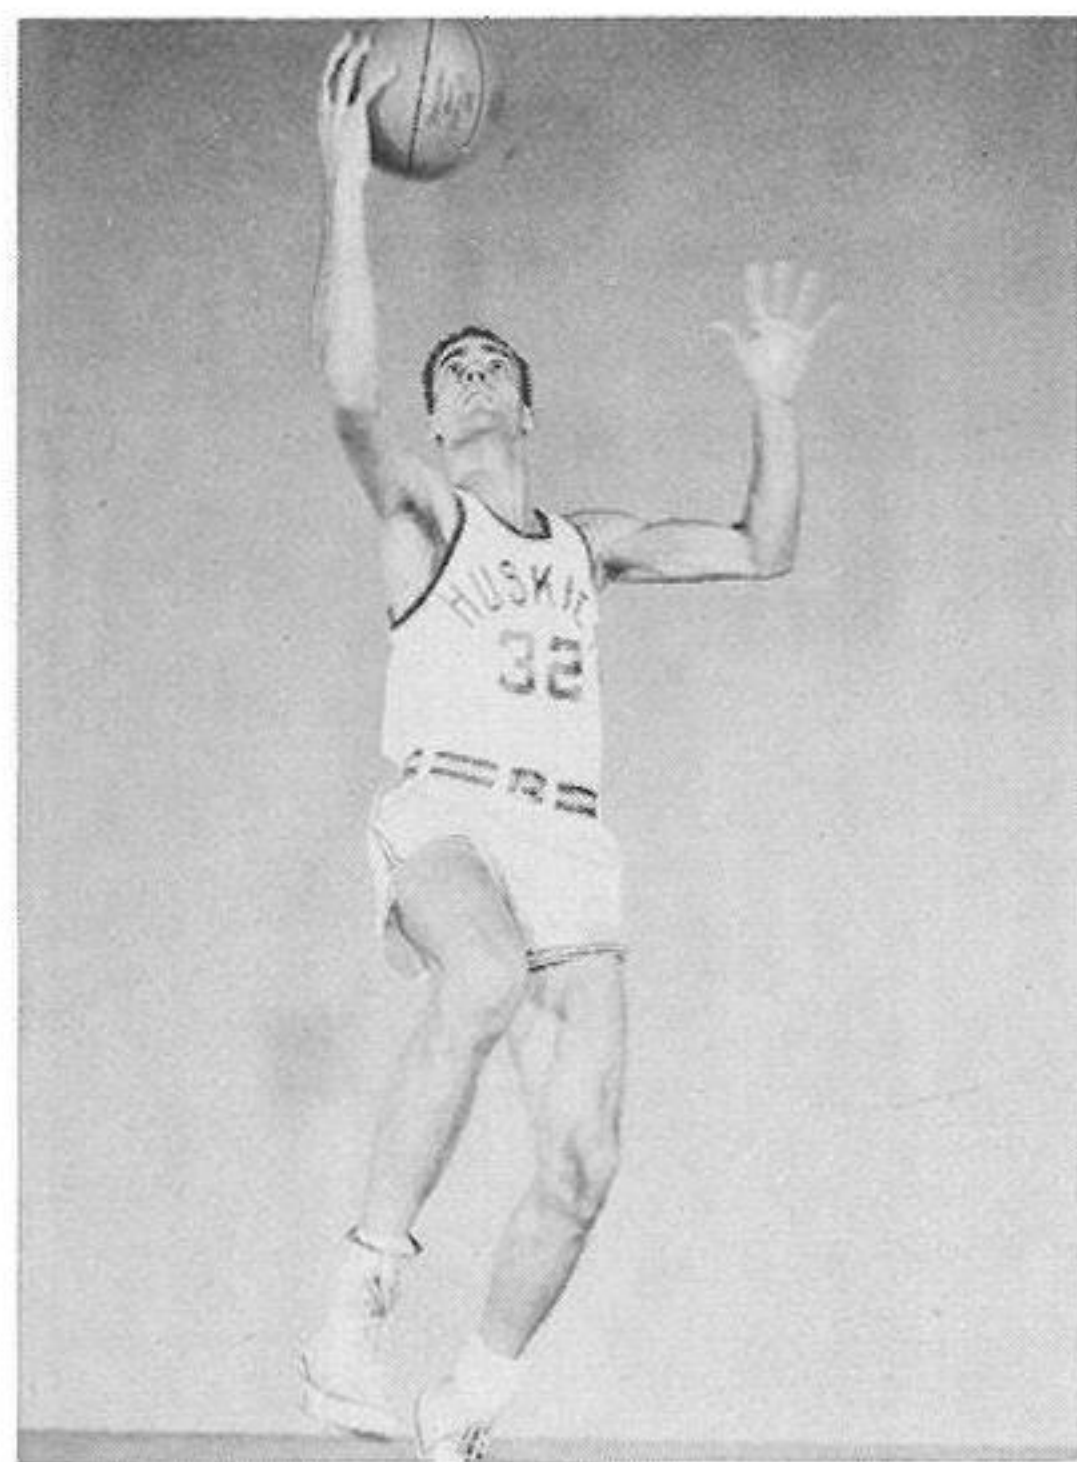

Washington lost another of its close games in opening the series with Southern California at the Pavilion. The lead switched back and forth several times during the last minutes and with 10 seconds to go, Troy led by one point. As the Huskies were maneuvering the ball, they were called for charging. Southern Cal missed the attempt, but there wasn't time for Washington to get the ball back down court.

The lead switched back and forth throughout the game in the Huskies second encounter the following night. With five seconds remaining in the game, Washington was ahead after a lay-in by Hanson. USC put the ball in play from mid-court after a time-out which stopped the Huskies' full court press. As the horn blew, Troy's center hit a jump shot from the top of the key to win the game. The Huskies came back to make their first win in conference play at Los Angeles. Although the Huskies were behind the Trojans at the half, they rallied and pulled away in the second half. Bakken sparked the Huskies with several steals and scored all his 11 points in the second half.

Pete Jobs, sophomore forward from Seattle, is quick, wiry and a good jumper who can score from close in on jump shots or hooks.

Ernie Wheeler is a junior guard from Lynwood, California, with good speed. He is one of the best players at driving in for a shot.

Stanford Downs Huskies Twice

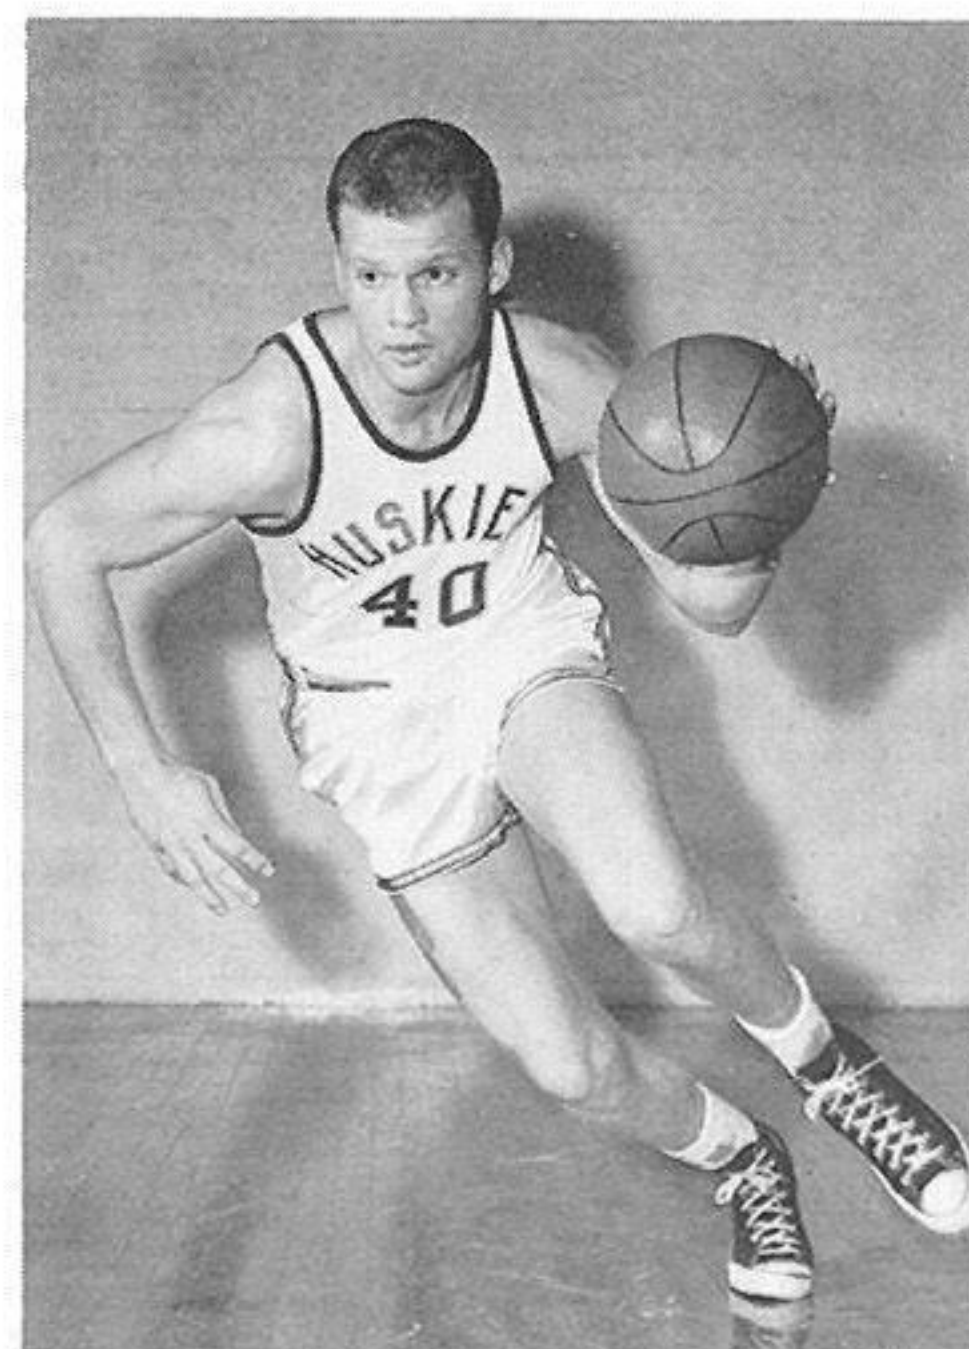

Washington was leading at the half by six points in its first game with Stanford at Stanford Pavilion. In the closing minutes of the second half, the Indians pressed the Huskies and started closing the gap. With three seconds to go, Stanford was leading by one point when a foul was called against the Huskies. Indian guard Bob Bowling hit both shots to clinch the victory. In the return encounter at Seattle, the Huskies could not get started. As in their first meeting with Stanford, they were leading at the end of the first half, but in the second half Washington made too many mistakes and had too many fouls. This, combined with an extremely effective defense by Stanford, and the fact that Bill Hanson, Washington's top scorer, fouled out with three minutes left in the game, won the game for Stanford.

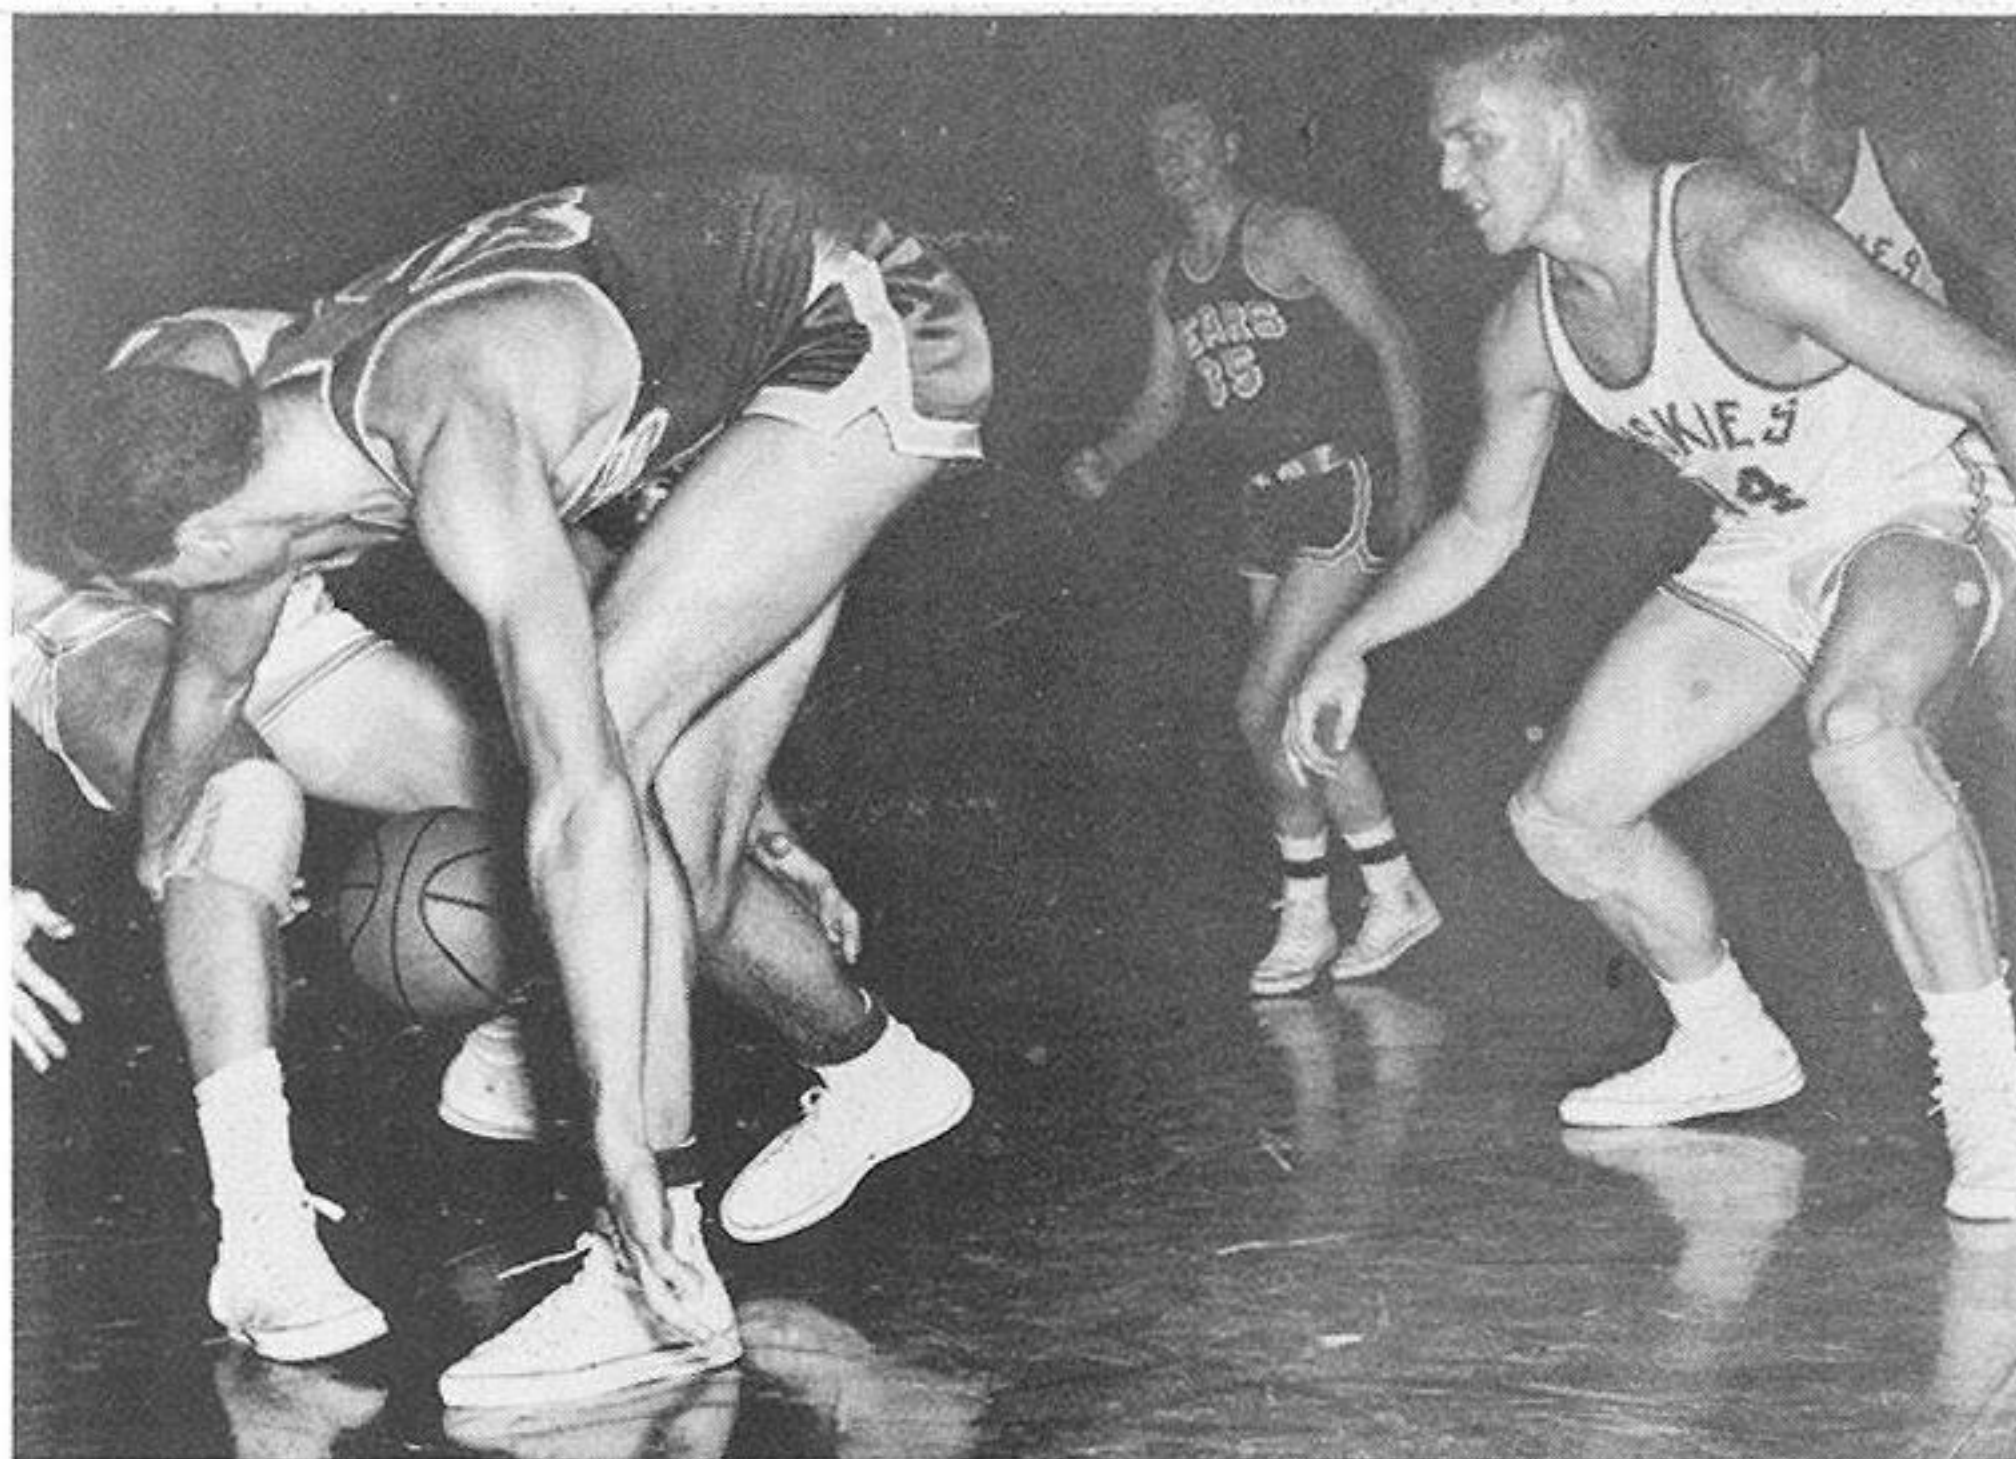

Lyle Bakken puts in two points for the Huskies.

Dave Edwards has shown good ability in his guard position. He is a sophomore from Darrington.

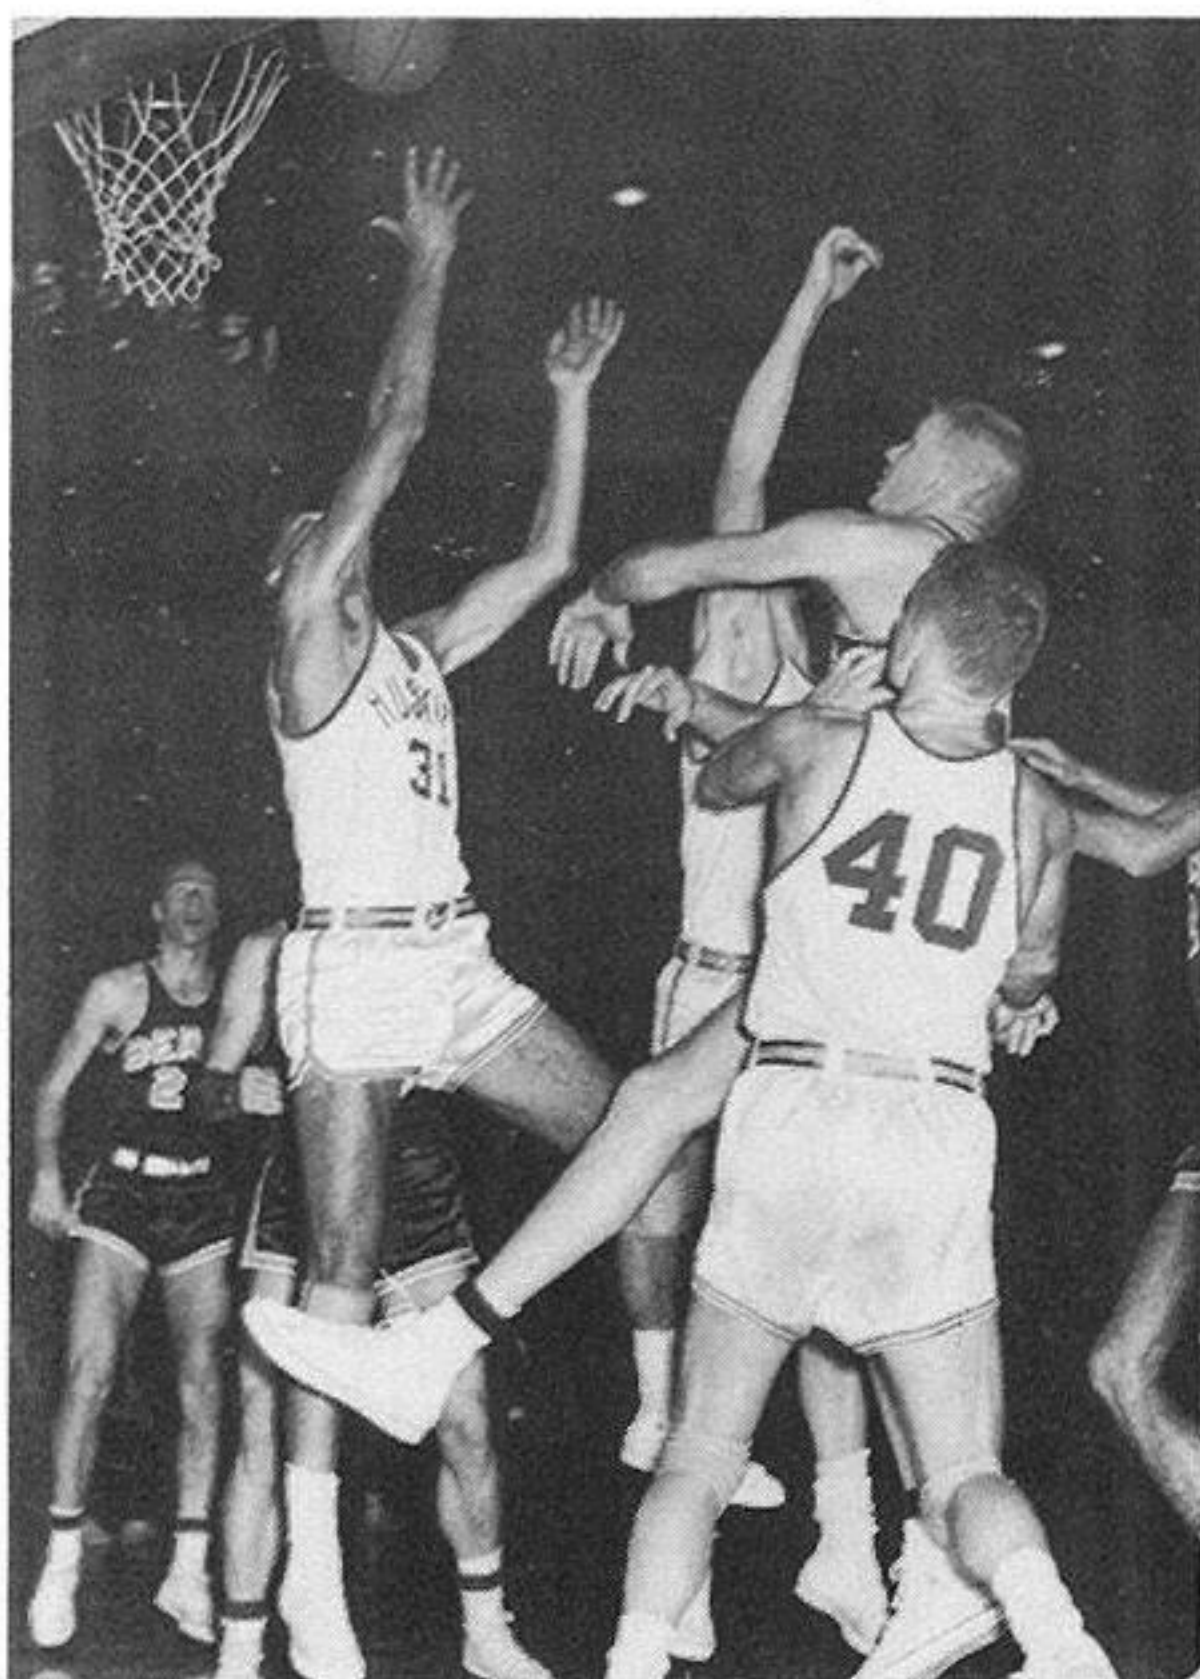

Al Murphy, the Husky captain, finished his basketball for Washington this year. The forward from Bremerton gave the Huskies much needed experience. A good rebounder, he probably had the best set shot on the team.

The ball is well protected as Lyle Bakken and Clint Names move toward the action.

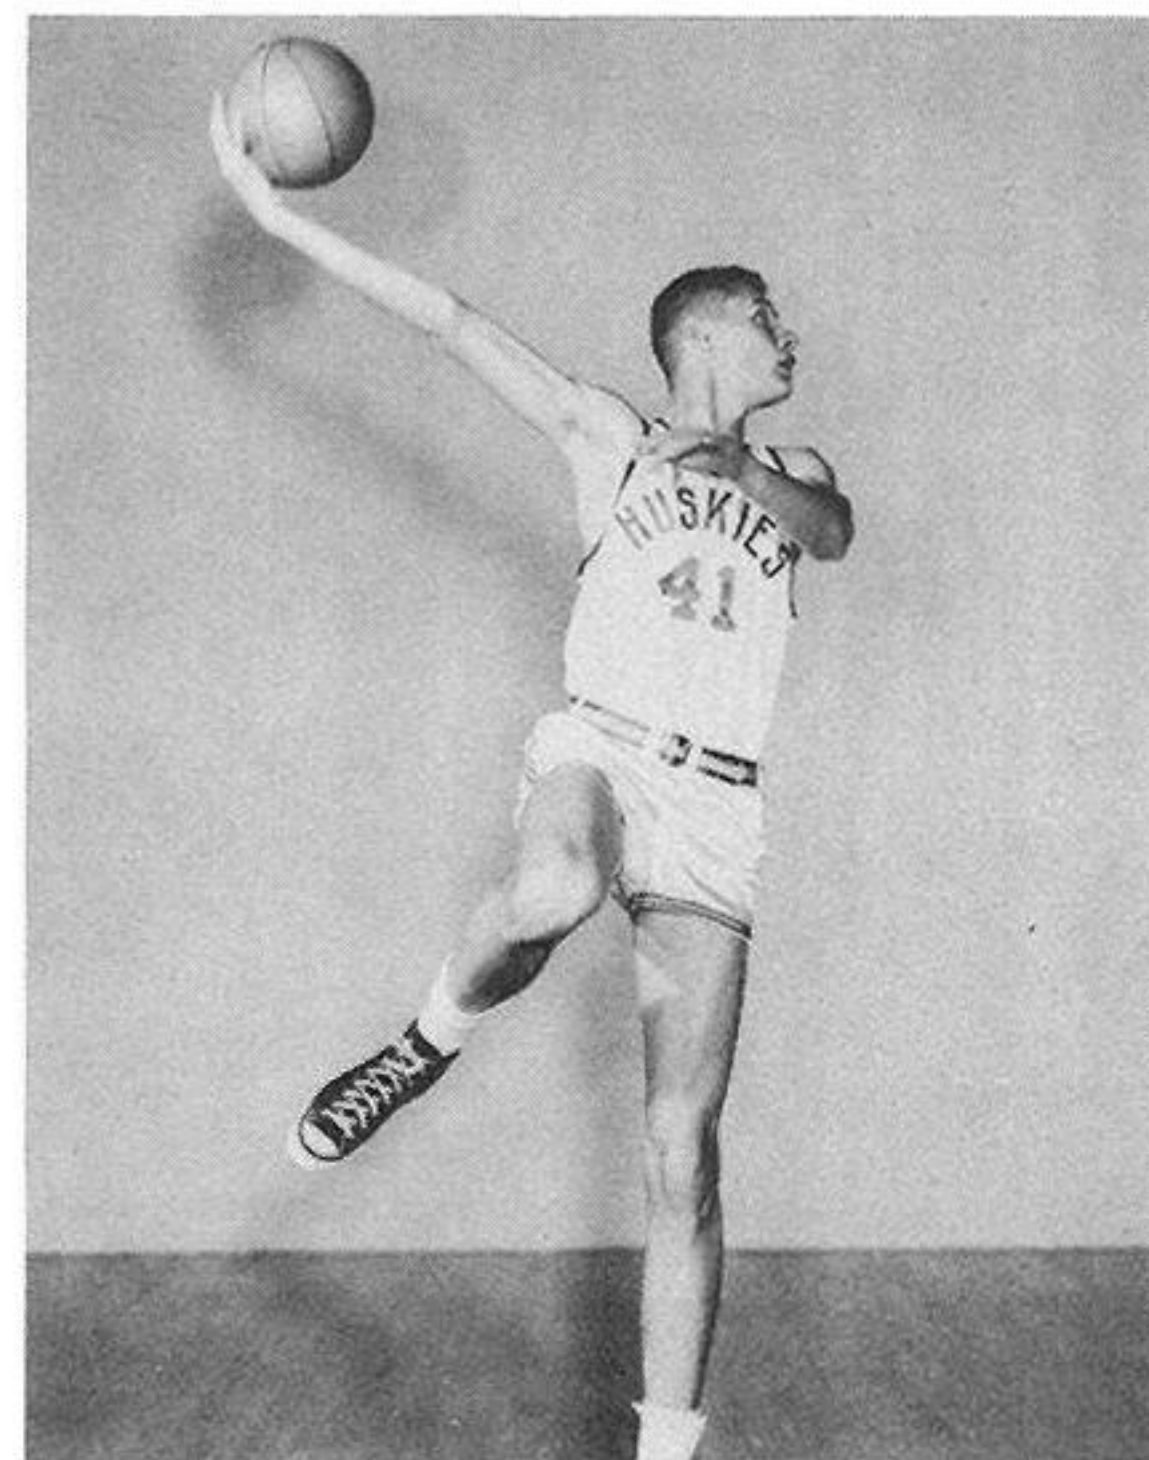

California Wins Series

Roger Niva tries a backhand as Husky Captain Al Murphy prepares to take the not-so-probable rebound.

Washington suffered the worst defeat in its history when it played California's Bears, the defending national champions, at Berkeley. The Bears had an irritating defense, command of the backboards and accurate shooting. In the second game of the series at Berkeley, the Huskies did much better, leading by five points on two occasions. During the first period the lead switched back and forth. California obtained an 11-point lead midway in the second period. Then Clint Names got seven points to narrow the point spread for the Huskies, but Hanson, Niva and Bakken, the Huskies' top scorers for the night with 16, 20 and 9, respectively, fouled out. The Bears then made the 15 point triumph with comparative ease.

Back at Edmundson Pavilion, the Huskies played their best game against California. In the first 15 minutes, the score was tied six times and the lead changed four times, but at half time the Bears led, 31-26. With slightly more than four minutes to be played, the Huskies had pulled within two points at 47-45. Then California put in two baskets and a free throw, giving them enough margin to win.

Brad Wilson, junior center from Seattle, is fast for a big man. He has a capable pair of hands and handles the ball well.

Joe Cipriano completed his third year as coach of the Husky freshmen with a very successful season. He started his coaching career at Mercer Island High School and was picked by Coach Tippy Dye to be his Frosh coach the following year. While at Washington in 1951-1953, when the Huskies were the top team of the coast, he was an All-Northern Division guard.

Senior Manager Jim Roser

The coaches and trainer work directly with the players. But those things which are left to do are the duties of the managers. Apart from assisting the coach and taking care of the equipment, the managers have at least three other main duties. First, they take care of the general arrangements for home games. During the game, they keep the score book and shooting charts. Finally, the manager who accompanies the team on road games takes care of all financial arrangements for the team. The senior manager this year was Jim Roser, who is in his fourth year as a manager. Working with him were two juniors from Seattle, Ted Moseley and Ed Irwin. There were three freshmen: John Bird, John MacPherson and Gerry Holleand.

The Freshman team of 1959-1960 had little of the pre-season build-up that has characterized previous years' squads. They started slowly, losing their first game to Skagit Valley JC, winning the second one and losing to the WSU frosh. They won all games except one with Yakima JC from then on and had a 10-game winning streak. Coach Cipriano said the team had good balance and did very well on defense. He indicated that there were some good prospects for the Husky varsity next year.

Husky Crews Sweep Coast

The Washington Husky crew had a great season in 1959, the first for Coach Fil Leanderson. The spirited young navy surprised the pre-season critics.

In their first race, with Oregon State, the crews performed well. The varsity won by three lengths in 6:14. The junior varsity rowed a 6:18.7 race and won by five lengths. The frosh also won to complete the sweep over the Beavers.

In their return match on the Willamette River the varsity finished a length and a half in front in 6:09. The lightweights rowed the course in 6:10 to win by two and a half lengths. The freshmen won their shorter race by five lengths in 5:55.

The Huskies swept the University of California in their meet on Lake Washington. The Husky varsity won by two and a half lengths in 15:17. The junior varsity won by four and a half lengths in 15:27. The frosh beat the Bears by five lengths in 10:51.

Washington went to Redwood City to trounce Stanford in an early morning meet. The varsity stroked to a seven and a half length victory in 16:39. The junior varsity won "by a horizon"—22 lengths—in 16:40.2. The freshmen took the two-mile race in 12:35 by twelve lengths.

The UW freshman crews stole the show in a meet on Lake Washington. The frosh boat beat the lightweights and the University of British Columbia easily in 6:26.5. The Husky third frosh eight nipped the Green Lake high school crew in the other race.

All three Washington crews won the right to compete in the Intercollegiate Rowing Association Regatta at Syracuse, New York. The varsity could not get into contention after one of the eight collapsed. The virtually seven-man boat finished fifth.

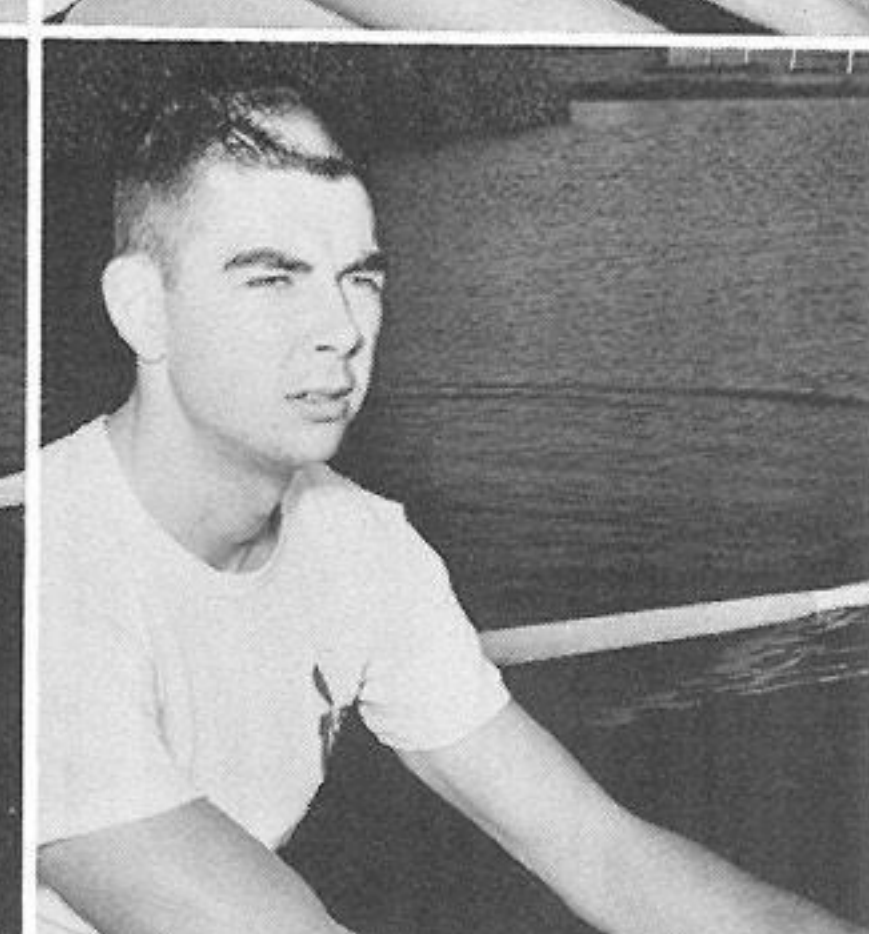

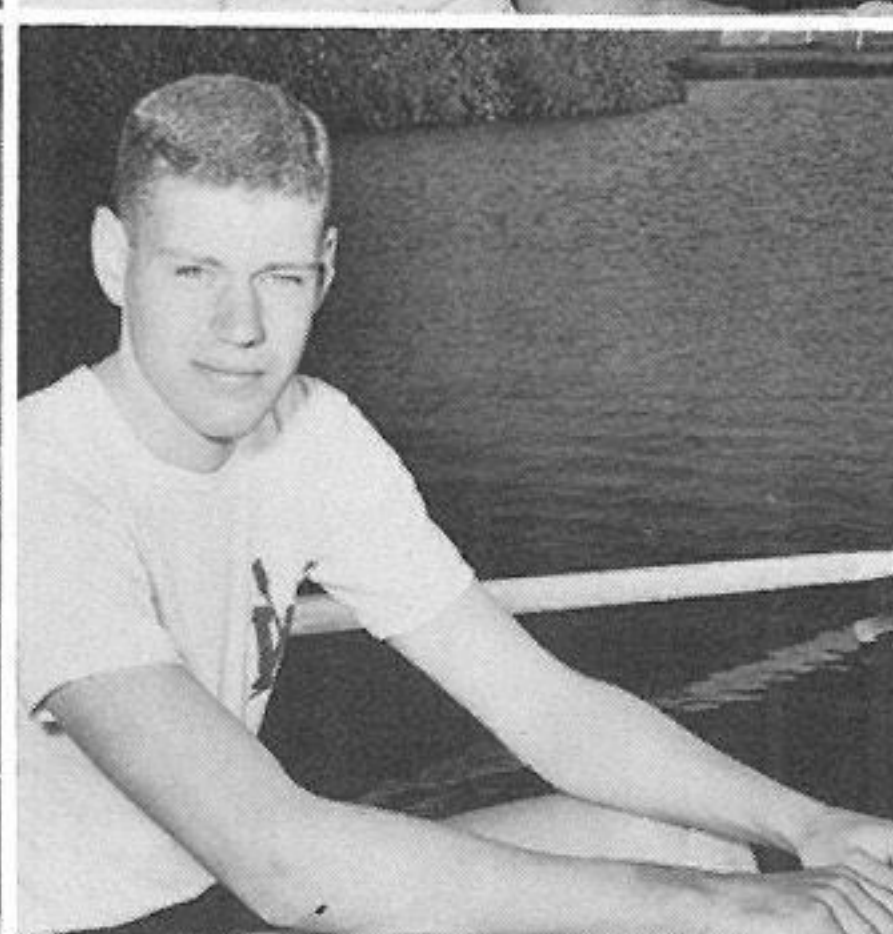

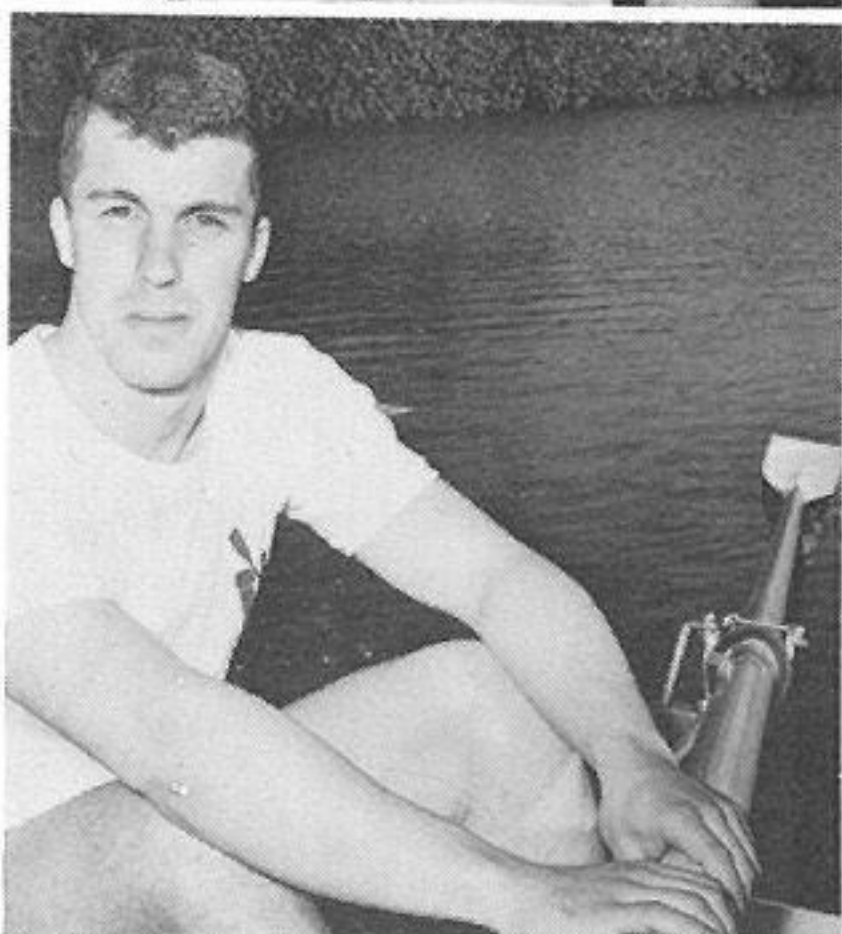

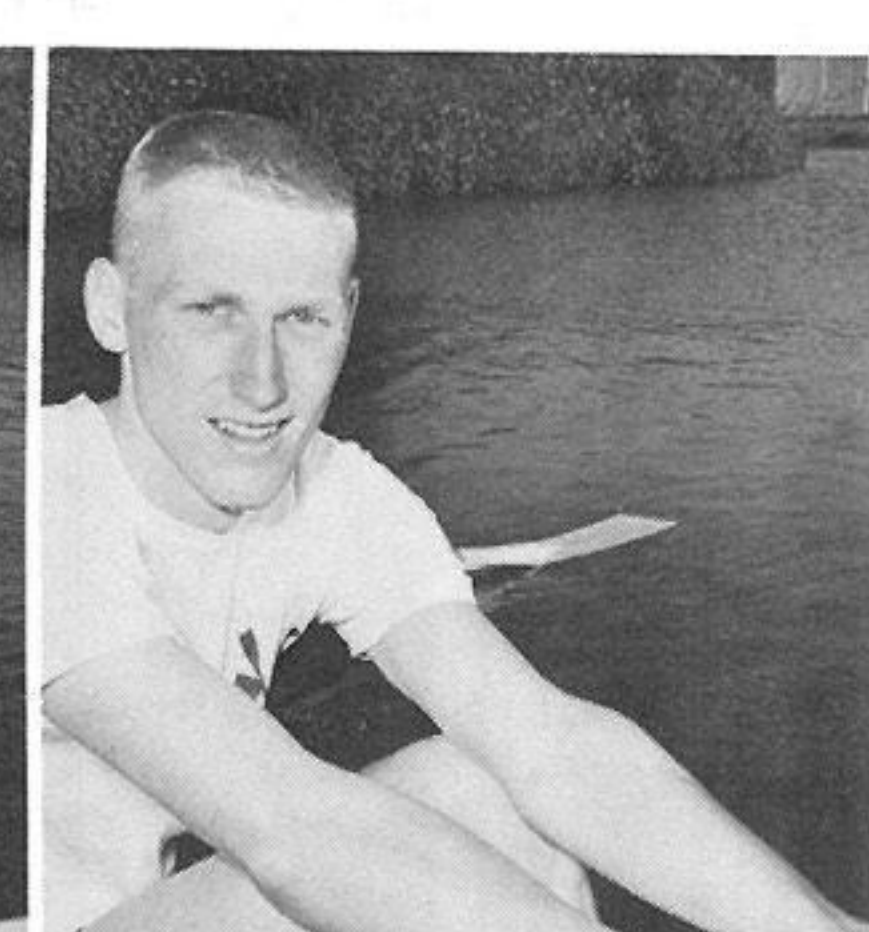

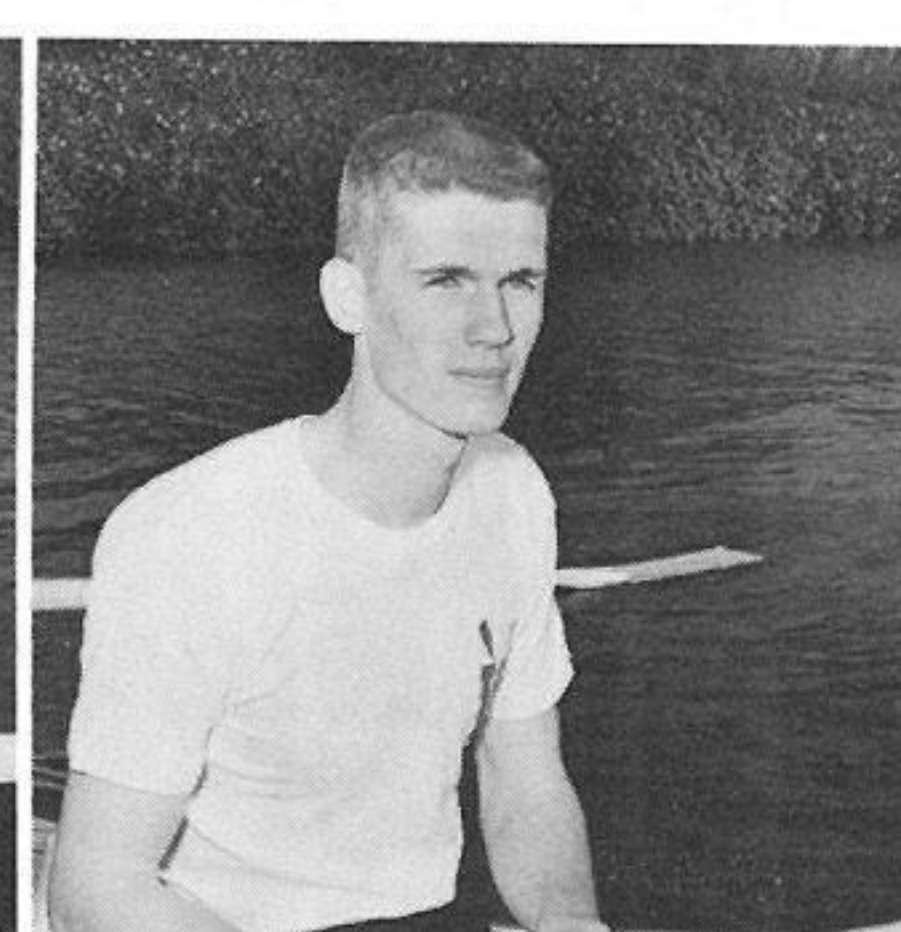

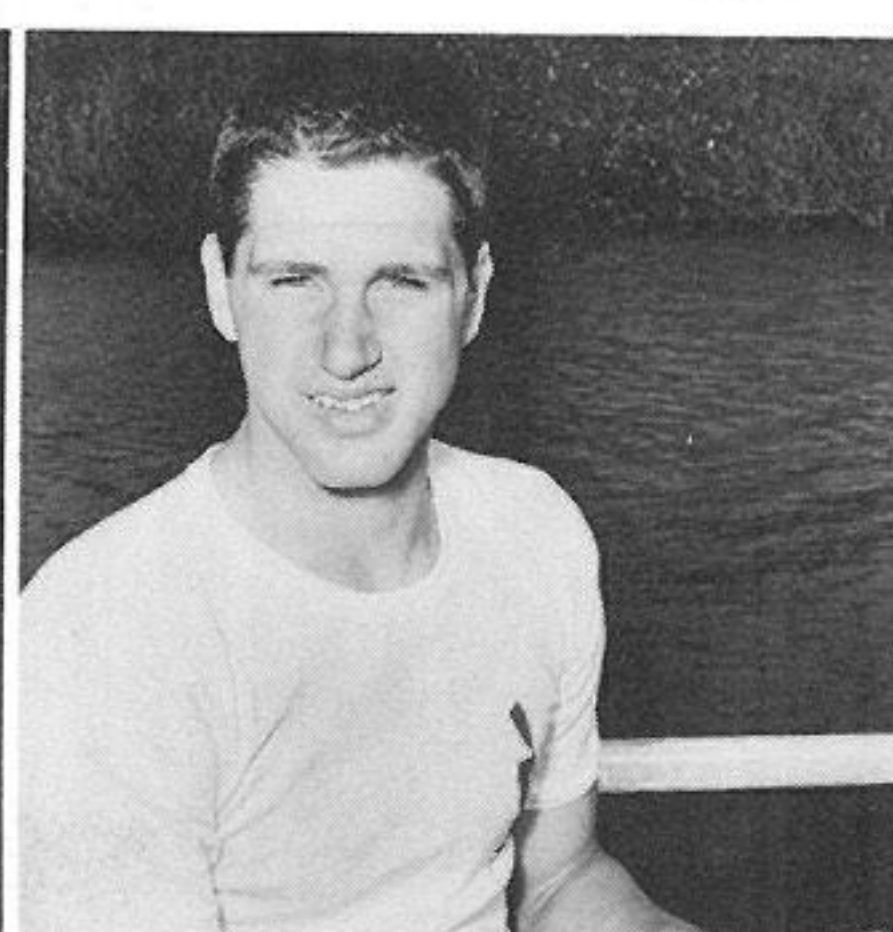

The junior varsity nearly won their race but were overtaken in the last half mile by California and finished second by a length and a quarter.

To ease the hurts of the oarsmen, however, the University of Washington was awarded the coveted Jim Ten Eyck Team Trophy for the overall three-crew effort.

Al Ulbrickson Retires

After 35 successful years as the mentor for University of Washington oarsmen, Al Ulbrickson retired at the end of last season. In his last year as coach, Ulbrickson guided the Huskies to a clean sweep of the Pacific Coast Conference, then to the Henley Regatta in England, and finally to Moscow, Russia, where the Huskies won the Moscow Cup. Coach Ulbrickson will always be remembered as a truly great collegiate coach.

The Huskies and Cal wait for the start at their May 9 race in Seattle.

Leanderson Takes Helm

Fil Leanderson's ability as a coach was demonstrated in the 1959 season. In his first year of coaching, the former UW oarsman took a young, unseasoned crew and swept all the other navies on the Coast.

Stan Hiserman, head coach for the Husky track team, is shown going over the results of the season. He took over as head coach in 1955, coming from the University of Idaho. Besides developing fine teams in his first five seasons, Hiserman has injected new enthusiasm into the Washington track season, giving promise of banner seasons ahead. Not shown are Jack Donaldson, assistant coach, and Percy Egtvet, trainer.

1959 Track Record Highest in Years

Although the pre-conference forecast placed the Huskies sixth, the Washington team finished fourth in the 29th and final Pacific Coast Conference track meet, which was held in Seattle. There were many records set during the meet. Outstanding performances were given by Jack Larson, one-mile and two-mile; Terry Tobacco, 440 and mile relay; Bert Bender, shot put and discus; Rick Harder, 220, 440 and mile relay; Darrell Morton, javelin; Cliff LaBounty, pole vault; and Bill Moser, 880 and mile relay.

Under the helpful guidance of Assistant Coach Jack Donaldson, former Husky hurdler, the freshmen showed great promise for coming seasons. They won the majority of their meets. Outstanding were Tony Angell, shot put; Dick Meyer, 880; Tom Evans, sprints; Tom Valley, one-mile and two-mile; and Larry Turnbull, 440.

Washington's 1959 track season was excellent in individual performances and good as a team.

Rick Harder, center, is shown taking the hand-off from Bill Moser in the mile relay during the PCC track meet. Rick helped make up the difference to put anchor man Terry Tobacco within reach of victory. Rick also ran the 220 and 440. Baseball Squad

Under the watchful eye of Coach Dale Parker, the Huskies enjoyed their best season in almost three decades, compiling a record of 21 wins and 12 defeats.

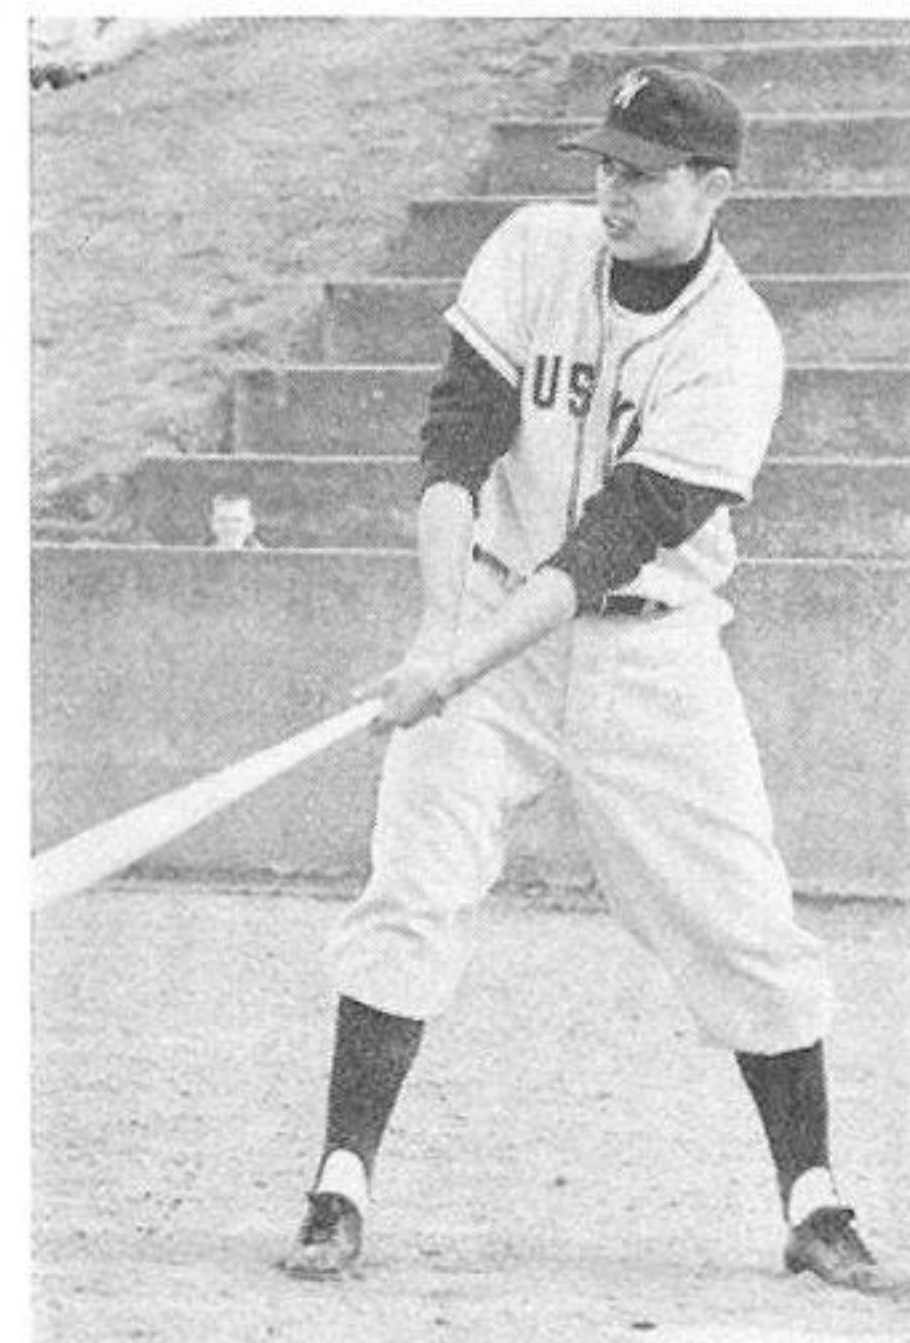

Washington captured the Northern Division title and became Pacific Coast Conference champions through the ineligibility of USC. This was the first Husky team to win the Northern Division championship since 1932.

As the PCC representative, Washington met Fresno State in the District 8 NCAA play-offs, which were held in Seattle. Fresno State won the opening game 3-2, but the Huskies came back to win the second contest 5-4. In the third and final game Fresno State defeated Washington and went on to represent the West Coast in the NCAA finals.

Geordie Martin

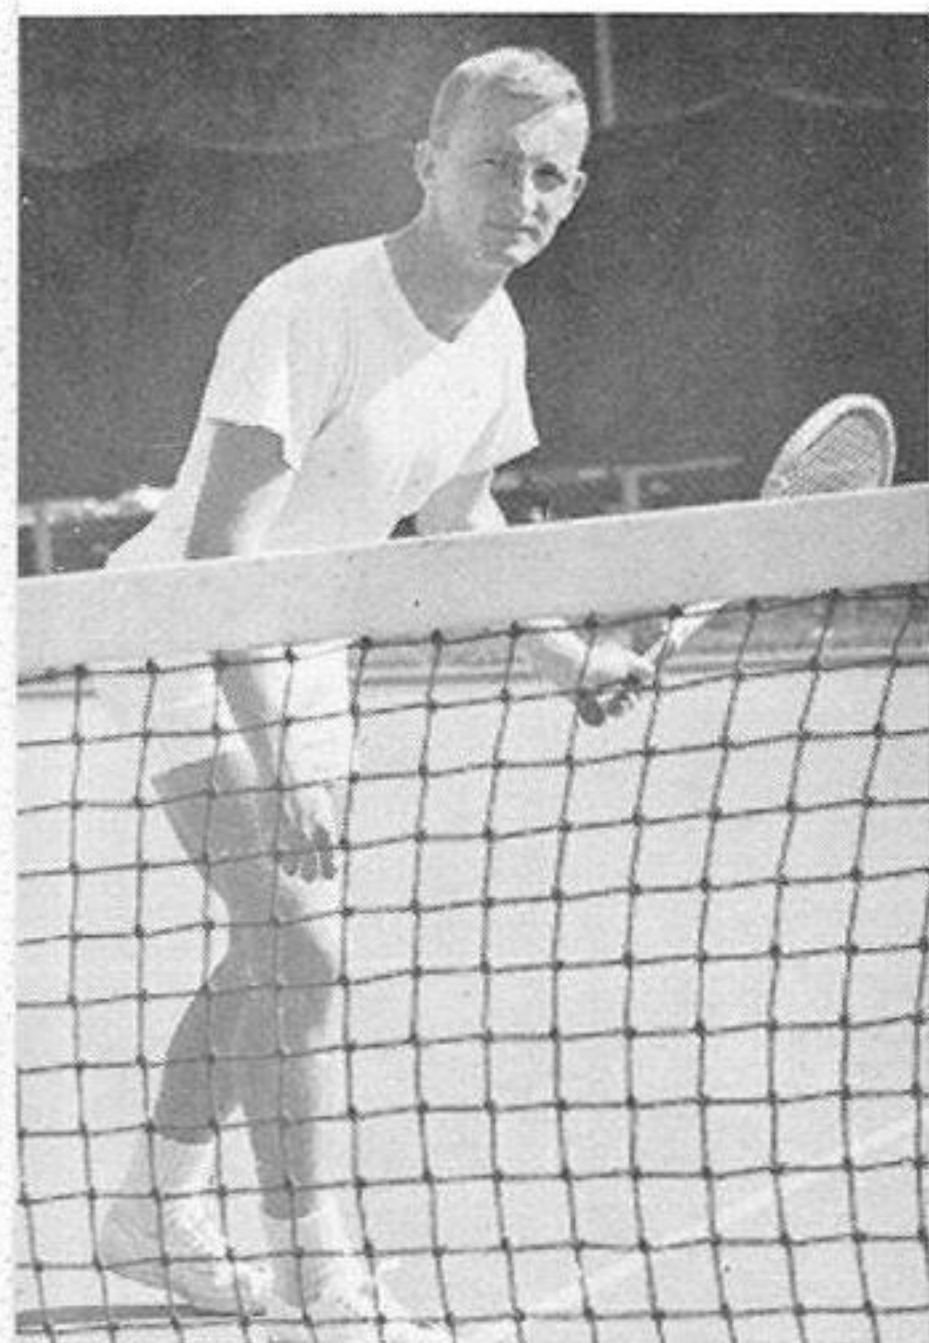

Under the leadership of Windy Langlie, the Husky tennis team had a very good season, losing only to the Seattle Tennis Club at the outset of the season. They then proceeded to win over Idaho, Washington State, Oregon and Oregon State, all by the shutout score of 7-0.

Despite this favorable season, the Huskies did not fare too well at the Pacific Coast Conference meet, held in Los Angeles. Larry Mounger defeated Art Kono of California, only to lose to Norm Perry of UCLA, while Geordie Martin lost to Greg Grant of USC. Pairing up in the doubles, the Washington aces again met defeat, this time at the hands of Kono and Sisso of California.

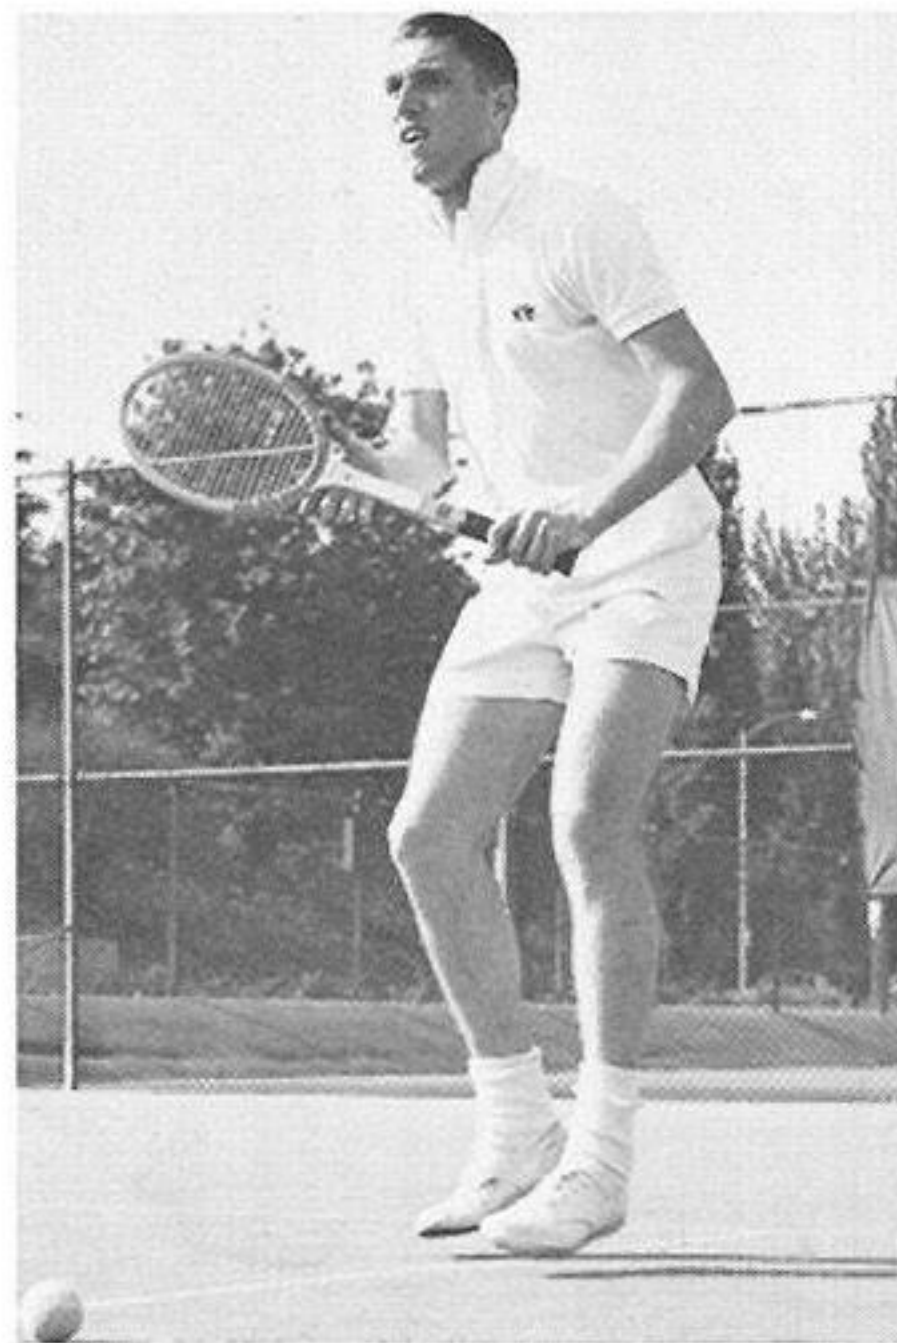

This year's freshman team appeared to be an aggressive, well trained unit, and the 1960 varsity should be able to count heavily upon them for material.

The Huskies started the 1959 season with a slight setback, losing to Seattle Golf Club 11½-12½. As if this were to set a precedent, they lost their next two games to Idaho and Portland University. The quintet then started on a winning streak, beating Washington State 19½-7½, College of Puget Sound 14-4, and Seattle University 11½-6½. They tied Seattle University in their second match, then lost their two final matches to Oregon State and Oregon, in that order.

The squad went to Eugene, Oregon, this year for the Pacific Coast Conference meet, and there finished seventh among the teams in the Pacific Coast division.

The Washington varsity tankmen, coached by Jack Tourney, swam through the season with 13 consecutive victories. The only team that presented any real threat was the Aero Club of Oregon, whom they defeated 49-45 in the first dual of the season. The completion of the regular season found the Huskies in first place, with all their talent in readiness for the Northern Division Championships in Eugene. The tankers posted an all-out effort and decisive victory to capture the Northern Division crown. The Huskies far outswam their nearest competition, Oregon, 168½ to 86½ to post the victory. This ND title is Coach Jack Tourney's 18th in 20 years for the Husky mermen.

Joe Coulter set a Northern Division and meet record in the preliminary trial of the 200-yard individual medley. Coulter's time of 2:16.8 was even better than the time which gained him a win in the final heat of the race. Another Husky record breaker was Reg Griffin. The Canadian set a new ND and meet mark in the 100-yard butterfly with 58.6.

Coach Jack Tourney, Bob Thompson

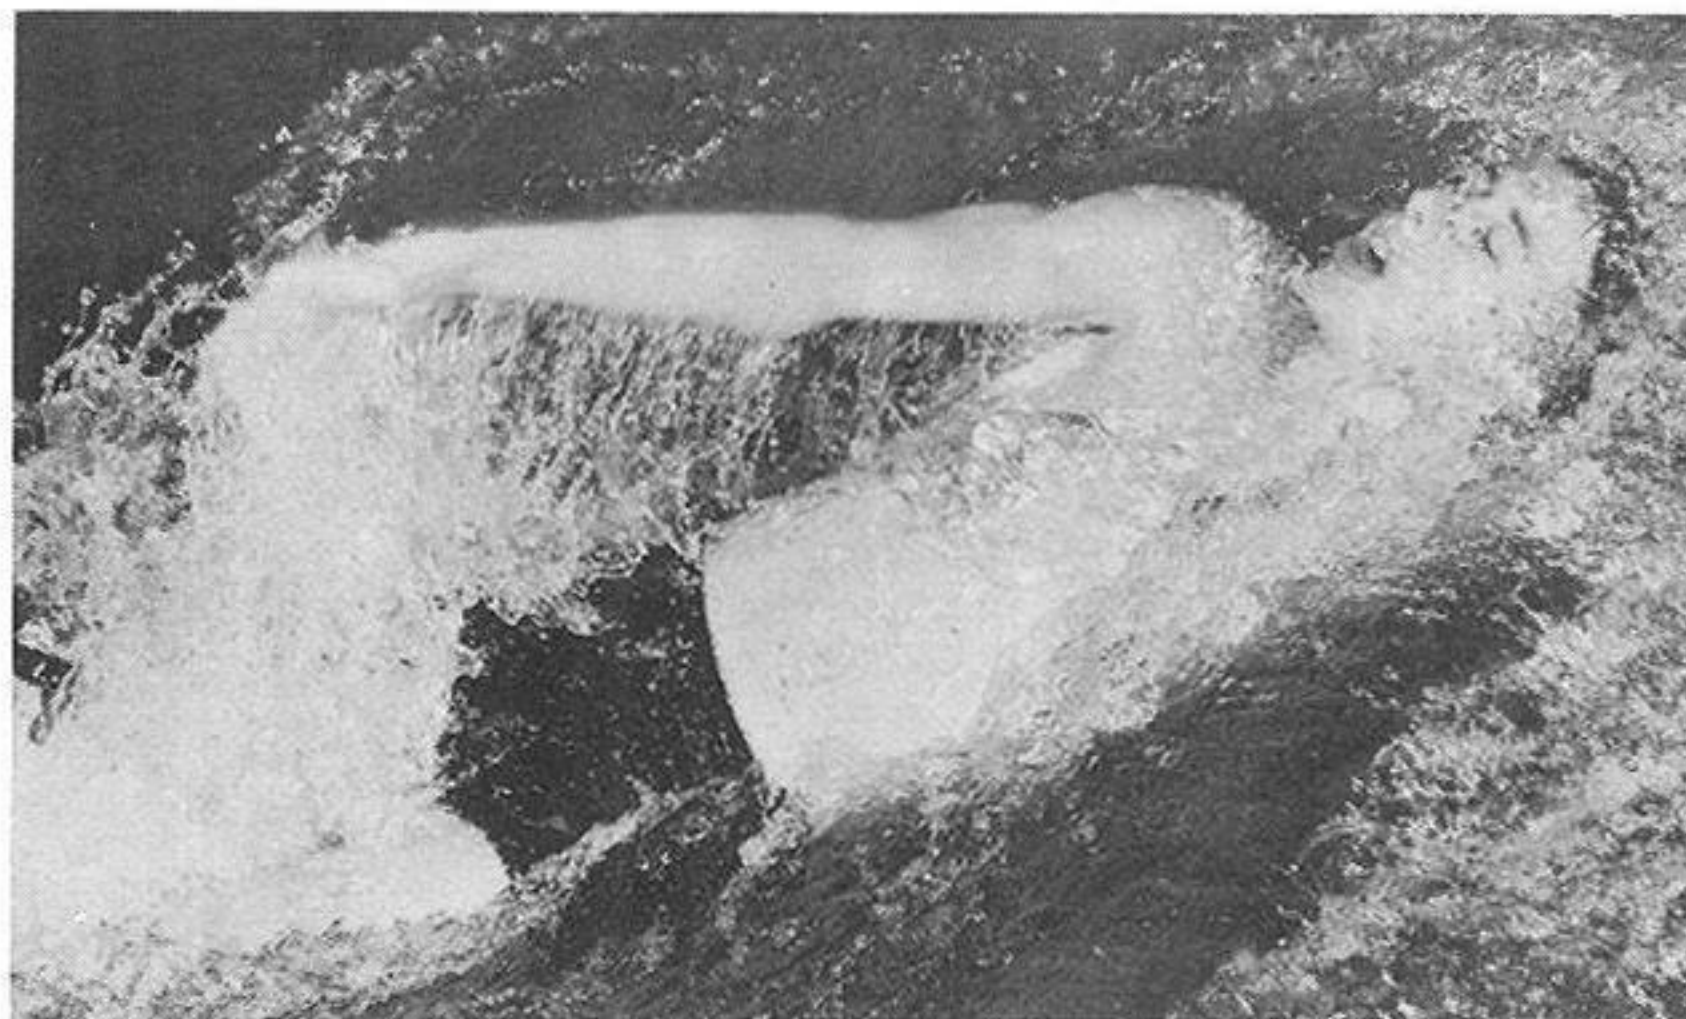

In the AAU Northwest Championships held on January 30th, the Huskies also showed their strength. The varsity placed first with 89½, while the UW frosh were second with a total of 52 points. The University of British Columbia captured third with a total of 22 points.

Comprising the majority of the starting team for the varsity tankers in the freestyle were Bob Thompson in the 100, Jim Watanabe and Reg Griffin in the 446 and "J. D." Brown in the 50 and 100. The two most outstanding backstrokers this season were Joe Coulter and Dale Griffith. The butterfly spots were handled by Pat Murta, Allan Nakano and Ray Phillips. Ed Jensen, Don Martin, Phil Cooke and Walt Reid swam the breaststroke. The two relays were composed of Steve Lindsay, team captain, and Joe Coulter in the individual medley, and Ed Jensen, Pat Murta, "J. D." Brown and Joe Coulter in the 400 relay.

Jack Tourney can be highly congratulated for another outstanding season with the Washington Huskies, and he can undoubtedly look forward to a bright future.

Frosh Swimmers Undefeated

The University of Washington's frosh tankmen turned in an undefeated season, with 11 wins and one tie. Coached by Orval Larson, a former Washington backstroke in 1948-50, the frosh started the season in a tri-meet with Lincoln and Bellingham, where they captured first place by 45 points. The only tie was a 43-43 contest with the Aero Club of Oregon. During the rest of the season only one team, Wilson of Tacoma, came within any margin of defeating them, with a tally of 46-40.

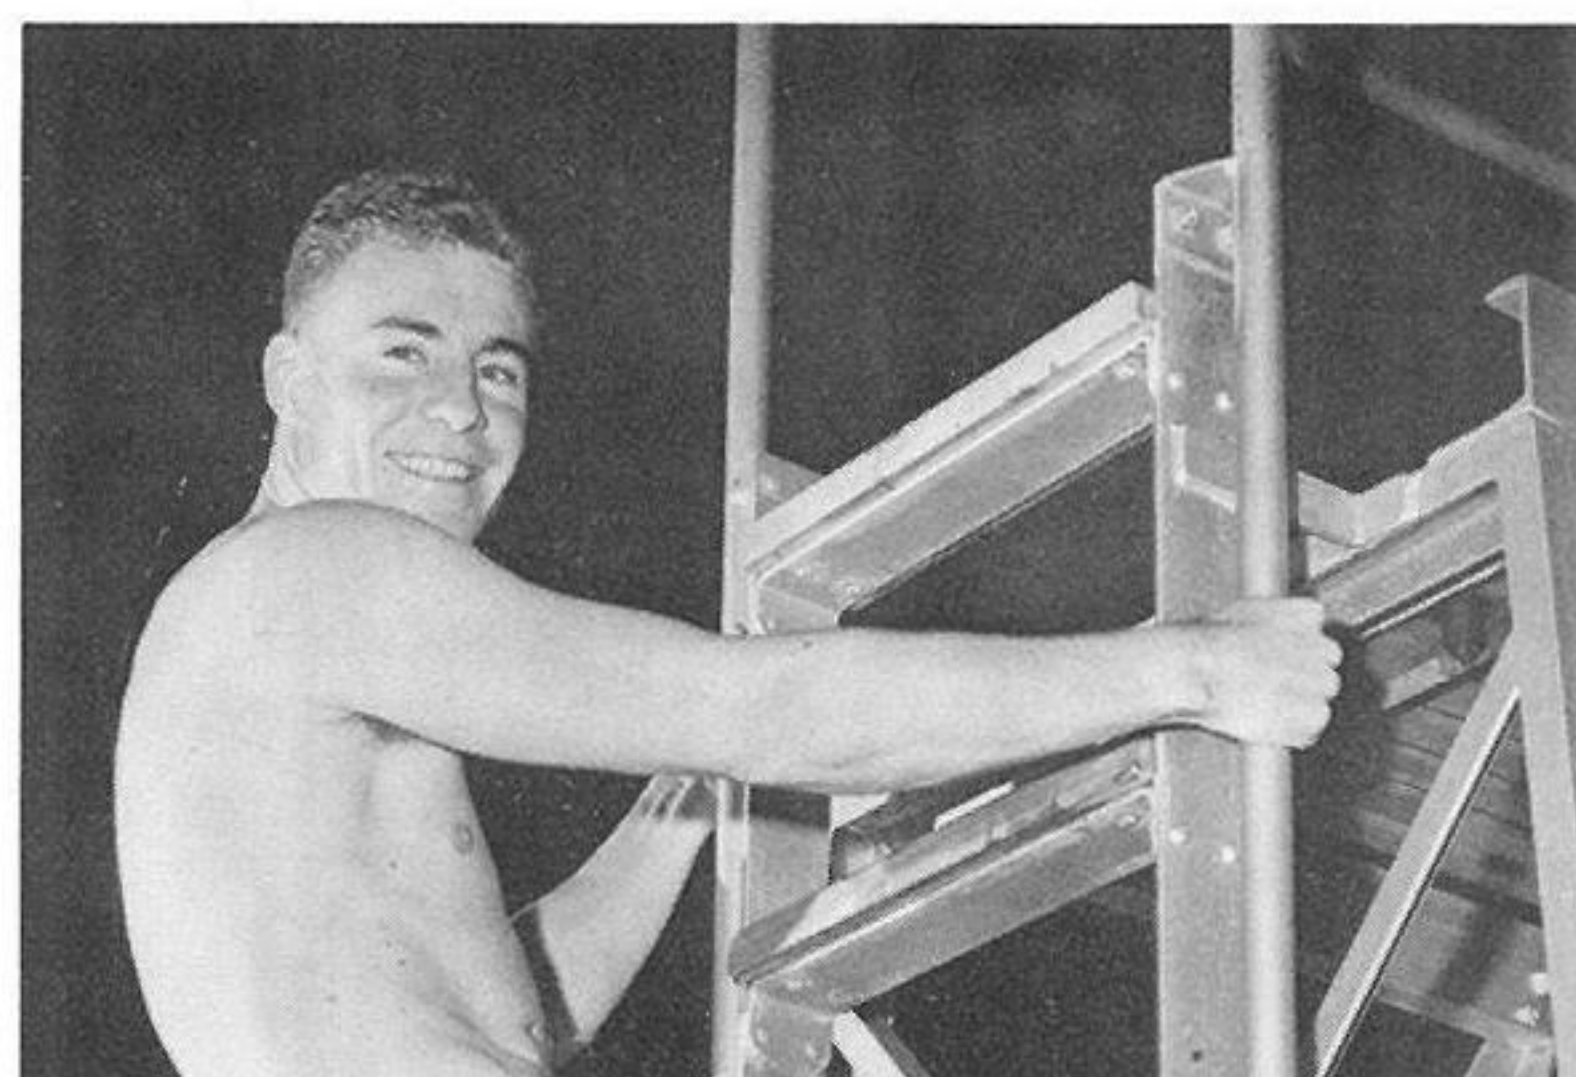

The frosh mermen were well supplied with talent for the 1960 season. Heading the squad as co-captains were John Schneider and Dick Jochums. Schneider swam the breaststroke and the individual medley, while Jochums swam the butterfly and individual medley. In the individual medley and the butterfly Jochums now holds the National College Frosh records, which he broke twice this season. Swimming the freestyle this year for the freshmen were Bill Pierce in the 200 and 100, Art Wahl in the 200 and 400, and Don Knobbs and Irv Seymour in the 50 and 100. Holding the backstroke positions for the frosh were Bruce Brockett and John Webster. Fred Dorn, State High School Champion in 1959, shared the butterfly positions with Jochums this year. Doing the diving for the frosh were Wally Calkins and Bob Boone, who was the Junior College All-American in 1959.

Coach Orval Larson can be praised for his excellent team and for the fine record that he has posted for the 1959-60 season. And surely Varsity Coach Jack Tourney can expect a fine addition of talent to his squad in the following years from this powerful freshman team.

Skiers Take First and Second Places

On January 2 the Husky ski team left for its first meet in Rossland, Idaho. The team, pictured above, was destined to get nothing lower than a second place in the four meets which were to follow, and one first place at Wenatchee in its third meet. There were nine schools competing this year.

Dick Hanson, Ed Kershaw, Russ Amick, Erik Giese and Charlie Cadwell vied for slalom and downhill positions. Paul Thomas concentrated on cross-country, while Torbjorn Yggeseth jumped for the Huskies. Torbjorn also competed in the Olympic games where he placed fifth in the 80 meter, jumping for his native country, Norway.

Next year looks big for the Huskies with the whole team returning with a year of experience.

Gymnastics and Minor Sports Had Generally Good Seasons

The volleyball team concluded the season by winning the Northwest Invitational title with a season record of eleven wins, ten losses and one tie. Outstanding players were Captain Bob Keeland, Paul Krastins and Nick Speed. All three are graduating seniors and leave the burden of next year's campaign to players with just one year of varsity experience.

Washington's cross country runners won first place in a triangular meet with Seattle Pacific College and Seattle Olympic Club and finished third or fourth in three other varsity meets. The frosh took first place in the Pacific Northwest Junior Championships and won from Seattle Pacific College. Scores were not kept in the Northwest Junior AAU meet in which both the frosh and the varsity competed.

Wrestling, the newest addition to the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, turned in a season record of five wins, six losses and one tie, which is a big improvement over last year's record of nine straight losses. Jerry Mayberry piled up an impressive string of 31 victories until he lost to Hoagland of Portland State. He will represent Washington in the NCAA championship meet at Maryland. Captain Dave Enslow graduates with a record of eleven wins and one loss in dual meet competition.

Keeping in mind the motto "A sport for every man, and a man in every sport," Supervisor Len Stevens and his staff of two assistant supervisors and 14 student managers provide University men with a varied and extensive intramural sports program. During a year's time, approximately 3000 different participants, or nearly one-third of the total male enrollment, enter into a variety of individual and team sports. This extensive program of more than 1500 scheduled events keeps the managerial staff working approximately 60 hours a week. When the many man-hours of officiating are added to the work hours of both the administrative staff and the managers, the immensity of this program is readily apparent.

After the year's final results are tabulated, a sportsman-participation trophy is awarded to the organization that ranks highest on a formula involving broad participation, good sportsmanship and few forfeits. In addition to this award, trophies are presented to each organization whose team wins an intramural championship, and medals are given to each individual event winner and to each member of a winning team in the team sports.

The Women's Recreational Program offers competitive fun and a chance for every woman on campus to enjoy good exercise and the sport of her choice.

All living groups are represented in the extensive intramural program. In the Spring you will see tennis enthusiasts filling the courts behind Hutchinson Hall, while a crucial softball playoff is going on in the nearby field. Bermuda-clad golfers play their matches on a nearby course. Fall quarter finds the HUB Bowling Alleys filled with enthusiastic bowlers, while back at Hutch a volleyball tournament is going on, and the women's pool is filled with the girls swimming "Around the World." Winter turns the women skiers to the slopes to get in shape for a coming meet; the bowlers are still in action and the Gym is kept busy with badminton and basketball hopefuls.

Women Show Their Skill

The championship game was won by Delta Gamma.

These members of Alpha Xi Delta swam to victory in the "Around the World" swim. In front are Ann Mehus, Ginger Glover, Nancy Newell and Brenda Nelson. In back are Carol Procter, Dena Biehn, Joyce Bryd and Gurine Nordby.

Becky Sisley and Mary Shdo of the winning Open Club Basketball team anticipate a basket.

Betty Goebel does a Straddle Vault on the horse.

For those who like to dance there is Orchesis, women's dance honorary, which puts on the fabulous Dance Drama each year. There is Silver Fish, the swim honorary, for the campus mermaids, who with the Men's Swim Club put on the annual Spring Swim Show. The Trampoline Club's keynote is coordination as the girls try new stunts on the tramp and other apparatus. "See you at 4:00" is the by-word of the Field Hockey Club which meets each day preparing for the Hockey Conference.

To end a fun-filled year last spring, the Women's Recreational Council, composed of the Intramural Managers and the Presidents of the Sports Clubs, organized the first Awards Presentation. AWS Fashion Board modeled sports clothes and the winners of the Intramurals were presented trophies.

Lola Peterson hopes for a strike.

Leslie Vail does a Layout Ascent on the trampoline.

The Hockey Team had a victorious year, second only in strength to UBC. In the front row are Susan Miller, Usmelly Rivera, Rose Pinto and Arlene Rankin. Standing in the back are Judy Hoetmer, Phyllis Curtis, Gwyneth Llewellyn, Becky Sisley, Sheila Woo, Sandy Horne, Marjorie Johnson, Shirley Warren, Jeannine Bennett and Louise Sheeley.

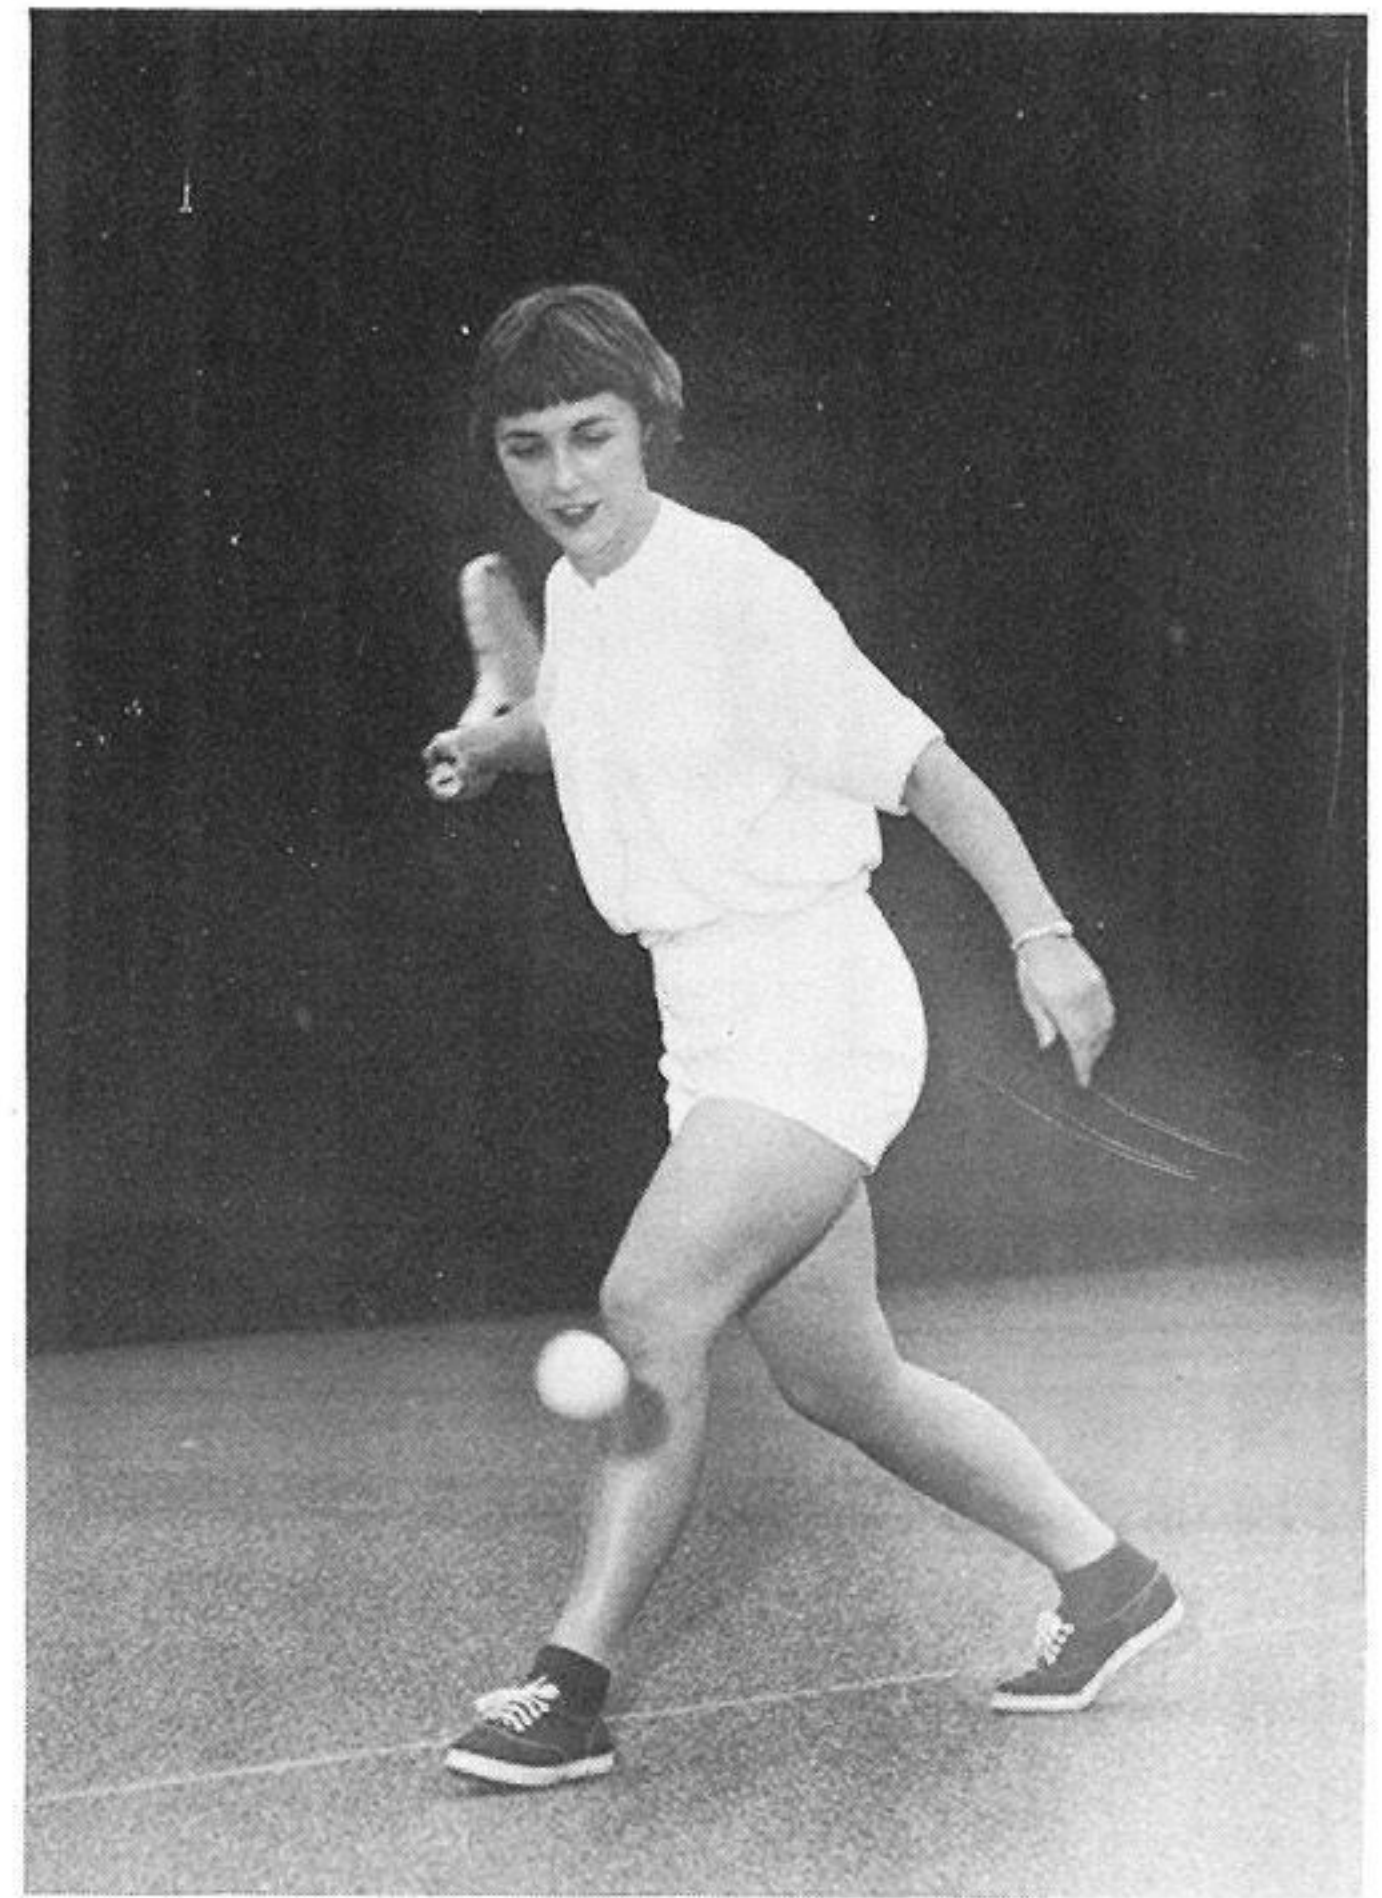

Members of the Women's Recreational Council in the front row are Sally Rivenes, Kay Yanagihara and Sharon Templeton. In the back are Jeannie Dammeier, Beth Howlett and Brenda Nelson.

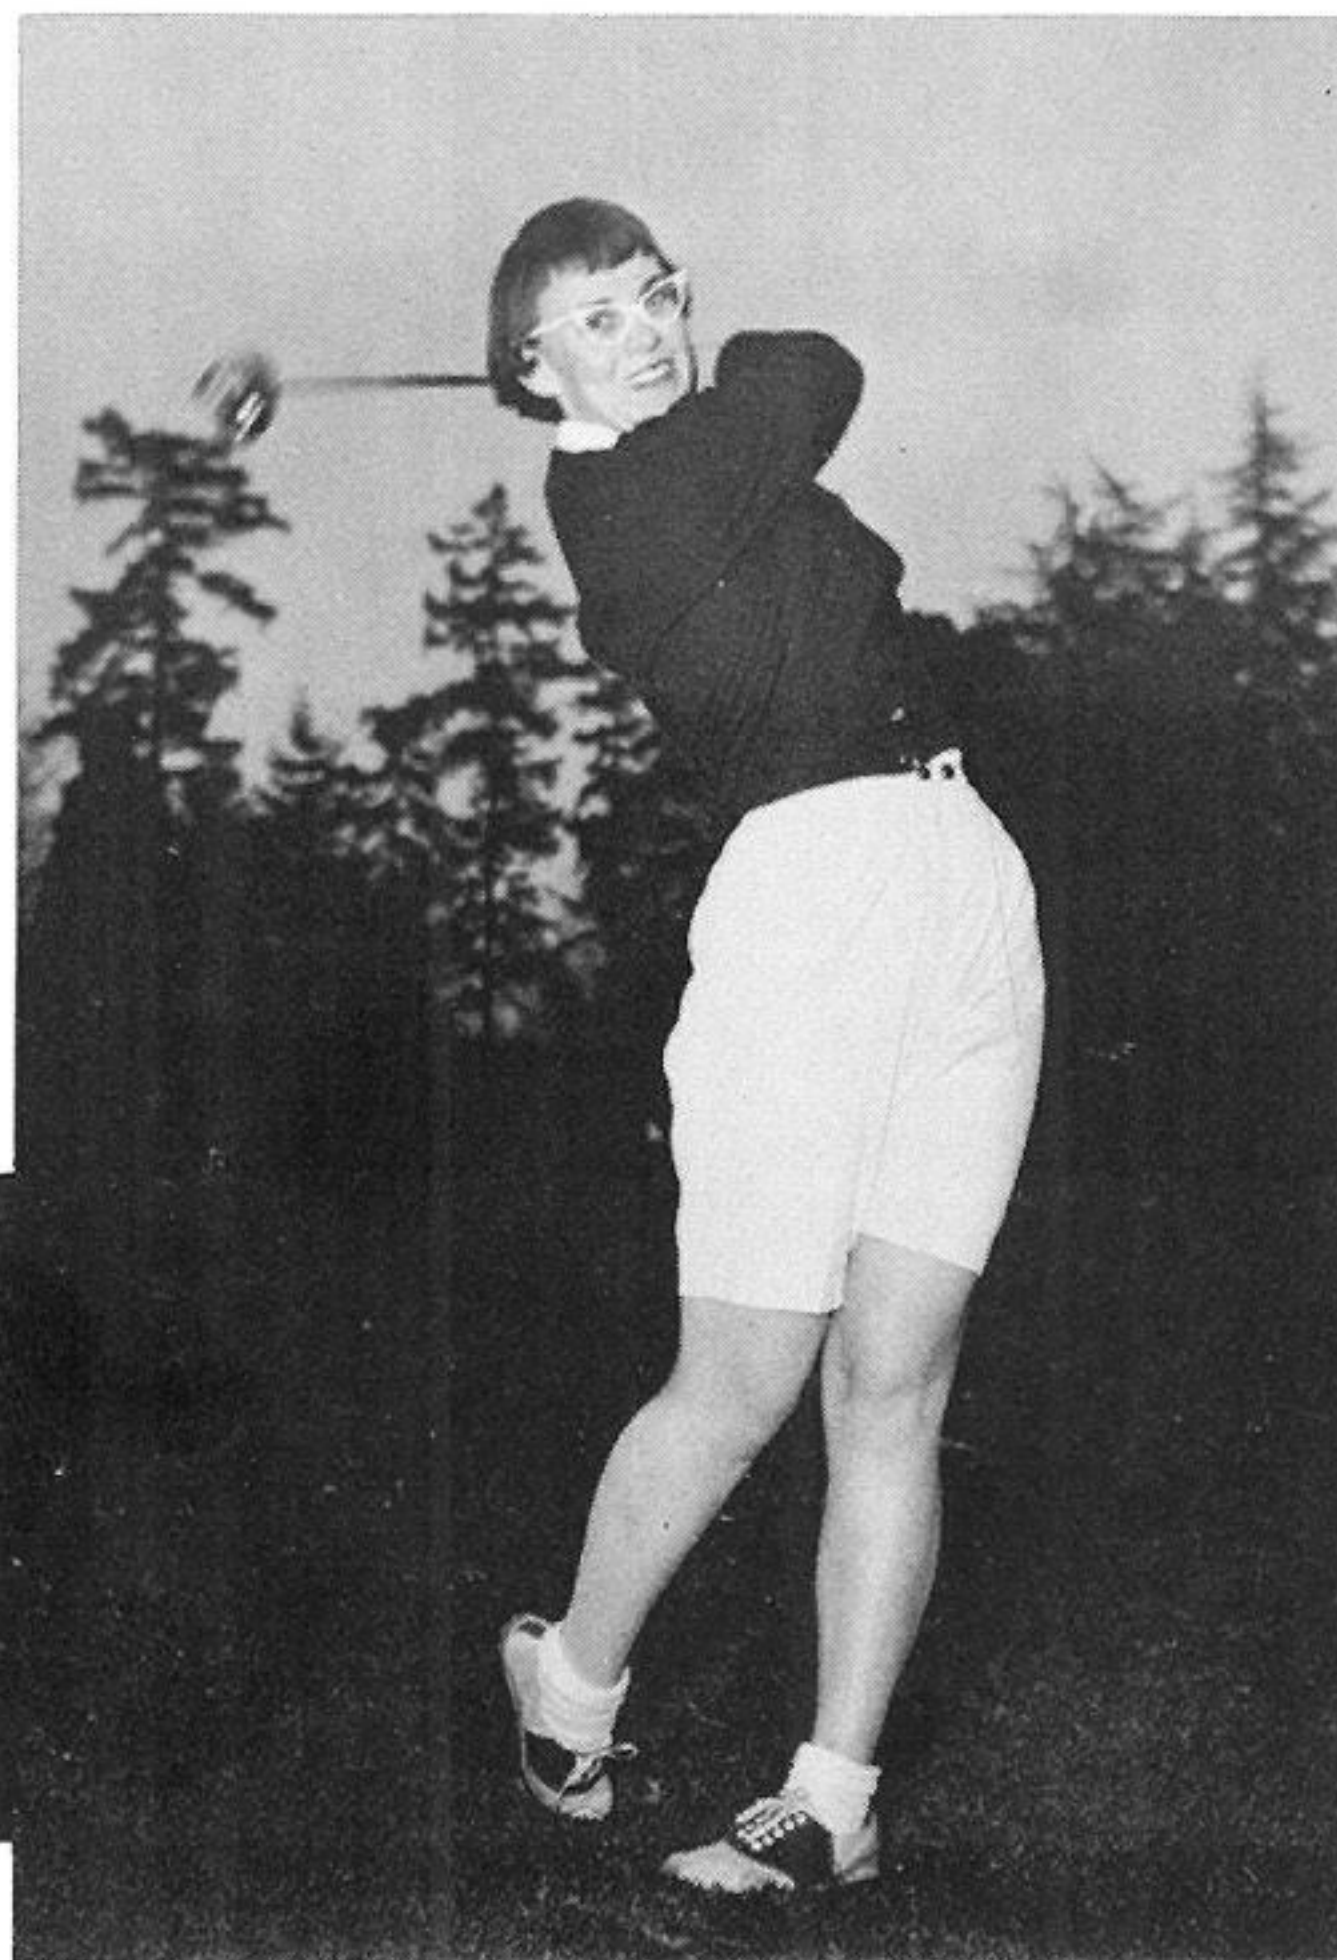

Blaine Hall's Intramural Ski Champ team was made up of Bonnie Weimer, Ann Blaine and Barbara Good.

Sally Rivenes, president of Recreational Council, is out for a game of tennis.

ΓΙΑΙΝΓ ΓΒΟΝΒΣ

▶ A part of University life almost as important as academic pursuits are living groups, representing students of diverse interests and backgrounds—greeks, independents, foreign students, nurses, foresters. It is within the living group, whether it be a dormitory, a co-op, a sorority or fraternity, that the deepest friendships and ties of college life lie.

Much of the social activity at the University is sponsored by living groups. Dances, parties and exchanges, such as the one pictured here, all contribute to the joys of college life.

But the real heart of group living is found not in the sponsored events, but in the everyday contact with one another—at meals, study table or in that great tradition of the living group known as the after-midnight “gab session.”

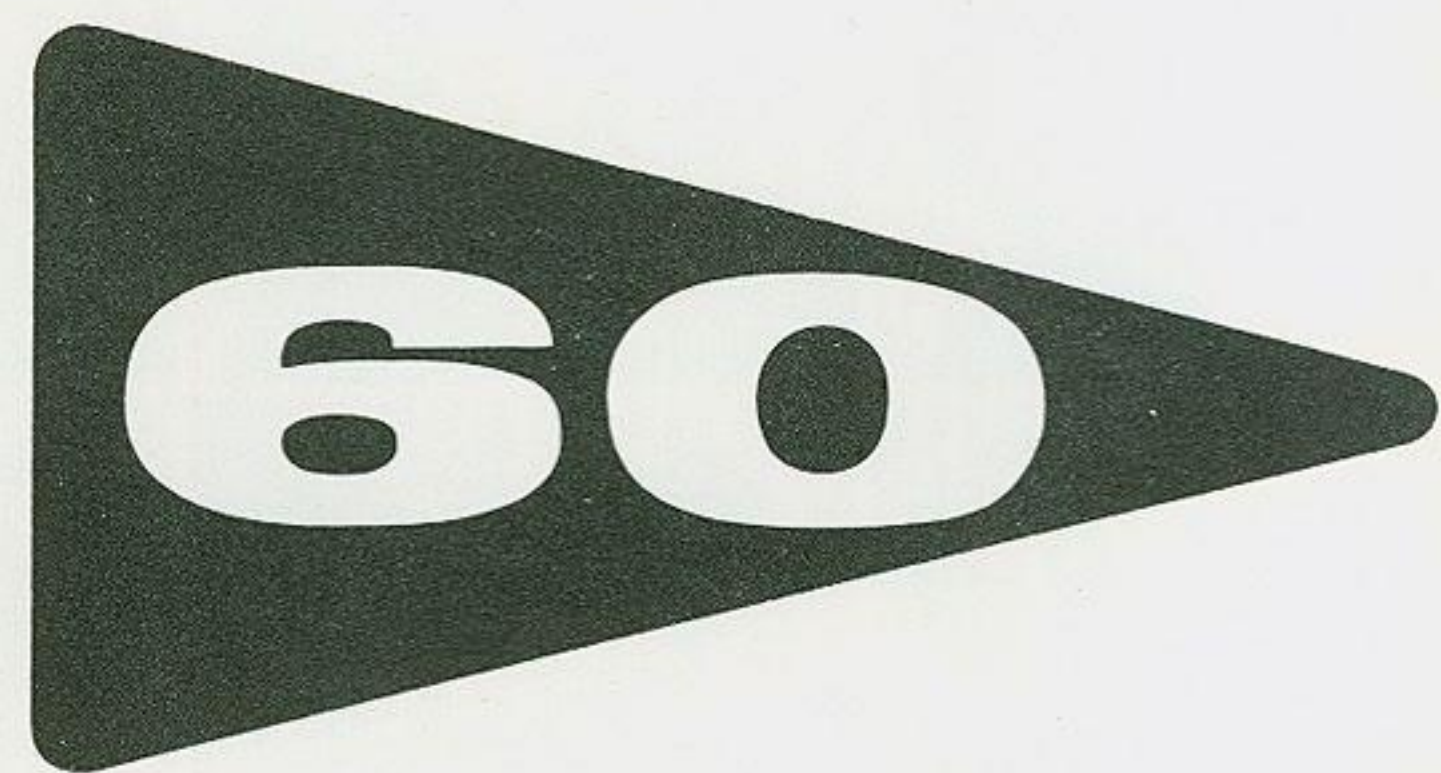

Necessary ingredients for these sessions are coffee cups, ashtrays full of cigarette butts and opened books. Often a test looms in the immediate future. The conversation starts by accident, as a short “break,” and it proceeds irrationally. Studying suffers while students discuss the problems of religion, integration, foreign relations or birth control. Candid, relaxed and spontaneous, the give-and-take of the gab session is group living at its best.

Panhellenic

Panhellenic is the coordinating body of the sorority system. Its members are delegates from each of the twenty houses, the executive board committee chairmen, and the six officers. The Panhellenic year began with the installation of officers in December. The annual Training Conference was held during spring vacation. The Presidents of AWS, YWCA, Phrateres, and the Independent Women's Association, as well as all of the Panhellenic officers and delegates, attend the Conference. Here policies are formulated, valuable ideas are exchanged, and everyone has a lot of fun.

Monthly dinner meetings are held at the sororities on a rotation basis, and the "round robin" desserts and Inspiration Week are sponsored by Panhellenic. Its primary activity, however, is conducting the sorority rushing program.

The Junior Panhellenic organization is a group composed of each sorority's pledge class president. Its purpose is to promote friendship and cooperation between the various pledge classes, to introduce entering freshmen to the Panhellenic system, to discuss problems which might arise in the individual pledge classes, and to raise enough money to give financial aid in the form of a yearly scholarship to an entering freshman girl.

This year, as in the past, the major fund-raising project was the annual carameled apple sale which was held during fall quarter. In its regular monthly meetings, the group discussed and organized several other projects. Junior Panhellenic's year came to an end after having included an exchange with the members of the Junior Inter-Fraternity Council.

Rho members of Alpha Chi Omega look back on the past year with a sense of deepening friendship and achievement. Autumn quarter started out with a "rush," and Alpha Chi claimed thirty-two wonderful pledges. They were honored at the Founders' day banquet and at a deep sea pledge dance. Then Homecoming and Nickel Hop kept us busy. The Alpha Chi "Malahinis" competed in the Village Band contest and appeared with the Saints at the University Jazz concert.

Eight members were invited to attend the Scholarship Banquet. As Thanksgiving came near, we made a Pilgrim food basket for a needy family which merited first prize from AWS judges. We also found time to spread some Christmas cheer and go caroling before finals.

With winter quarter came Inspiration Week, Frosh elections and a fabulous costume dance. Alpha Chis also worked for Cerebral Palsy, their National Philanthropic project. A Luau and Beatnik breakfast plus many other exchanges helped fill our social calendar.

Alpha Chi Omega is proud of its student leaders, especially Marilyn Barker, who was honored by the American Association of University Women for outstanding achievement. We also have girls in Sigma Epsilon Sigma, Silver Fish, Rally Girls, Arena, Gamma Alpha Chi and other departmental honoraries. Alpha Chis are also active on AWS and ASUW committees.

Spring brought our annual formal dance, Chinese Auction and Song-fest. Soon it was time to say good-bye to the Class of '60 at the Senior Breakfast, and Rho delegates looked forward to the Diamond Jubilee Convention, held this summer at French Lick, Indiana.

Alpha Delta Pi

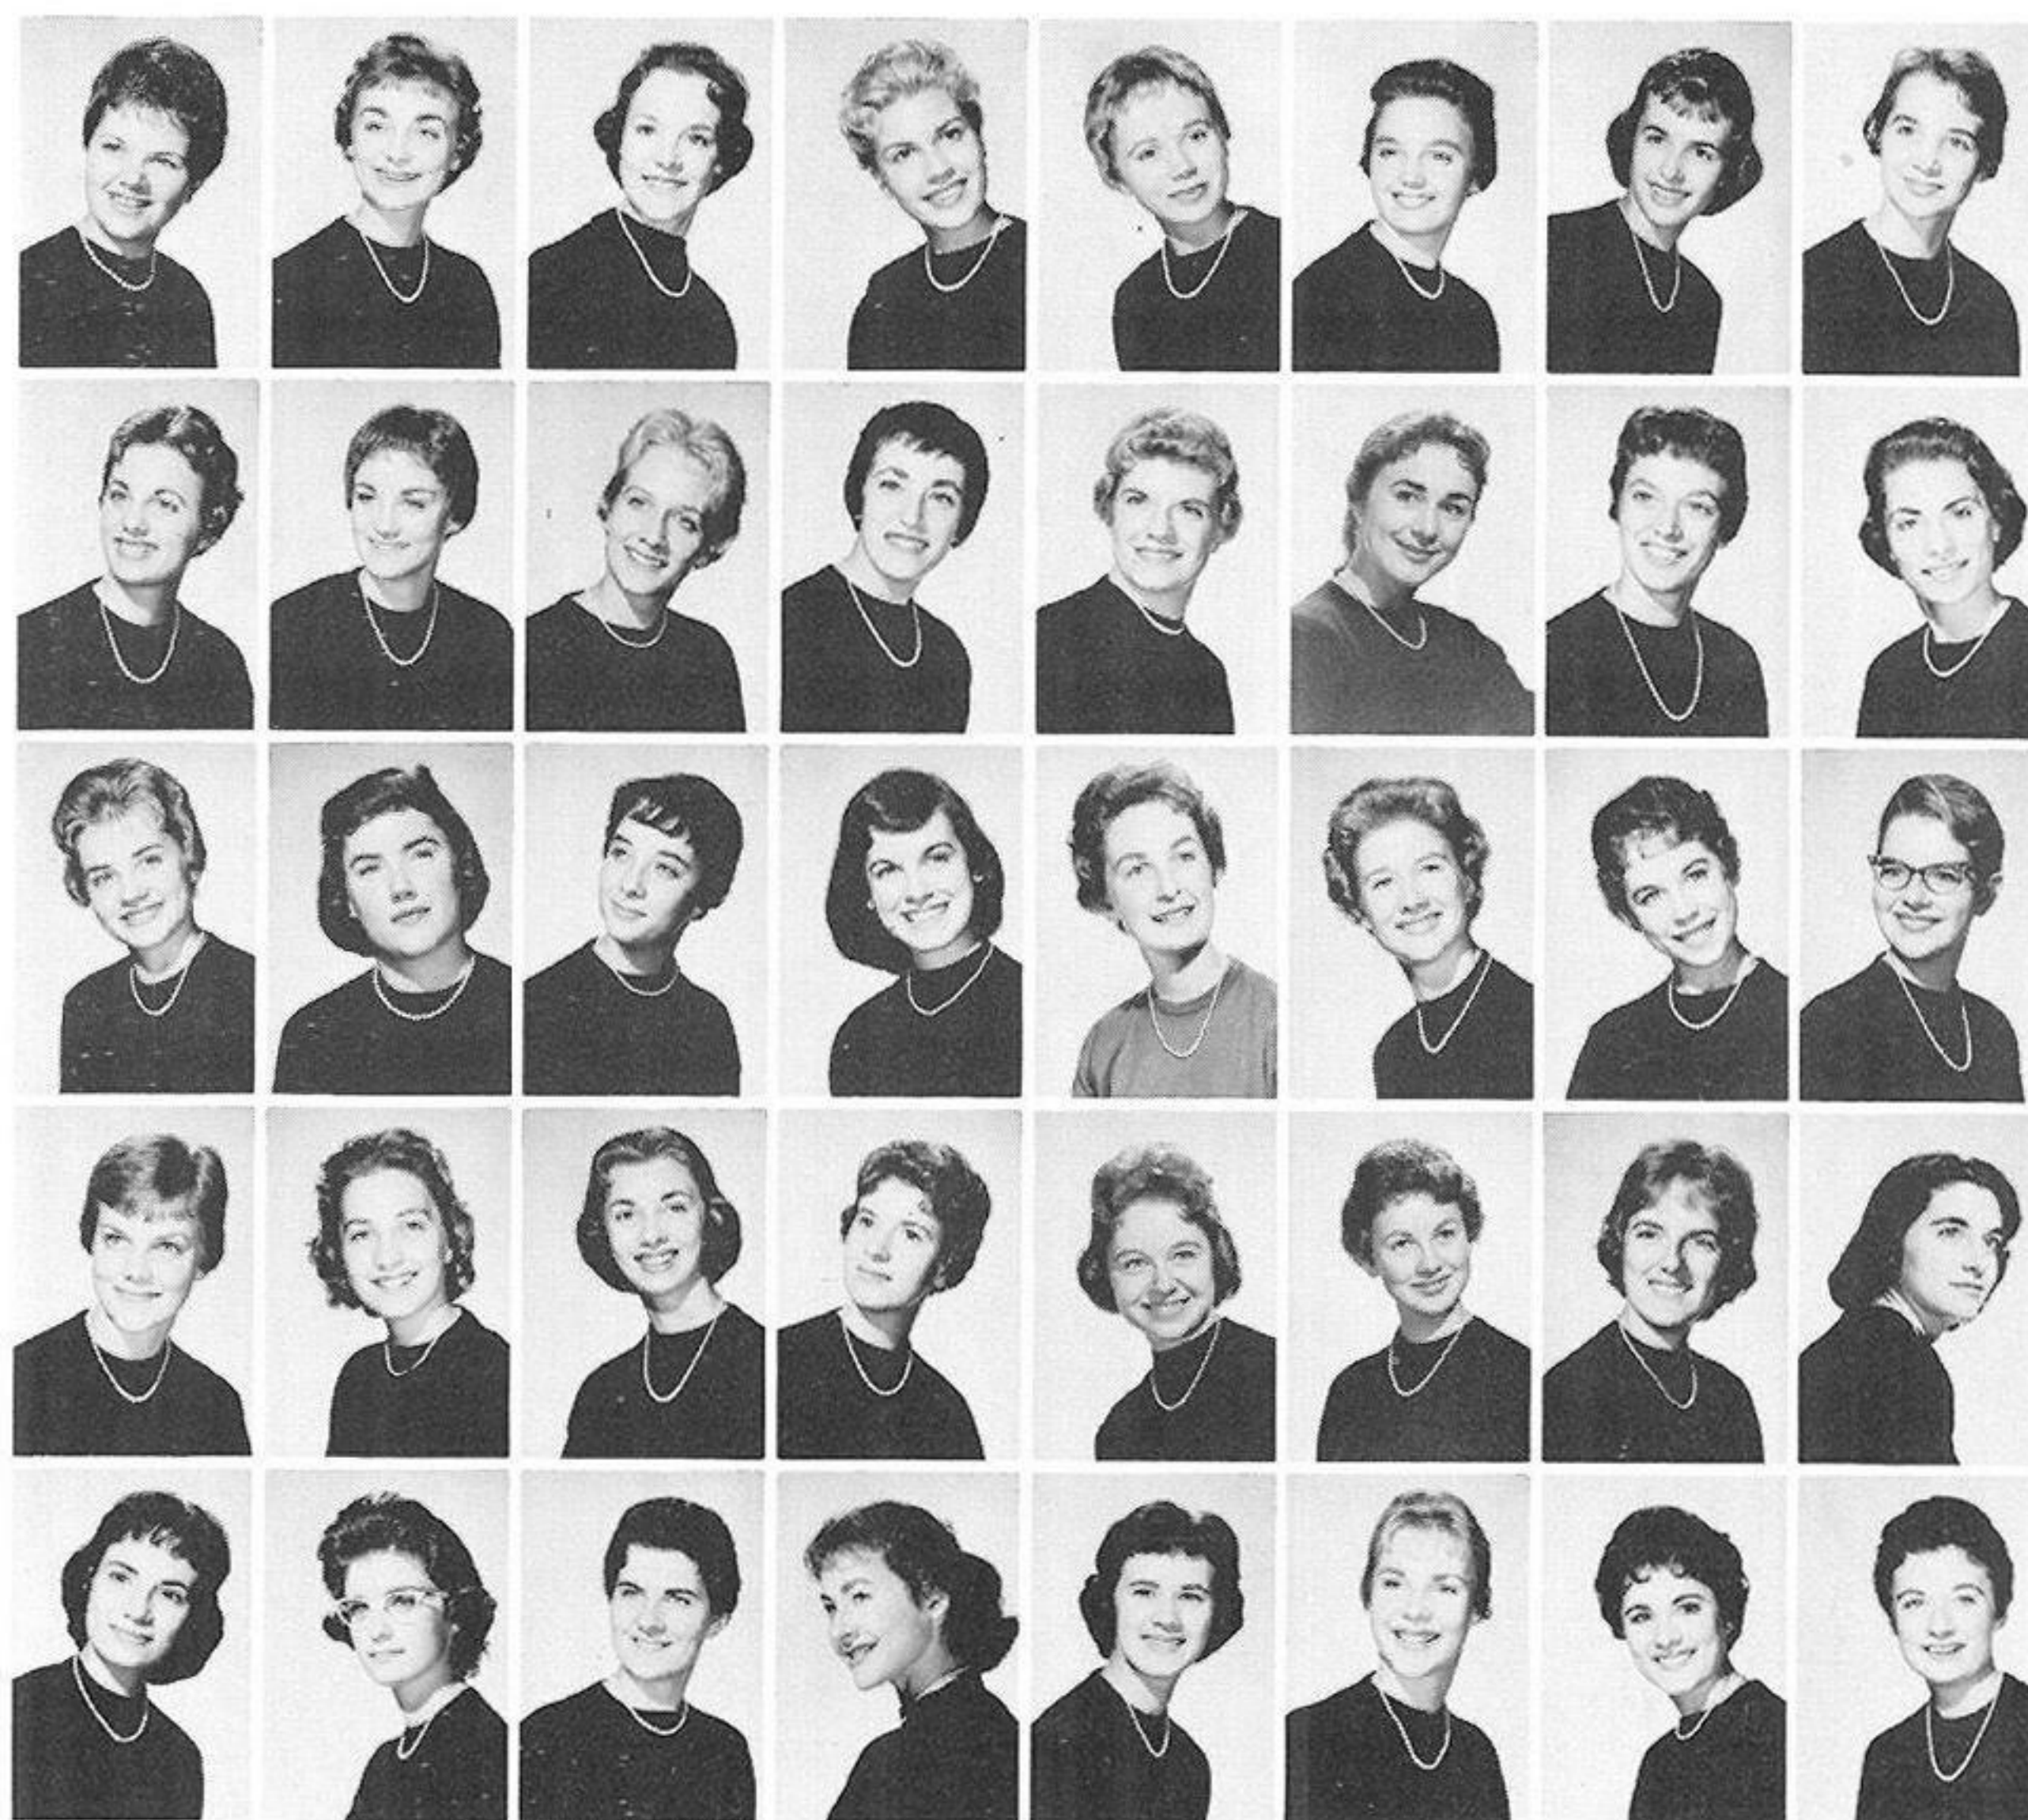

Rush 1959 ended as Alpha Theta of Alpha Delta Pi burst open their doors and sang 31 eager pledges into their new campus home. This beginning enthusiasm was the ruling spirit of our 1959-60 school year, the most scholastically and socially rewarding year yet.

After our Homecoming sign gave the Trojans "The Merry-Go-Round," we attended other football games with the Psi U's and Delts. Watching our Rose Bowl bound team, we cheered even harder with Babs Huebschman as a Varsity song leader. Babs' talent must be contagious because 9 pledges soon became Frosh song leaders.

Besides attending games we enjoyed exchanges, Nickel Hop and helping the Delts in the "Ugly Man" contest. Dance pictures recall getting costumes for the pledge dance, being our most glamorous at the Winter Formal, and dancing in full cottons at the Spring Dance.

Of course, studies were never slighted. Margaret Tong, our tiny, friendly Malaysian exchange student, made foreign affairs seem very close to home.

Many ADPi's frequented the HUB, including ASUW Secretary, Donna Thomas; AWS Treasurer, Blyth Hecht; Model UN representative, Nancy Dawson; and all our members in W-Key, Totem Club, Rally, Mortar Board, Silver Fish, Corvettes, and Angel Wing.

Alpha Epsilon Phi

Another year for Alpha Delta began in our new house with a wonderful pledge class. The year, full of campus and community activities, leaves many wonderful memories never to be forgotten.

We can't forget the pledge sneak and the run-around they gave the actives, our glamorous winter formal, the Valentine party for the mentally retarded children, our gay spring costume dance and our senior breakfast. We can't neglect our successful scholarship year despite the excitement of many pinnings and engagements.

Alpha Delta can look back on a wonderful year, the start of a new decade, in which our University did us proud by winning the coveted Rose Bowl game.

Alpha Gamma Delta

Bobbie Smith, President

The Alpha Gams started off their 1959-1960 year with a rousing pledge class of 34, who successfully fooled the actives in their October 19th sneak. Fall quarter was a busy one with many HUB activities, exchanges and studying. The sisters were all proud of our three song leaders, Barbara Cole, Sally Brainard and Pat Elder, especially when we followed the Huskies to the Rose Bowl and saw the three in action there. Fall spotlights fell on our annual Fathers' Brunch, Nickel Hop and beautiful Pledge Dance. We surprised the DG's with an early morning kidnap breakfast, and we all enjoyed the song-exchange which followed. Decorating the house for Christmas and our fun Christmas party rounded off the quarter.

Winter quarter brought frosh elections, more exchanges and basketball games which we eagerly attended to watch our seven frosh songleaders. Initiation was held for two-thirds of the pledge class who had all made better than a 2.2 fall quarter, and the pledges gave a costume dance in honor of the actives. Our two other "girl" neighbors were surprised with parties similar to the kidnap breakfast. Preparation for Songfest began, and installation of new officers in March rounded off winter quarter.

We were all bursting with spring fever as we planned for our lovely Spring Formal. The Alpha Gams had much fun practicing for Songfest, and held an open house for parents on Parents' Weekend. We were fortunate to have two exchange students, Anne-Marie Grani of Norway, and Heidi Von Nell of Germany, who contributed a great deal to the the house. With final exams we all looked back on a wonderful fifty-first year at Washington, and looked forward to the years to come.

AOPis began their successful year by co-hosting the AOPi National Convention in Victoria last summer.

Fall brought us many pledges and wonderful memories of activities in which we participated—Homecoming Signs, a successful pledge sneak, the Thanksgiving Basket Contest, our Fall Dance, "Shipwrecked," exchanges, Founders' Day Banquet, Pixie Week—climaxed with a joyous Christmas party, and preparations for the Rose Bowl.

Inspiration Week heralded the New Year and pledges became AOPi sisters. Supporting a candidate for Frosh Treasurer, holding our annual rummage sale for philanthropic work, planning feverishly for our Rose Ball and electing new officers kept us busy winter quarter as well as our Freshmen participating in Frosh Day activities and having more exchanges.

Spring in its budding beauty was welcomed as we prepared for the annual Spring Fun Dance, Songfest, Parents' Weekend, and our Senior Breakfast completing a year full of activities, studies and memories.

We were happy to claim the Commander of Angel Wings, and the first president of the new organization of the Nurses Student Body. We also participated in W-Key, Corvettes, Rally Girls, Sigma Epsilon Sigma, Angel Wings, ASUW Glee Club, Zeta Phi Eta and other ASUW and AWS activities.

Alpha Phi

This was the year that the Huskies swept the Rose Bowl and the Alpha Phis swept campus. The year was off to a terrific start when 35 stellar pledges added bench strength to last year's regulars.

After a successful season the Phis were picked for every all-star team on campus—Mortar Board, Rally, W-Key, Totem Club, Sigma Epsilon Sigma, Silver Fish, Corvettes, Alpha Tau Delta, Pi Eta Alpha, Zeta Phi Eta, Omicron Nu, and Gamma Alpha Chi. They also were well represented on ASUW committees, AWS projects, Frosh Day, Varsity Ball and Bermuda Day.

Pre-game rallies included exchanges, serenades, coffee dates, exchange dinners, Homecoming, and Songfest. These were accented with memorable after-game festivities—the pledge dance at Beau Brummel, the winter costume dance, and, of course, the spring formal at the Olympic Hotel.

Alpha Xi Delta

"Have fun, friends, and loyalty. That's the way to be an Alpha Xi." And Nu chapter has had these, as a look at the year's activities indicates.

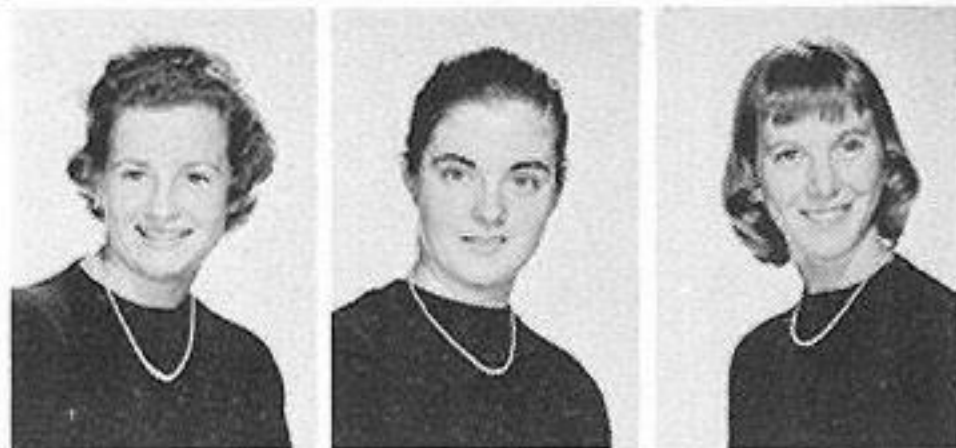

The excitement of rush was climaxed by the pledging of 26 wonderful girls. Alpha Xi Delta scored academically also. In the fall the chapter was presented the trophy for the greatest improvement in scholarship, and we were represented on campus in Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Epsilon Sigma, Senior Honor Women, Pi Lambda Theta, and other scholastic honoraries.

Socially the year was very successful. For the pledge dance the girls and their dates became "Americans in Paris," enjoying the gay Parisian atmosphere. During winter quarter the pledges gave everyone a chance to reveal his secret ambition, and the results were spectacular. In the spring the traditional and beautiful Rose Formal was held. The social calendar was well filled with exchanges, dinners, and other informal affairs.

As we look back at the activities and accomplishments of the year, we may attribute our accomplishments to the fun, friends, and loyalty of Alpha Xi Delta.

"Let's Go" was the cry that greeted the 31 new pledges of Alpha Chapter of Chi Omega. And "go" we did, through a very eventful year. It was our enthusiasm and drive that carried us to first place in Homecoming and trophy for Village Band Contest. A more subtle but pressing "go" was that felt when we turned to the serious matter of studying. Persistent effort paid off in membership in Sigma Epsilon Sigma, scholastic honorary, and membership in departmental honoraries.

During winter quarter the cry was "Let's go skiing." Every weekend the Chi Omegas tried out the slopes and skied for the U. of W. ski team. "On your mark, get set, go!" was familiar to the Chi Omegas who were members of Silver Fish and especially Beth Howlett, Silver Fish president. Chi Omegas also competed strongly in intramural sports.

The pledge dance, winter formal and spring informal at the chapter house, exchanges with fraternities, and the annual Father-Daughter Banquet carried us along in a whirl of new friends and activities. The Chi Omegas that "go" for campus activities could be found in ASUW and AWS offices, YWCA, Hub activities, W-Key and Rally Girls. Nancy Webster was Junior Class secretary and Judy Graham was Senior Class treasurer. Patty Ragan was always "going" with her duties as a Seafair Princess.

Delta Delta Delta

The fiftieth anniversary year of Theta Alpha chapter on Washington's campus draws to a close and members of Delta Delta Delta review an exciting and fun-packed nine months.

Fall rushing gave us many of the finest pledges on campus. The rest of the quarter was brightened by our honorable mention Homecoming sign, Bermuda Day Queen Linda Akers, and Christmas caroling with the Betas. Many members represented us in Silver Fish, W-Key, Totem Club, Mortar Board, Rally Girls, and as delegates to the Model United Nations. We were also kept busy with exchanges, serenades, our pledge dance and trying to maintain our second place scholastic rating.

Winter and spring quarters kept us just as active. Delta week, our pledge-active dance, our Spring Formal, election, and Songfest were all climaxed by our annual Pansy Breakfast which traditionally honors all graduating senior women.

We have worked hard and had a lot of fun. We will remember 1959-1960 as a year in which we have learned much and made many lasting friendships.

The DG's will remember 1959-60 as an outstanding year. With a sparkling new pledge class the girls who wear the golden anchor entered into work and play filled with the "DG spirit."

Rounding out their scholastic endeavors with participation in many campus activities, DG's held various positions: AWS Vice President and Recording Secretary, two class officers, AWS Scholarship and Parents' Weekend Chairmen, and ASUW International Area Chairman. They were members in Mortar Board, Sigma Epsilon Sigma, Totem Club, W-Key, Silver Fish, Program Panel and departmental honoraries. "Above and beyond the call of duty" many hours were given to the national project of Sight Conservation and Aid to the Blind.

Queens added a royal touch to the year with Lambda Chi Alpha Crescent Girl Gretchen Fall and Timber Queen Judy Vedder.

Friendship and gay times were realized as the members bounded into Homecoming, danced the Virginia reel at the pledge dance, and enjoyed the Christmas party, winter and spring dances, Founder's Day and Songfest. Spring quarter again offered occasional leisurely hours of sunshine on the spacious front lawn.

The DZ's fall rush brought twenty-one enthusiastic pledges to share the year's activities with us. Homecoming was particularly exciting because of our initial experiment with "black light." In spite of many devious clues, our pledges had a very successful sneak and following DZ tradition, composed several new songs for us. We were so proud of them as they worked together on their pledge projects, studied hard, and participated with us in many campus activities. Rally Girls, Song Leaders, Fashion Board members, and the officers of various campus honoraries all called DZ home.

A fall dance held at the Washington Athletic Club was a tribute to our fine pledges and exchanges and a breakfast with Tau Phi Delta filled our social calendar very well. Winter quarter was highlighted by a costume dance in the best beat tradition, more exchanges and determined studying. Spring is always crammed with exciting events, from the first swim and sunbath to bidding the seniors good-bye and good luck and the sponsoring of the annual Delta Zeta Dream Man Contest, the winner being announced at the Spring Formal.

The 1959-60 Dream Man, Ron Kerby is being presented with the Dream Man Trophy at the climax of the DZ's annual contest. Those in the picture are the 1958-59 Dream Man, Dick Nelson, Alpha Delta Phi; Annette Gilbertson, Delta Zeta President; Stan Israel, Sigma Alpha Mu; Larry Edwards, Delta Chi; Bob Kapelowitz and Ron Kerby.

Twenty-eight outstanding new pledges spurred Lambda chapter of Gamma Phi Beta through another successful and thrilling year.

Shortly after school began, Homecoming brought a lovely Gamma Phi Queen, Sharon Givan, to reign over the festivities. Events capturing the spirit and help of everyone included the Homecoming sign, pledge barn dance and Christmas caroling with the Sigma Chis.

We are proud of the many Gamma Phis who were active in campus activities, holding such honors as AWS and Sigma Epsilon Sigma president, ASUW 2nd vice president, Panhellenic vice president and song queen. We were represented in Mortar Board, Phi Beta Kappa, Totem Club, W-Key, Rally Girls, Silver Fish, YWCA Council, Omicron Nu, Fashion Board, the DAILY and departmental honors.

1959-60 was a most rewarding year and the memories we share of this and other years create a bond among us we will always remember.

Kappa Alpha Theta

The 1959-1960 year was one of widely diversified activities for Kappa Alpha Theta. The year began with representatives on Mortar Board, W-Key, Rally, Totem Club, Silver Fish, Senior Women's Honorary and various other campus activities. The Thetas worked very hard on a Homecoming sign entitled "The Trojan Horse Is Just a Hobby With Us," and, although the game was a bit disappointing, we tied for first place with our sign.

During Christmas vacation, of course, many Thetas went to California to support our winning Huskies and our three Theta song-leaders. Winter quarter we skied and skated, but mostly studied.

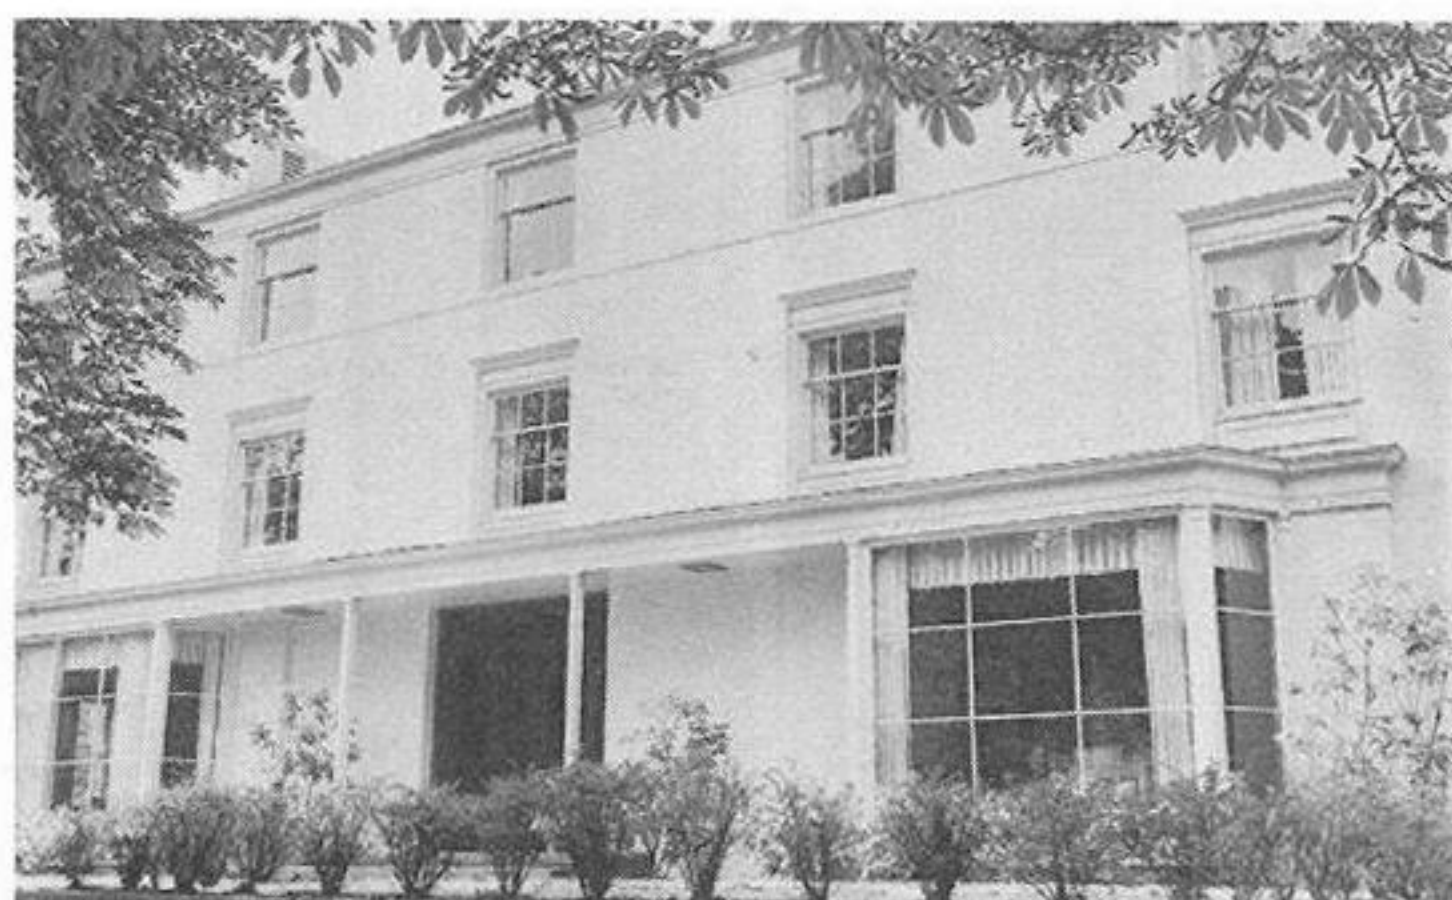

This spring we entered Songfest again with the Delta Tau Deltas and, as last year, we were very successful. As with every year in college since time remembered, the Thetas got a class of refreshing new faces in the fall, had a fun filled eventful year and in the spring graduated proud seniors.

Kappa Delta

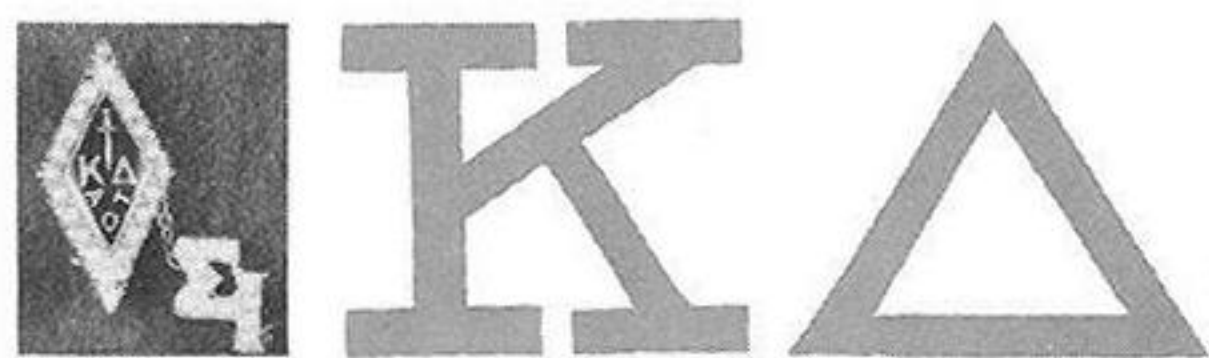

October 1959 found Sigma Iota chapter of Kappa Delta launching one of its most successful years. With the help of 27 new pledges and five girls pledged spring quarter, plus the able direction of a dynamic new housemother, we plunged into Homecoming activities and came up with first place in the inanimate sign division. Shortly after informal rush, in which we gained three new pledges, we danced to the theme of "Top of the Town" at our annual pledge dance. The approach of Thanksgiving and Christmas found us fulfilling service goals, among them the pledge Thanksgiving Basket project (Kappa Delta pledges tied for second place), the ASUW blood drive, in which we tied for first place, and a Christmas party for underprivileged children.

Winter quarter brought Inspiration Week, initiation, a fun-filled snow party, the annual costume dance, a sweetheart dinner, and busy hours spent with the books.

At the end of spring quarter, highlighted by the formal Dagger Dance and Senior Breakfast, we could look back upon a truly inspirational year. Most satisfying to us, as well as the new friendships formed and old ones enriched, were individual achievements such as leadership in campus organizations, scholarship awards, and selection of Kappa Deltas for membership in Totem Club, Rally Girls, Corvettes, Guppies, and the freshman song-leading squad.

Kappa Kappa Gamma

Sally Arthur, President

A first place on campus scholastically for 1959 spurred Beta Pi chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma into the fifty-fifth year on the University of Washington campus. Thirty-one pledges added more enthusiasm after an exciting rush.

Girls were active in every phase of campus life. The Kappas were found as chairmen, members and officers in ASUW, AWS, YWCA, Mortar Board, Totem Club, Panhellenic, W-Key, Sigma Epsilon Sigma, Omicron Nu and others.

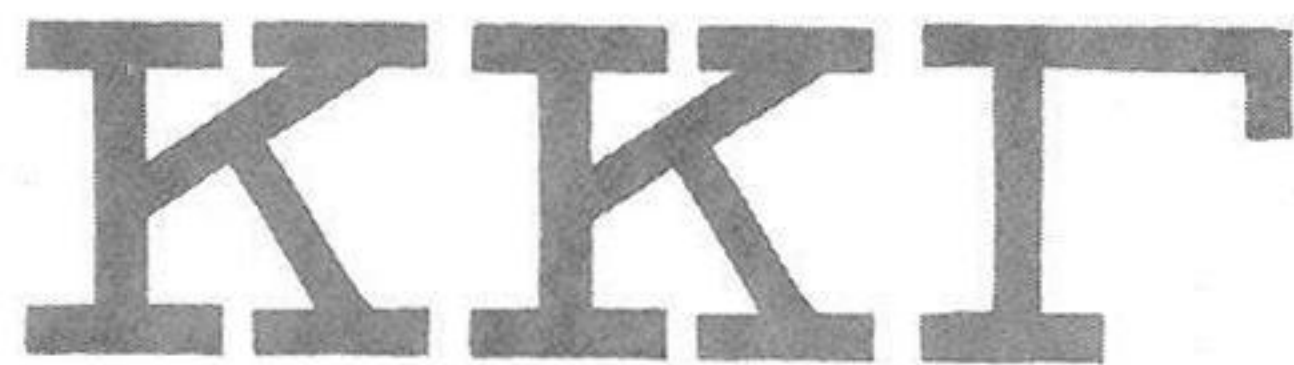

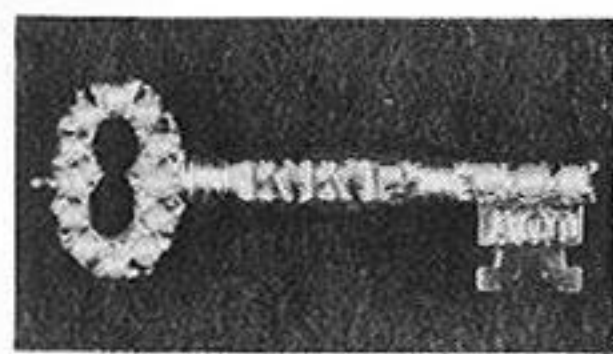

"Angels in Disguise" was the theme for the pledge dance.

Kappas joined the Phi Dels at Christmas for caroling and the Psi U's for a Christmas party given for youth center children.

Fun, achievements, and lasting friendships are the memories that have bound the girls of the blue and blue together in 1959-60.

Phi Mu

Firesides, exchanges, dances and after-game parties kept the Phi Mu house full to the brim with excitement and fellows during the school year. The first dance was given by the actives honoring their new pledge class. It was held November 14 and a good time was had by all. The Carnation Ball, held in February, is the traditional formal dinner dance given by all Phi Mu chapters in the United States. The last dance of the year was sponsored by the pledges in honor of the actives with the theme being kept a secret until the last minute.

The pledge class proved to be outstanding as the year progressed. All members enthusiastically supported Homecoming, worked hard and had a lot of fun in making Phi Mu's sign a success. The pledges lent a hand, and many cigarette boxes resulted in the Phi Mu's winning the Stero Contest two years in a row. Beauty contests were also conquered by Phi Mu pledges when Marilyn Nordenberg was selected Princess in the Miss Mistletoe contest. Besides planning their house activities, Phi Mu's were active in Rally Girls, Corvettes, Fashion Board, Tyee, ASUW Elections Committee, Scholarship Banquet, Junior Panhellenic, Board of Control and religious organizations.

Phi Sigma Sigma

A tune from a current Broadway musical remarks, "Everything's Coming Up Roses," and it characterizes the wonderful year we had at Phi Sigma Sigma. During rush we were visited by our national traveling secretary. As the sisters welcomed in a rosy-faced, bright-eyed pledge class, we foresaw a "rosy future." Some weeks after the pledges had taken their sneak, the actives "sneaked" them away to a pajama-clad kidnap breakfast. The year continued to blossom as we cheered the Huskies to Rose Bowl victory and filled our calendar with studies and activities. We had a "laugh-and-a-half" at our fall costume dance. We'll never forget our pledge formal and spring dance, either. Our honors and activities ranged from Arena Secretary to ZBT Sweetheart and included members of Sigma Epsilon Sigma, Senior Women's Honorary, and many others.

Working together on Homecoming, Parents' Week-End, and our philanthropic projects brought us close in loyalty and understanding. Founders' Day and Inspiration Week taught us much about sisterhood. And as we rose through the year to new levels of social and intellectual maturity, our dear sphinxhead seemed to shine with a "Phi Sig" smile and wink a wise blue eye.

Pi Beta Phi

Comfortably settled among other campus living groups is the Pi Phi house, which many people say resembles a Southern mansion with its four white pillars. In this gracious brick building live the girls who wear the arrow and the chain.

Every member has shown unlimited enthusiasm this year to keep the house among the top, scholastically and in the field of activities. Pi Beta Phi's varied interests are shown in the many campus positions they hold: class officers, BOC member-at-large, and members in Mortar Board, Totem Club, W-Key, Rally, Fashion Board, Silver Fish, Frosh Songleaders, Glee Club and departmental honoraries.

One of the proudest moments for Pi Phi's was the choice of Sharon Vaughn as Miss Washington and her subsequent success as 2nd runner up in the Miss America Pageant. Excitement was also high when the May Day Queen and Dream Girl of Pi Kappa Alpha were chosen from our membership.

And whenever there was leftover time, the Pi Phi's found themselves in a whirl of house activities including the pledge cruise around Mercer Island after rush, three dances, Founders' Day Banquet, Homecoming sign work, a Mothers' Club tea and the visit from a national officer. In the final analysis, this has been a year to remember for the girls known as the Pi Phi's.

Sigma Kappa

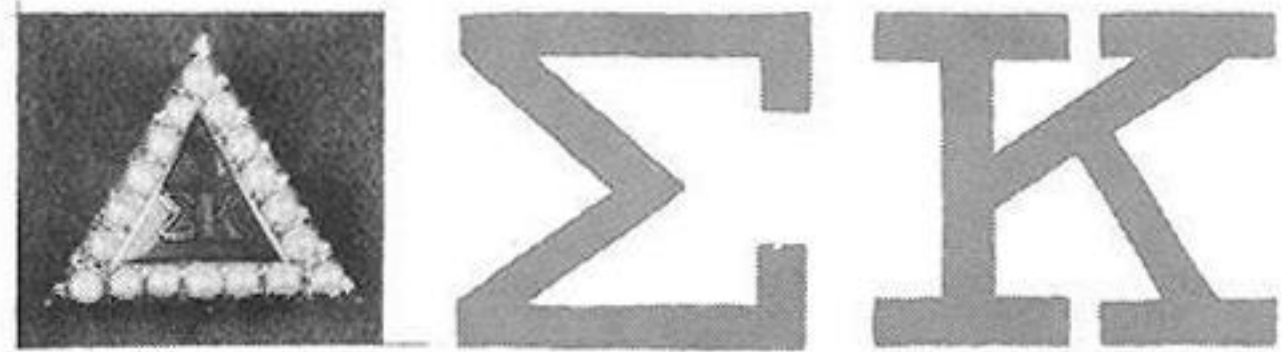

The Sigma Kappas started fall quarter by adding thirty new friendly smiles and introducing these new pledges to the hustle and bustle of Homecoming, classes, exchanges, serenades, and of course "coffee at Commons."

Although days are drab during winter quarter, our spirits were brightened by the many honors brought to us by our participation as members and officers in Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Nu, Phi Lambda Theta, Theta Sigma Phi, Sigma Epsilon Sigma, Mortar Board, Totem Club, W-Key, Rally, Silver Fish, and many others.

Through the year the Sigma K's have enjoyed such highlights as the pledge dance, Founder's Day, Christmas Party, "Projects for Old Folks," campaigns, Inspiration Week, Winter Formal at the Olympic Hotel, Songfest, and Senior Breakfast. All in all we had a wonderful year—a time of work and play with friendship and sisterly love which will long be remembered.

Zetas began another wonderful year with the pledging of a group of lively, enthusiastic girls. We got caught up in the whirl of classes and activities and soon were working on our homecoming sign. The pledges led us a merry chase when they pulled their successful sneak. Our pledge informal, "Underwater Fantasy," was a great success, and the rest of the quarter was filled with exchanges and serenades. We ended fall quarter with our Christmas party, and caroling at a home for the aged.

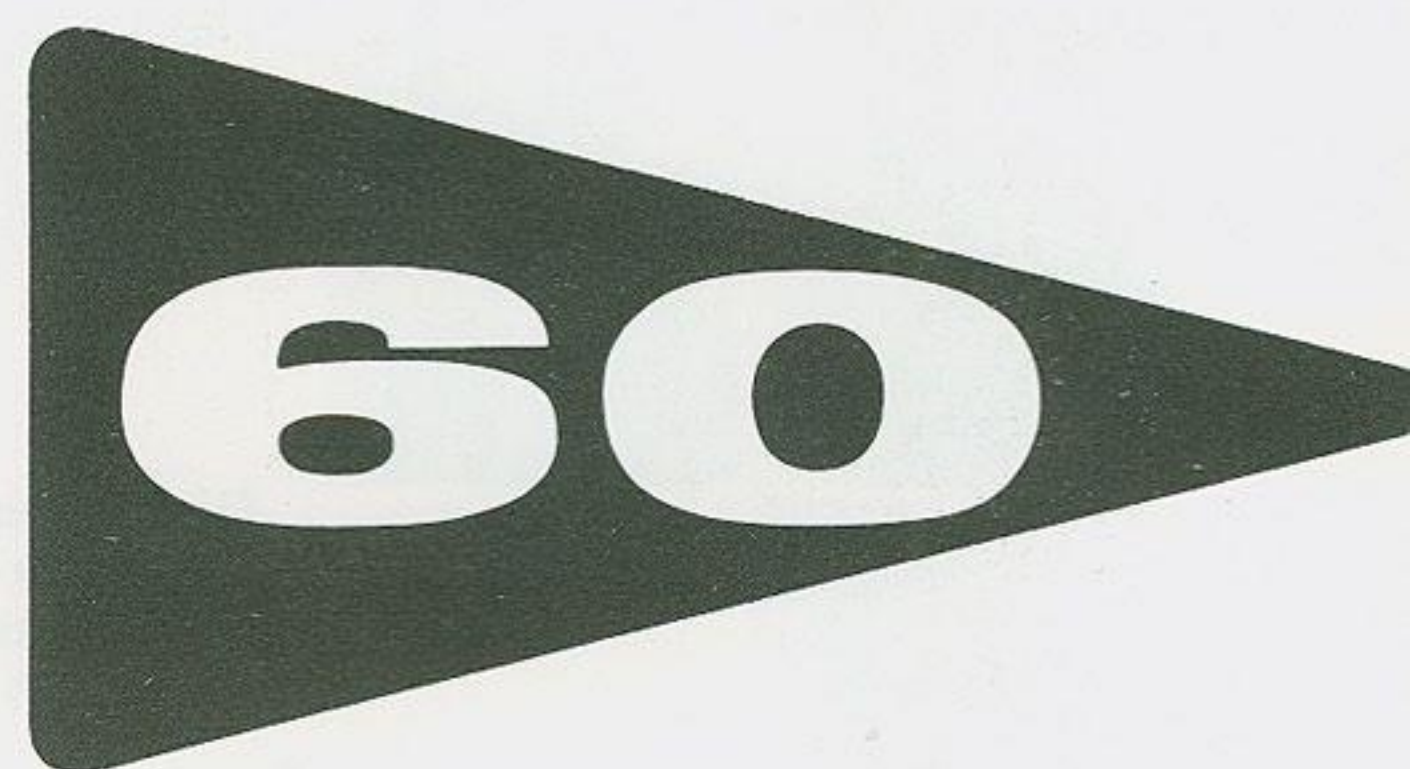

Our winter formal, the White Violet Ball, was a highlight of our winter social activities. Everyone had a good time when the pledges served the actives breakfast in bed one Saturday morning. Another special event was the Father-Daughter Banquet.

Spring quarter, too, was fun and exciting. One evening the seniors surprised us with their sneak. The pledge class presented our spring dance, "Out Behind the Barn." We honored outstanding members at our annual awards banquet. We also found time for a cruise through the San Juan Islands.

We were active in AWS, ASUW, and YWCA committees and boasted members in Angel Wing, Silver Fish, W-Key, and Totem Club.

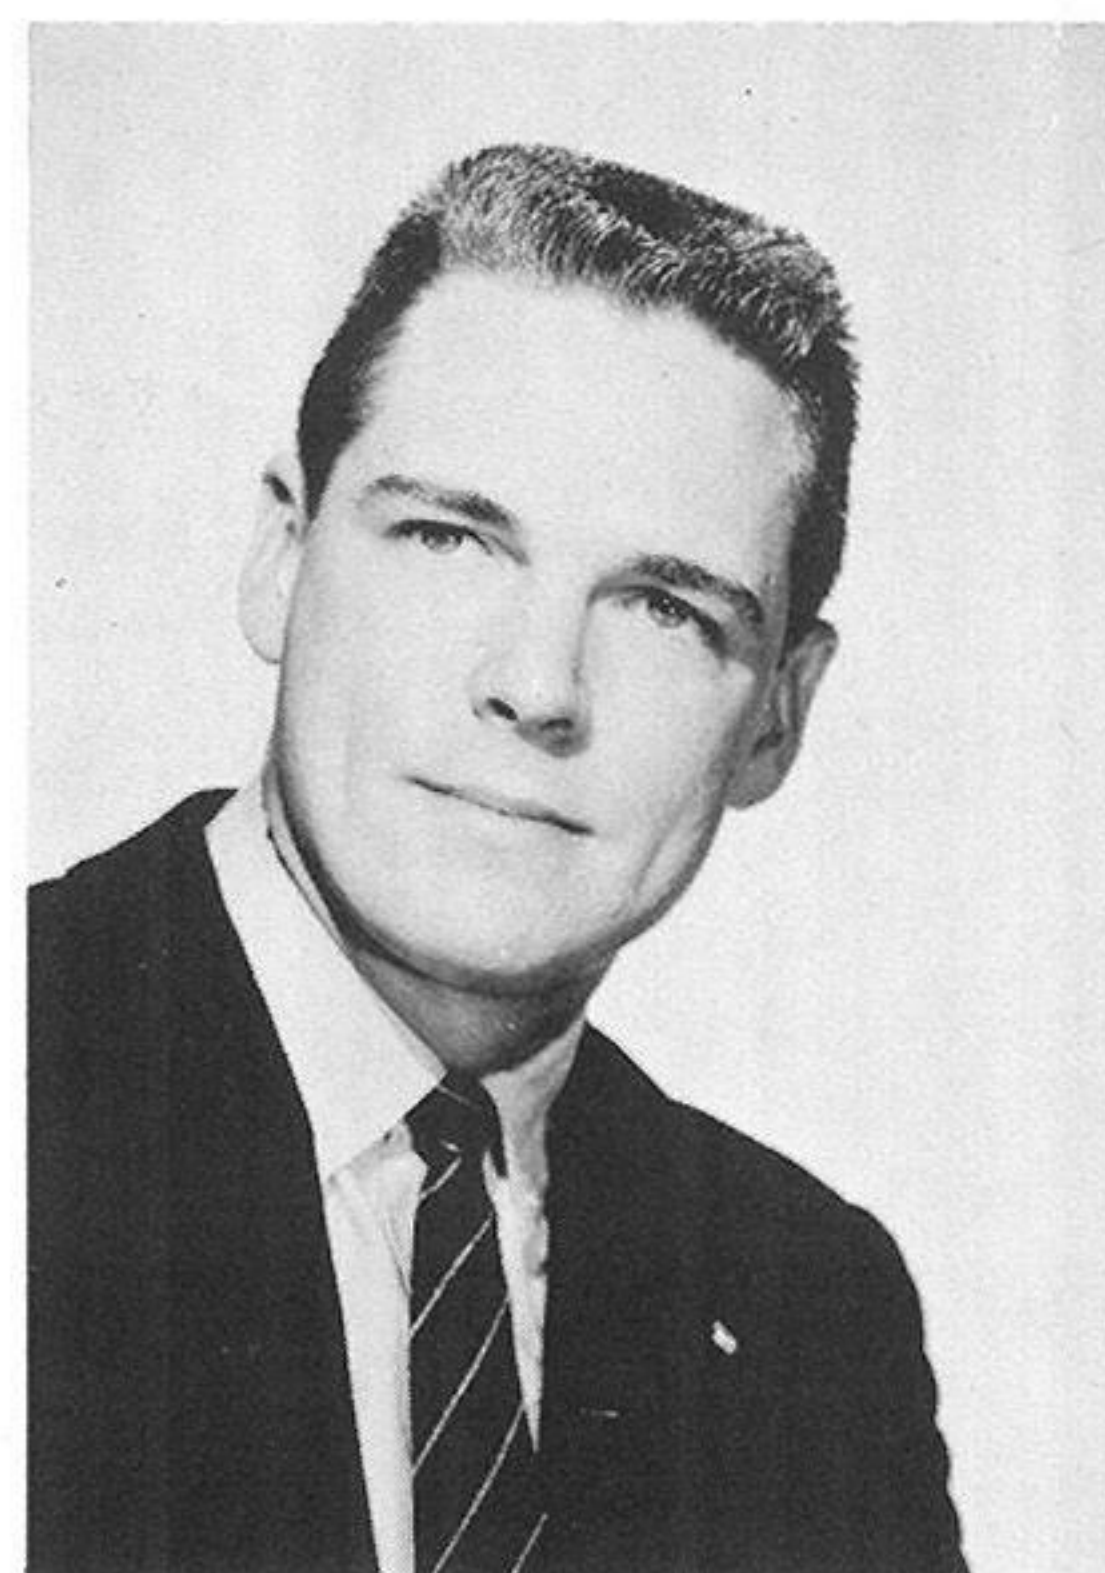

Zeta Tau Alpha officers for this year are Kit Himes, Carol Lynn Gibson, Bobbi Franks, Martha Lamson, Karen Elder and Liane Peterson.

The Interfraternity Council is composed of the presidents of the 38 fraternities on the campus and the officers elected by the presidents. It acts as an administrative body for the fraternities in matters of joint action, represents the fraternities in student government and strives to promote higher fraternity ideals—scholarship in particular.

The IFC has the power to discipline fraternities and individuals violating the codes set by the house presidents. The IFC has an important scholarship committee which carries out numerous worthwhile projects and administers Help Week, when all fraternities engage in charity work for many institutions throughout the city. Promoting standards of conduct in the fraternities and their living areas, along with organizing and directing both formal and informal rushing, is part of IFC's duties.

Wide participation in activities, athletics and other phases of campus life is encouraged by the IFC. It also seeks to educate fraternity men for citizenship, social competence and successful human relations.

Composed of members representing the first year men of each fraternity on campus, Junior Inter-Fraternity Council aids the Inter-Fraternity Council in its efforts to prepare new fraternity men for service to the University of Washington. This year's projects included a JIFC-sponsored "All-Campus Grub Week" and Christmas trees for children's institutions. Other projects included the "Marching Mothers' Drive" for polio, World University Service and City of Hope.

Tau Phi Delta

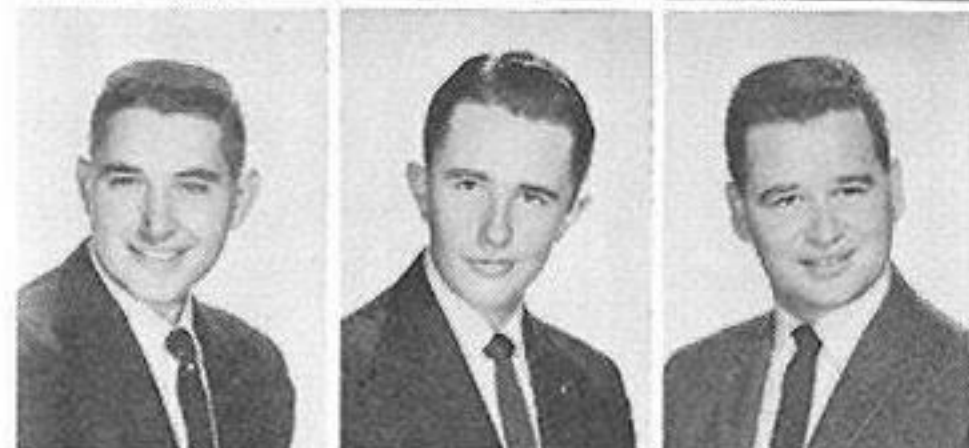

Brotherhood among both graduate and undergraduate foresters is the goal of Tau Phi Delta, the national professional-social forestry fraternity. Our alumni are among the most important men in both public and private forestry. On campus, activities in the College of Forestry and the Forest Club occupy much of the time of our members, many of whom are leaders in both organizations.

This year's pledge class impressed all active members of the chapter with their enthusiasm and devotion to the ideals of Tau Phi Delta. The activities of the year showed the influence of this enthusiasm by their great success. Tau Phi's were at the top of the Smith Tower for our Homecoming dinner dance, the big social event of fall quarter. A pledge dance built around a Valentine's Day theme highlighted the rainy winter months, while sunny spring brought our annual picnic and the traditional Logger's Breakfast. Forest Club activities, exchanges and house parties helped to complement these major activities of the year.

The "Men of Acacia" again bid fond adieu to a year of fun, frolic and felicity. This year has proved to be one of growth and accomplishment in all our endeavors, with a fine pledge class culminating our efforts.

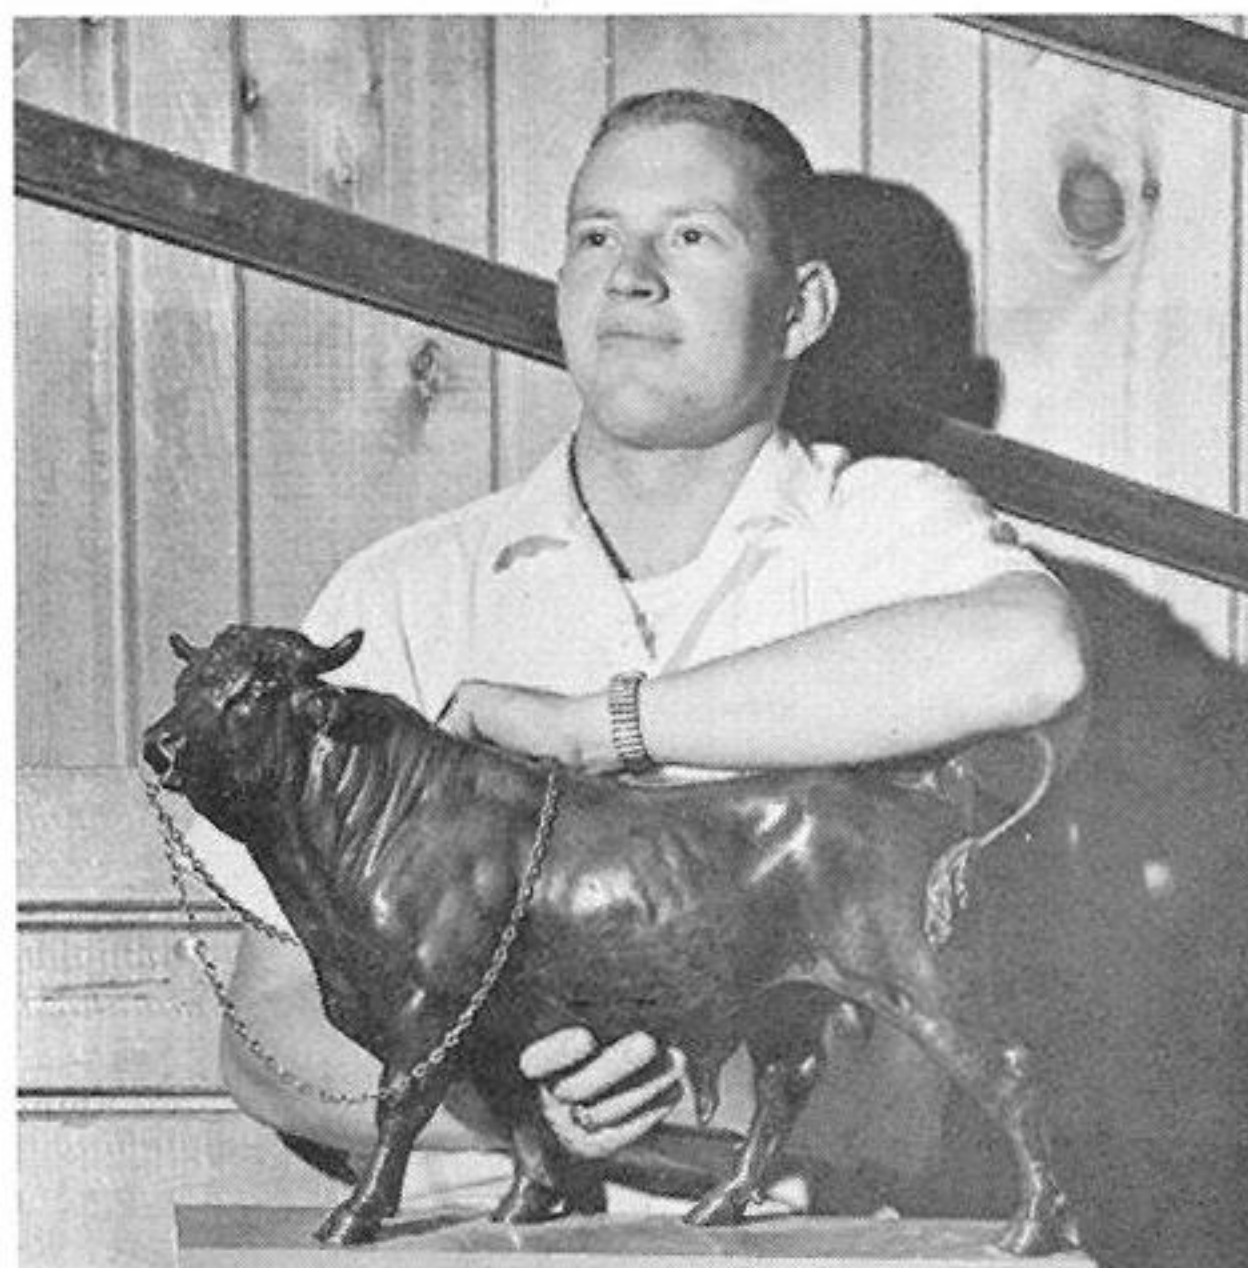

Fundamentally, Acacia's foundations are built upon the precepts of the oldest fraternity of men, Masonry. We share in this rich heritage, although we are no longer directly affiliated with the masonic society.

In celebration of our 50th year on campus, a banquet was held in the Spanish Ballroom of the Olympic Hotel. In attendance were two outstanding alumni of Acacia, Dr. Lawrence Snyder, president of the University of Hawaii, and Dr. Ernest Patty, president of the University of Alaska.

Highlighting our active social program were our "Nite on the Nile" costume dance, spring formal, hobo dance, swim party, Hawaiian dance, pledge dance and numerous exchanges and firesides.

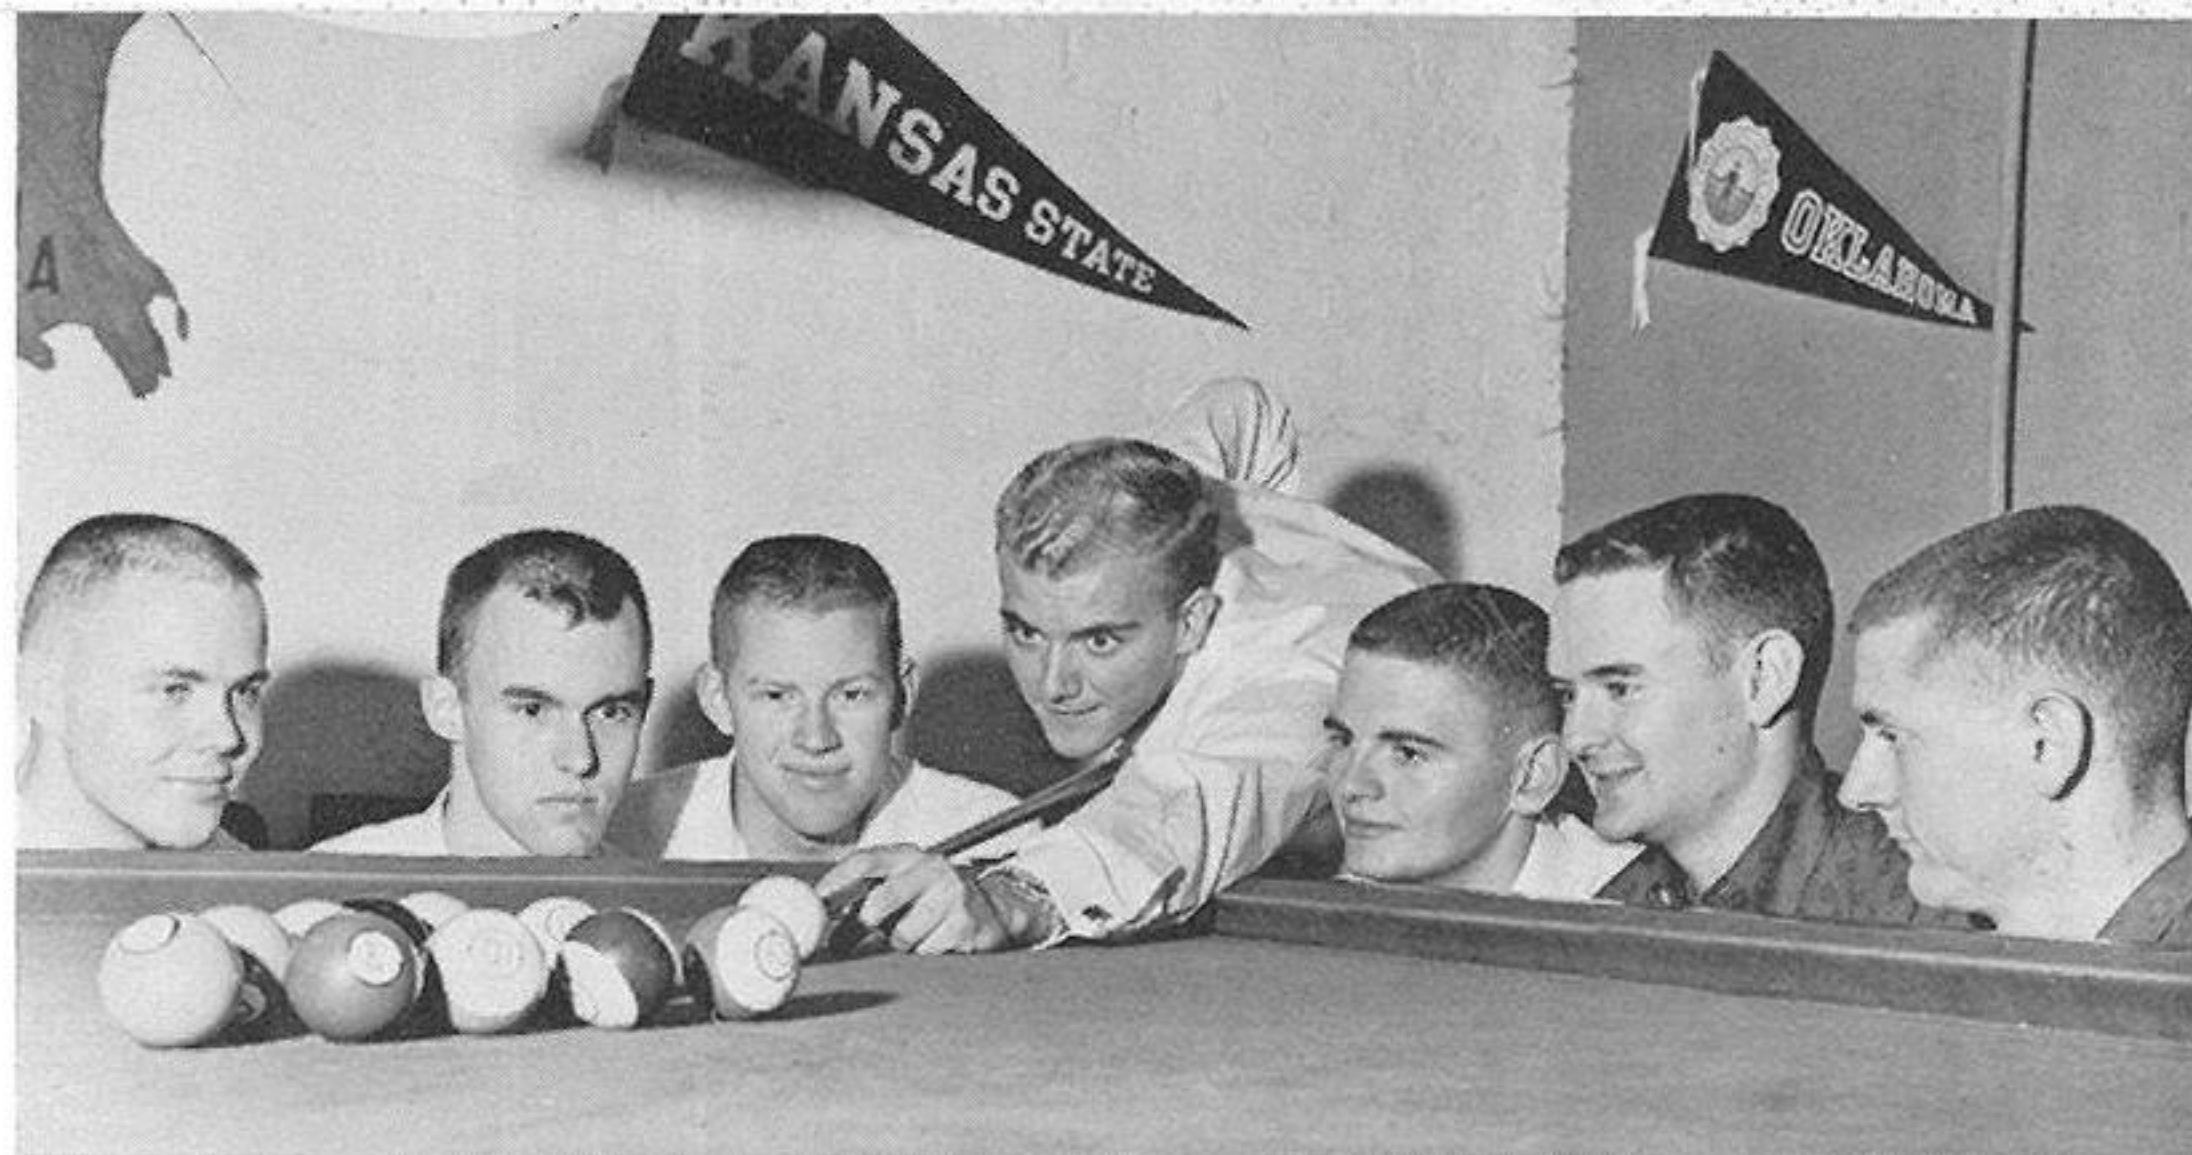

Active participation in campus sports led us to good standing in intramural football, basketball, bowling and badminton. We were busy in HUB activities, honoraries, IFC and YMCA.

Alpha Delta Phi

As the year 1959-60 comes to an end, the Alpha Delts of the Washington chapter have completed another successful year in University activities. The social program of Alpha Delta Phi began with the pledge dance in November and ended with the annual house party. Between these two events, the Alpha Delts had the traditional exchange with the British Columbia chapter, the mid-winter formal, firesides and exchanges.

Alpha Delts were well represented on campus again this year. Jon Bleha was Bermuda Day King and Bill Karr was AMS vice president, and Alpha Delts also held numerous HUB chairmanships. Jerry Strand served as vice president of the Northwest Region of the National Students Association.

Alpha Delts were again found in Purple Shield and other scholastic and activities honoraries.

The Alpha Delts were proud of this year's fine representation in athletics, with letter winners in most major sports. They were particularly proud of starting center Roy McKasson and All-American Bob Schloredt of the football team. In addition, many freshman won their frosh numerals.

Again this year, Alpha Delta Phi lived up to its motto: "Manus Multae Cor Unum"—Many hands, One Heart.

Scholarship was given major emphasis during the past year. Last year AKL placed second scholastically among all social fraternities on campus. This is a record we are all proud of and will do our best to maintain in the future.

Fall quarter was highlighted by our annual pledge dance, "Confusion." Winter quarter featured a Hawaiian party, while spring quarter was climaxed with a spring formal. Exchanges, firesides and water skiing parties added variety to our social calendar.

Intramural sports were very popular throughout the school year, with active participation in a majority of events. Basketball and bowling were especially successful. Our pledge class, one of the largest in Theta chapter history, was important in developing a team spirit during our intramural participation.

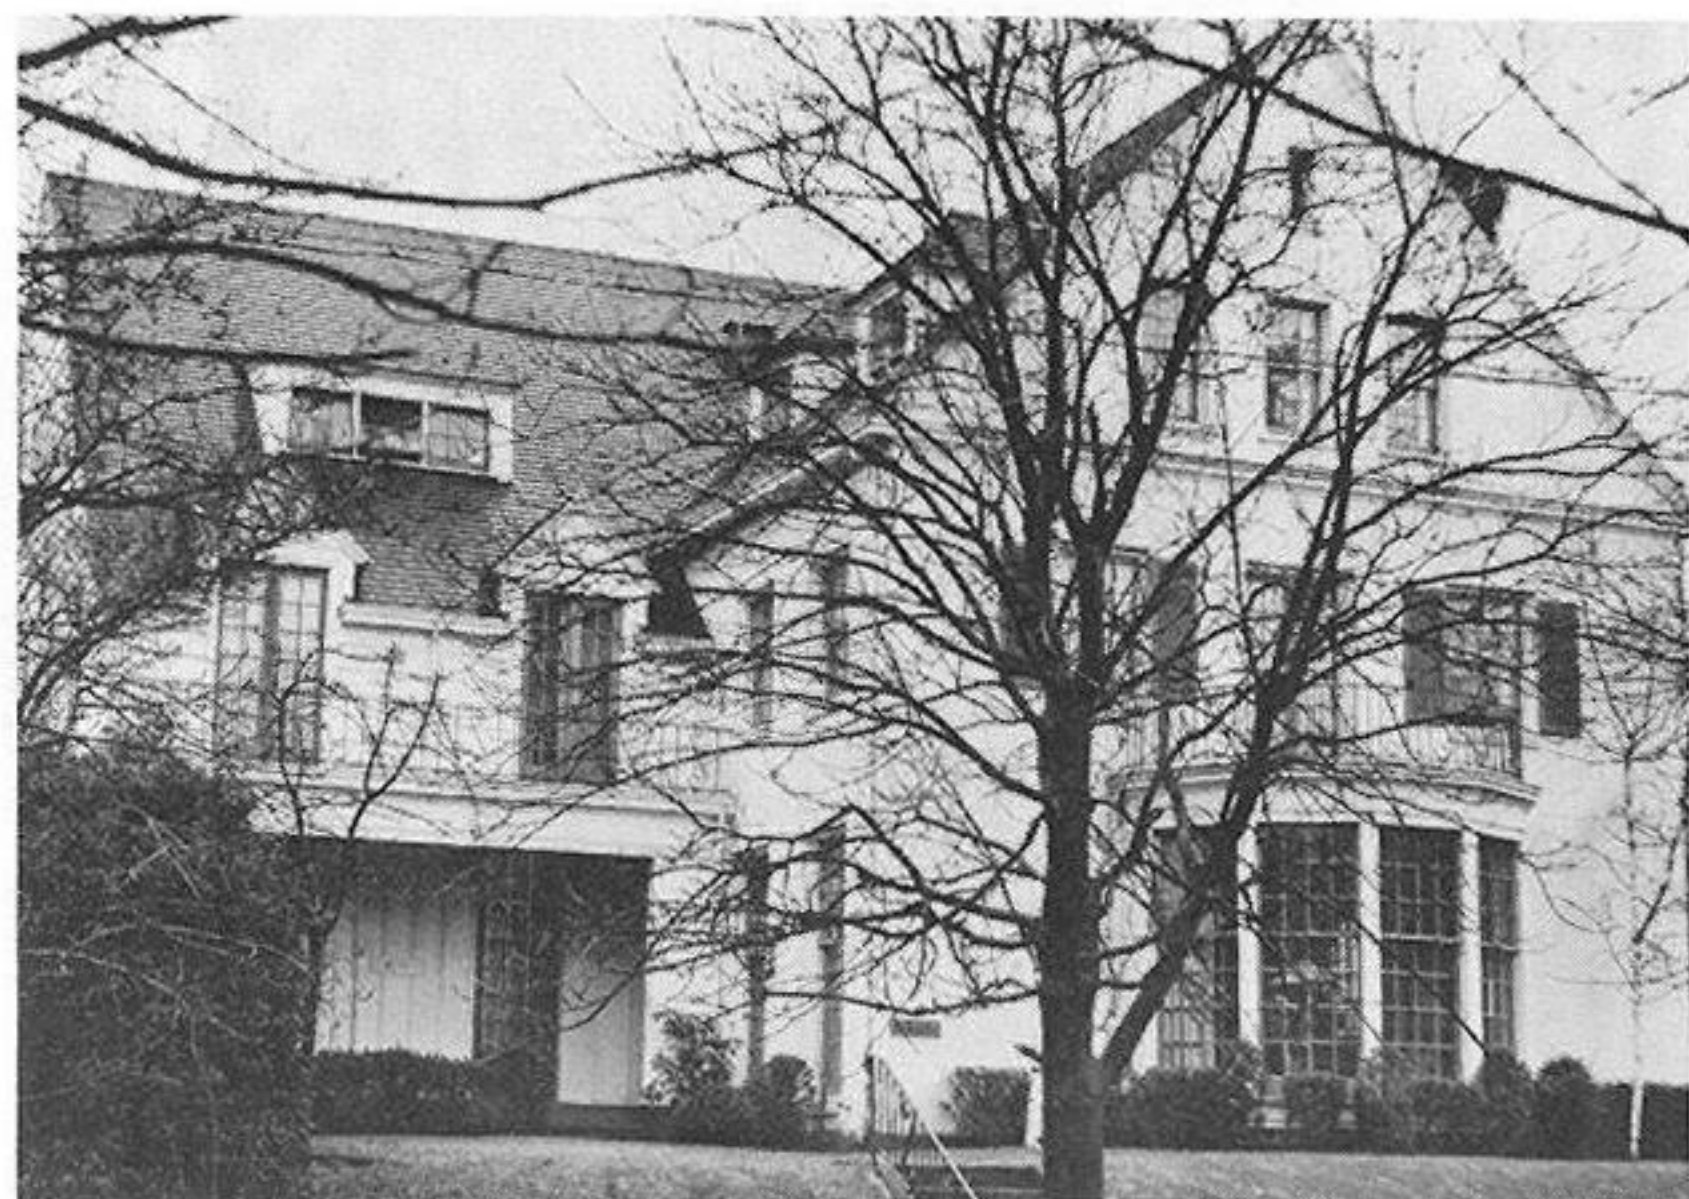

Theta of AKL is growing rapidly, and in doing so is striving for greater achievements each succeeding year.

The 59-60 year was a period of great strides forward for Phi Kappa Tau.

A successful rush program that gained us national radio and newspaper publicity brought us a lively pledge class bursting with enthusiasm. On a foundation of spirit of loyalty and brotherhood — stands Phi Kappa Tau, builder of men.

Phi Taus participated in all activities—scholastic, social, and athletic. Scholastically you'll find Phi Taus in nearly every school on campus from Medical to Engineering. Socially, hardly a week went by without a function. The main functions were exchanges, house parties, the Pledge Dance and the annual Carnation Ball this spring. Athletically, you'll find Phi Taus in Track and Crew as well as house participation in the intramural program. In the past the chapter has tended toward that famous slogan—"Once a bridesmaid but never a bride"—but WATCH OUT! There's going to be a great wedding—a wedding of Phi Tau and Fame—Fame as to achieving a goal—that goal being the most active house in Greek Row!

Alpha Sigs, anxious to show their devotion to the high moral and ethical standards set up by their University, began the year by voting unanimously to affiliate with the local chapter of the WCTU.

The Alpha Sigs showed their patriotism and national awareness by submitting a lengthy theme on "Why Basic ROTC should be extended to four years." Due to a furnace explosion in January, enthusiastic members in ROTC were able to simulate Arctic combat conditions.

Members in BOC, AMS Board, Oval Club, IFC and Sundodgers were criticized for failure to pass a bill abolishing eight o'clocks. Our varsity crew and track men and our frosh football players had the WCTU seal of approval for their fine training methods, as did our numerous conservative social functions.

An invasion of neophyte "hairy-chested men" once again filled the halls of the Tau Temple as the school year began. Regardless of mental torture, house work, and other physical stresses, the ATO pledges soon found themselves going the way of all brothers. They participated in HUB activities and Husky sports, enjoyed social life, displayed scholastic endeavor, joined in traditions—factors which make Gamma Pi the well-rounded chapter it is.

The social calendar began with the Pledge Dance last fall and was filled with a variety of dances and parties leading up to the big annual House Party in the spring.

Studies were not left out of the picture by any means. The Taus were well above the All Men's Average for the year.

Well represented in Husky sports, ATOs played volleyball, baseball, rowed on crew, swam, skied, wrestled, played tennis, and participated in all phases of the intramural program. A highlight in sports was the ski jumping feats of Torbjorn Yggeseth in the Winter Olympic Games at Squaw Valley.

We were also found in Purple Shield, Sundodgers, Oval Club and various scholastic and service honoraries.

From a successful rush week right through to the last final exam, Beta Omega enjoyed a terrific year. Scholarship—the highest aim of the fraternity—improved greatly this year, and Betas were represented in numerous activities, honoraries and sports. Betas were found as IFC president, JIFC president, freshman class president, as ASUW, IFC and AMS committee chairmen, in the Glee Club, Model UN, Sundodgers, Big "W" Club, on the Rally squad, DAILY staff, in Purple Shield, Oval Club and in many professional and military honoraries.

The Big Stick was returned to Beta Theta Pi this year—for the ninth time in fifteen years. Five Betas played in the Rose Bowl, and Betas won letters in every major sport except tennis.

Beta Omega was host this year to all Beta chapters in the Pacific Northwest when they sponsored the annual Songfest and Conclave.

The Betas had a great time at the Smith Tower Party, Pajama Dance, Winter Formal, Miami Triad, House Party and other dances, parties and exchanges.

Delta Chi

The Washington Chapter of Delta Chi had another great year in 1959-1960. First off was rush and 32 new pledges. With the spirit still running high, the chapter headed into Founders' Day, Homecoming and our Village Band, which was good for a trophy.

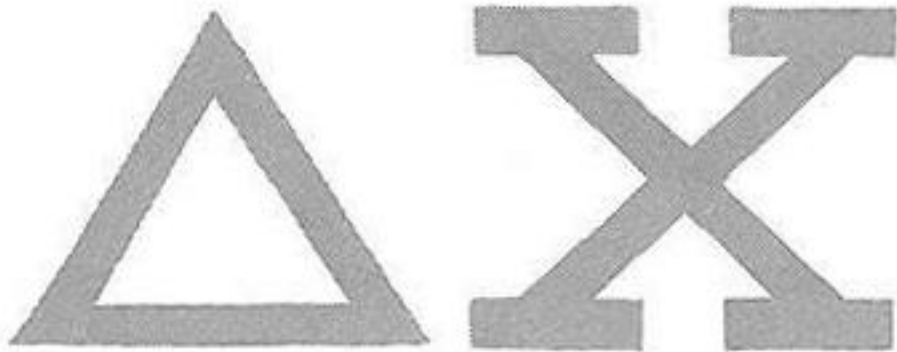

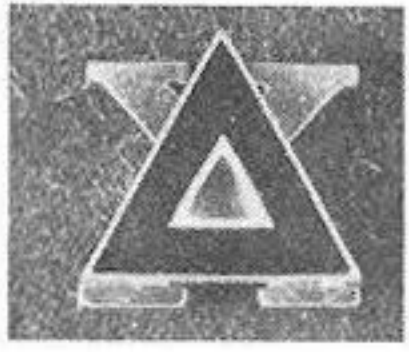

Socially, the chapter was at its best with the Winter Formal, Pledge Dance, Spring House Party and our own unique Delta She. But college life is not all fun, and the Delta Chis noted this by ranking with the top scholastic houses on campus. Delta Chi was again well represented in intramurals, and entered nearly every sport offered.

With the coming of school the men of Delta Chi saw the completion of the long-talked-about swimming pool in the back yard, which gave many hours of enjoyment to all the house members.

During the year Delta Chi was well represented in all parts of campus and fraternity life—sorority life, too. But even though represented on campus as the Delta Chis have been, the fraternity would be lost without brotherhood within the house, and here, in the past year as well as in the preceding fifty years, Delta Chi showed its greatest virtue.

Delta Kappa Epsilon

For the fifty-second year at the University of Washington the Dekes can look back on another full year of scholastic, athletic and social activities. We started the year by pledging 39 top young men, who, along with the active chapter, have helped to keep the Deke grade-point average above the all men's and all-fraternity average.

We had men in Purple Shield, Oval Club, Beta Alpha Psi, Phi Beta Kappa, Sundodgers and Big "W" Club. The treasurer of IFC was also a Deke. For the second time in as many years, a Deke was president of the frosh class in dental school. Also this year the Dekes added the office of chairman of elections to their long list of activities. Several Dekes won their varsity letters, and we made a strong showing in virtually all the intramurals.

The past year has been another highly successful one socially for the Dekes. The year was started out with our annual informal. Next came the pledge dance, Eternal Triad, house party and formal. Exchanges and the much copied original "Deke Dollar Parties" rounded out the year.

The Delts of Gamma Mu Chapter rushed headlong into the last school year of the decade. The brothers were well rewarded for their efforts during Rush Week by gaining a top pledge class of 38 ambitious young men.

The opening social event was the pledge dance, which was followed by the barn dance, spring formal and house party. Intermingled with these house functions were numerous exchanges, firesides and serenades. Again this year the Delts joined the Thetas in producing beautiful music for the Songfest.

Activitywise, the Delts have an enviable record. Brothers participated in Oval Club, Purple Shield, Scabbard and Blade and Sundodgers, besides holding many other club and committee positions. Delts were in varsity baseball, crew, track, and were hard to beat in intramural athletics.

With prospects of a new shelter in sight, Gamma Mu ended the year with fond memories and high hopes for the future.

"A DU in everything; every DU in something," our motto here at the University of Washington for the last fifty years, is as true today as it was a half-century ago. Two HUB offices, that of ASUW president and board of control member, were filled by brothers. In other parts of the HUB we found members active in Fir Tree, Oval Club, Purple Shield and Sundodgers.

Many brothers earned their Big "W" in varsity athletics, while others competed in frosh and intramural sports. DUs also were officers in Letterman's Club, Varsity Boat Club and Swim Club.

Hundreds watched as the "Troy Laundry" cleaned up USC and a first place in the homecoming sign contest. Teaming up with the Thetas, we Spike Jonesed our way to a first place in Village Band.

The social season was brought to a climax when DU dates moved in and took over the house for the annual "Big Weekend." Other social events included the House Party, Brawl, Pajama Dance, Pledge Dance and a 6-6 football game with the Gamma Phis.

Kappa Sigma began the year with its own traditional meeting—a smokefilled room, a case or two of beer, some good gags, and later on, serious talk about the coming months, lasting into the wee hours of the morning.

To start with, we had our new housemother, Mrs. Bertels, we were 60,000 dollars closer to a new wing, and we had a renovated pledge training program stressing positive, intelligent action and no paddle.

From this meeting, and with this foundation, there evolved, not the rah-rah and gung ho spirit of the past, but a purposeful way of life unique in fraternal living. Spirit unexcelled, higher-than-ever grade point, sharp functions, and participation in IFC, ASUW, AMS, Purple Shield, Sundodgers, football, baseball, crew, wrestling and track—it was a good year.

What more is there to say?

This is Kappa Sigma.

Lambda Chis do things together.

The year 1959-60, marking the Fiftieth Anniversary of Lambda Chi Alpha, was another successful one for Alpha Psi Zeta. Lambda Chis were active in every phase of campus life.

The tradition of working together showed itself as the Lambda Chis captured a Village Band trophy; entered every intramural sport, winning several league titles; and scored a great success with the Lambda Chi Rose Bowl bus.

On the social front the Lambda Chi pledge dance, pajama dance, prison dance and Crescent Ball topped a list of numerous exchanges and other social events.

Scholarship and Brotherhood go hand-in-hand at Lambda Chi. By helping each other we helped ourselves to a great improvement in scholarship.

On campus, Lambda Chis led the way in activities, honoraries, IFC, publications and many other fields.

All these things, plus the unique Brotherhood of Lambda Chi Alpha, make it more than a name or an organization, but a way of life.

The Phi Delts of Washington Alpha can once again look back upon the college year with a feeling of accomplishment. Our fine study program placed us among the top four fraternities and above the all men's average.

Brother Phis served as presidents of AMS, IFC, Sundodgers, Big "W", Young Republicans and the sophomore class. Phi Delta Theta also provided chairmen for the important Homecoming, Engineering Open House, Model UN and Hub Operating committees, as well as officers and members of Oval Club, Purple Shield and other activity and scholastic honoraries.

Athletically, Phis were well represented in both freshmen and varsity sports. Our enthusiastic intramural program again helped to build the well-known Phi Delt "spirit" and to provide us with numerous trophies.

Socially, the year was great. The Pajama Dance, Miami Triad, French Prom and Weekend House Party were found between the winter formal and the annual Rock 'n Roll Dance in our versatile social program. Although the year has been one of many diverse activities, spirit and hard work have made it unified.

Fijis gather around to admire a prized trophy, the Cheney Cup, awarded to them as the outstanding Phi Gamma Delta chapter in the nation. Pictured are Joel Krause, Dick Reiten, Mike Jeffers, Ron Crockett and Jim Williams.

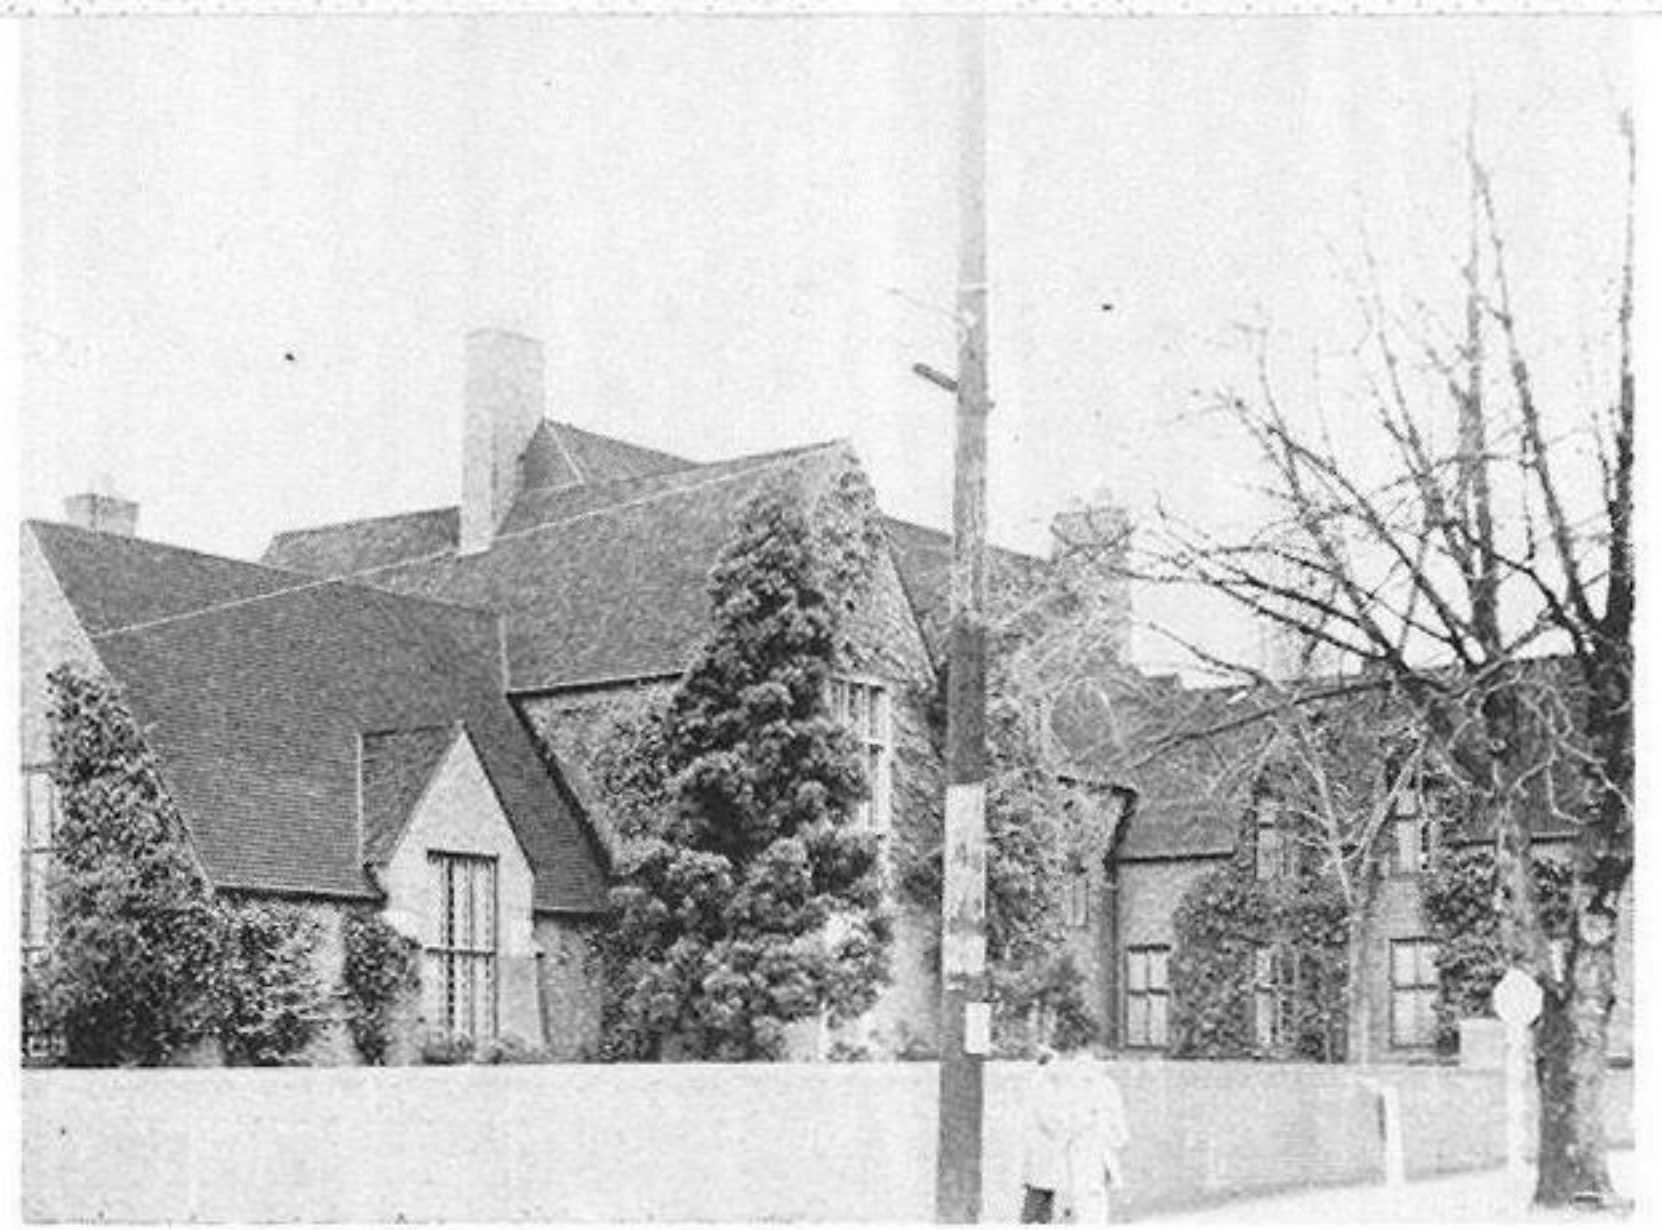

This year was an outstanding one for the men of Phi Gamma Delta. In scholarship, Fijis ranked fifth on campus, with an accumulative grade point of 2.55. Two seniors, Larry Mounger and Gary Pence, were Phi Beta Kappas.

Spring sports found Larry Mounger and Harry Doyle as number one and two men on the tennis team. Larry was captain and all northern division singles champion. Washington's northern division baseball champions were captained by Fiji Jerry Thornton, and others playing included Bob Wyman, Pete Hanson, Dick Reiten and Don Rhodes. This fall six Fijis, Barry Bullard, Tim Bullard, John Meyers, Gary Dasso, Kermit Jorgensen and John Wilson, traveled to the Rose Bowl on the Husky team, while Pat Kelly served as manager for the team. Varsity basketballers included John Meyers and Dick Reiten. Fijis also were active in intramural sports. This year the intramural football and horseshoes trophies resided at the Fiji house.

Socially, the Fijis had numerous dances and firesides, and their Pledge Dance, Formal and Grass Skirt progs highlighted each quarter. John Paine, Bob Flick, Dick Foley and Mike Kirkland formed a singing group which they called the "Brothers Four." This group recorded several records with Columbia, and had engagements at various nightclubs in Seattle, Las Vegas and New York City.

This year Washington Alpha of Phi Kappa Psi has a justified right to be proud of the goals it has achieved. We started the year with another outstanding pledge class. Participation in student activities included members of Pi Omicron Sigma, Sundodgers, Purple Shield, and chairmen for Varsity Ball, HUB dances and Parents' Weekend.

Our social program included the pledge dance, "Moulin Rouge," spring formal and the Hawaiian party, plus numerous exchanges and firesides. However, we have not forgotten to stress scholarship and rose to new heights in keeping with the rising standards.

Even with our share of activities, scholarship, athletics and social functions, we have still maintained the goal of fraternity life — brotherhood.

Another year has evolved, allowing the Phi Kaps to look back upon their fruitful experience, including scholastic, athletic and social endeavors. This was brought about by a spirit of close cooperation in doing all things together, coupled with a wide variation of personalities and interests.

Socially the Phi Kaps had a very enlightening and fun-filled year. A few of the various events included the pledge, winter formal and spring informal dances. The annual spring house party at Harrison Hot Springs, along with the usual sprinkling of dollar parties, firesides and exchanges, rounded out our social calendar.

Again the Phi Kaps upheld their tradition as a "crew house" by boasting numerous frosh and varsity letter winners. Not resting on crew laurels, we actively and successfully competed in almost every other varsity and intramural sport. Athletic prowess was not overshadowed by our contributions in the many campus offices and committees.

This feeling of working together in all things, coupled with a spirit that just won't quit, makes Phi Kappa Sigma the great house that it is.

Where were we this year? In apartments stealing milk off front porches and eating out of bottles.

Why, you ask? Had a beautiful chance to sell the chapter house. No, we didn't pocket the money! We needed good capital to start our new house and we got it.

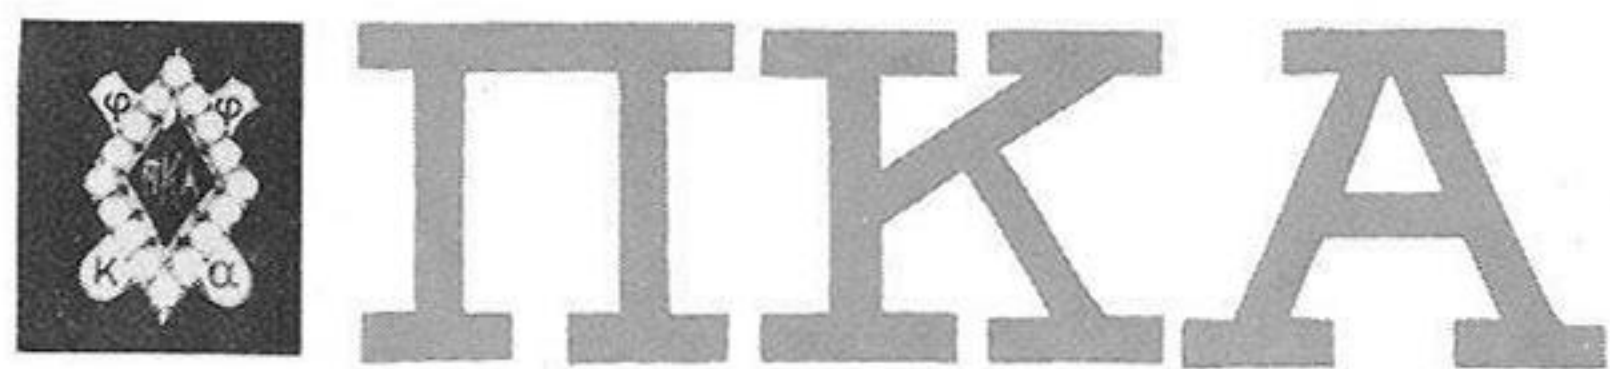

How long will we be gone? See you next year with an ultra modern house and the room we've always needed to build up the large, but high quality membership we want.

The first main objective of our fraternity is to build brotherhood. Entering into this brotherhood is our social life. We hope being together at parties and house activities brings us much closer together and makes for a lasting brotherhood.

The second main objective of Phi Sigma Kappa is to build scholarship. This year we have been high on the scholastic list of fraternities and well above the all men's average. We operate under the principle that men come to college to study. Hence we have an honor system that is well tried and really seems to do the trick in keeping pledges' grade averages up.

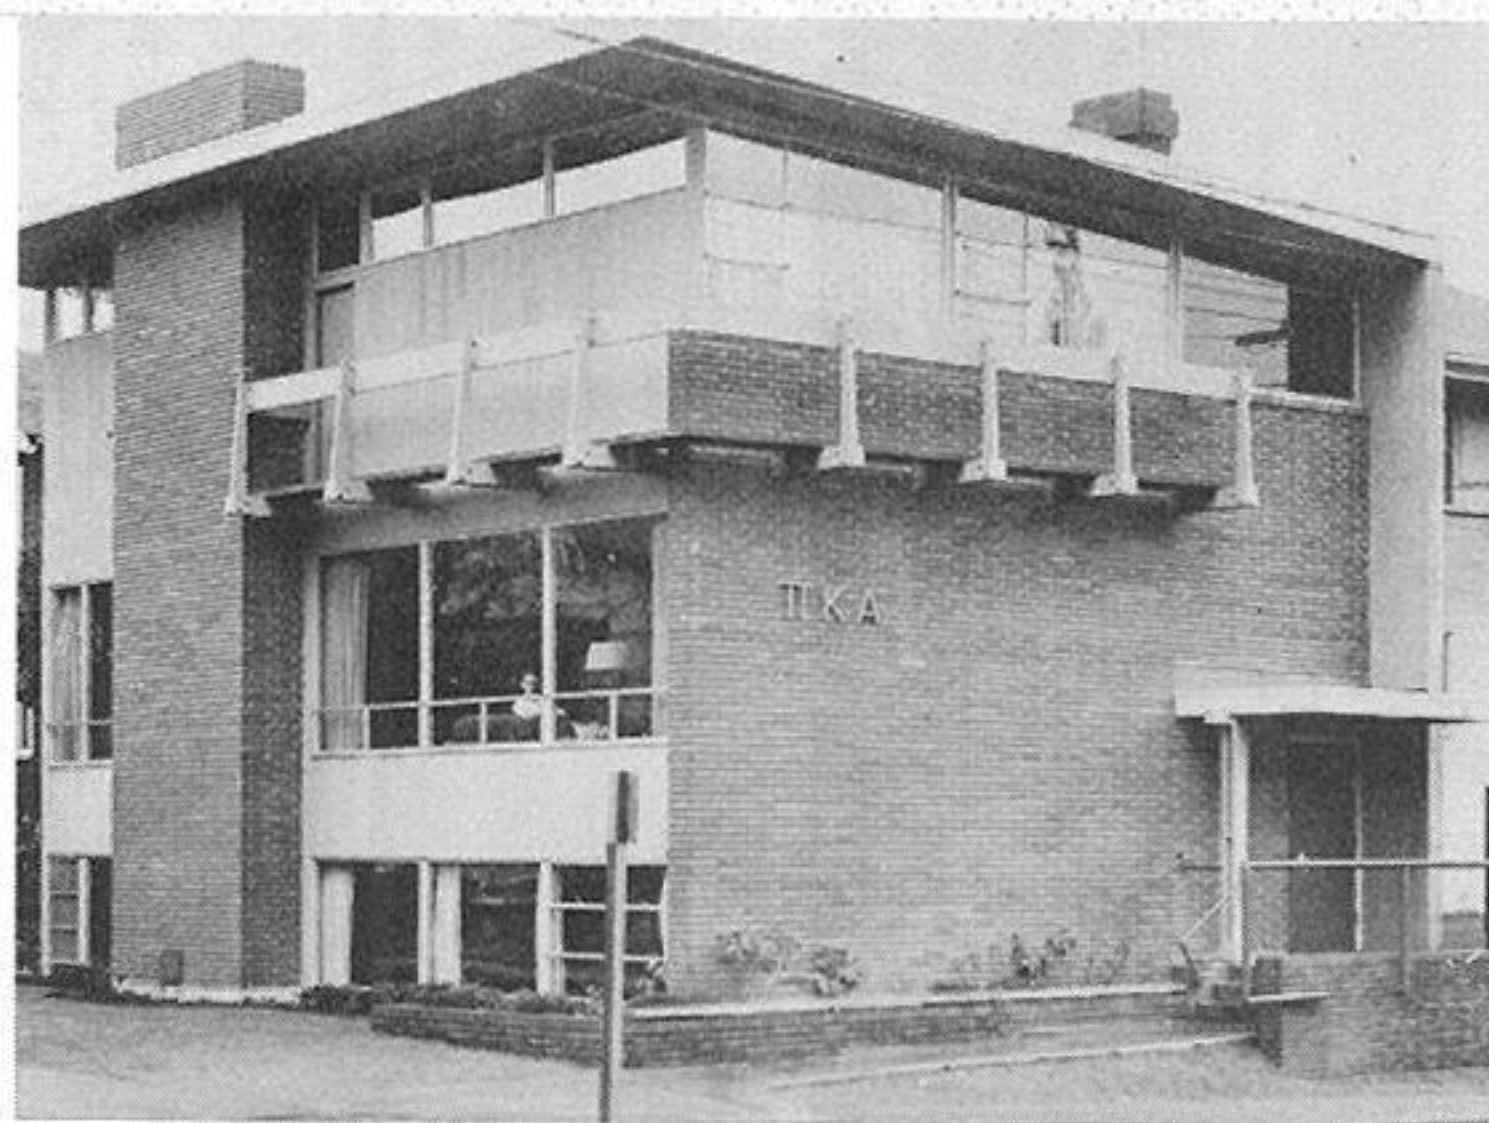

The third main objective of the house is to build character. We hope that every man who graduates out of the house has a large portion of its principles left in him.

See you next year with the structure that will match the increasing spirit of the house.

Fraternity is brotherhood. On this principle the members of Pi Kappa Alpha have built a strong, lasting organization. Our fall quarter activities were highlighted by the Frontier Days party, an annual costume event, and the Pledge Dance, as well as numerous informal parties and exchanges. We topped off the quarter by journeying to California to watch the Huskies win the Rose Bowl.

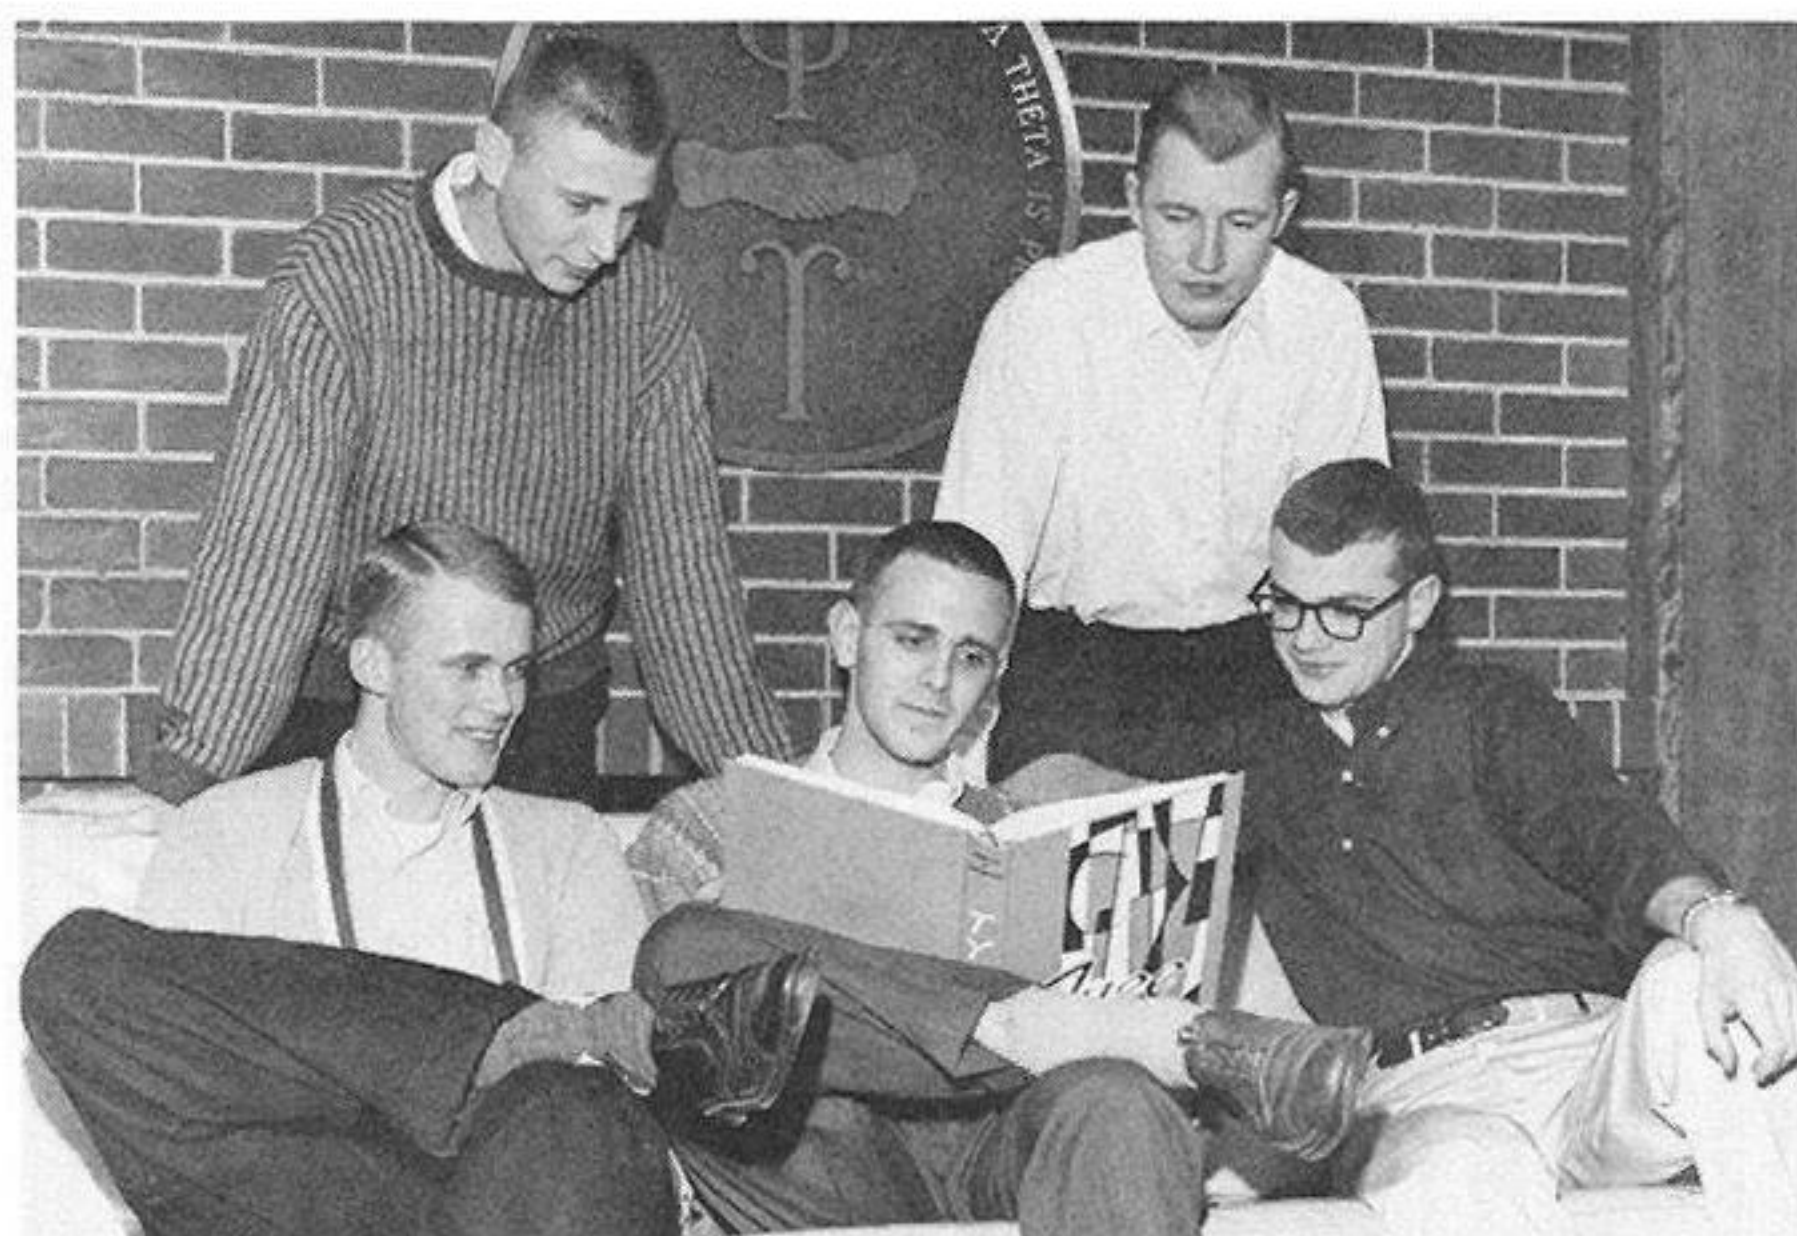

Winter quarter included our Underworld Party, a Roaring 20's party, Jam Session, an annual all-campus event which attracted 900-1000 jazz lovers, and, of course, the traditional Inspiration Week. The Dream Girl contest and formal occupied most of the social spotlight during spring quarter, and a South Seas party and Weekend party completed the year. As we leave for vacation, we are looking forward with anticipation to our next meeting at the Pi Kappa Alpha National Convention in Miami, Florida, during August and September.

A while back, when we were trying to find something different to say for our page in the TYEE, we offered a handful of money to Jayne Mansfield and asked her to say something nice about Psi U.

"Gee, I don't know," said Miss Mansfield, "I've never read anything he wrote."

We handed her another large bundle of money and said, "Psi U is a fraternity, not an author."

She gave us a blank look and stuffed the wad of money into her purse. We explained that Psi U had brothers who were class presidents, IFC officers, Purple Shield, Oval Club, Sundodgers and Big "W" Club.

"Tell me more about your wonderful boys," she pleaded.

We said that we were proud of our new, improved scholarship program and our Phi Beta Kappa members.

We said our parties were undoubtedly the best on campus.

Miss Mansfield sank to her knees. "How can I join?" she begged.

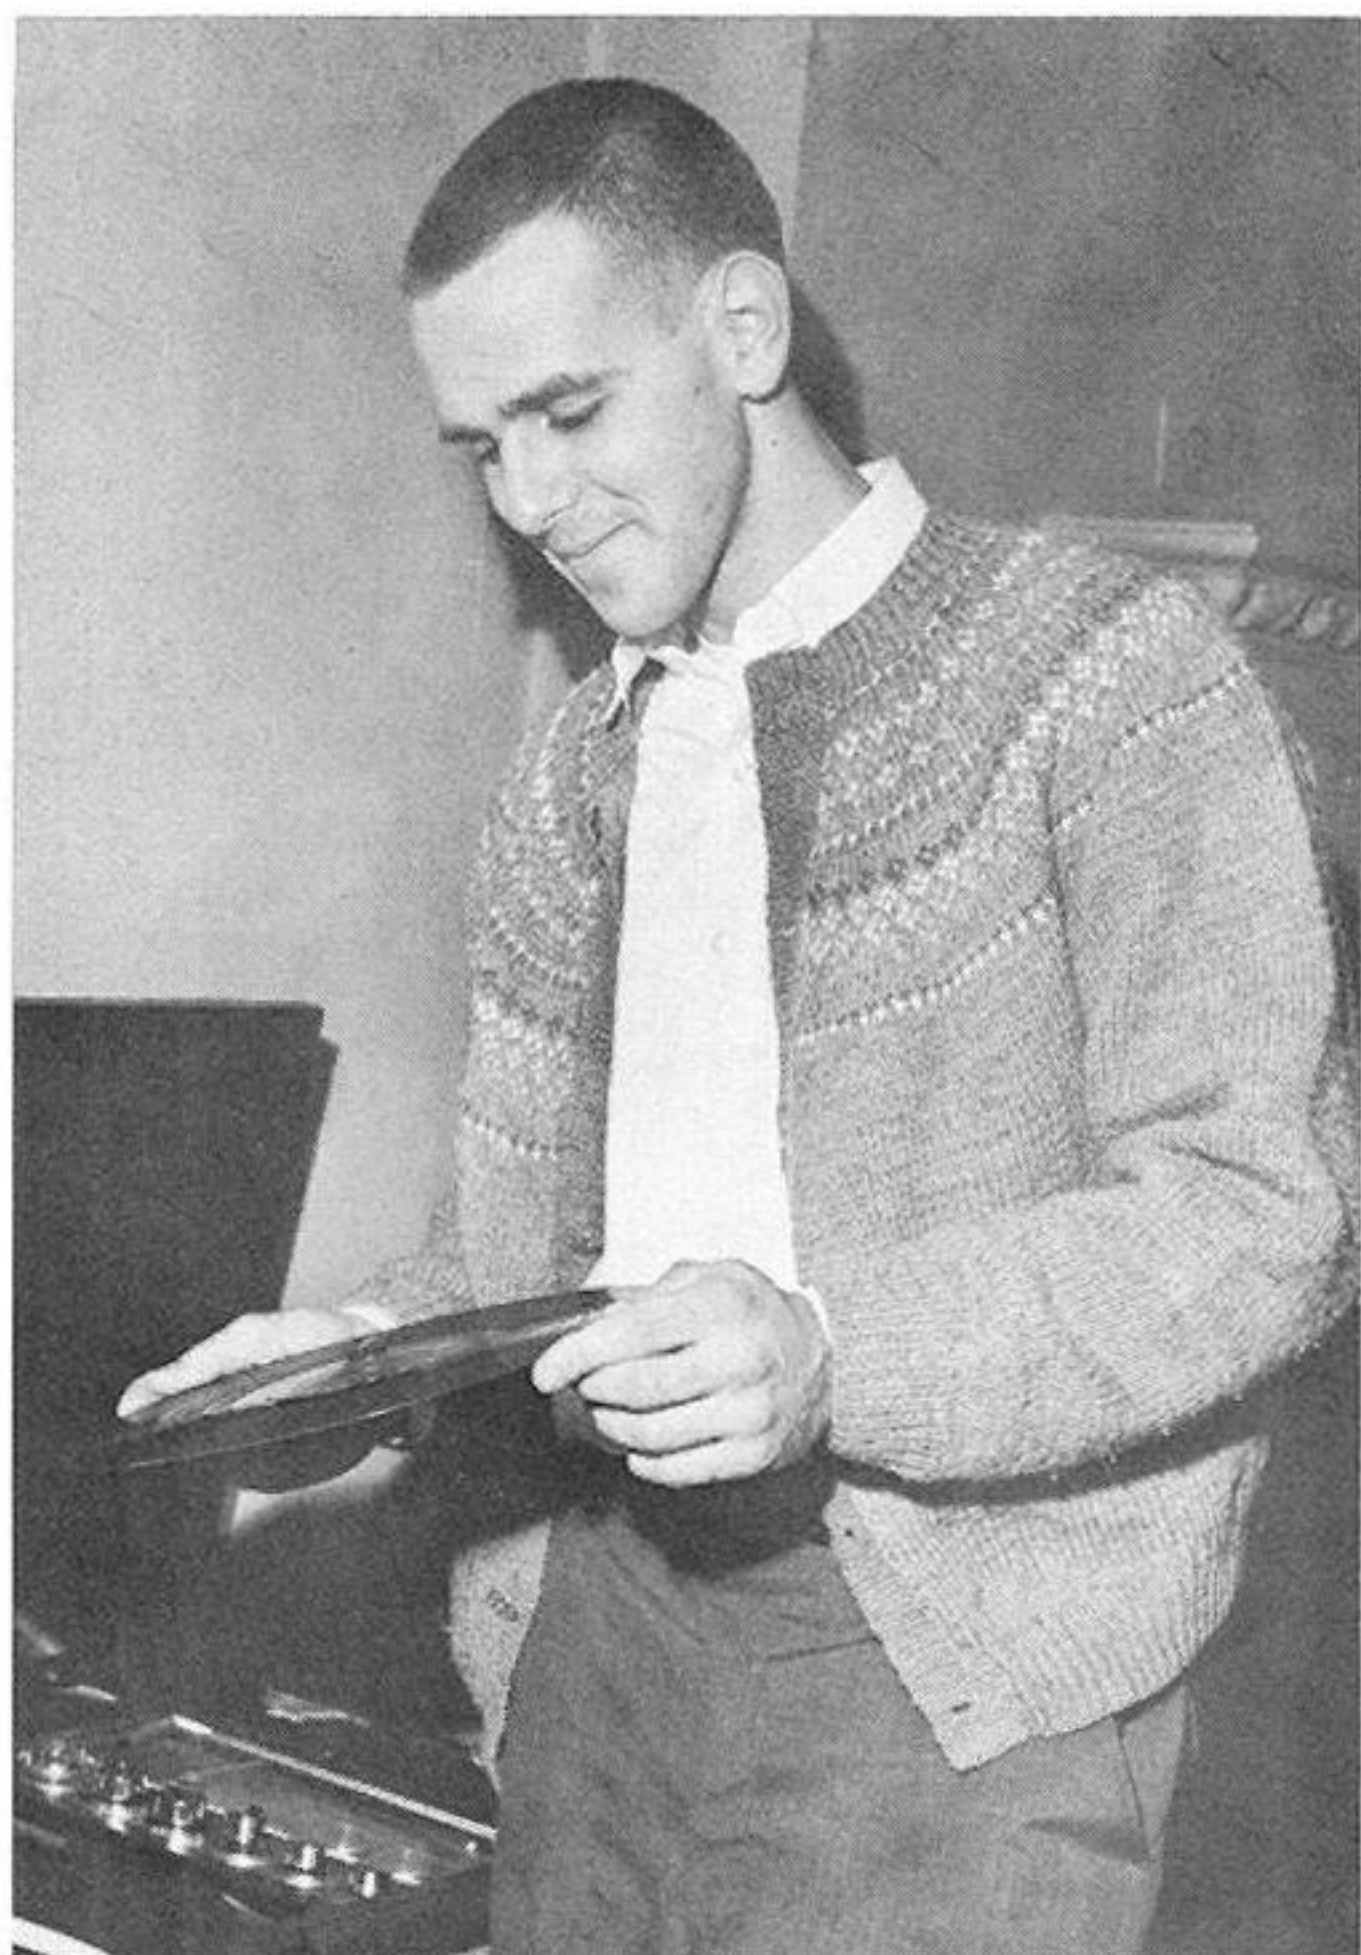

We told her there were certain technicalities that prevented her from joining. "However," we said, "We were considering getting a housemother."

"Just say the word," said Miss Mansfield.

Now if only the Dean will okay the plan!

"Pledges, pledges everywhere and not a room to spare." That was the word around the Olde Lions Den, as Washington Alpha of Sigma Alpha Epsilon got off to another "roaring year," another year of achievement and success for the "Sons of Minerva."

Sigma Alpha Epsilon was founded in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, March 9, 1856. Eight students who had become hard and fast friends founded this brotherly society, which was destined to extend to the furthestmost limits of the country. Sigma Alpha Epsilon is in 46 states and is the largest fraternity in the nation, with over 105,000 initiated brothers.

Washington Alpha has lived up to the goals of this great national fraternity. Members of both the pledge class and active chapter can be found on many of the frosh and varsity squads of the University's athletic teams. Needless to say, there were five of the brothers on the Rose Bowl Champion Husky football team. "Sig Alphas" can also be found in Oval Club, Fir Tree, Purple Shield, Sundodgers, Big "W," Scabbard and Blade, Alpha Epsilon Delta, Alpha Kappa Psi, Pi Omicron Sigma and Phi Beta Kappa.

Socially, we didn't go amiss. The Pledge Dance, the Roaring Twenties, Winter Formal and numerous other dances, fire-sides, exchanges and swim parties all made for a pleasant and full calendar around the old hotel.

The Sisters of Minerva added the feminine touch. This great group of gals are hand picked from different sororities to form the female side of SAE. This organization, the only one of its kind in the fraternity system, has done wonders to make life at Washington Alpha more enjoyable. Car washes, homemade cookies and gifts are a mere handful of their activities for SAE.

All in all, the year 1959-1960 was a glorious and successful one for the Brothers of Washington Alpha.

The year 1959-60 was another successful one in the history of Sigma Nu chapter of Sigma Alpha Mu.

A full calendar of events kept the fraters busy throughout the year—house dances, firesides and exchanges, topped off by our quarterly formals and a spring cruise.

Highlight of fall quarter was the placing of Sigma Alpha Mu as the first honorable mention in the annual Homecoming sign competition. During Christmas vacation the second annual bi-regional conclave was held. Delegates from Sigma Alpha Mu chapters in the western states and Canada gathered in Seattle for the event, which was climaxed by a New Year's Eve Dance. Our house was represented in Song and Stunt, Purple Shield, Oval Club, Sundodgers, Alpha Phi Omega, varsity and frosh athletics and various professional honoraries and campus committees.

In intramurals, the Sammies placed in the quarter finals of football, and ranked high in victories and sportsmanship in all their respective leagues.

Ambitious!! I'll say! It is the deep-down desire of every one of us to be a four-point student, but as it happens now and then, ambition is overcome by public demand, and many of our potential grade points must yield to the many ulterior motives that have so brashly pushed their way into the American education system.

Contrary to rumor, our holiday toll was well below the median this year. Not one of us ended up on the Thanksgiving platter. It was a long, hard year, but we did manage to fulfill our obligations. We kept the administration and faculty happy by hitting most of our classes and we tried to accommodate the multitude of campus queens that always flock around us.

Our song was heard o'er the campus near and far this year. Our polished quartet, as well as our formal serenades and spirited sings, snowed all the chicks.

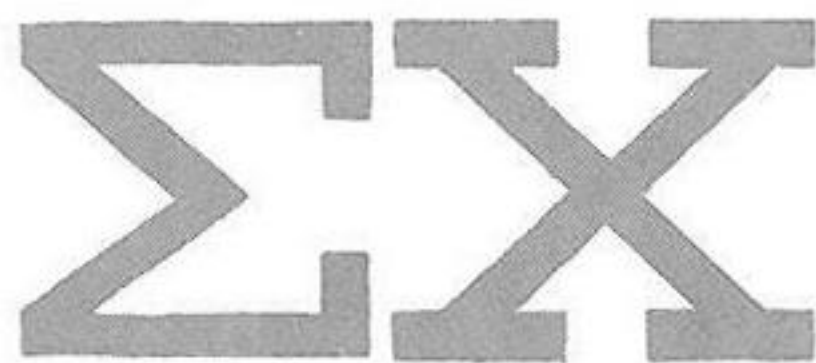

On those dismal nights before finals as we harnessed the power of the intellect, there was still present in our minds the vividly painted memories of our gala three-day stay at fabulous Harrison Hot Springs, where we selected the most beautiful girl on campus to reign as the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi.

This year we have been the talk of the campus, but really this hasn't made us conceited. We don't think we're the best on campus—there just aren't any better.

Gamma Chi of Sigma Nu, the oldest fraternity at the University, was founded on this campus in 1896. Sixty-four years later, Sigma Nu is still first on the campus.

Primary in the mind of Sigma Nu is the importance of education. Scholarship is a main factor in the purpose of education and Sigma Nu is proud of its fine scholarship record. Other main factors of a well-rounded education are athletics, activities and social events.

Athletically, Sigma Nu prominence in intramurals was evident. Sigma Nu fielded fine teams in all sports, copping the skiing championship and entering finals in bowling, basketball and baseball. Sigma Nu had many frosh numeral winners in all sports and had its usual fine reputation in varsity sports, with Big "W" winners in football, baseball, track, golf and crew.

Activity-wise, Sigma Nus were prominent in student government and leadership. Sigma Nus held AMS secretary, Bachelor's Club president, Outstanding Senior Man and many other positions in ASUW activities. The chapter went all out for Homecoming, taking first place in the inanimate sign competition.

Socially, the highlight of the year was the Pig Dinner. Other functions included the pledge dance, French Prom, house party, exchanges, serenades and dollar parties.

This well-rounded program, balanced by scholarship, athletics, activities and social events, fulfills the aims of Sigma Nu fraternity to mold young men to serve as fine citizens and leaders in all walks of life.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

In 1955, when the Sig Eps had roughly 25 members, the last paragraph on our one TYEE page declared:

"This is only the beginning of the new Sig Ep Era. We are building with real sincerity of purpose. We want to make our fraternity the best in Greek Row in every way—and watch us, because we will!"

Today, five short years later, Washington Beta chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon has over 90 men and has made tremendous strides toward fulfilling our five-year-old declaration. The 1959-60 year alone saw us move closer to our goal:

On campus, we had men in virtually every phase of activities, including several major chairmanships in the ASUW and IFC. We won a seat on Board of Control with our candidate, Scotty Railton.

Sig Eps did their share in charging the Huskies on to the Rose Bowl victory. Big Ben Davidson, Serge Grant, Don Carnahan and Larry Clanton were the Sig Eps on the Husky team. Rosters of the baseball, golf, swimming and track teams also sported the Sig Ep name.

Our calendar was full of novel and traditional social functions—but our studies were not forgotten and our scholarship rating went up.

No, we haven't gotten the goal established by our brothers in 1955. We haven't reached the pinnacle yet, but the summit is ahead and getting closer.

"... watch us, because we will!"

This year was fantastic! Our pledge class of 25 proceeded to get into ours and everyone else's hair. They roared through the house and sororities like wounded tigers until their glorious sneak late in November. We finally funneled them into a group and set out to put "Playboy" to shame.

Our five main goals of the year were: to top the Dean's scholarship list, to win more intramural league titles and trophies, to practice a little togetherness with the local sororities, at last to occupy our new house, and in all achieve new prominence in the fraternity world.

Per usual we wasted no time—winning second place in the Homecoming sign contest, sweeping bowling and swimming titles, holding our own in ASUW, AMS and IFC with the usual in Oval Club, Sundodgers, Phi Beta Kappa, swimming, wrestling and football.

We stormed the Founders' Day Banquet to initiate the new house, kept the Seattle newspapers in news when we lost and recovered our TKE Victory Bell, which has achieved campus fame in the last two years. The peacefulness was shattered when the troops decided to bankrupt the social fund with the Teke Totaler, Pledge Dance, Spring Formal, Sailor's Cruise, exchanges, etc.

Well, group, in all it's been hectic but great! Besides having to string wires from wall to wall to hold our Teke Freak together for our last year of occupancy, we were paddled by Panhellenic, scorned by the IFC, ostracized by Charlie, our cook, and still came out on top.

Theta Chi

Maris Abolins, President

We live in a house. We live in a house on 17th Street. It is a fraternity house. A brick one. And it is called the Theta Chi Fraternity.

We have many members in our house—all boys. We do have a girl, though. She is our cook. She is a good cook. We all love her.

We work and play. We work with each other. This is good brotherhood. We play at our many parties and games. Some of our most fun parties are the Bowery Brawl and the Spring Formal and the dollar parties and the house party and the exchanges, too. So we all have fun.

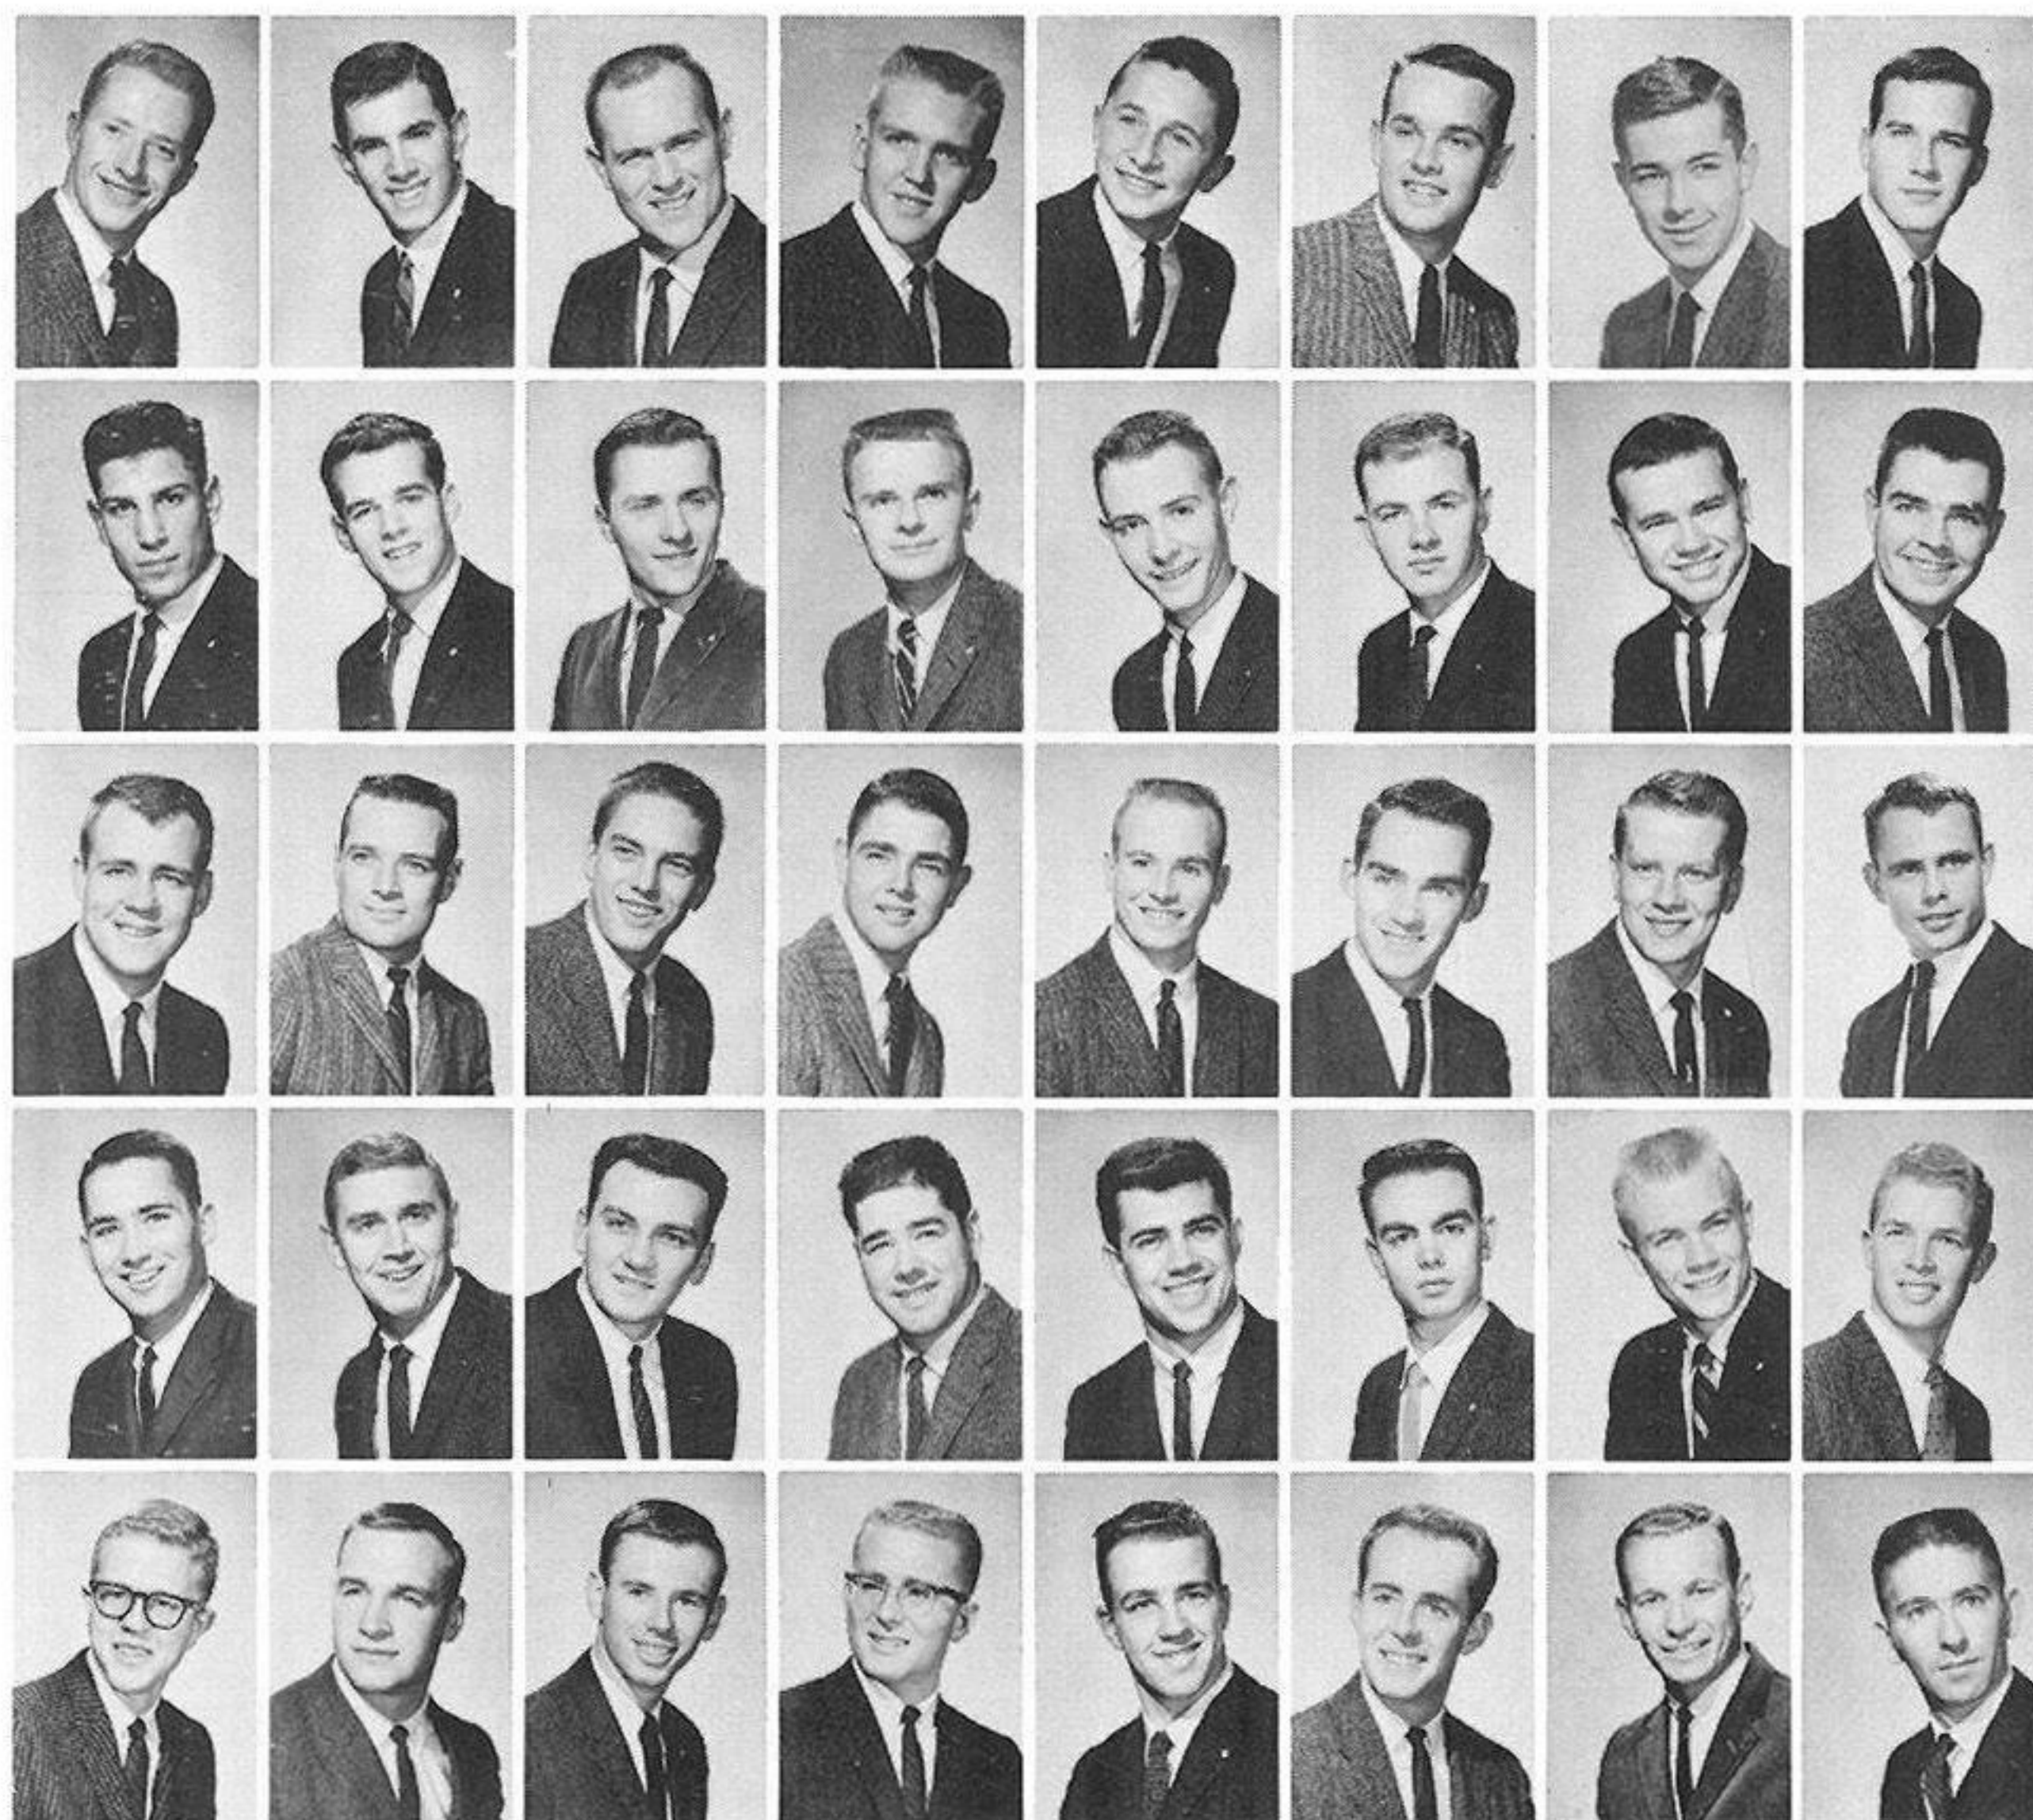

We have many good boys. Some are men. We have many members in the business world. They are mostly pledges.

Some of us have pets. All different kinds of pets. Some of them bark, some of them purr and some of them gobble, too. Some of them even fly.

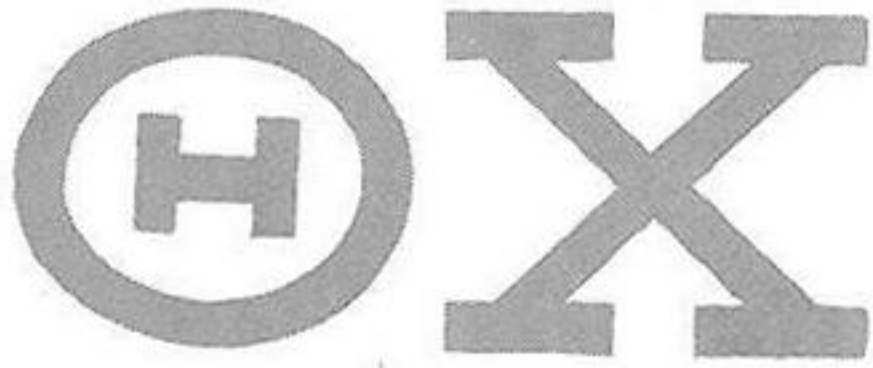

This year we got 31 new boys. Now we are making them into good brothers.

So you see, we like our house, we like our brothers, and we like our pets.

We go to school, too!!

1959 was another red-letter year for Theta Delts, both on and off campus.

In addition to parties, firesides and exchanges, our social activities included a Bum Dance, Pajama Dance, Plantation Party, Barn Dance, Greek Party, Singapore Sling, and were highlighted by our annual winter Playboy Formal and weekend spring house party.

Heading the list of "HUB Jocks" was John Collins, ASUW first vice president. Close on his heels were Roy Webster, vice president of the senior class and member of the DAILY staff, and Bill King, NSA coordinator and Oval Club officer. Theta Delta Chi was also represented in Sundodgers, Purple Shield, Student Prevue and various ASUW committees.

Theta Delts entered almost every intramural sport on campus, winning the fraternity basketball championship and the all-university softball championship for the second year in a row.

Besides all this, Theta Delta Chi proved it was a well-rounded fraternity by placing fourth scholastically among fraternities on campus, a fitting climax for a highly successful year.

Theta Xi blasted its way through to its 45th anniversary on campus. With no particular effort on the part of the brothers, the house was soon filled with pledges (most of whom were pledged after the photo deadline). Knowing that, next to nuclear energy, pledge power is the most potent thing on earth, the crafty 'Xi actives put the new pledge class to work on a revamped version of last year's Homecoming sign. The result was a tie for second place. In our spare time, we won our league football championship and some activity points in HUB activities.

In addition to its tradition of midnight oil drinking, Theta Xi further demonstrated its social superiority by holding a party that lasted from the final whistle of the State game until the beginning of winter quarter. To round out the year socially, the Xis had the usual sequence of dances and parties, highlighted by the Spring Formal and our own Logger's Brawl, which is.

As spring quarter drew to a close, the Theta Xis wistfully sat on the familiar worn bank in front of their palatial house and gazed silently at the summer fashions walking up and down 18th. A yellow frisbie silently floated in the direction of the neighbor's window and each of the brothers, in his own way, quietly thought of next year and how he would really get down to work and hit those books for a change.

The school year of 1959-60 was a great year for Zeta Beta Tau at Washington. As usual, participation in all major aspects of campus life was the plan for the year.

The unquestionable high point of the year was reached winter quarter when we moved into our newly remodeled chapter home. With twice the space and beautiful new facilities, our remodeled fraternity home represents the results of active members and alumni working together in the finest fraternity tradition.

Zeta Beta Tau pledged 23 outstanding men in the fall quarter and added several more pledges later in the year, from those students who had returned from the Six Month Army program.

Socially, Zeta Beta Tau's calendar was loaded with the usual dance a month, numerous class parties, exchanges, the traditional guest dance and the annual founders' stag. The social event of the year was the annual Orchid Formal, featuring the announcement of our new Sweetheart.

In the area of scholastics, Zeta Beta Tau worked hard to maintain and improve its position as a leading scholastic group. Several brothers were initiated into honoraries, and several others were admitted to professional schools of their choice.

Officers for the year were Dick Maizels, president; Sonny Rose, vice president; Jack Alhadeff, secretary; Ray Brown, treasurer; and Harvey Poll, historian.

The Zetes pride themselves in having a well-rounded group, while not tending to obesity. Scholastic endeavor is not discouraged, but on the contrary, it is looked upon with great favor by the brothers. There are the physically active, too, as though studying weren't enough. Zetes have managed to talk the athletic department out of letters in track, basketball and baseball, among other sports. Zeta Psi was well represented in intramural sport contests, with all the brothers doing their best to purloin trophies.

The Zetes, aside from pursuing knowledge and muscle tone, sanction periodic pilgrimages to the land of pleasure. Some of the more prominent adventures were the Winter Formal, the Roman Orgy, the Homecoming Dance and a house party at Wilderness Resort on Lake Chelan. Numerous dances, exchanges, firesides and serenades supplemented an already awesome social program, ultimately enjoyed and thoughtfully reflected.

As the past year loses itself to all but memory and record, the Zetes foresee another traditionally outstanding year to come.

Men's Organized House Council

The third year of existence for the young and growing M.O.H.C. was filled with activities and problems. Throughout the year M.O.H.C. worked to improve services for the 1270 men in Lander and Terry Halls. Important and basic questions such as the enforcement of M.O.H.C. legislation were solved.

The list of "big" functions sponsored by M.O.H.C. grew bigger. They again presented one of the largest homecoming signs in the country, a Halloween dance was held for the first time, and the very successful "Jazz at the Parkway" became an established tradition. Another first, a Get-Out-The-Vote dance, was held for campus-wide elections during winter quarter. The Winter Formal with its two floors of dancing was again the big event of the year. Another first, a spring dance, was held, and again this year two open houses were staged.

An architect's model of the new Women's Residence Halls which is scheduled to be completed by next fall.

Women's Inter-Hall Council

Women's Inter-Hall Council is the governing body for the four Women's Residence Halls. It is composed of equal representation from each of the four halls. The Council is concerned with promoting a unified spirit among its members by stimulating participation in several of the annual activities—County Fair, Spring Formal, Honor's Banquet, Parent's Luncheon during Parent's Weekend and a Fall Orientation Program for all new residents.

Through the Council the five hundred women of the Women's Residence Halls are represented directly on Board of Control. The Council strives to keep its members informed on campus policies and promotes co-operation in working with other campus groups.

Fall quarter commenced slowly but soon the freshmen found their busy academic schedules crowded with many other activities. The 127 girls were busy with birthday parties, Pixie Week, and the annual Christmas Party. Exchanges also played an important part in our busy lives. The quarter ended all too soon with excitement in the air as the Huskies were Rose Bowl contenders.

Since the Huskies won the Rose Bowl, winter quarter and a new year began with much excitement. As the quarter sped by there were preparations for County Fair and the annual Winter Formal.

Spring quarter brought great concentration on the Songfest because we wanted to retain the first place which we won last year. Parents' Weekend and the Interhall Formal brought the quarter to a close.

We are proud of our past academic record and many girls belong to such honoraries as Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Epsilon Sigma, W-Key, Silver Fish, Corvettes and Mu Phi Epsilon.

Blaine Hall was bustling in the fall with all the activity that 127 girls, three times that many suitcases, hatboxes, shoeboxes, teddy bears and excited Hi's could create. The busy orientations chairman and her helpful "hi" girls welcomed many returning girls and an even larger group of new faces.

During the flurry of a new school year, the girls gave their talents to such activities as the Homecoming Sign, County Fair, and Songfest. Throughout the year, the girls were well represented in scholastic and other honoraries. Sigma Epsilon Sigma, Silver Fish, Rally Girls, Mu Phi Epsilon—all claimed girls from Blaine. We were well represented by girls active in Hub and "Y" activities, too.

In addition to exchanges—from ski to scavenger parties—Pixie Week, and pajama parties, the girls enthusiastically participated in the Interhall Spring Formal and Parents' Weekend. With summer coming, Blaine girls could look with pride at an eventful, fun year.

Leary Hall

The first night a pajama party was held to welcome the 128 girls to Leary Hall. From that first day our hall has been busy with many hall and campus activities. Exchanges held throughout the year with the men's dorms included Beatnik parties, dinner-dances, and jazz concerts. Birthdays were not forgotten as each month the girls with birthdays in that month were honored with a dinner. We worked together with the other halls to promote the Nickel Hop and to build a Homecoming sign. The last activities before finals were Pixie Week and the Christmas Banquet. Following the banquet, officers for the year were installed.

Winter quarter hailed the County Fair. Our girls provided the Talent Show for the Fair. In February formals and fellas were the talk of the dorm as we prepared for our Winter Formal. In the spring we cleaned house for Parents' Weekend and practiced for the Songfest.

McKee Hall

Scholarship, combined with lots of fun and friendship, filled the active 1959-60 school year for McKee Hall girls.

A PJ party began the year and helped to orient new residents. Pixie Week was as hectic as ever with pranks galore. Numerous exchanges dotted each month's calendar.

McKee girls also participated in numerous campus activities including Homecoming Sign, Thanksgiving Basket, Songfest and Parents' Weekend.

Baker House

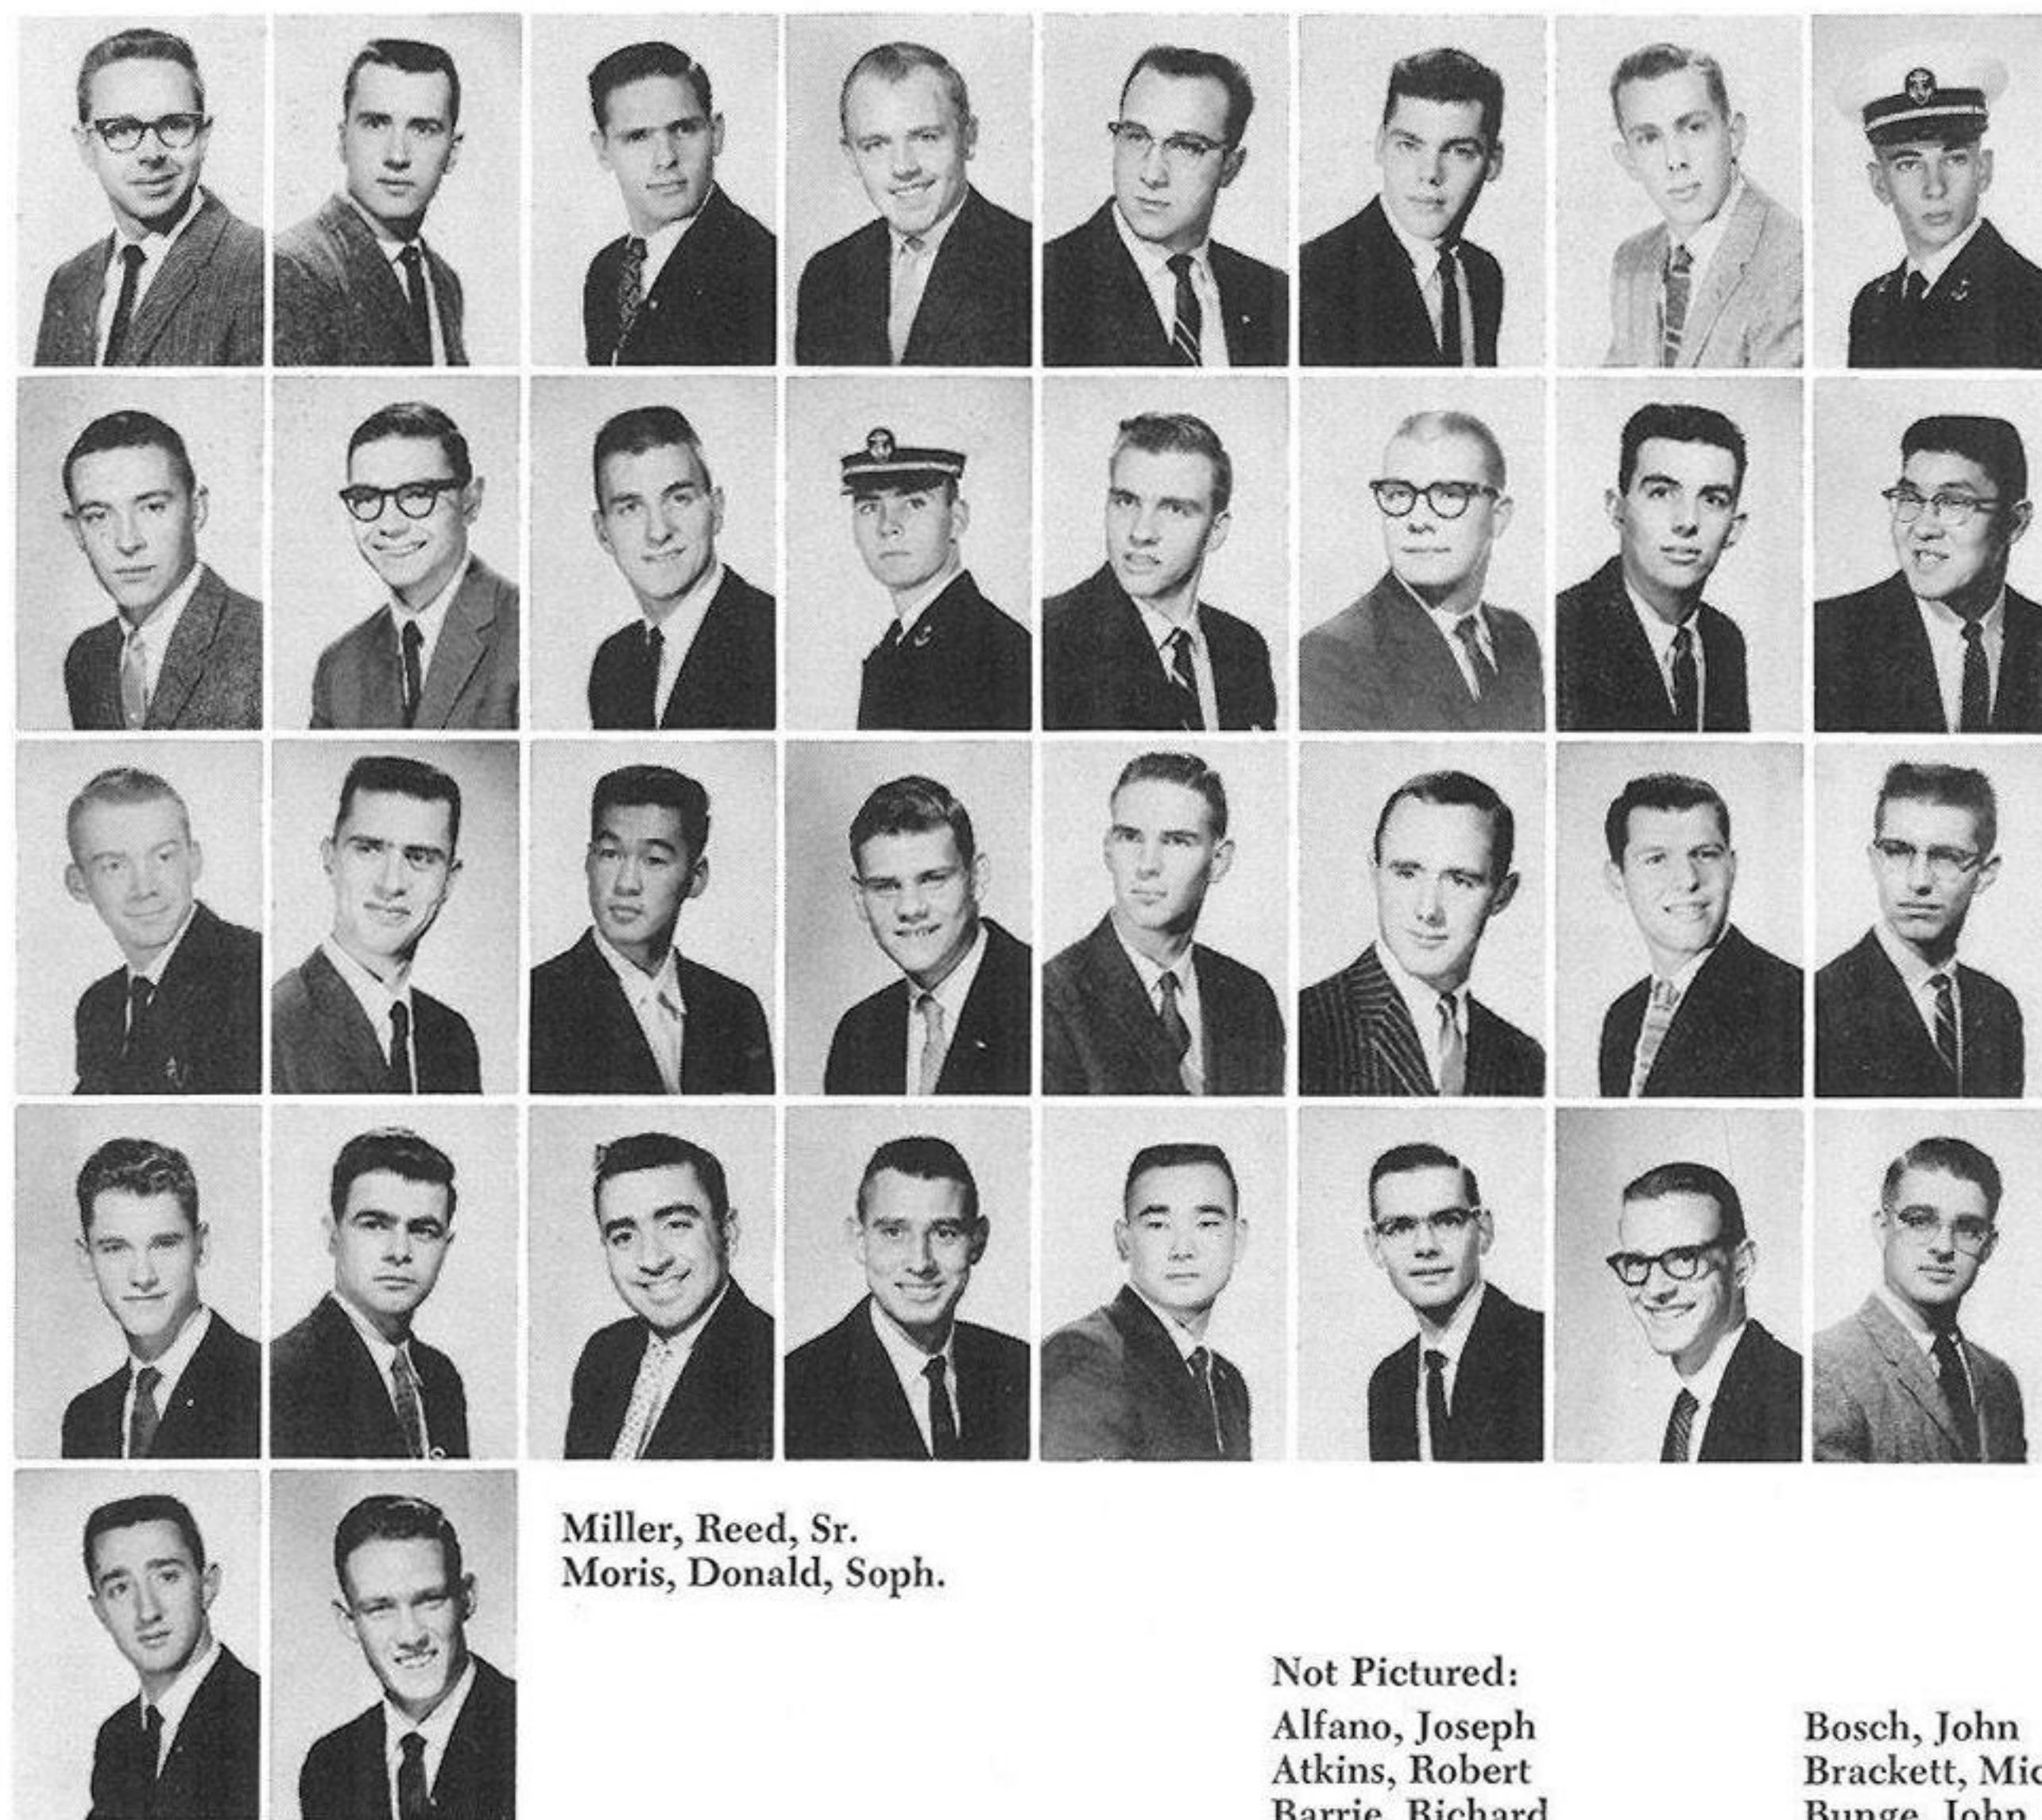

Situated in Campus Parkway's independent district, Baker capped off another fruitful season scholastically, athletically, politically, and last but not least to Bakerites, socially.

Socially, Baker again soared. Exchanges with the leading sororities and the women's independent groups were planned. The House sponsored three of the outstanding independent functions on campus: the Christmas Dance, a spring dance, and an all day spring cruise.

Politically, six Bakerites held positions on the Men's Organized House Council, the governing body of the Men's Residence Halls.

Athletically, participation in football, basketball, crew, baseball and an All University Volleyball Championship rounded out the sports program.

To sum it all up, it was another long-to-be-remembered year on the sixth and seventh floors of Terry Hall.

As the 1959-60 school year comes to a close, the members of Chelan House look back on another successful year.

House members participated in every major intramural sport, retaining as permanent possessions the MOHC Intramural Sports Participation Trophy and the MOHC Intramural Championship Trophy.

Besides sports, Chelan House had a full schedule of social activities including exchanges, two house dances, a dinner-dance, a house cruise and a beach party.

The house also took part in MOHC and University activities such as the trip to the Rose Bowl and the University Blood Drive.

Not only did the house have full participation in sports and activities but was also among the top houses in the dorms, scholastically.

1959-1960 was another good year for the men of Cascade. The year was filled with enjoyable social events and successes on the Intramural fields, and crowned with the annual house picnic.

Cascade, as always, was active in working with MOHC, the independent social chairmen coming from Cascade. They also worked on the intramural committees. Our members are to be found in most of the professional societies and honoraries on campus.

The officers of Cascade House are, standing: Robert Gertulla, Charles Dreyer and Bill Booker. Seated are Bruce Brown, Jere Anderson and Tom Malmoe, President.

Dotson proudly began the fall quarter by being awarded a trophy for the highest GPA in the dorms. The social year began energetically, too, with Dotson assuming sponsorship of the Dime Dances. Exchanges were planned with the Women's Dorms and several sororities. Throughout the year the men from the "Parkway Penthouse" attended dinner and dance exchanges, a skating party, coffee hours, date functions and ended the year with the annual spring cruise and picnic.

Dotson was represented in the intramural program in such sports as basketball, volleyball, bowling and many others.

Dotson representation was also to be found in such organizations and activities as MOHC, Saiyuk, HUB committees, Sundodgers, Oval Club and frosh elections. We also claimed the vice president of MOHC and president of Saiyuk.

Dotson's officers, its board of control and many committees performed such services as publishing the Dotson DAILY, purchasing a coffee urn and steam irons and the planning of its many social functions.

Dotson's well-rounded academic, athletic and social programs proved once again that Dotson is TOP house in the men's dorms in more ways than one.

Honderich House

The men of Honderich, having successfully completed another year, can look back upon a full schedule of sports and social functions.

Among the varied athletic activities were intramural football, swimming, bowling, volleyball and basketball. Members turned out en masse for the house ping pong and chess tournaments, enjoyed film showings sponsored by the House Council and attended the many social activities. These included a hobo dance and some theater exchanges.

In spite of these activities, the men of Honderich didn't neglect their studies and, as a result, have a high grade point. Members are looking forward to another successful year living in Honderich.

The proud clan of Macgregor completed another successful year with its annual house picnic. Of course this was only one of many activities successfully executed during the year. Socially, Macgregor played host to many different women's groups using such themes as a "beatnik" party and ice skating. The lusty men of Macgregor naturally participated with success in intramural football and basketball as well as in other sports. A singing group was also formed in order to further exploit the natural talents of the group.

The spirit of Macgregor is derived from the old Scottish clan of the same name. The Macgregor clan was outlawed by the King of Scotland and was not pardoned until 22 years later. The tradition of the clan was brought to the University by Mrs. Nell Macgregor. The cooperative where she served as house mother was named after her. Then in 1957 the name, tradition and coat of arms were brought to their present residence on the fifth floor of Lander Hall.

Marvick House characteristically began the academic year with a whirl of exchanges and house meetings. The highlight of the social calendar was a ski exchange on the slopes of Snoqualmie Pass. In the sports department, Marvick men excelled as in past years. The dorm football championship was shared with Sherwood House after we lost in the campus intramurals upon reaching the quarter-finals. The house also shared the "sport" light in ping-pong. Marvick was well represented in varsity athletics with representatives on the football and swimming teams. Marvick didn't skip student government, either. Many members served on MOHC. The president of MOHC was a member of Marvick.

The Men of Marvick are looking forward to another year of the same progress that has given them their proud name.

McLean House

Men of McLean are men of the plaid. Our mascot is appropriately Scotty. Though not steeped in the tradition of long-established living groups, McLean House has cause for spirit. Some of this group spirit was indicated when the men chipped in this year to have the McLean coat of arms painted on the lounge wall. Last fall one of the men was placed on the football allstar team, and the basketball team turned in another fine performance during the winter quarter. Social exchanges were held with coed living groups, and skating parties and post-Maverick coffee hours were an established habit.

Olympus House

Olympus House officers are, standing: Don Raybuck, Phil Bird, Alan Walter, Terry French, Larry Sharp, Norman Maleng and Norm Hensley, President. Seated are Jay Davis, Larry Trowbridge, Al Basore and Paul Lien.

The 1959-60 year in Olympus was again one to remember. Although this was a large "turnover year," in that over half the 133 members were new, bonds of friendship and togetherness were formed from the beginning, with voluntary social, athletic and scholastic activities.

Exchanges with the women's dorms and the sororities were provided for the men who were "looking around." Several date functions were sponsored by the house and by MOHC.

Athletically we were represented in frosh basketball and crew, as well as varsity track and baseball. Intramural sports played a big part as we fielded teams in every major sport and were frequently victorious.

Olympus worked hard to maintain its scholastic record of never being less than third in independent men's living groups.

A leader in MOHC and a good participant in worthwhile ASUW activities and drives, Olympus continues to be a well-rounded voluntary living group.

Rainier House

Under the watchful eye of adviser Jim Boylan, the 115 men of Rainier completed another highly enthusiastic year with events ranging from madcap midnight calls to entertaining underprivileged children.

Occupying the tenth and eleventh floors of Terry Hall, Rainier is literally the number one house in the dorms. Also noted for its numerous 'firsts,' Rainier was the first house to hold a winter formal in its panoramic upstairs lounge and also the first to organize a house cruise and picnic, all of which were again very successful this year.

Long known as an intellectual leader, Rainier's grade point average was well above the all-university average, and in the dorms the house was recognized as one where a good study and intellectual atmosphere can be found.

Here truly are independent men, working together.

Sherwood House

For cooperation, for participation, for unified spirit, Sherwood House is tops. Whether it be a football game, a social exchange or an unpleasant task to accomplish, an atmosphere of good-natured enthusiasm prevails.

In athletics Sherwood is second to none. Last year a member won the University Ping Pong Championship. This year the men of Sherwood, clad in their jerseys of Lincoln green, swarmed over the opposition to the dormitory football championship.

Dance and theater exchanges, an ice skating party, and a spring boat cruise are a few of the highlights in the year's social calendar.

When you enter the Men's Residence Halls, you will notice that, where there's a laugh, where there's a smile,—there are the men from Sherwood.

Rofcre House

The 96 residents of Rofcre and the house mother struggled through another year of education.

We accumulated many trophies in various activities and managed to place in such sports as volleyball, football, bowling, basketball and softball.

The members also participated in many exchanges with other houses. They spent many hours studying and engaging in house meetings and general gab sessions.

All in all, the men enjoyed a wonderful year.

Allerlei

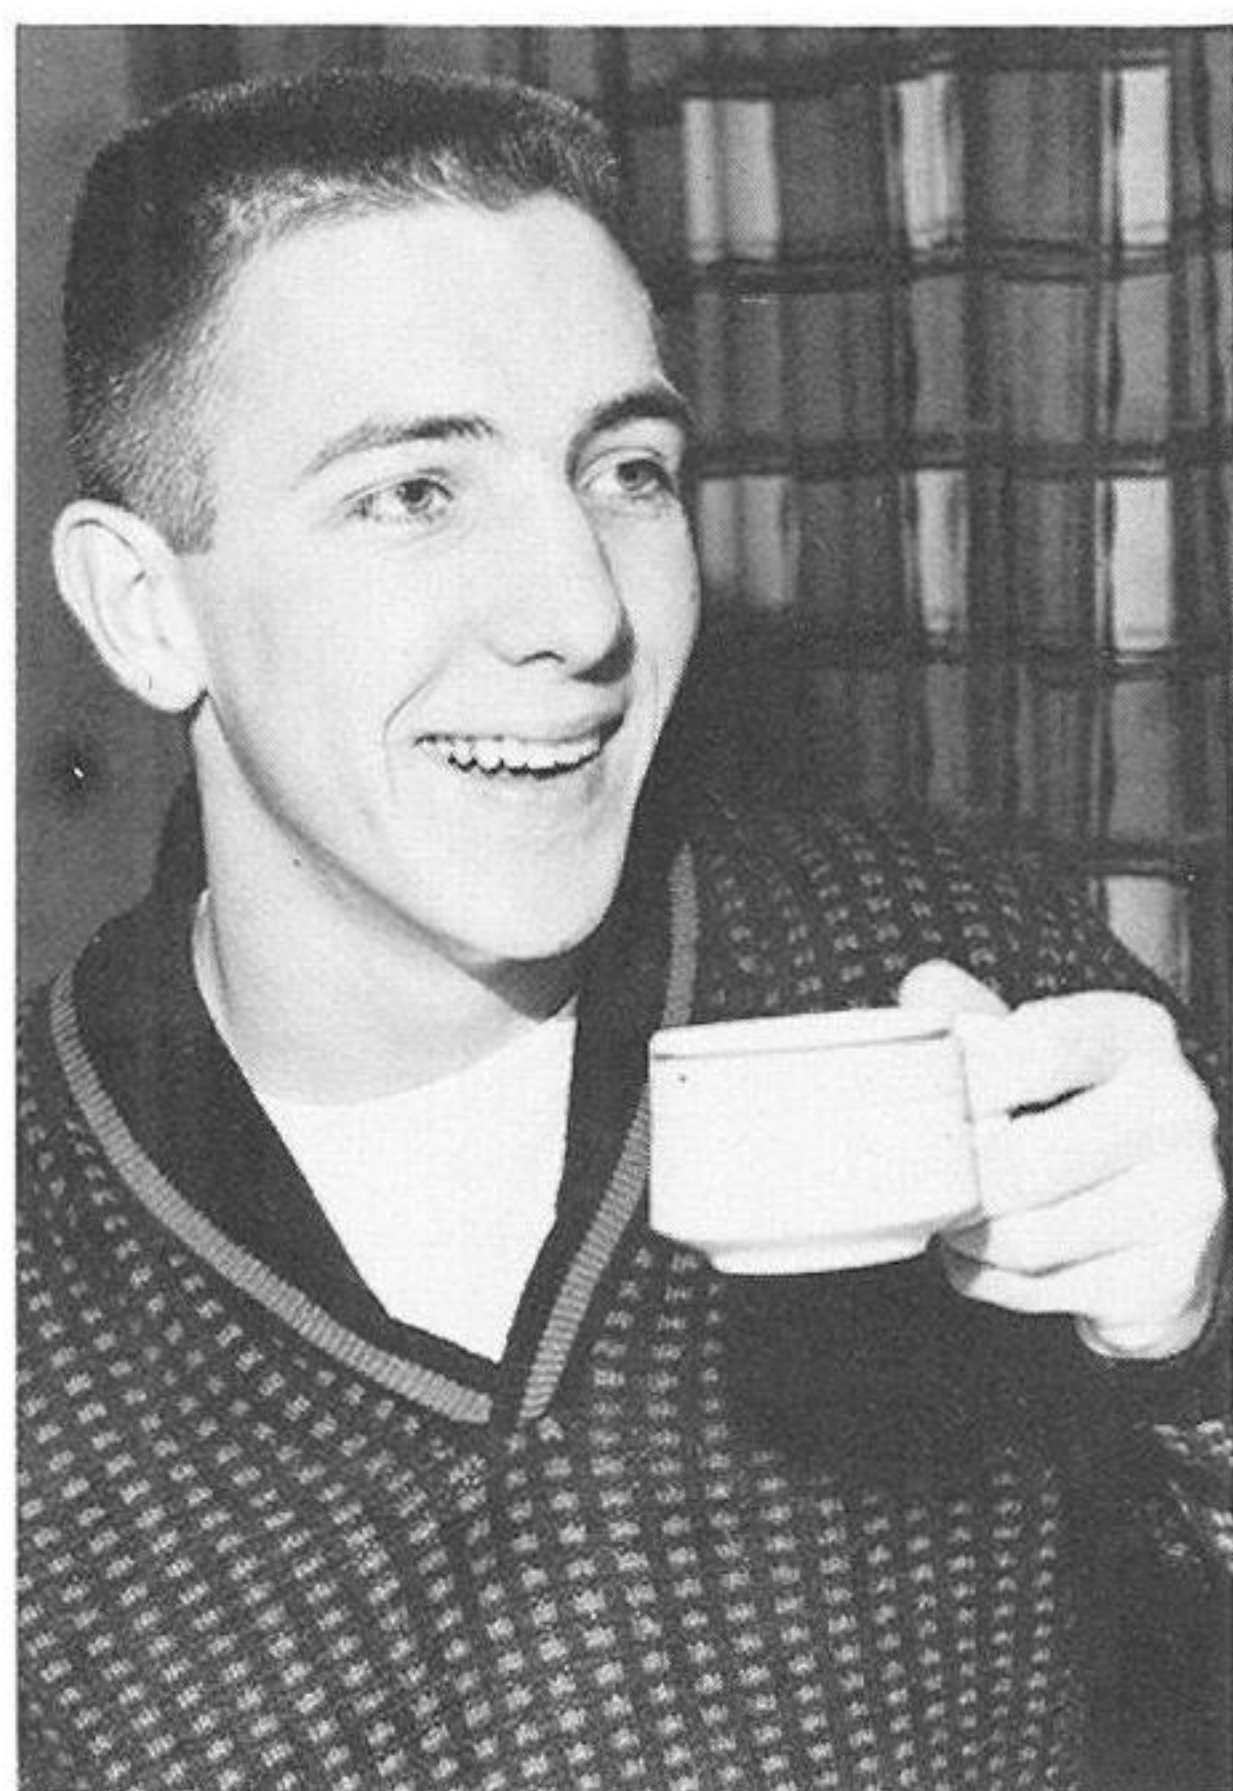

The Allerlei officers are Voldemar Vask, James Blankenbaker, Terence Finegan and Donald Torrence.

Co-operative and companionable, the Allerlei man has enjoyed the year's activities, swum in the sea of knowledge, supported the Husky athletes, and, above all, loved being an Allerlei independent.

Social functions for the year included exchanges, dances, a theater party, and our beach party with the sand-covered hot-dogs. Spontaneous informal gatherings and impromptu parties tested the ingenuity and capacity of the eager participants.

This year's scholastic and social endeavors were enhanced by our zealous participation in intramural football, basketball and bowling. With determination and spirit unusual for so small a group, Allerlei's outnumbered once-a-week athletes often shocked the opposition to emerge victorious or blissfully exhausted. Ample evidence of our athletic fervor were the "aches and pains" of the more aggressive.

The University Christian Union, an interdenominational organized men's house, provides an environment in which personal Christian growth is emphasized.

As the twenty-fifth year of the UCU is brought to a close, a reminiscence of the past year brings to mind many highlights in Christian fellowship, activities, and achievements. The year began with a retreat at The Firs in Bellingham and was climaxed with the UCU's annual Spring Initiation Banquet. Included in the activity calendar was intramural bowling, softball, ping-pong, and basketball. Also, won for the third consecutive time was the Blood Drive Trophy given for 100 per cent participation.

Wesley House

Wesley House, at the corner of 42nd and 15th N.E., is the home of thirty-two Methodist preference women. Activities include parties, money-making projects, exchanges, and participation in Wesley Club social and religious functions. Christian fellowship provides an opportunity for expression and leadership training in preparing for a more meaningful life as students and members of the Church.

Rev. and Mrs. Frank Goodnough are the directors of Wesley House. Miss Marjorie Kennedy and Miss Edna Curtis served as resident advisors this year.

Eklind Hall

After two years on campus and one quarter of preclinical experience learning basic nursing skills, students receive their long-awaited white caps in a traditional ceremony. From that time on, two exciting, busy years are ahead with classes and duty experience on medical, surgical and obstetrical floors. Affiliations at Children's Orthopedic Hospital, Northern State Hospital, Firland Sanitarium and King County Public Health Nursing widen their experience and provide opportunities to train at other hospitals.

Off-duty hours bring fun and relaxation in various activities, such as the student-intern basketball game and Christmas caroling in the hospital during the holidays. We, as a student body and individually, actively participate in student nurse government—state and nationally. This year's state nursing convention was held in Tacoma. Two Swedish girls were elected officers. Glenda Farrell was elected first vice-president and Barbara Nyberg second vice-president.

Harborview Hall

As each day in the past year hurried by, we student nurses found ourselves discovering more about patients and the nursing skills involved in caring for them. We really became a part of the hospital team. Each girl eventually enjoys experiences in the various fields of surgery, medicine, pediatrics, obstetrics, psychiatry and public health. All these experiences lead to the important day of graduation.

Besides devoting time to nursing we busily carried on student body activities, and fall quarter found us busy sending delegates to the State of Washington Association of Nursing Students Convention. Throughout the remainder of the year we took part in exchanges, worked on our Mental Health project, collected clothes for patients of Northern State Hospital, sponsored an all-Harborview Hall Christmas caroling party and enjoyed many informal get-togethers. The new University nursing program kept us busy assisting students on campus towards forming a new student body. One of the biggest events was a style show featuring nursing uniforms through the years with the new University uniform as the highlight.

ASSOCIATION
ASSOCIATION

▶ The campus scene is enriched by a variegated assortment of clubs, honoraries and committees with interests which range from political to religious to professional to just plain social. And yet, despite the variety, for all of these groups there is a two-part common denominator, which consists of cooperation and common interest.

All of these groups are dependent on the cooperation of the students who form them. A single campus event such as Parents' Weekend requires mountains of cooperation and teamwork, such as the planning sessions of committees or the practice work and final precision performance of the military drill teams, pictured at left.

And as all people tend to band together with others who like similar things and believe as they do, so do University students. In professional honoraries they become acquainted with others who speak the same academic jargon, work together on projects and emerge with lasting professional ties. Others find a common bond of religion, political views, national background or a common interest in recreation or just talking.

But for all of these students, association with others provides a stimulating and enriching filler for the extra hours, an increased feeling of belonging and of being a part of the campus, a way of making friends and a store of memories for future years.

A lecture at the High School Preprofessional Conference.

Alpha Epsilon Delta is a national premedical honor society, and Beta chapter has been active on the Washington campus since 1948. The organization requires a grade point average of 3.1 in 75 hours of premed work for membership. Its goal is to unite similarly interested students. Lectures by members of the medical profession, medical movies and the annual spring membership banquet serve to achieve this purpose.

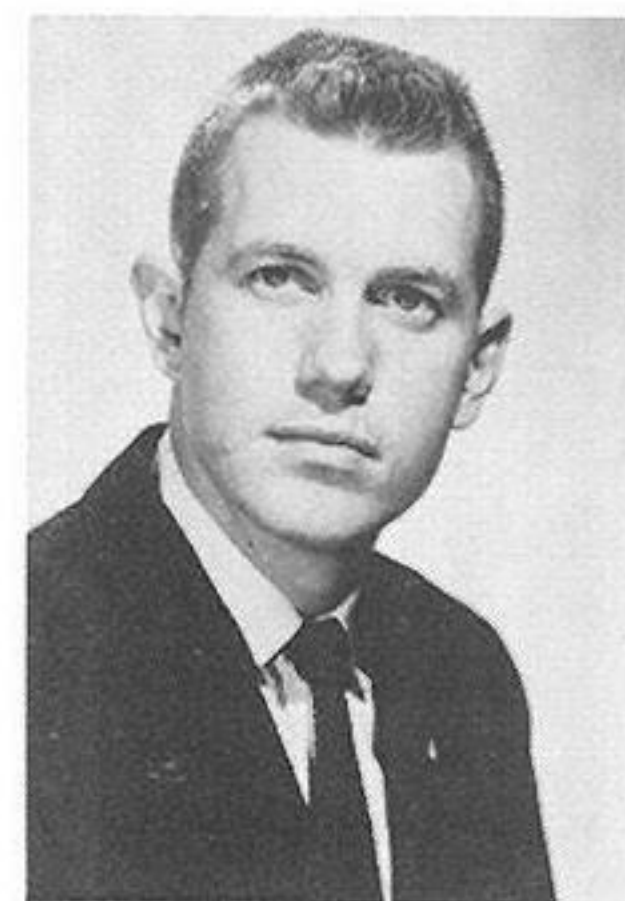

The high point of this year's program was the High School Preprofessional Conference which was attended by 300 high school students interested in medicine, dentistry and related fields. Under the direction of Dr. Gayle Wilson Alpha Epsilon Delta members inspected the laboratory and viewed an autopsy at the King County Morgue. In addition they spent a day at the Rainier State School in Buckley, which featured a tour of the facilities and of a clinic dealing with mentally retarded children.

Alpha Kappa Psi, the first and oldest commerce fraternity in the United States, was founded on October 5, 1904, at New York University in New York City. Rho chapter at the University of Washington was installed in 1919, becoming the seventeenth chapter. Each year Alpha Kappa Psi sponsors professional programs with outstanding speakers from the business world and from education. In addition the fraternity promotes industrial tours, special commerce school events and social activities. As members of the fraternity are drawn from all fields of the Business College, a program of broad diversification and interest is possible. Activities are directed to alumni, faculty and university service as well as developing members.

The high point of the year was the national convention which was held in Seattle. This provided an opportunity to meet with students from 112 chapters of the organization and learn what is happening in other schools.

Alpha Tau Delta

Nursing Fraternity

Alpha Tau Delta is a women's nursing fraternity formed in 1921 at Berkeley, California. Delta Chapter at the University of Washington was established in 1936. Eligibility for membership requires completion of two quarters in the School of Nursing, with an accumulated grade point of 2.75. Registered Nurses enrolled at the University may become members.

Delta Chapter has had an active year. The pledge class project was to collect clothing for the women at Northern State Hospital. They also went on a field trip to the hospital. A family was adopted for the year. At one meeting they had a guest speaker who demonstrated hypnosis. To increase funds, they sold tickets to a play, had a dinner and a car wash.

The goals of Alpha Tau Delta are to promote higher educational standards for women in nursing and unite members in service for their profession.

Arena

Drama Honorary

Arena is the Drama honorary, designed to recognize theatrical proficiency and to operate as a service group for its functions. The organization sponsors two annual teas, one to welcome new Drama and transfer students, and the second to present awards for outstanding contributions in acting, technical work, puppetry and creative dramatics. Arena adds new members each quarter on the basis of academic standing, artistic or technical ability and character.

Each quarter Arena offers and reassigns a full tuition scholarship for one of its members. This scholarship is awarded on academic standing, need, and contribution both to the school of Drama and the organization.

Big "W" Club is the varsity lettermen's honorary organization. More than this, the club is a service organization, dedicated to raising the standards of spirit and traditions at Washington. The purpose of the club is to strengthen the bonds between participants of varsity athletics and help promote interest and spirit in athletics at Washington. Big "W" members attend athletic contests together as a sign of athlete backing athlete.

The club holds bi-monthly meetings to discuss and help solve problems which may arise from student participation in athletics. They also hold a picnic and the "Varsity Ball," for which the club annually picks a "Miss Varsity." Membership in Big "W" is limited to varsity letter-winners in major sports.

Beta Gamma Sigma

Business Fraternity

Beta Gamma Sigma is the highest scholastic honorary attainable in the field of business administration. Its chief aim is to encourage and reward scholastic accomplishment among business students and to promote the advancement of education in the art and science of business. Beta Gamma Sigma hopes to foster integrity in the conduct of business operations.

Senior members, who qualify with a 3.3 grade point average, are elected from the top ten per cent of the graduating class. Junior members must have a 3.5 grade point average and are selected from the highest four per cent of last quarter juniors.

Kappa Psi

Men's Pharmacy Honorary

Kappa Psi is a professional fraternity whose requirement for membership is dedication to upholding the high professional standards of pharmacy. The organization aims to foster high scholarship, pharmaceutical research and progress. Beta Omicron chapter joined the now 51 chapters of Kappa Psi in 1916. Since that time, the relationship between the brotherhood and the College of Pharmacy has been highly influential for both. The year's activities included the fall cruise, the national convention and All-Pharmacy Week.

Lambda Kappa Sigma

Women's Pharmacy Honorary

Lambda Kappa Sigma is a national sorority for women in pharmacy. Its purpose is to promote friendship, high scholarship and professional interest in pharmacy. Annual activities include the Founders' Day and Hygeia Day programs; initiation banquet; a dessert party given by Dean Orr's wife and several rush parties. They conducted sales in Bagley Hall of candy, past State Board examinations, and laboratory jackets. This year they also sponsored a bowling team in the intramural pharmacy league.

Mortar Board

National Senior Women's Honorary

The members of Mortar Board, national senior women's honor society, are chosen each spring from outstanding junior women who exemplify the three ideals of scholarship, leadership and service. These ideals then guide the members each year in their activities.

During the past year Mortar Board published a monthly Cultural Calendar, sent college panel discussion groups to Seattle high schools, and honored junior women with a 3.00 or higher grade average at a Valentine's Day Tea. Two tuition scholarships were given from the proceeds of the annual Candy Cane Sale.

Through its activities Mortar Board strives to develop college loyalty and a finer type of college woman at the University of Washington. Each year a plaque is given to the sophomore and junior girl who best exemplify these qualities through outstanding scholarship, leadership and service.

One of the main goals of Oval Club is the gaining of student unity and cooperation. This goal is reflected by the group's watchword "Service to Washington." To accomplish this, Oval Club selects juniors and seniors for membership each fall and spring who have shown outstanding leadership in student affairs.

This year's activities included fostering three new services to Washington: placing a fact-a-day in the University of Washington Daily concerning our university, a lecture series at Meany Hall to inform students about their university and a student speaker's bureau to promote the University off campus.

The leaders and members of Oval Club will continue to meet their obligations with the motto "Service to Washington" foremost in their minds.

Later in the summer, many of the members picked berries for the Christmas jam sale, held in conjunction with the Home Economics Bazaar in Raitt Hall in early December. We also gave a presentation on family finances to a Seattle PTA group.

We held two initiations, one in November and one in the middle of spring quarter. To become a member of Omicron Nu, a home economics major must be in the top 10% of the junior or in the top 20% of the senior class. She must have maintained a grade point average above 3.0.

Pan Xenia

Foreign Trade Fraternity

During the past year Pan Xenia has continued to bring in speakers who thoroughly understood the business conditions and the cultural complexities of foreign areas. This was done in an attempt to broaden the educational scope of the members and really stems from the thought that free trade based on expert knowledge will result in better standards of living all over the world.

We also built up the informal aspects of organization life. The free, sometimes heated discussions, and the strong friendships between members of different races and creeds will serve in a small way to break down cultural barriers and reduce assertions of racial or national superiority.

Pershing Rifles

Pershing Rifles officers: Doug Helland, Robert Ebert, Richard Poelker, Ronald Guiberson, Gerald Barman.

Pershing Rifles is an honorary society open to outstanding men in the basic army ROTC program. These men receive guidance essential for success and advancement in the ROTC program. The Army Drill Team, sponsored by Pershing Rifles, marched in the Wenatchee Apple Blossom Parade, Blossom Festival at Bellingham, Daffodil Festival, Scabbard and Blade all-University drill competition and hosted the 11th Regiment drill competition in April. Pershing Riflemen were on the color guard for several basketball games. Company B's social program included the all-campus Military Ball, the Pershing Rifles initiation dinner-dance at Fort Lawton Officer's Club and the dinner-dance following the regimental competition.

Phi Beta Kappa

Scholastic Honorary

Phi Beta Kappa, founded in 1776 at the College of William and Mary, is the oldest Greek letter society in the United States. The University Chapter, Washington Alpha, was founded in 1914. Election to Phi Beta Kappa has been a recognition of intellectual capacities well-employed, especially in acquiring an education in the liberal arts and sciences.

In cooperation with the graduate group, The Puget Sound Association of Phi Beta Kappa, a book award program based on scholarship is annually made to seniors in 35 high schools in promotion of good scholarship.

Two of three winners of the annual $150 Phi Beta Kappa Scholarship Prizes at the Scholarship Banquet are congratulated by University President Charles E. Odegaard. They are Dorothea Widger, a freshman, and David Hendrie, a senior. Lucy Pullen of Longview was not present.

The Society of the Purple Shield is a scholastic and activities honorary comprised of sophomore, junior and senior male students. To be eligible for membership one must be an underclassman having at least a 2.67 grade-point accumulative, one quarter of 3.0 or better and a minimum of six approved activity points. These points must be earned in either recognized University of Washington athletics or in ASUW sponsored activities and committees.

This past year Purple Shield has been very active. Fall quarter we reorganized the Society, drawing up a new constitution, formulating new by-laws and revising the point system.

Winter quarter saw the Society awarding a scholarship to the outstanding bandsman of the year and at the same time paying tribute to Bill Cole and the Marching Band. We also enjoyed a dinner-dance which was given in honor of the new members of the Society.

During spring quarter we had our customary post-business meeting speaker. We also publicly voiced our opinions on many of the campus issues.

Pi Lambda Theta is a national honor and professional association for women in education. Its purpose is to maintain the highest standards of scholarship and professional preparation and to foster professional spirit and fellowship. This will be accomplished by working to further the cause of democratic education, co-operating in the solution of problems which interpenetrate varied fields and by encouraging graduate work and stimulating research.

Rho Chi

Pharmacy Honor Society

Rho Chi Society, the Pharmacy Honor Society, promotes advancement of the Pharmaceutical sciences through the encouragement and recognition of intellectual scholarship. The National Society, indicative of the interest of Rho Chi members in research, has established a Cumulative Research Fund which is allowed to grow to $10,000 before awards for research are made.

This year our Rho chapter of the National Society published and sold quarterly editions of the "Third Floor Gazette," a newsletter for all pharmacy students. The proceeds are awarded as a scholarship to the freshman pharmacy student with the highest grade-point average.

Due to the change to the five year pharmacy curriculum, Rho Chi has changed its requirements. A five year student must have maintained a 3.0 grade average and have completed 70% of his course work. During winter quarter Philip Catalfomo, graduate, Albert Kalisker, senior, John Prugh, graduate, and Dale Ternahan, senior, were initiated at the annual initiation banquet.

Women's Rally Committee Honorary is an organization created to build spirit on the University of Washington Campus. All interested girls are invited to the first meeting which is held early in the fall. On the basis of points earned by sign painting, house announcements, work on card stunts, etc., the number of girls is narrowed down to 75 at the beginning of Winter quarter. Freshman Song Leaders who have done any work for Rally Girls are also accepted. Active members are chosen at the end of Winter Quarter on the basis of enthusiasm and participation. Varsity Songleaders are accepted as honorary active members.

This year Rally was especially active because the University went to the Rose Bowl. They participated in many of the Homecoming activities and started the year with the Rally Girl-Sundodger breakfast on the morning of Homecoming. They also participated in rallies and other social events. Again this year the annual Songfest was a success.

The National Society of Scabbard and Blade is an honorary organization of Army, Navy and Air Force upper division cadets and midshipmen. At present there are 128 active companies of Scabbard and Blade. "I" company of the First Regiment was organized on this campus in 1914. Members are selected on the basis of academic achievement, university activities, military leadership and the recommendations of their respective commanding officers. They must have qualities of leadership, integrity and honesty.

On the social side, they sponsor an annual Military Ball where the Military Queen is crowned for the coming year.

The Eta Chapter of Sigma Epsilon Sigma, underclassmen's national scholastic honorary, began the new year by initiating 54 for membership. In order to be eligible for membership, these girls had to have maintained at least a 3.5 grade-point average during their Freshman year completing a minimum of 40 hours of credit.

At the Scholarship Banquet Sigma Epsilon Sigma presented Margaret Solibakke, one of its members, with a scholarship. Members worked industriously to raise money for future scholarships. They carried on a light bulb project in which members sold light bulbs in the Seattle area with the famous slogan, "Have a Heart, Give a Scholarship."

These girls worked diligently to keep up their scholastic record while contributing worthwhile service to the University. They try to stimulate others to set high academic goals.

Silver Fish is an honorary organization for women. Thirty-one members, chosen for their swimming ability, were tapped in the fall. During Winter Quarter they learned many skills and synchronized stroking. They had a swim symposium with groups similar to theirs from other Washington colleges. Through this they added many new and interesting ideas to their club.

Spring Quarter was filled with practices for Aqua Fantasies, the annual swim show that is given with the Husky Swim Club. The members of both clubs chose the music, and wrote and taught the numbers to the rest of the group.

Founded on the University of Washington campus in 1909, Theta Sigma Phi has a membership based on scholarship and the desire to enter a communications profession.

Each spring Theta Sigma Phi sponsors the Matrix Table Banquet. Other activities include bringing communication speakers to campus, compiling the annual alumni Christmas news letter and running the Communications Building coffee shop. The honorary also co-sponsors with Sigma Delta Chi an annual Christmas party for Communications faculty and staff and the annual Senior Banquet.

Saiyuk Society

Saiyuk Society is an honorary organization which, through its selection of new members, recognizes service and leadership in the Men's Residence Halls of the University of Washington.

The activities of the organization are limited in scope by the small size of the membership. Saiyuk sponsors a scholarship trophy which is awarded in the Fall to the House within the Men's Residence Hall that maintains the highest accumulative grade point. Dotson House was this year's recipient of the award.

In the past year, Saiyuk Society established a Man-of-the-Month award. Each month the individual who best exhibits the attributes of service and leadership will receive a rotating trophy and have his name engraved upon a plaque in the Lander Hall main lounge.

From year to year Saiyuk Society strives not only to recognize those who deserve recognition, but also to serve the Men's Residence Halls so as to make them a more pleasant place to live.

The Tau Beta Pi Association was founded at Lehigh University in 1885 by Edward H. Williams, Jr. to mark in a fitting manner those who have conferred honor upon their Alma Mater by distinguished scholarship and exemplary character as undergraduates in engineering, or by their attainments as alumni in the field of engineering, and to foster a spirit of liberal culture in the engineering colleges of America.

High scholarship, integrity, wide interests, adaptability and unselfish activity are required of members. This year a Women's Badge of Honor was awarded to Eleanor Ellingsworth, a Mechanical Engineering student.

Chapter activities this year included the awarding of the Outstanding Freshman Engineering Student Prize, a display for Engineering Open House, free tutoring for freshman engineering students and the publication of the Guide Book for freshman engineers.

Totem Club

Activities Honorary

The totem pole is an old Indian symbol for honor and history. At the University of Washington the totem pole is the symbol of the junior and senior women's service honorary.

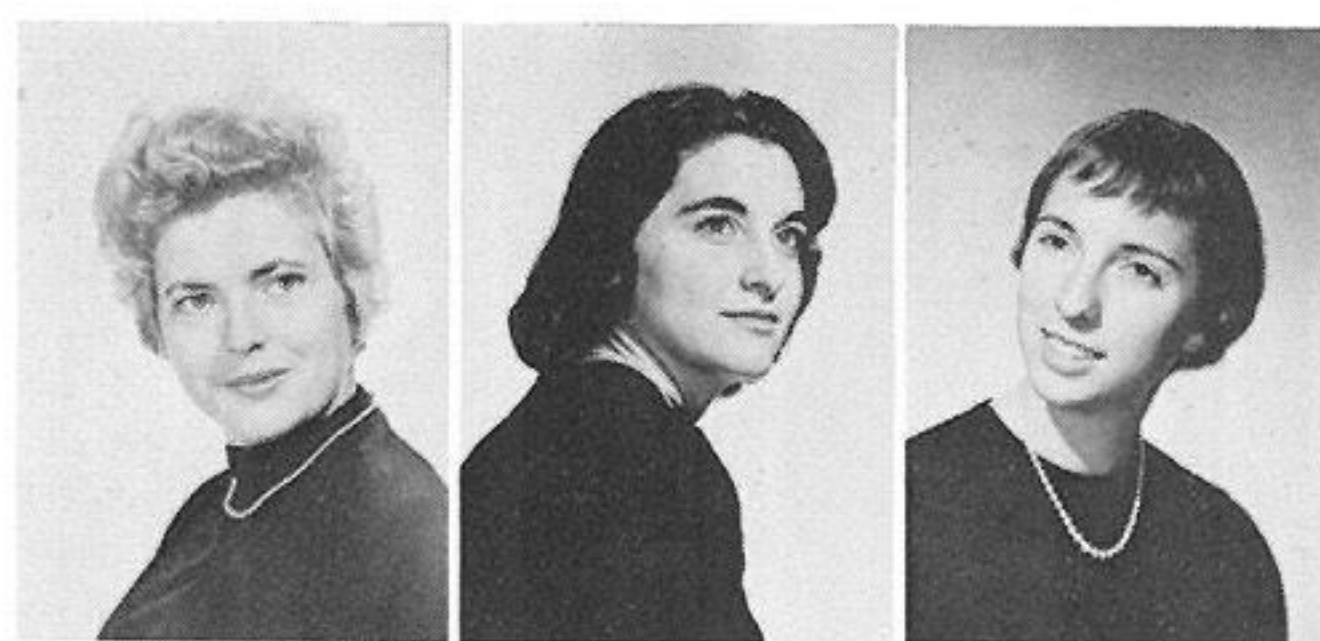

Its members are chosen twice a year, in the fall and in the spring, from a list of women that have an outstanding activity record, 90 academic credits and a 2.3 grade average.

The purpose of the Club is to serve Washington. The organization is found only at the University of Washington.

Totem Club offers an annual scholarship, this year the funds were offered to a foreign student from Pakistan.

Totem Club stresses unity and friendship. This year the funds were offered members attend university lectures, banquets and concerts, serving as hostesses when needed.

The Varsity Boat Club is an organization made up of oarsmen, coxswains and managers who have turned out for crew for six quarters and have been voted into membership. Its main function is to promote rowing at Washington along with the high standards and traditions that are associated with the sport.

The Varsity Boat Club governs the oarsmen's living group that resides at the Conibear Shellhouse just east of the campus.

The Varsity Boat Club has a social season that includes three quarters of social life packed into a quarter and a half, ending in February with the Varsity Boat Club formal. After this, serious training starts. The racing season this year began in April and ends in July with the trials for the Olympic Games.

W-Key has had a busy and enjoyable year as a service honorary on campus. They started fall quarter by hostessing a Frosh Preview. Throughout the rest of the quarter they served at the High School Leadership Conference, held their Christmas party for the old members of W-Key, and began work on the Candy Sale.

The Candy Sale is the biggest single project of W-Key. Once again this year it was successful and the money went into a freshman scholarship, the recipient of which was chosen by their group during the Spring. In addition, they served at such functions as Gracias party and the Winter Elections banquet. They also tried something new in having the members of W-Key go to all of the organized living groups and talk to the Freshmen about the functions and requirements of their organization.

Spring quarter they selected new members, awarded their scholarship, and hostessed during Parents' Weekend. Working this past year as a member of W-Key has come to mean much to each girl. It will be one of the outstanding highlights of their Sophomore year in looking back over their college careers.

Zeta Phi Eta

Women's Speech Arts Honorary

Zeta Phi Eta is a national speech arts professional fraternity for women. Mu Chapter was founded at the University of Washington in 1930. Members are students in general speech, speech therapy, speech education, radio, television or drama. To be selected one must have an accumulative grade point of 2.5 and at least a 3.0 in his major field. The purpose of the organization is to build a professional philosophy for women in speech, to make the fraternity an aid and stimulus after graduation, and to stimulate and encourage all worthy speech and dramatic enterprises.

Alpha Delta Sigma is the men's national advertising fraternity. The University of Washington's Robert W. Jones Chapter selects its members from journalism-advertising majors who have shown exceptional aptitude and interest in the advertising field.

This year they have had meetings at the professional offices of many local promotional groups, such as the Hearst Advertising Service, Boeing Public Relations Department and Pacific National Advertising Agency.

Alpha Delta Sigma is an active honorary which attempts to bridge the gap between the undergraduate and the professional men already in the field. The chapter has been a valuable and enjoyable aid to its members this year.

Mu Tau was established on the University of Washington campus by the senior medical technology students in 1952. The purposes of the organization are to strive toward a high ideal in scholarship, to promote a feeling of cooperation and unity among students entering the field and to achieve a better understanding of medical technology and related fields. Mu Tau attempts to keep the members up-to-date about new information concerning medical technology. Membership is open to medical technology majors who have completed five quarters of work in the field and have an accumulative grade-point average of 2.5.

Zeta Mu Tau

Mathematics Honorary

Zeta Mu Tau, undergraduate mathematics honorary, is designed to honor those students in the fields of pure and applied science who have shown a proficiency in mathematics.

Election to membership is based on general character requirements and a suitable scholastic record. Additional requirements include an accumulative grade point of 3.0 and a demonstrated proficiency in mathematics upon the completion of analytical geometry and calculus.

The activities for the year have included the tapping for new members with the initiation and banquet following. Zeta Mu Tau members have met throughout the year to hear distinguished speakers from the University faculty.

Pi Omicron Sigma

Inter-Fraternity Honorary

Pi Omicron Sigma was founded in 1954 by Rocky Lindell and James Noe, past presidents of Inter-Fraternity Council, and Glen Nygreen, then IFC adviser, to recognize and honor senior fraternity members who have made an effective contribution to fraternity welfare and given promise of continuing to work towards maintaining and extending the good name and educational leadership of this fraternity system.

The name Pi Omicron Sigma was chosen for the following significance: Pi is the first letter of the Greek word Politeria, meaning citizenship, the responsible membership in the body of citizens. Omicron is from the word Oikonomia, translated as stewardship, working around the house. Sigma is from the word Scholia, meaning scholarship, the scholarly use of leisure time.

Air Force ROTC Drill Team

The University of Washington Air Force ROTC drill team represented the University and the Air Force through activity in various parades and competitions during the 1959-60 season. The team is composed of basic cadets with a staff of advanced cadets under the command of Cadet Lt. Colonel Jon M. Veigel.

Competitions were held with other Air Force ROTC drill teams from Washington State University, College of Puget Sound, Central Washington College of Education, and Portland University. The team also competed with the Army and Navy ROTC drill teams from this campus. The drill team participated in the Veterans' Day Parade at Centralia, the Daffodil Parade at Tacoma, and the Luther Burbank Rose Festival Parade at Santa Barbara, California. The invitational meet at Santa Rosa was the highlight of the season. Teams throughout the United States are invited to compete in the parade for position and cash awards.

Air Force ROTC drill team members include, front row: J. W. Hamilton, D. S. Shankland, B. G. Barrett, D. H. MacKinnon, R. J. McIver, G. G. Tuttle, R. C. Saxton, T. Lacey. Second row: J. M. Veigel, J. Adelphi

Established in 1930, Adelphi, an association for independent men, celebrated its 30th Anniversary this year. Adelphi gives the opportunity for a more active University life through social, service and athletic activities. The endeavors of Adelphi are determined by the interests of the members; the club's facilities are available to any independent man.

The social calendar for the year contained many different types of functions. The most outstanding exchange was with Phrateres at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver. A "Beatnik" dance proved to be very popular. Beau Brummel was the scene for the annual Initiation Banquet and Ball.

Adelphi has placed men in important positions on boards and committees since its organization. It presently has a member on the Board of Control.

Being a service organization, Adelphi aided the March of Dimes drive by providing "truck" service for the high school peanut sale. Toys and clothing were collected for needy persons during the Christmas season.

American Institute of Chemical Engineers

The parent chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers was established in 1908. The student chapter at the University of Washington obtained its charter in 1940.

Advancement and maintenance of high professional standards of its members and furtherance of chemical engineering in theory and practice are the alternate goals of this institute.

Various activities in which the students have participated this year include out-of-town field trips, the regional student chapter convention, Engineering Open House and other Engineering Council activities.

The Mines Society of AIME is the student chapter of the national professional society for mining, metallurgical and petroleum engineers. The purpose of the group is to promote interest and education in the mineral industries.

Meetings usually include a guest speaker or a movie concerning mining or geology. Once a year students of AIME provide the program at a meeting of the northwest chapter of the national organization.

American Society for Metals

The American Society for Metals is composed of young men who are interested in the various fields of metallurgy. The purpose of the chapter is to acquaint the student more intimately with metallurgy than can be accomplished in the classroom and to develop and promote an interest in metals.

During the year members of the society participated in metallurgy conventions, intramural sports, the Engineering Open House, a spring picnic and heard speakers from Shell Oil, Boeing and General Electric.

The purpose of the student branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association is to encourage the advancement of pharmacy as a science and as a profession, especially in fostering education in matters involving pharmacy in all of its branches and applications.

Membership in the organization consists of students in the University School of Pharmacy, and constitutes membership in the American Pharmaceutical Association.

The student branch held regular noon business meetings each month. Also, as a means of fostering professional attitudes in the field of pharmacy, guest speakers of professional interest were a part of the regular quarterly evening meetings.

This past academic year, the students issued its annual "Pharma-Cell" publication which was sent to all colleges of pharmacy throughout the United States and widely distributed to pharmacists and related organizations in Washington State. This publication offered an opportunity for the students to freely express their views on matters pertaining to the profession as well as a means of communication between colleges of pharmacy throughout the country. An "All Pharmacy Day" during spring quarter was high lighted by an awards luncheon and was held in cooperation with other colleges of pharmacy throughout the country.

American Society of Civil Engineers

The purpose of the student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers is to help the student prepare himself for entry into the profession and the Society. To do this the chapter must be an educational as well as a social organization. The first is realized by program meetings that feature talks by practicing engineers, field trips to various construction works, and movies pertaining to civil engineering. It is also accomplished by sponsoring students who want to compete in student paper competitions. To be a social organization, the chapter must provide for various social get-togethers.

For the 1959-60 school year, the chapter spent a good deal of its time organizing and preparing for the 1960 Engineering Open House in an effort to retain the trophy for the third consecutive time. Although the intramural teams did not pull down any first places, there was always a good showing. The ASCE's had teams entered in bowling, football, water polo, track, softball and basketball. In the social light, the Autumn quarter dance proved to be a great success, as was the spring picnic. With additional program meetings of speakers and movies, the student chapter closed another year of well-rounded activities.

On stairs: Gene Bolin, president; Forrest Franklin, social chairman; John Steinbrink, treasurer; Walker Douglas, publicity chairman; Janice Bailey, church representative.

Baptist Student Union

The Campus Religious Council is composed of those religious groups recognized by the ASUW who have ratified the CRC constitution. Each member group has as a voting representative to the Council the president or member of the executive committee of that particular group. There are two ex-officio non-voting members, the president and the secretary-treasurer, both of whom are elected from the religious groups.

This was primarily a year of rebuilding CRC. A revised constitution was first ratified by the respective groups. Following this, the group set out to establish its goals. Indeed, the question they attempted to answer was, "What effective thing in conformance with the Council's purpose can the religious groups as a unified whole do which they could not do individually?" This purpose is to obtain the freedom from the oppression of, and then to express, the religious idea to all students. Also the answer to the question, "How can we do this?" was being studied.

The Baptist Student Union is the link between the Baptist student on the college campus and the local church. Its purpose is to conserve and help train students for effective Christian discipleship. It functions to remind each student of his responsibility to Christ, his church, and of his obligation as a Christian citizen to the world in which he lives. It also provides inspiration, information, and fellowship which create the spiritual climate essential for Christian growth while in college.

Activities of the BSU for this year have included a fall pre-school retreat, the Oregon-Washington BSU convention, held in Richland, Washington, a ski retreat in January, spring state planning conference and spring banquet. Vesper services were held on Tuesdays and Thursdays of each week and a Bible discussion and fellowship each Saturday evening.

The Baptist Student Union of the University of Washington is a member group of the Oregon-Washington division of the national organization which has BSU's on 425 campuses in the nation.

CRC members include:

Carol Allen—Hillel
 Dave Biles—Wesley Club
 Loring Cannon—Presbyterian Student Fellowship
 Ken Davis—Husky Christian Fellowship
 Wendy DeLacy—Christian Science Organization
 Walker Douglas—Baptist Student Union
 Deni Edens—Secretary-Treasurer

Campus Religious Council

All students and faculty at the University of Washington interested in the study of Christian Science are invited to become Christian Science members. Testimony meetings are held each Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Here students of Christian Science share experiences and testimonies of healing which have resulted through the study and application of Christian Science.

Christian Science Organization activities during the year included fall and spring receptions and Christian Science lectures winter and spring quarter.

This year's executive board included: Wendy DeLacy, president; Frank Voorhees, vice president; Kathy Moran, secretary; Ann Johnson, clerk; Carolyn Deuter, treasurer.

The Organization building at 4305 15th N.E. is open every school day from 7:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for the use of students and faculty.

Christian Science Organization

Organization members maintain the facilities of the building for use of all students and faculty members.

Students are provided with a place to study the Bible, the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, and all other Christian Science literature.

American Society of Mechanical Engineers

The purpose of the student chapter of The American Society of Mechanical Engineers is to encourage professional development through active participation in engineering student activities and fraternal contact with practicing engineers. Membership is open to all engineering students.

In addition to regular chapter meetings, members participate in field trips to local industries, annual picnics and social functions, intramural sports, Northwest Section Student Conference of ASME, the technical paper contest and biennial Engineering Open House which was held this year. The group was advised by Paul Waibler.

Corvettes

Corvettes has been active this year under the guidance of Joanne Granstrand, Captain, and Lt. Bray, USN. Fall quarter the many pledges kept busy sailing, helping on the various committees and helping hostess at the Military Staff Christmas party. Winter quarter, the pledges were initiated into Corvettes at the Sandpoint Naval Officer's Club. They helped Compass and Chart plan their annual Ring Dance. Sailing resumed in the spring as plans got under way for Governor's Day and for the Military Ball sponsored by Scabbard and Blade. All year the members helped put out the NROTC paper, the BIN-NACLE, and maintained the canteen in Clark Hall for hungry Navy students.

Chi Alpha is a fellowship group representing the Assembly of God Churches. The group met at noon during the week in the HUB with local pastors for discussion and Christian fellowship.

Chi Alpha is open to all students interested in fellowship and a chance to get acquainted with other students in a Christian atmosphere.

At Cosmopolitan Club gatherings people with interests of an international scope found fun, friends and lively discussions. Monthly social events included dances, theater parties, participation in International Weekends, the International Banquet and other excursions that got weary students away from campus for intellectual fun and games.

Cosmo

Students from around the world met for weekly discussions.

The seniors are busy at work in the new dental hygiene clinic.

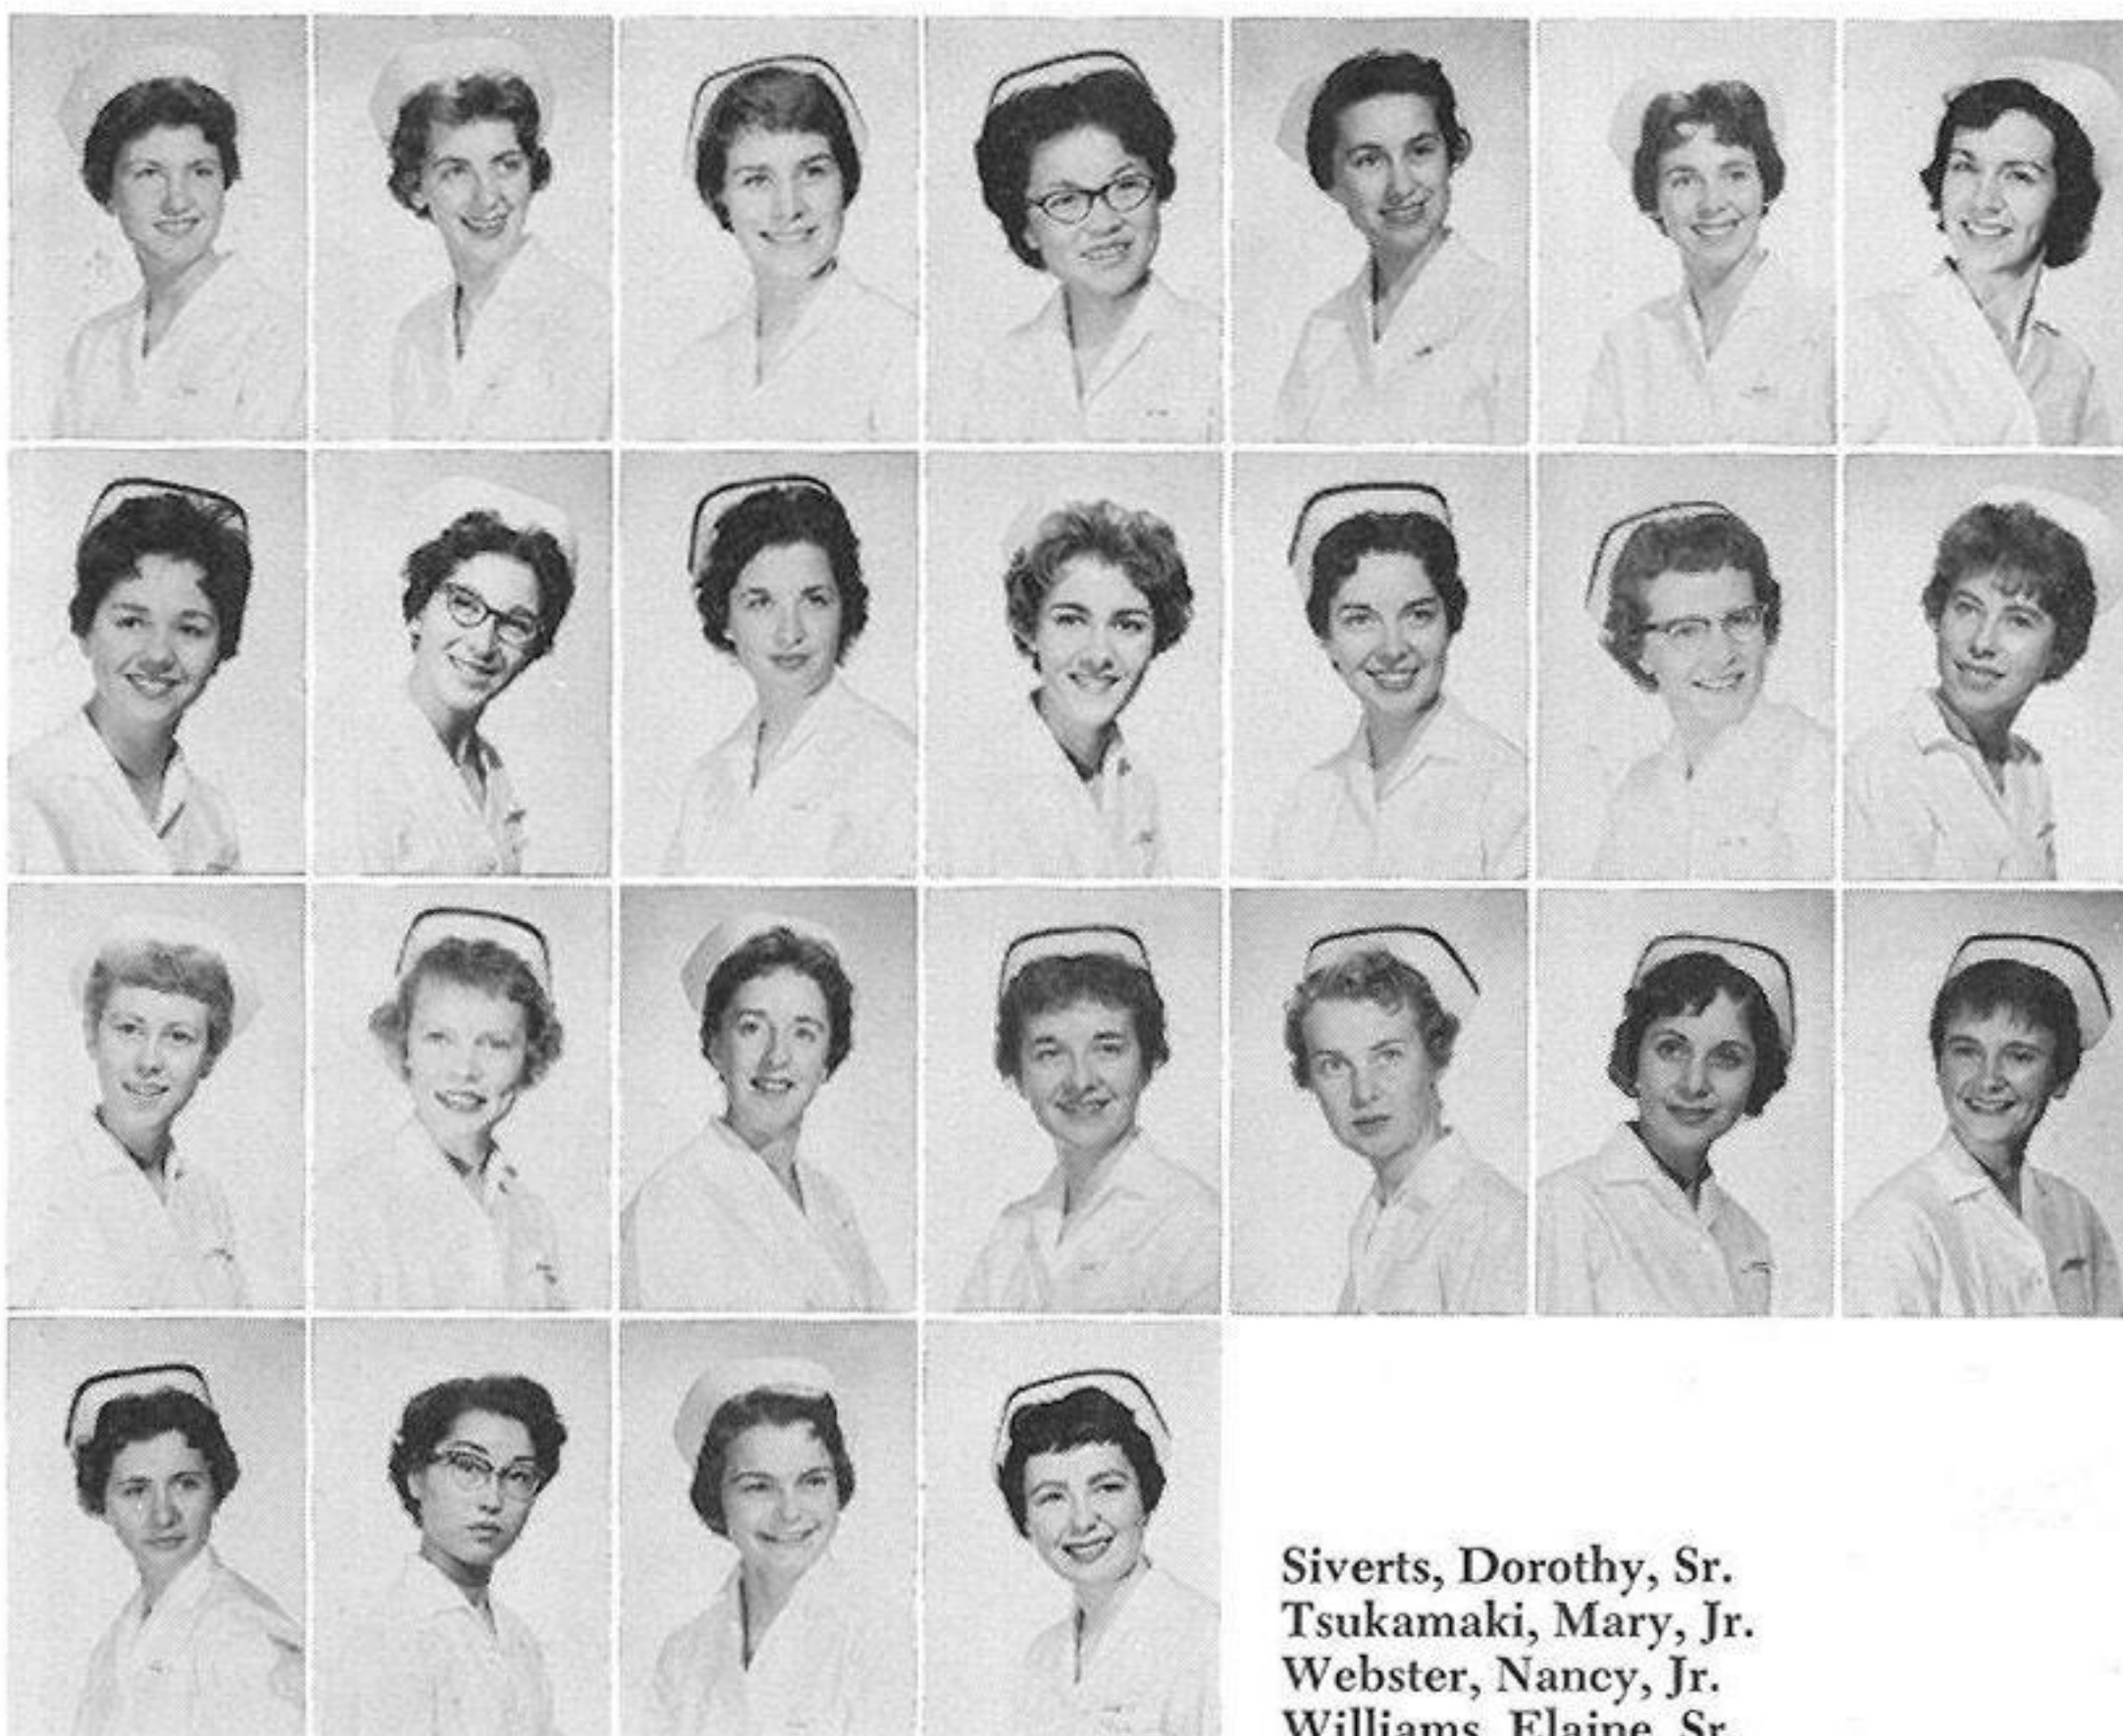

Learning to make X-ray exposures is one of the first techniques taught the junior students.

Dental Hygiene

This year the junior and senior dental hygiene students received their patients in a new clinic in the Health Sciences Building, School of Dentistry. The entering junior class will be the tenth class of dental hygienists to graduate from the University of Washington with Bachelor of Science degrees.

Dental hygiene students have been active in many public health areas as well as in clinical work with patients. Dental health education in school, television appearances to stimulate public interest in oral care, field trips with public health personnel and work at the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital introduced the students to many varied activities.

A special field experience for senior dental hygiene students was participation in the program for retarded children at the Rainier School in Buckley. Working toward establishing a summer externship, the students were the first dental hygienists to be active in this program.

Angel Wing began the year by pledging thirty new members. The first function of the year was a dance held at Paine Air Force Base, sponsored jointly by the Air Force Cadets and Angel Wing. Another project was the purchase of new uniforms consisting of blue blazers, grey skirts and white blouses.

Other activities for the year included a semi-formal dance held at Sandpoint, two base visitations, one to McChord and the other to Paine Air Force Base, ushering for Governor's Day, Air Force Queen contest and the final dinner held at Sandpoint Officer's Club.

Angel Wing officers are Commander, Sandy Kusak; Director of Operations, Kay Bucklin; Comptroller, Mary MacKean; Director of Administration, Judy Dimon; and Director of Materials, Elaine Harmer.

Home Ec Club Cabinet

The Home Economics Club, organized to encourage friendship among its members and to further interest in home economics, had a busy year with the bi-monthly meetings and many activities. In November and December, the girls spent many hours working on the annual Christmas Bazaar for money for home economics scholarships. In February, the installation of new officers and a party with faculty members was held in Raitt Hall. Many girls attended the Washington State Home Economics Association convention in Yakima during April. The Spring Banquet, held in May, honored all seniors in the department. This year, the club scholarship was awarded to a foreign student.

B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation

The B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation at the University of Washington is a unit of the national organization at colleges and universities devoted to religious, educational, cultural and personal service among Jewish students.

The program includes weekly Sabbath services on Friday at 4 p.m., forums and discussion groups, brunches, classes and mixers.

B'nai B'rith has sponsored Hillel since 1923. Today it maintains foundations and counselorships at over 200 colleges and universities in the United States, Canada, Cuba and Israel. It was organized at the University of Washington as a full foundation in March 1941.

Hillel members include, seated: Elaine Friedman, Jim Margolis, Arlene Sidell, Carole Allen, Evelyn Cohn, Bill Jacobson, Harvey Poll, Rochelle Blumenthal, Marilyn Kutoff, Fred Eaton, David Sternoff, Marilyn Ritchie, Rabbi Arthur A. Jacobovitz, Director. Standing: Mrs. Leah Saltman, Assistant Director; Steve Kaye, President; Tomas Alexander.

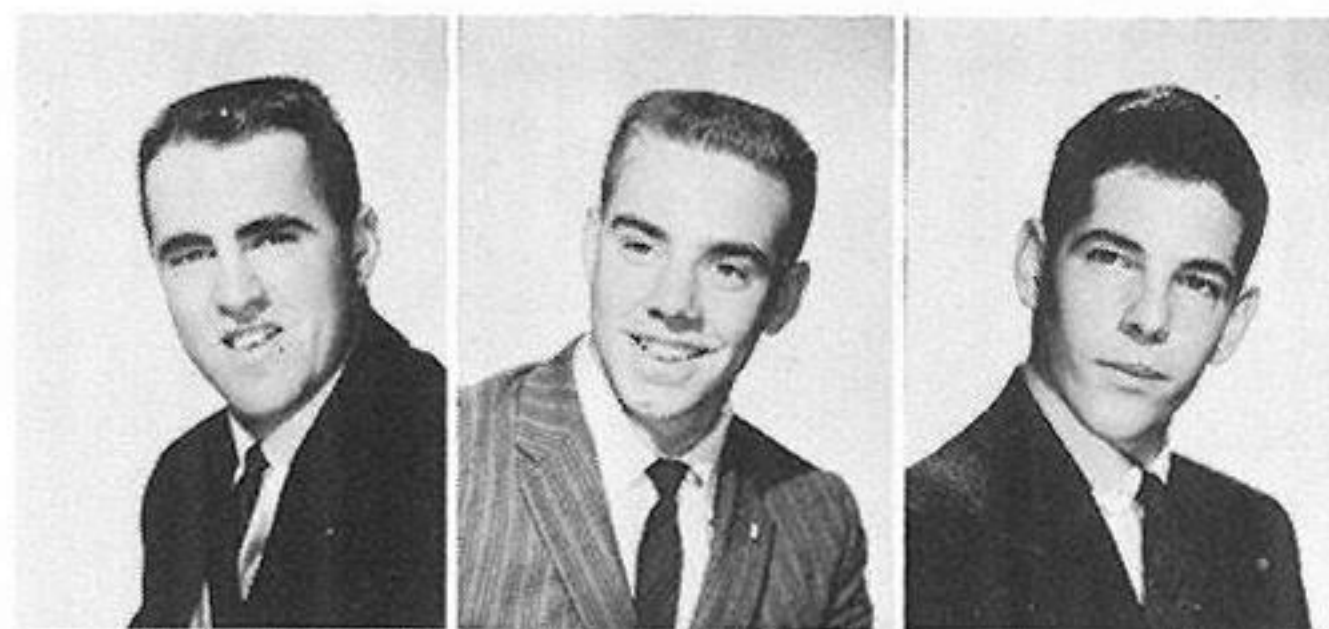

The principal aims and interests of Husky Swim Club are to promote interest and participation in swimming activities at the University of Washington and throughout the Pacific Northwest. In recent years Husky Swim Club has assisted in conducting the varsity and freshman swimming meets. It also sponsors the Pacific Northwest AAU Swimming and Diving Championships for Senior Men and the Washington State High School Swimming and Diving Championships. Both are held at the University men's pool during winter quarter.

In the spring of each year HSC joins with Silver Fish, University women's swimming honorary, to present "Aqua Fantasies" for Parents' Weekend.

Membership in the Husky Swim Club is open to any male student at the University who shows an active interest in swimming and who is able to demonstrate some basic aquatic skills.

Calvin Club

Calvin Club is sponsored by the University Presbyterian Church to provide Christian fellowship for college age young people.

The program presents the Christian hope and challenge through talks from Rev. Earl Palmer, student discussions, Bible study, sings, spring ski retreat, leadership banquet and summer excursions.

The welcome is warm at 15th Northeast and East 47th.

Tuesday night meetings begin with singing.

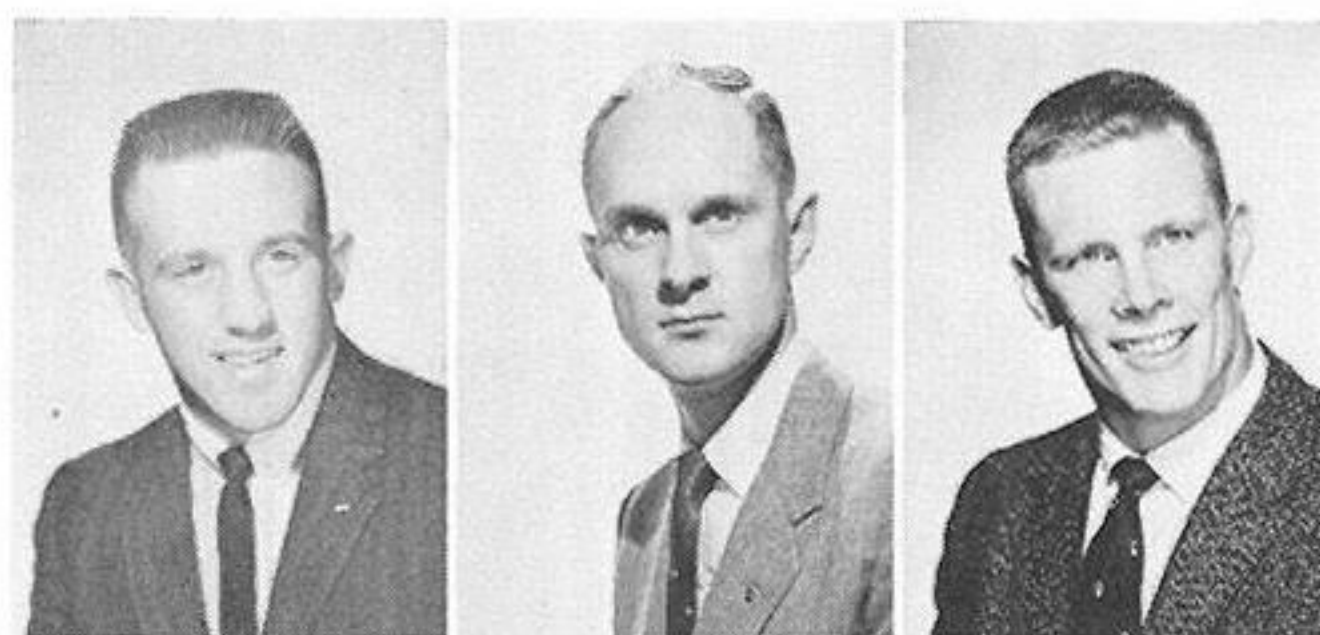

Engineering Student Council consists of representatives from each of the nine professional societies, Tau Beta Pi, General Engineering Club and THE WASHINGTON ENGINEER.

The Engineering Council aids the students of the College of Engineering by promoting their educational welfare and helping to develop their vocational, cultural and social life at the University.

The activities of the council include publishing THE WASHINGTON ENGINEER, EIT lectures, the Engineers' Informal Dance, annual Council-Washington Engineer Banquet and Engineering Open House. This was Open House year, and again this interesting educational event drew thousands of people from the Pacific Northwest to the campus. Chairman Ken Forssen is to be congratulated on the success of his efforts.

Husky Winter Sports Club

Susanne Bell, Kappa Alpha Theta, Winter Carnival Queen.

The busy schedule of the Husky Winter Sports Club was started off with the first meetings of fall quarter highlighted with skiing movies and speakers. A skier's style show was held at the start of winter quarter to show new ski wear. The ski school took three bus loads of skiers to Stevens Pass every Sunday for five weeks. The last day of lessons was topped off by a pizza feed at Shakey's Pizza Parlor.

The Winter Carnival, consisting of the skier's dance, the men's intramural races, the queen contest and other activities, was held on February 13-14 and, despite very bad weather, proved to be quite successful. The queen of the Winter Carnival was Sue Bell. Approximately 50 U of W students took part in the annual trip to Timberline Lodge for the Portland State College Winter Carnival. Susan Dean reigned as queen of the event which was attended by 18 schools from all over the northwest. Janet Wight represented the club as the princess from the U of W in the queen contest.

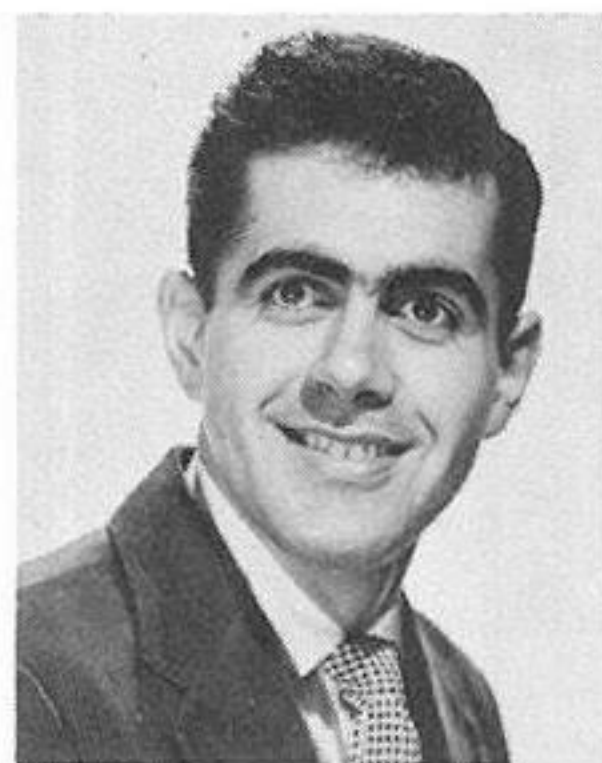

The officers for the club were: Bill Montgomery, president; John Edgar, vice president; Sandy Ogren, recording secretary; Susan Dean, corresponding secretary; Tom Dohn, treasurer; John Phillips and Donna Mathus, Winter Carnival co-chairmen.

Institute of Aeronautical Sciences

The Institute of Aeronautical Sciences provides students in the aero-space fields opportunities for contact with leading individuals from the aircraft and missile industries. Technical meetings with these men are held to stimulate the minds and develop the interest of the IAS members. In addition, field trips are offered each year so that the students may benefit by gaining first-hand information on contemporary phases of the aviation industry. Regional IAS meetings are held each year for the purpose of acquainting the members with the work and activities of other IAS branch organizations. Membership in the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences is open to engineering and physical science students who have intense interest in the aero-space program.

Work on the Engineering Open House constituted a major part of the IAS's efforts during the winter. Projects constructed for open house made use of all the department's facilities and employed a large portion of the AE students. The prize exhibit was the ground effect vehicle which attracted many persons and was considered one of the best projects at Open House. Other work consisted of demonstrations in all three wind tunnels, demonstrating airflow and shock patterns and use of the structural labs. A great deal of effort was put into Open House and the results were rewarding to all who worked on it.

Kappa Phi

Annette Willet
President

"Every Methodist woman in the University World today, a leader in the Church of tomorrow." With this motto in mind, Kappa Phi girls opened and concluded a year's activities combining fun with service.

The Rose Tea, which introduced new girls to Kappa Phi and its functions, began the year's fun and service. The Kappa Phi Weekend, held in November on Whidbey Island, enabled old and new members to become better acquainted. The Christmas Banquet, held jointly with Wesley Club, honored all foreign students on our campus and introduced them to our way of sharing Christmas.

As the New Year began, our pledges were officially recognized as members of our organization. This was the most gala event of the year! The weekend included the initiation banquet, ceremony and dance. The pledges sponsored an Hawaiian Tolo dance, where the girls appeared in muu muus and sarongs accompanied by their dates in beachcombers and Hawaiian shirts. Toward the end of January, we held a rummage sale jointly with Wesley Club. The proceeds were sent as aid to refugee camps in Europe.

A few weeks after our Spring Formal, we sponsored a fashion show, opened to the public. From dances to rummage sales, banquets to mother-daughter teas, Kappa Phi concluded another year of worthwhile services and fun with a satisfied feeling of a job well done.

Little Sisters of Minerva

Little Sisters of Minerva, a women's honorary affiliation of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity, entered its second year on the Washington campus with the initiation of 12 new members last spring quarter. This is an organization of SAE that now has 40 chapters. The girls helped during summer rush and have, during the past year, promoted much spirit throughout the Fraternity.

During the year the Little Sisters planned a number of functions, some of which included an ice-skating party, a valentine party, a Chinese auction, a basketball game in which SAE's were handicapped by having to wear deep sea diving boots and a hay ride. The girls also participated in seminars at the Montlake Library.

A football game during fall quarter was just one of the varied activities of the Little Sisters.

The spring initiates of 1959 were chosen by the members and then given a lifetime membership in the organization.

Baptist-Disciple Student Association

The Baptist-Disciple Student Association (BDSA) is a fellowship of students seeking through worship, study and action to make the Christian faith real in all of University life. This year the group carried out a regular weekly program of classes, firesides and dinners and also was active in parties, retreats, conferences and work projects. Outstanding events were the salmon bake in October, the International Thanksgiving Dinner, the annual installation banquet in March, spring vacation work camp and retreats at Cayuse Pass and Copalis Beach. Several students attended the 18th Ecumenical Conference on Christian World Missions in Ohio and implemented ideas gained from it in the BDSA program.

Fellowship House is the favorite "haunt" and "home" of BDSA'ers. The House, located at the corner of 15th NE and East 45th, is sponsored by the Christian and Baptist churches of Washington, with a close relationship to the University Baptist and University Christian churches.

With a new Luther House as background, the LSA at the University of Washington carried on a renewed program of corporate worship, study and recreation.

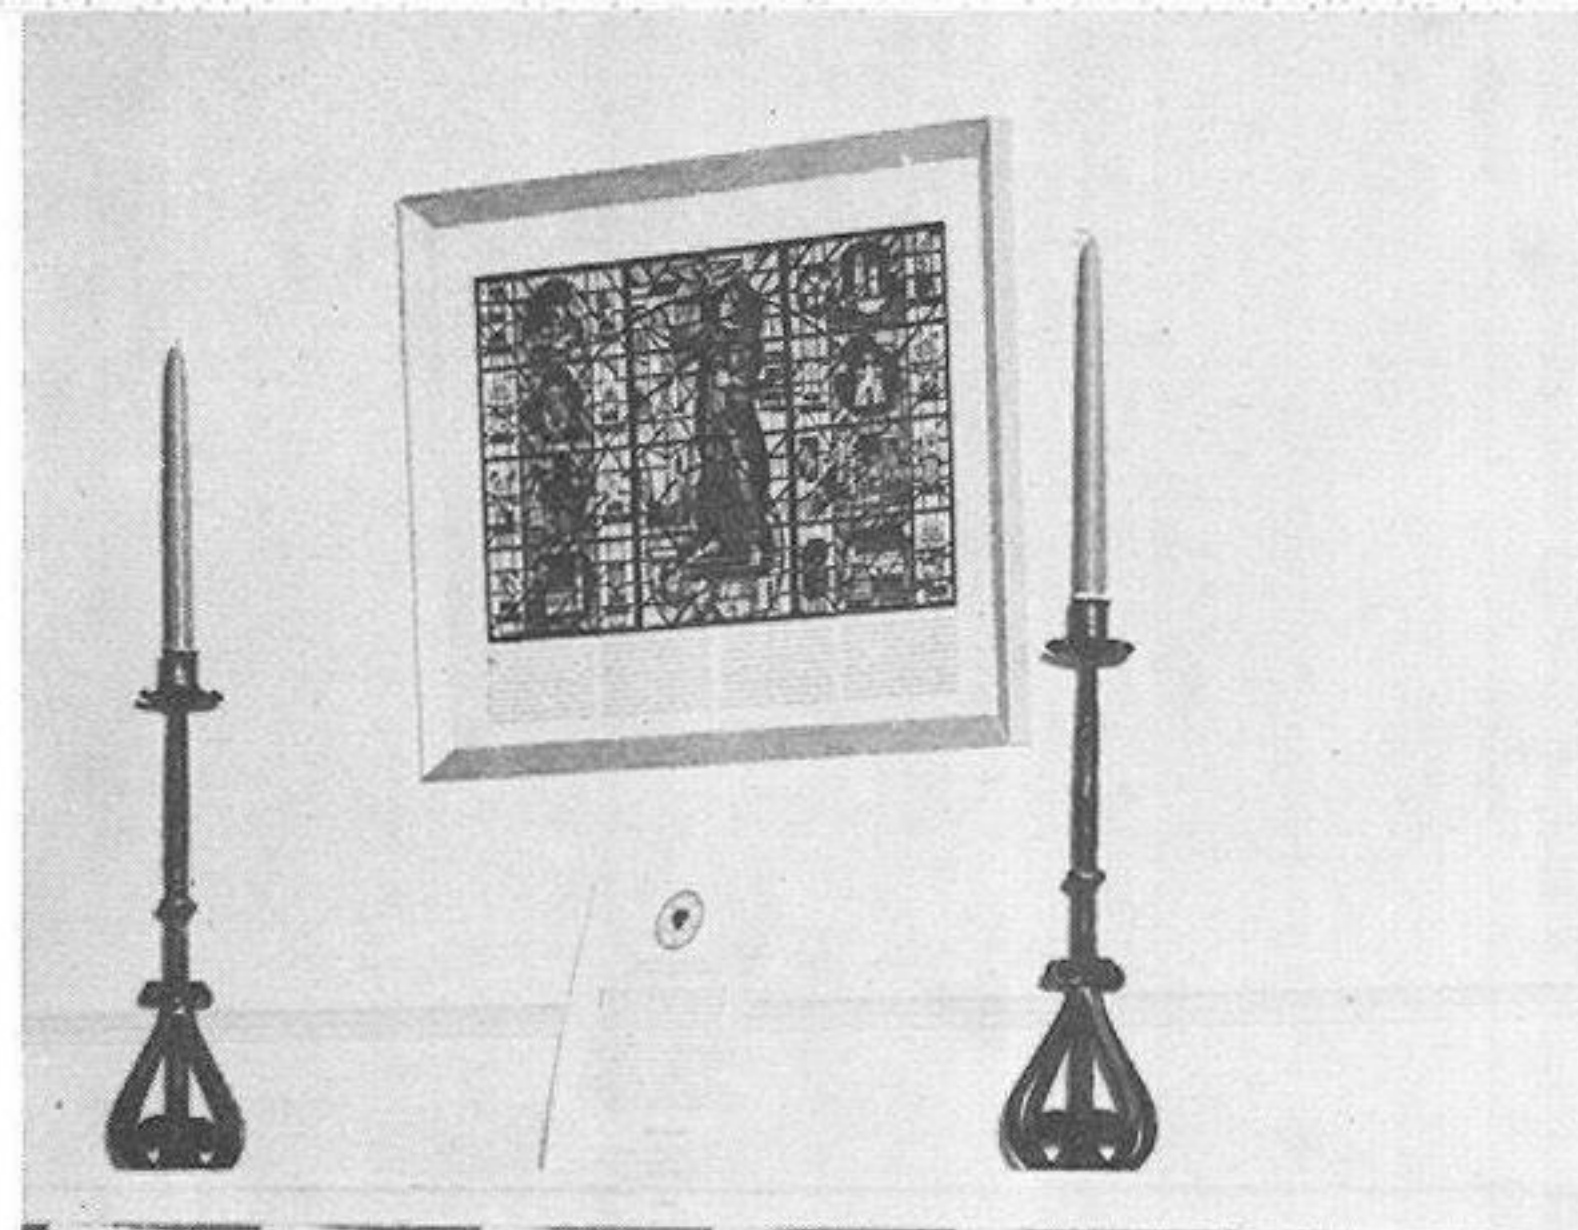

Led by Pastor Al Dilleuth and Counselor Jeanne Rehwinkel, we worshipped together at Lenten matins and weekday devotions, and, in accompaniment with other student Christians throughout the world, studied the Church and its mission.

We worked together, as host LSA, to plan the Regional LSA Retreat during the spring.

At Tuesday evening meetings we heard topics which varied from "Are Missions an Intrusion?" to "Will We Lose God in Outer Space?"

On the lighter side, we tried our hands at chopsticks in a Japanese dinner, and traveled to PLC to debate the merits of "State College versus Church College."

But undoubtedly the highlight of the year was the opening of "new" Luther House. The House contains comfortable lounging and dining facilities, a recreation room, offices, classroom, apartment and a long-awaited Luther Library.

A reproduction of the Reformation Window decorates the mantel in the quiet Luther Library.

The comfortable living room of Luther House is the scene for many planning sessions. Pictured are LSA council members Ginger Marvin, Barbara Luoma, LeAnn Brost, Don Moris, Gordon Jonasson, Gary Erickson, President George Rhyneer and Fred Walls.

"New" Luther House is located at 4705 16th Ave. N.E.

American Ceramic Society

The student branch of the ACS is an organization composed of ceramic engineering students. Among activities of the society were bi-weekly meetings featuring guest speakers, participation in intramural sports, and social events such as the Christmas party and spring picnic.

Two outstanding events of the past year were attendance of the Pacific Coast regional meeting of the ACS held in Seattle and a field trip through many of the industries using or making ceramics in the San Francisco area.

American Ceramic Society and Keramos members include, front row: A. Savant, W. Harrison,* G. Tyler,* R. Lyons,* K. Marckx*, J. Trauth, C. Richardson*, E. Greene.* Second row: A. King,* V. Keramos

Keramos is the campus affiliate of the national professional ceramic engineering fraternity. The principal goals of the fraternity are to promote the scholarship and character of ceramic students and to promote interest in ceramic engineering.

In line with these objectives the local chapter sponsors an open house for freshman engineering students each quarter. The chapter also sponsors high school visitation programs of speeches and demonstrations given by ceramic engineering students. Articles on the activities of Keramos are published in the various ceramic periodicals.

Students interested in marketing find the Marketing Club an especially valuable extra-curricular activity to correlate marketing principles and practices they learn in the classroom with those of business life. To accomplish this, the Marketing Club arranges for businessmen to attend its meetings as guest speakers and discussion leaders. These men lend a valuable realism to business and to marketing that students could never derive from the classroom.

Besides providing additional educational opportunities, the Marketing Club fosters social opportunities and personal acquaintances among students with a similar interest and background.

Highlights of this year's schedule, in addition to meetings and guest speakers, included a club-sponsored symposium that discussed the relationship of the social sciences to marketing; guided tours through Fredrick & Nelson and Carling's brewery, and joint meetings with the Puget Sound Chapter of the American Marketing Association, which is the parent organization consisting of businessmen. The club also participated in the annual banquet that honored the national president of the American Marketing Association. Dr. Charles Peck was the club's adviser.

Seventy girls joined Phrateres as pledges after a busy week of sub-chapter rushing parties and the All-Phi rush tea. The traditional Sunday morning pledge breakfast and the pledge dance, "London Mist," continued the activities in a grand manner. Fall sign-up for the all-campus car pool proved successful for the second year. The Christmas season closed the year with a caroling party and busy plans for chartering a bus to the Rose Bowl.

Winter quarter started off with a bang as All-Phi and sub-chapter elections got underway. We followed elections with our 31st annual initiation ball and banquet, "Moonlight and Roses." The banquet concluded with a candlelight initiation of pledges and installation of officers.

Phrateres girls were represented in Mortar Board, Totem Club, Sigma Epsilon Sigma, Kappa Phi, Rally Girls, Board of Control and numerous activities and departmental honoraries.

During a year of hard work and fun, Phrateres girls strove to uphold their motto, "Famous for Friendliness."

"Industrial Progress Through Enlightened Management" was the theme behind the year's work for the Society for the Advancement of Management. The newly-formed senior chapter joined members fall quarter in a meeting featuring Senator Henry M. Jackson and William Allen, president of Boeing Airplane Company, in a discussion of the role of the businessman in politics.

The speakers at the bi-weekly meetings represented many diverse fields of management, such as retailing, city and federal government and hospital administration.

In February, SAM sponsored a group panel of well-known personnel men discussing job opportunities for the college graduate. The meeting was so well received that it will be presented yearly. The organization's activities were climaxed by the annual banquet in April at the Wharf Restaurant.

WASHINGTON ENGINEER Staff

The WASHINGTON ENGINEER is a technical magazine published entirely by engineering students. The purpose of the magazine is three-fold: first, it is designed to bring the technical advancements of today to the students' attention; second, it keeps the student up to date on the activities of the engineering societies, as well as the events happening in the College of Engineering; and third, it offers each student the opportunity to obtain journalistic experience, as well as learning the business procedures of a college publication.

The Thai Students' Association was founded in 1957 in conjunction with the Associated Students of the University of Washington. The purpose of the organization is to promote the understanding of Thai culture and to provide social and cultural exchanges among interested students and members of the University staff.

During the 1959-60 academic year, the organization took an active part in the Show Tour, sponsored by the Foundation for International Understanding Through Students. Two of the most outstanding functions introduced during the year have been the monthly Newsletter, containing news of current events in Thailand and local information, and the organization's active participation in intramural sports activities.

The faculty advisors for the organization are Dr. and Mrs. Frank G. Williston. Officers are Sanga Sabhasri, Vadhana Bejra-Kashem, Surat Downyok, Burin Wongsanguan, and Kamol Lekhakul.

The Valeda Club, organized in 1948, is composed primarily of Nisei girls attending the University. The purpose of the Club is to promote social and intellectual relationships between the girls on campus and to stimulate their interest in joining other campus organizations. The club offers the girls many social activities as well as giving service to the University and to the community. During fall quarter the group held a Welcome Tea and social for Freshmen, a Parents' Pot-luck dinner, two semi-formal dances, and filled a Christmas basket. Winter quarter brought formal membership to pledges, a money-making project and service projects. Spring quarter saw new officers installed and was climaxed by an event honoring graduating seniors.

This year the group gave two scholarships to deserving members of the club. The scholarships are named in honor of the club's former adviser, the late Mrs. Merry Mimbu. Money for the scholarships was earned during the year through group projects.

Wesley Club

Wesley Club at the University of Washington is a member of the National Methodist Student Movement; it is sponsored by the Methodist Church Board of Education under the name of Wesley Foundation. It is an inclusive Christian fellowship seeking to provide for religious, cultural, and social interests and concerns of Methodist preference students and others who desire to share in its program. Over 200 students actively participate in the varied program which includes student-led chapel services, Bible study groups, coffee hours, forum hours, devotional fellowship groups, daily noon lunches, parties and dances. This year Wesley Club members concerned themselves with raising money for the World Refugee Year. The group joined with Kappa Phi in sponsoring a rummage sale and devoted the profits from the annual Revue to this cause.

The U of W Dames Club is a social organization comprised of wives of University students. The 200 members enjoyed varied social activities including everything from bridge to a dance exercise class. The group also found time to sponsor several service projects. Speakers and demonstrations were featured at the monthly general meetings. At the end of the quarter wives of graduating students were presented with a P.H.T. Degree (Putting Hubby Through).

During the 1959-60 year the "Y" continued its tradition of being a place of learning. Different from the class-room, it nevertheless provided learning experiences through opportunities. These opportunities came from members discussing their personal philosophies of life, working together on projects of service and common interest and becoming more responsive to the needs of others at home and abroad. The program for the "Y" included discussions and classes dealing with religion, marriage, leadership and world affairs. Also included were an international student program, short term projects such as a carnival and smorgasbord, the International Banquet, and a 10-week summer community service program and student-faculty conferences.

... And not only the last word, but also the last look at the academic year 1960, which has gone wherever years go, leaving in its wake various memories and such items as this TYEE. I hope the book fulfills its purpose—I thought I knew what that was at the beginning of my term, but there were times when I wasn't sure. Then there were times when I was uncomfortably sure that I did know what Direction Sixty was—at least for the editor.

But somehow, despite all the uncertainties and confusion, we floundered through. Like all staffs, we were determined to produce a "different" book and, like all staffs, we didn't really succeed, for no matter how you disguise it the plot's still the same—year after year after year. But we did manage to rearrange things a little. We tried to "modernize" a little, and in so doing found ourselves resorting to such "old-fashioned" yearbook practices as using copy and, moreover, copy set in roman type. At any rate, whether it is "different" or "modern" or whatever, here it is—our collective masterpiece.

Looking back, this has been a hectic, ulcer-raising year, filled with all sorts of crises and unbelievable catastrophies, and yet, miraculously, the memories are rather sweet. I deeply enjoyed the daily routine, consisting of friendly heckling sessions with the Photo Lab, "consultations" with Tuckie Price in the printing plant, and working with, or refereeing, my staff. Likewise, there are a great many people I wish to thank, some of whom are mentioned in the next column. But, especially, I want to thank my staff. Karen Stout, Karen Lenzie, Don Pittenger and Carol Roraback shared particularly in the aspirin-swallowing, but everyone—down to the lowliest card-filer—was valuable. They worked long hours, and many of them stayed on to help after finishing their own responsibilities, even during the week before finals. For this final evidence of a team spirit I was particularly grateful. Thanks, pals, for the vote of confidence.

Jim Sneddon, of the Office of Public Information, furnished a variety of photos, including faculty portraits, some of the classroom pictures and those of varsity athletic teams.

Whitey Marten, photographer for the College of Education, provided some of the classroom photos, as well as the intramural athletic coverage, and was especially considerate about helping us meet difficult deadlines.

Actually, gold medals for perseverance in the face of adversity would be more appropriate, but in lieu of such awards, may we ask the ASUW Photo staff just to accept our belated thanks. Their share of the assignments is the grueling share—chasing down committees that seem incapable of collecting themselves at the same time and station as the photographers, spending evenings and weekends shooting athletic events, banquets, dances, etc., as well as trotting around from department to department taking academic pictures.

Frederick & Nelson The distinctive settings for the royalty portraits, which added so much "spice" to the section, were graciously provided by Frederick & Nelson.

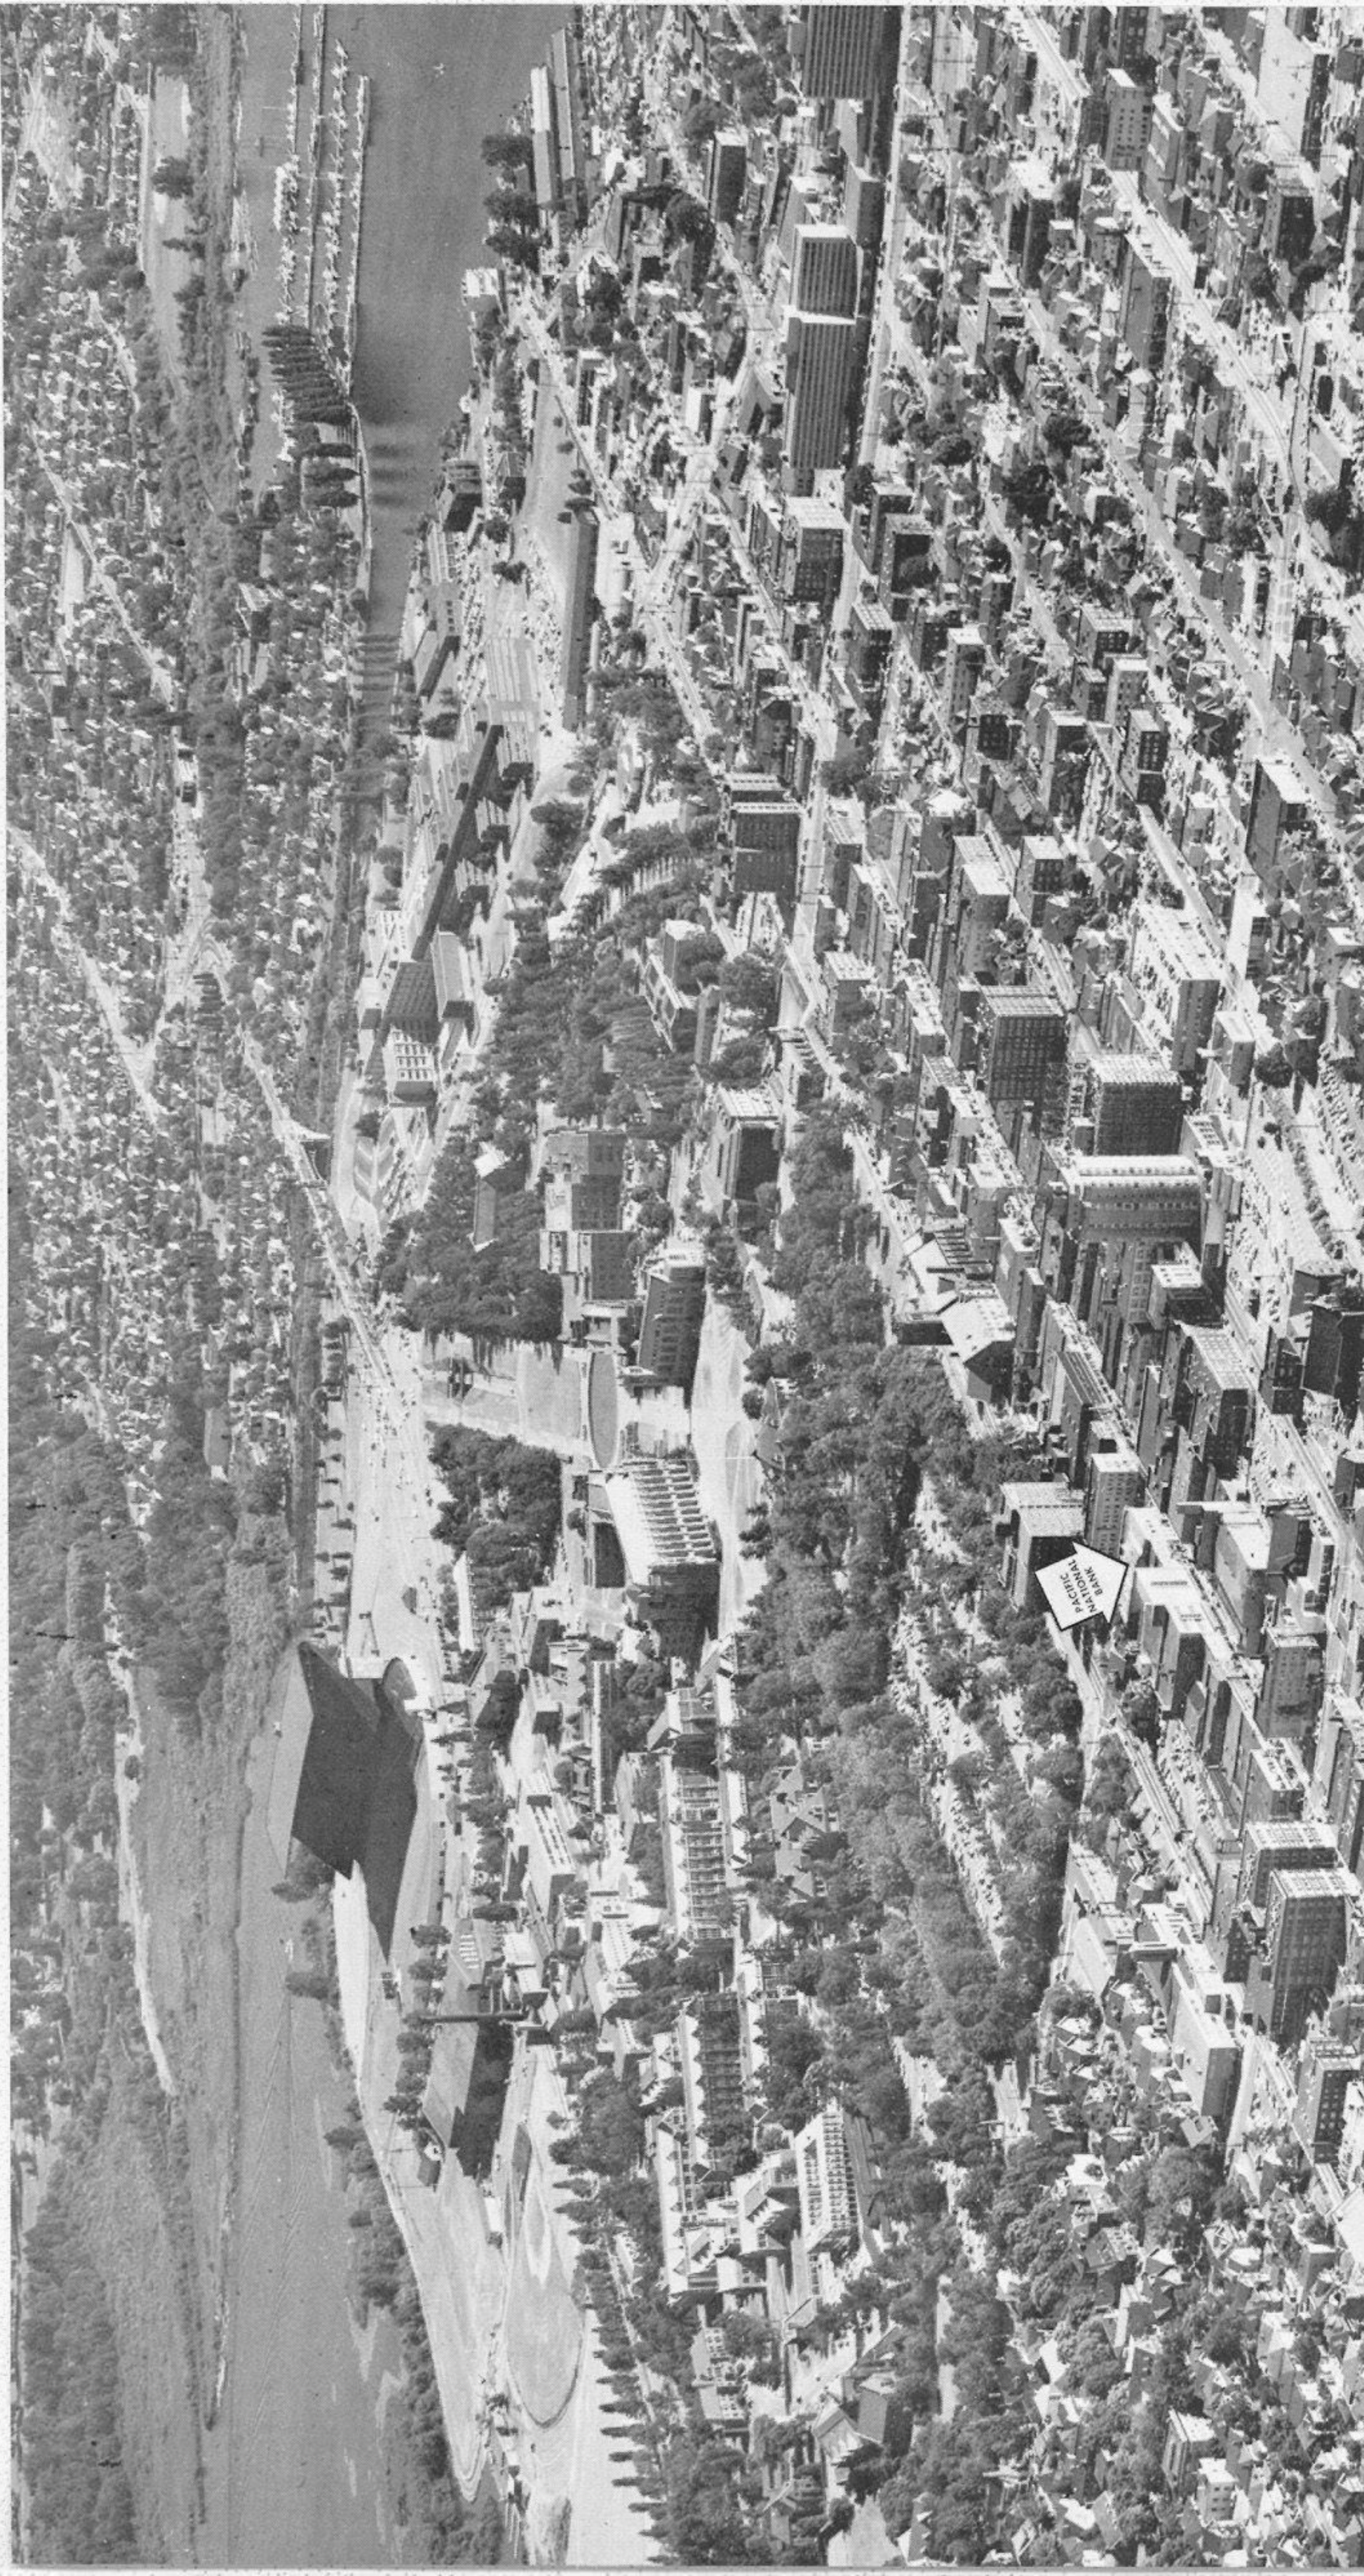

Headache Sharing Publications adviser Clyde Robinson, alias "Mister R," knew the answers to many, many questions, promptly undertook to find answers to other questions and earned a special vote of thanks from beleaguered me for editing the minor sports section. Sue Smith and Mrs. Lenore Sheckels were also most sympathetic.

Advice Thanks and apologies for interruptions go to Irv Blumenfeld and Sally Mahoney of the Office of Public Information who patiently checked the administrative and faculty pages to be sure that names and facts were straight. John Thompson and Gordie Green of the Athletic News Service were also most cooperative about helping us obtain photos and statistics.

Printers And this was the year that the portions of TYEE-to-be had a new and much shorter trip to the printing press—just down the stairs to the University Printing Plant. It was the first time that the TYEE had been printed on campus, and we are sure you will agree that the results of this "first" are most commendable. The quality of the printing is excellent and the color work is particularly outstanding. We on the "inside" are equally appreciative of the arrangement for other reasons: first, because of the opportunity to watch our nebulous dummies and amazingly messy copy being converted into neat, shiny pages, and second, because of the fine cooperation we received from Bert Hagg and the staff at the University Printing Plant. They seemed to take a personal interest in the book; it was their "baby" too, not just ours. Also laudable was their continued friendliness in the light of our continued lateness.

Durand Company Our thanks to Harold N. Payne and the Durand Manufacturing Company of Chicago, manufacturers of the covers for the TYEE this year.

Faculty Another "new in '60": in an attempt to improve the TYEE's academic coverage, we added classroom photos and asked the departments to help us gather the facts for the copy. The faculty was very cooperative; unfortunately, in a few cases our cameras were not so cooperative, and for this we apologize. But we certainly thank the faculty for taking the time to help with copy and picture arrangements.

SINCE 1906 . . .

it has been our privilege to serve the student body, the faculty and administration of the University and also the surrounding community.
May we serve you?
